Infant Saver Program At Hospital Dec. 10

Quincy City Hospital will offer a session of "Infant Saver Child Saver", its new program designed to save the lives of infants and children, Tuesday, Dec. 10, and Thursday, Dec. 12.

Registrations are now being accepted for the sessions.

According to the hospital, the response to the initial sessions, which took place in October, demonstrated the need in the South Shore area for live-saving instruction for youngsters.

The hospital's new program is designed to educate parents and persons working with children in techniques of Cardio-Pulmonary Resuscitation (CPR), recognition and treatment of common childhood injuries, general first aid preventative measures, and more.

Participants are taught CPR techniques on child-size mannikins, by a certified instructor in BCLS (Basic Cardiac Life Support), accredited by the American Heart Association.

Statistics indicate that most people, including parents, would not know how to help an infant or child who had stopped breathing, or who had a serious injury, says QCH.

Accidental injuries claim the lives of four times as many infants and children, as do medical illnesses, according to the hospital.

Classes will be held Dec. 10 and 12, from 7 to 10 p.m. at the hospital.

Class size is limited to assure individual instruction. There is a fee.

In response to the interest demonstrated within the community, the hospital will conduct the program on a continuing basis each month.

For more information or a brochure, call 773-6100, ext. 3017.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Throughout the centuries man has been influenced by little known men of history.

Have you ever heard of a Dutch gentleman by the name of Marnix Van Sint Aldeguer? Probably not. But each and every one of us has heard a piece of music which was composed by this man. He wrote the national anthem of the Netherlands, "Wilhelmus van Nassauwe" and it was the same tune to which we sing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Marnix was also a ghost writer for William of Orange - and he was the author of one of the most significant documents in history, "The Act of Abjuration", by which the Dutch told their King, Philip of Spain, that they were free forever from his rule.

It was this document, hundreds of years later, that provided the principle source of style and wordage for Thomas Jefferson when worked upon the Declaration of Independence...

Mayor In New York On Credit Rating

Mayor Francis McCauley and members of his administration are scheduled to meet in New York City today (Thursday) with representatives of Moody's Investment Services in an attempt to have the city's credit rating raised.

Since 1981, the city has had a B+ rating. A few other Massachusetts communities also have that rating, but none have a rating lower than that.

McCauley said the meeting will be similar to one held Tuesday in the mayor's office with representatives of Standard & Poors Corp., another financial rating firm.

The mayor gave a presentation on the city's finances and Planning Director James Lydon discussed the economic outlook of Quincy.

The two Standard & Poors representatives were then given a tour of the city which included the downtown area, Crown Colony Place and Marina Bay.

A helicopter tour had been planned but was cancelled because of rainy weather.

McCauley said he stressed the facts that the city is living within its budget, short-term borrowing is down, and development projects are ongoing and bringing in increased revenue.

The city's current credit rating comes from Moody's, and McCauley said he also wants a rating from Standard & Poors.

After the meetings, both firms will take a few weeks to review the material, said McCauley.

If the firms decide that it is warranted, the credit rating could be raised by more than one step, he said.

"That would mean saving on interest for bonding," said McCauley. "The higher the credit rating, the lower the cost of borrowing."

"I'm hopeful for both places," said McCauley.

Auto Oil Complaint Hearing Continued

By LINDA WILKINS

The License Board has again voted to continue a hearing regarding conditions at Hassan Bros., Inc., 290 Washington St., Quincy Point.

The car dealership was called before the board because waste crankcase oil from a holding tank at the site was spilling over an extended time and the oils were collecting in the catchbasins on Pond St., according to the Environmental Inspection Unit (E.I.U.) of the city's Department of Public Works.

The board had requested that Hassan Bros. have the holding tank tested and capped, which it did, but Robert Michelson of the E.I.U. said the test is invalid because more product was added to the tank as the test was being taken.

"You can't conduct a test and add product at the same time," Michelson said. He said the management at Hassan Bros. did not tell their employees not to add more fuel to the tank and that it was their responsibility to do so.

According to City Clerk and board chairman John Gillis, the Coast Guard reported that oil from Hassan Bros. tank is seeping into the Town Brook.

The board decided to continue the hearing for one month or until a new test is taken. Until the tank is proven adequate, Hassan Bros. will not be allowed to use it.

Kelly Liaison For Quarry Land

Mayor Francis X. McCauley announces that he has asked Leo J. Kelly to act as the city's liaison for the coordination of activities involving the city's Open Space quarry land and the MDC's acquisitions in West Quincy.

Both the city and the MDC recently acquired key parcels in West Quincy, the principal quarry region, said McCauley. The intent of these takings is to provide for the Open Space and recreation needs of Quincy and South Shore residents.

Kelly's role would be to represent the city and to coordinate for the city complementary activities with the MDC, according to McCauley.

Kelly said that the use of certain portions of the municipal Open Space area is critical to the evolution of the new park that is being planned.

Among these, he suggests that the Lyons Turning Mill could be the most critical.

Kelly also stated that the city's continuing ability to use the site of the existing sanitary land fill is critical to keeping the tax rate down. A portion of his efforts will be devoted to the proper protection and segregation of these activities, he said.

Kelly has recently functioned as the representative of Councilor James Sheets on the committee that is developing a management plan for the MDC portion of the site.

Kelly said he sees his new role as a natural outgrowth of his present role.

Free Bus Service To Logan Nov. 17-23

Quincy travelers who don't want to be caught in a parking squeeze at Logan Airport the week of Nov. 17-23 can take advantage of parking at the Quincy Adams MBTA garage and a free express bus service to Logan.

According to Massport Executive Director David W. Davis, forecasts indicate that parking at Logan International Airport will be in high demand that week.

"This is the week the airport will run out of parking spaces because business travelers are avoiding traveling the week of Thanksgiving.

"It is entirely likely that many travelers who drive their cars will be diverted to parking areas off the airport," he stated.

To help travelers avoid parking delays and inconvenience that week, Massport, in cooperation with the MBTA, will provide free high-frequency express bus service between Quincy Adams and Logan Airport.

Express bus service will be available from 5:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. starting Sunday, Nov. 17, through Saturday, Nov. 23.

On Monday through Friday, the service will run every 15 minutes during peak periods and every 30 minutes during non-peak periods.

Travelers will pay for parking at Quincy Adams ($1.50/day), but the express ride to and from the airport will be free.

"We hope that by providing a reliable alternative to parking at Logan, travelers from Quincy and other areas with access to the Quincy Adams garage, will use the airport express buses and avoid Logan parking hassles the week of Nov. 17," Davis said.

Buses will depart from Berths 3 and 4 at Quincy Adams station and will drop passengers at each terminal at Logan. Passengers returning from Logan will be able to catch return-trip buses at the stops at their terminal.

Davis reminded travelers that taxis, limos, scheduled and unscheduled bus services are also good, reliable alternatives to the car and should be used whenever possible.

Massport has established a new Ground Transportation information telephone number, 1-800-23-LOGAN, which will provide information about the Logan express bus service and other alternative means to and from Logan.

Richard J. Koch Sr. will be presented with the James R. McIntyre Good Scout Award at the annual holiday party which benefits Camp Massasoit, Quincy's favorite Boy Scout camp.

The Good Scout Party will be held Dec. 5 from 7 to 9 p.m. at Granite Place, 125 Granite Ave., Quincy Center. Cocktails and hors d'oeuvres will be served.

The Good Scout Award is presented at each year's party to a public spirited individual in recognition of his dedication to service and commitment to youth. Koch, the awards committee said, exemplifies a Good Scout's belief in "helping other people at all times."

Past recipients have been Governor Edward J. King, Marshall M. Sloane, Congressman James Burke, Captain Richard Stratton, USN, John and Buell Fuller, and the late Mayor and Senator James R. McIntyre.

McIntyre, who attended Camp Massasoit as a Boy Scout, initiated this series of Good Scout Parties and was chairman for all of the previous parties. The honorary chairman for the 1985 Good Scout Party is Sheila McIntyre who is interested in continuing this effort begun by her husband. Charing the event are O. Donald Gohl and William J. Barrett.

The Camp Massasoit Development Fund created by the capital fund drive chaired by Richard Koch in 1979 and sustained by the Good Scout Parties has enabled a group of dedicated volunteers to make major renovations of

Garage License Request Put On Hold By Board

A request from Bell Traffic Signal Maintenance Co. Inc. of Hingham for a garage license at 13 Lancaster St., Quincy Point, was put on hold Tuesday by the Licensing Board so Ward 2 Councilor Theodore DeCristofaro and Building Inspector and board member Allan MacDonald can survey the site.

Frank Bellofatto of Bell Traffic said that the company has been storing vehicles and equipment at the above location for eight years and would not change its operations. He said the company has "About five trucks there" and that the "guys are out of there by 7:30 a.m."

But MacDonald said that because the business is located in an area which is zoned residential, the operation should be looked at.

DeCristofaro said he has not received any complaints about the business from area residents.

The hearing was continued until Nov. 19.

Special Needs Workshop

Consistent with the Special Education Act (Chapter 766), the Quincy Public Schools will conduct a Registration and Orientation Workshop for parents of three and four year old children in order to identify children with substantial special needs.

If possible, parents are requested to bring to the orientation session a copy of the most recent physical examination and any other information relevant to determining whether their child has a significant special need.

If necessary, children will participate in a follow-up TEAM evaluation.

Planned

Parents who wish to participate with their child in the Orientation Workshop should call: Mrs. Kathleen Bakis, Pre-School TEAM Chairperson, at the Snug Harbor School, 333 Palmer St., Quincy, MA 02169 at 471-0100 ext. 206 prior to Nov. 18.

No Council Action On QCH PUD Permit Nov. 18

Because of a legal technicality, the City Council won't have on its agenda Monday night discussion of a special Planned Unit Development permit for Quincy City Hospital's partial replacement plan.

However, the Quincy Planning Board is scheduled to discuss the matter at a meeting at 7:30 p.m. in the second floor conference room at City Hall.

The board will make a recommendation and forward it to the council in time for the Dec. 2 meeting.

The legal technicality involves the requirement of 14 days notice of such a hearing prior to the meeting date.

The planning board public hearing was legally advertised, but the City Council hearing wasn't.

A special City Council meeting will be held today (Thursday) at 4:30 p.m. to call for the public hearing regarding QCH.

Public hearing dates will also be called regarding: rezoning held on Circuit Road from Residence A to Business B, Planned Unit Development for The Ledges off Quincy Ave., and proposed zoning amendments for Flood Plain Districts 397.

North Quincy 27, Cambridge Rindge 16 Raiders Seek 3rd Win Against Brookline

By TOM SULLIVAN

There were a lot of changes when the North Quincy football team sought its second win of the season last Saturday against Cambridge Rindge and Latin at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Coach Ken McPhee brought up several underclassmen (one of them provided a game highlight) and new formations, and they paid off with a 27-16 victory, improving the Raiders' record to 2-6.

North goes to Northeastern University's Parsons Field Sunday for a 1:30 p.m. game against Brookline and McPhee would like to win his second in a row and give the Raiders some momentum going into the Quincy game on Thanksgiving.

Sparked by Ted Shionis, who has been brilliant since being inserted at halfback in the third game of the year, North ground out 246 net yards on the ground and, only for some costly penalties, and two fumbles, probably would have scored at least two more touchdowns. Shionis ran for 184 yards, his fifth 100-yard plus game, scored two touchdowns and scored 45 yards to complete a 78-yard scoring bomb from Chris Gray.

Gary McNamara ran well and picked up 63 yards in addition to some fine blocking, and Leo LeMay continued his excellent blocking.

"Shionis was just tremendous again and this kid has to be an all-scholastic," said a happy McPhee. "But he wouldn't be running like this if it wasn't for the great blocking of McNamara and LeMay. Leo is an unselfish player who carries only a few 'inches in a game but clears the way for the other backs with his blocking. He never complains and just goes about his business."

Among the younger players brought up was sophomore Paul McCormack, who provided one of the game's highlights when he returned a kickoff 85 yards for a touchdown.

The offensive line, which has improved every week, had an outstanding game. "I told you at the start of the season it would take time with so many young and inexperienced players, and they have just about hit their peak," said McPhee.

Several underclassmen played excellent games, including freshmen Mike Ainsley, who has developed into a standout line backer, and

Raiders Eye Win Against Brookline

Bill McDougal. Other underclassmen who played well were Matt McNamara, Keith Segalla, John Pacino and Scott Chanskey.

"Our quarterback, Chris Gray, played a great game today and he made no mistakes," McPhee continued. "He's had troubles this year but today he really played an outstanding game." Gray, one of the Suburban League's top punters, continued his fine kicking.

"Assistant coaches Kevin Cobban and Mark Mulvany called some excellent plays today," the Raider skipper said. "Our defensive ends, Gary McNamara and Brian Flukes, had some trouble in the first half, but were outstanding in the second half. I was a little concerned in the first half (North had only a 19-16 lead at halftime), but we regrouped and dominated them in the second half."

Cambridge received to open the game and was stopped cold. Following a punt, North picked up two first downs and moved to midfield but a fumble was recovered by Cambridge's Jessie Turtle on North's 47.

Mike Ainsley sacked quarterback Lance Dotten (Steve Miller later had a sack) and Cambridge was forced to punt again. North's Gray punted and again the Raiders held fast. North regained possession, a clipping penalty set it back to the 15. Shionis gained seven and Gray threw a perfect bomb to Shionis, who grabbed it on the Cambridge 45 and went the remaining distance, completing a 78-yard scoring play.

Mark Scanlan, one of North's top soccer players who just recently joined the football squad, kicked the extra point.

On the ensuing kickoff Cambridge fumbled as it tried a reverse and Chanskey recovered on Cambridge's 29. Three plays later McNamara went over from the two to increase North's lead to 13-0.

North kicked off again and Cambridge reeled off four first downs and Dotten, who had a fine day, went 13 yards on a keeper to score. Dotten passed to Don Porier for the two-point conversion.

On the next kickoff young McCormack took the ball on the 15 and roared down the right sideline. He was nearly taken down on the Cambridge 15 but got away and went in to score in his first varsity game.

A few plays later Gray passed to Shionis in the flat but Shionis fumbled and Cambridge recovered on the Raider 48.

Here the visitors staged their best drive of the day and went the distance in 10 plays and Dotten scored again from the one. Turtle rushed for the two-point conversion and North's lead was cut to 19-16 at the half.

The second half was all North's as Cambridge failed to pick up a first down and didn't pose a serious threat.

The Raiders took the opening kickoff, picked up three first downs and Shionis, following a 10-yard run, scored from the one. Gray passed to Mark Bilton for the final two points of the game.

North had several more chances but key penalties hurt and the 27-16 advantage stood.

Cambridge had only 50 yards net on the ground and added 66 through the air on six of 17. North had 100 yards passing on four of 12. North had 13 first downs and Cambridge had eight, all in the first half.

North, Brookline Game On WJDA Sunday

Charlie Ross and Paul Carroll will have a busy weekend as WJDA continues its weekly coverage of schoolboy football.

The pair will do the play-by-play of three games, including North Quincy at Brookline Sunday at 1:30.

THE QUINCY girls' volleyball team won another Suburban League championship with a 17-0 record and will open its quest for a third state title in four years Saturday morning at Eastern Nazarene College. ## Quincy Suburban Champs Seek State Title

Old Colony match last night (Wednesday) in Pool A.

Last season was supposed to be a rebuilding year for coach Ray Whitehouse, but the Quincy girls, with many underclassmen, tied Brockton for the Suburban League crown, then won its second state title in three years with a straight-game win over Stoneham in the finals.

It was sweet revenge for the First Ladies, who had lost to Stoneham the previous season in the state semifinals. The year before that Quincy had won the state championship.

John Henderson took over the coaching reins this fall with just one senior and the team rolled over everyone and was forced into three games only four times.

The Pool A winner will play the Pool D winner (Boston Tech, Duffee, Avon-Mission winner and Bp. Stang-Somerset winner) in the semifinals Nov. 19. The state finals will be at Waltham High Saturday, Nov. 23, at 3 p.m.

Newton North 35, Quincy 0

Presidents Need Miracle For Brockton

When Jack Raymer took over as Quincy's football coach last fall, the Presidents were decimated with injuries and Raymer was unable to field his full team until the Thanksgiving game and that resulted in a 14-12 win over the Raiders.

The Quincy coach felt things couldn't get worse, but they have and the Presidents have been even harder hit by injuries this fall.

Quincy's top runner, Chris Veneto, who had two 100-yard plus games in his first three games, has been sidelined since the third game and several offensive linemen have missed several games. Ron Luisi returned last week but was slowed down considerably.

Quincy's fortunes were at a new low last week at Newton North when quarterback Steve Austin, who has been outstanding, was unable to play due to an injury suffered the previous week against Weymouth North, and Don Parry, one of the Suburban League's top wide receivers, who has averaged about six receptions a game, was hurt early and missed most of the game.

With Austin, Parry and

Veneto sidelined, as well as several offensive linemen, Quincy's attack was completely bottled up as Newton North rolled to a 35-0 win, lowering Quincy's record to 0-8.

Although Raymer isn't throwing in the sponge, it will take a miracle for the patched-up Quincy club to defeat Brockton's undefeated powerhouse Saturday at 1:30 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium.

Brockton, a 41-0 winner of North Quincy, is 7-0, tied for the Suburban League lead and favored to return to the Div. I Super Bowl, which the Boxers won a year ago. Brockton is the top-rated team in Div. I.

"Without Austin and Parry, we just couldn't move the ball at Newton," said a frustrated Raymer. "We moved into their territory only twice and we handed them some easy touchdowns with turnovers. Twice we had interceptions deep in our own territory, which set up touchdowns."

"Larry Taglieri, who had been playing only on defense and doing a fine job, was forced into the quarterback spot and did a good job under the circumstances. The only one who did anything offensively was Mark Porzio, who ran for 115 yards, mostly up the middle.

"Austin could be out for the season and I'm not sure who will be back against Brockton. I won't use anyone who isn't 100 percent ready. I don't want to take any chances and I'm just hoping to get all our injured players back for North Quincy."

Despite the score, Raymer was pleased with the defense. Four times the Presidents held Newton on fourth down.

He had good words for Steve Picarski, Dave Murphy, Kevin Jolley, Mike Eastwick, Mike O'Connor, Ken Southwick, Frank Calabro, Paul Munafò, Frank Lally, Luisi and Joe Inello.

Newton North's Mark Adams killed the Presidents as he ran for more than 200 yards and scored four touchdowns.

"Adams is the best runner we have faced this year and he killed us with two long runs," Raymer said.

from the six-yard line following a pass interception which put Newton on Quincy's 15. John Flynn kicked the extra point.

In the second quarter,

Adams scored on a 12-yard run and Flynn scored from the one. Mike Ryan passed to Adams for a two-point conversion and Flynn kicked his second point.

In the third quarter Adams broke away for touchdown runs of 55 and 63 yards. Flynn kicked his third point following the second run.

Raiderettes Win 6th X-Country Division Title

There's just no stopping the North Quincy girls' cross-country teams.

Lou Tozzi's Raiderettes, who recently completed their fourth straight undefeated Suburban League season with a 7-0 record (they have won 39 straight dual meets), last Saturday won their sixth consecutive Eastern Mass. Division I championship over the Franklin Park course.

The North girls outscored their closest league rival, Cambridge Rindge and Latin, 83-97. New Bedford was third and Falmouth fourth. During the league season North had edged Cambridge by one point.

North's first finisher was Patricia Barrett in fifth place. Three of the four who beat her are league rivals who she defeated in league competition.

Magda Kornitzer of Newton North won in 19:02, followed by Amy St. Pierre of Beverly (19:10), Frances Jarvis of Cambridge (19:10), Precious Hill of Waltham (19:20) and Barrett (19:49).

"Patricia had been sick all week and did a tremendous job for us," Tozzi said. "Mary Ann Kelleher, who made a great comeback this season after having mononu-cleosis, ran a fine race and took sixth place. She gave us real leadership this season."

Leanne Fitzgerald was eighth, Tricia Leary 13th, Sharon Barrett 50th and Ann Toland 56th. "Sharon and Ann pulled out the win for us as they passed a lot of runners in the last mile to give us the necessary points," Tozzi said. Caryn Collings was North's seventh finisher.

There were 225 runners from 39 schools in the Div. I race.

"I'd like to thank our principal, Peter Chrisom, and athletic director Marty Finnegan for their excellent support throughout the season," the North coach said. "Also, I want to again thank my assistant coach, John Furey, for a job well done."

North had one boys' runner, freshman Brian Barrett, brother of Patricia and Sharon, who finished 77th out of 240 runners.

The Suburban League meet, scheduled for earlier last week, was cancelled because of rain.

North Quincy had no boys' team this season due to lack of a coach and young Barrett, unable to run in dual meets, made fine showings in two meets, finishing second in the 9th grade division in the Brown Invitational and ninth overall in the freshman division of the state coaches' meet.

"Brian did a terrific job and he is going to develop into an outstanding runner," Tozzi said. "He is following in the footsteps of three sisters who have been top runners for us."

Former Associates Speakers At Leone Dinner

Speakers are being lined up for the testimonial for retired Quincy Coordinator of Athletics Carl Leone Thursday night, Nov. 21, at the Lantana in Randolph.

It is planned to have speakers who have been identified with Leone during his many years as a player, coach and coordinator of athletics.

They will include former teammates at Quincy High and Brown University, his assistant coaches at North Quincy and several of his fellow athletic directors.

John Ricciuti, a former teammate at Quincy, will be the master of ceremonies.

A number of presentations will be made to Leone, who did much for the development of the athletic programs at Quincy and North Quincy High schools.

A cocktail hour and reception line will begin at 7 p.m. and a family-style roast beef dinner will follow at 8.

Due to the late rush for tickets the purchase deadline has been extended to this Friday at noon. Absolutely no tickets will be sold after this time and no tickets will be sold at the door.

Further information can be obtained by calling the athletic office at 786-8782.

Elks, Apaches In Title Showdown Sunday

The North Quincy Apaches, the defending champions, earned the right to face the first place West Quincy Elks in the Quincy Youth Football League championship game Sunday at 1 p.m. at Veterans Memorial Stadium by defeating last year's runners-up Quincy Point Panthers, 20-8, last Sunday.

This marks the ninth straight championship game for the Apaches and it is only the second time in 11 years the Panthers have missed the title game. The Panthers hold the league record with 19 titles, while the Apaches are second with 12.

The Apaches opened the scoring in the first quarter on a four-yard run by Keith Gott after a 48-yard drive featuring the running of Gott, Dave Murphy and Jim Bryan. Bryan passed to Bill Earley for the two-point conversion.

The second quarter was scoreless with the Apaches threatening at the end of the half. The Panthers' Brian Taylor intercepted a halfback option pass to stop the drive.

The third quarter was all Apaches as they held the Panthers on the initial drive of the second half.

The Apaches drove 70 yards on 11 plays with Gott picking up 68 of those yards and scoring from the 10. The conversion attempt failed.

The junior varsities of both teams played in the fourth quarter with the Apaches' George Walsh scoring on a 20-yard run and the Panthers scoring on a pass from Joe Russell to Jim Sugrue. Monte Baker added the two-point conversion.

The Apaches were led on offense by Gott, Murphy, Bryan, Dan Gilmarlin, Andy Burns and Mike Islip. Gott has run for over 1000 yards, averaging 12.7 yards a carry. Defensively Barry Glynn, Walsh, Mike Doherty, Jason Doyle, Murphy, Gott and Bryan played well.

The Panthers played an aggressive, hard-hitting game and were led by the strong play of Terry Hack, Baker, Sugrue, Mark Gunther and Brandon Farrell.

The Panther junior varsity finished unbeaten with a win over the Apaches, 38-6.

The Panther jayvees allowed only four touchdowns throughout the season. Steven Feeley, Joe Crespi, Hack and Kevin Johnston led the Panthers in a team effort.

Dudek Selected To Play In Japan All-Star Game

North Quincy's Joe Dudek, the nation's all-time collegiate scoring leader, has received one of his biggest honors by being invited to play in the Japan All-Star game in Tokyo on Jan. 12.

Dudek will join three of the country's top backs, all Heisman Trophy candidates, Bo Jackson of Auburn, Allen Pinkett of Notre Dame and Keith Byers of Ohio State.

Dudek completed his regular season career last Saturday by rushing for 125 yards and scoring four touchdowns as Plymouth State College rolled over Curry, 43-7, to tie Western Connecticut for the N.E. Conference title, its fifth straight conference crown.

The Panthers are hoping for a post-season tournament bid.

Dudek is fourth on the all-time NCAA rushing list with 5305 career yards. Last week he passed Herschel Walker of Georgia and Howard Stevens of Louisville.

He finished up with an amazing 77 career touchdowns, 11 more than Walter Payton, who held the NCAA record, and seven more than Wilbert Montgomery, who had held the overall collegiate mark. His school, Abilene Christian, is an NAIA school.

Dudek scored on runs of eight, 10, 28 and 20 yards. Plymouth wound up 8-1 in the conference and 8-2 overall.

Curry finished at 4-5 and its lone touchdown last week came on a pass from Quincy's

Bob Barrett, one of the conference's top passers.

The game was a reunion of several former North Quincy and Quincy players. Helping Dudek and the Panthers were North Quincy's Neil Fisher and Steve Lee and Quincy's Bob Mudge.

Supporting Barrett, the only non-Quincy or North players (he played at Cathedral High), were North Quincy's Jack Brown, Barrett's favorite receiver and a school record-breaker; Al DiBella, Jerry Martin and John Hannan and Quincy's Mike Donovan and Pat Calabro.

Peter Chella, a former Quincy assistant, is an assistant coach at Curry and Ed Iodice, a former Quincy and Plymouth State player, is an assistant at Plymouth State.

WHAT IS AN APPRAISAL?

QUESTION: What is the difference between a Realtor suggesting a selling price for a property and an appraisal?

ANSWER: A suggested selling price is not an official appraisal. An appraisal is the valuation of your property by a qualified Appraiser for a fee. His written instrument will carry its weight as documentation in any official capacity such as for tax or legal problems.

An Appraiser will provide you with a document which will cover all the elements which go into the valuation. If it is income property, he will capitalize the present and future income potential.

THERE'S A WORLD OF difference between an appraisal and a suggested selling price.

Flashing Warning Beacons Over 'Slippery When Wet' Signs

Rep. Robert A. Cerasoli (D), Quincy, announces that Commr. Robert T. Tierney of the State Department of Public Works has informed him that the state has agreed to place flashing warning beacons over the existing "Slippery When Wet" signs, as soon as possible.

The commissioner also indicated in his correspondence to Cerasoli "that such treatments require strict obedience for success but hopefully some benefits can be gained by this action."

Cerasoli stated "The commissioner responded to a request I made several weeks ago after a fatal accident had occurred on the bridge."

"The surface problem existing in wet weather on the grit portion of the Fore River Bridge was brought to my attention by a constituent, who wrote to me expressing her concern regarding a solution to this dangerous public safety condition."

"As this is an active drawbridge with a high traffic volume, the situation is somewhat complicated; however, I am confident that the measures taken by the Department of Public Works are a step in the right direction."

$712,778 In Wiring

Wire Inspector Thomas E. Purpura reports the Department of Wire Inspection issued 203 permits, for an estimated $712,778 in wiring during October.

The department collected $7,567.25 in fees.

Major projects for which permits were issued include 6 condominium units at 9-19 Cutter Lane and four condominium units at 28-34 Whaler Lane (all at Marina Bay in Squantum); 16 condominium units at 144 Quincy Shore Drive; a four-family dwelling at 127 Federal Ave., and high-rise office condominiums at 21 McGrath Highway.

Some 104 Certificates of Approval were issued to Massachusetts Electric Company; also 256 inspections; 18 defects noted; and 9 re-inspections.

According to Inspector Purpura, much time was spent inspecting new and repaired electrical services that were damaged by the recent hurricane.

City Could Be Reimbursed $1.3 Million For Hurricane

The city's damage assessment officer is hopeful that 100 percent of the estimated $1.3 million dollars in damage inflicted by Hurricane Gloria in September will be reimbursed by the federal and state governments.

Richard Meade, also principal planner in the Quincy Planning Department, said that commitments have been made by the federal government to reimburse 75 percent of all eligible damage, and the governor has made a commitment for twelve and a half percent.

The legislature has proposed reimbursing the remaining twelve and a half percent, said Meade.

The city could receive the first portion of the money in two to three months, he said.

"Quincy is in a good position because of the work done before, during and after the storm," said Meade, who explained that the city learned from the Blizzard of '78 what documentation is needed to apply for funds.

"You have to detail and back up everything you submit," said Meade.

"Our act is together," said Meade, who noted that the city has documentation from Tony Siciliano, deputy director of Quincy Civil Defense, aerial shots of damage, and such information as a log book detailing where Department of Public Works crews were sent.

Meade said that department heads of Public Works, Park and Forestry, Police and Fire are to submit federal government forms to the city by next Monday detailing storm-related straight and overtime pay and damage to public buildings and grounds.

The department heads had earlier submitted such information in a rough form, according to Meade.

Once these forms are in, said Meade, an inspection team comprised of a member of the federal Army Corps of Engineers and state DPW will come to the city later next week, do a damage survey report, and look at the payroll.

The team will review the information and submit applications for reimbursement to the city.

It could take two to three months before the city starts receiving any of the money, said Meade.

The bulk of the payroll money will probably be reimbursed first, said Meade, and the money for the physical damage will probably take longer.

The person we are looking for is one, who through his or her dedication, and service, has made Quincy a better community for it.

Council At-Large, School Committee Recounts Nov. 25

Two losing candidates in the Nov. 5 election have requested a recount, which will be held Monday, Nov. 25, starting at 9 a.m.

Ronald Iacobucci, who lost his bid for councillor-at-large, and Joan Picard, who lost her seat on the School Committee, have asked for recounts.

Iacobucci seeks a recount of Wards 1 and 2. Picard has asked for a recount of the entire city.

Fourth-place finisher Iacobucci trailed incumbent Patricia Toland by 339 votes for councillor-at-large. Picard was fourth in the five-member school committee race, 80 votes behind Margaret Nigro.

The Board of Registrars will officially set the recount date which is tentatively scheduled for Nov. 25, said City Clerk John Gillis. It will take two to three days for the recount, he said and cost about $2,000.

Both candidates have requested that the ballots be counted by hand, Gillis said. The votes were tabulated by computer in the election for the second time in the city's history.

The recount will be conducted by about 16 election workers in the council chambers at City Hall, and is open to the public, he noted.

The results will be announced as soon as the counting is over, said Gillis, and Iacobucci's recount will probably be done first since it only involves two wards.

Gillis doesn't think the recount will bring a change in the election results.

"On this type of punch-card ballot, there has never been a change in the results," according to Gillis.

$1,500 Stolen From Bakery

About $1,500 in cash was reported stolen from O'Brien's Bakery, Beale St., Wollaston, Thursday.

A baker told police that when he was entering the front door to report to work, he heard someone run out the back door.

The last recount in the city was held in 1984 at the request of Frank Santoro who was running for school committee, Gillis said. The recount made no difference in the results, he said.

Santoro was elected to the school committee in this year's election.

In 1975, Walter Hannon was reelected mayor, but lost that position to Joseph LaRaja in a recount, said Gillis.

Because of Thanksgiving, The Quincy Sun will be published a day earlier next week.

To assure publication in the Wednesday, Nov. 27 issue, all news and sports releases must be in the Sun office, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy Sq., by Friday, Nov. 22, at 1 p.m.

Next week's Quincy Sun will include a special advance section of the Quincy-North Quincy Thanksgiving Day football game.

'Not Going To Sit Still'

Union To Fight Hospital Layoffs

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Officials of the union which will lose 56 of its members in the planned layoffs of 78 full time equivalent employee positions at Quincy City Hospital say they will fight the reduction.

"We are not going to sit still for the action," said Robena Haigh, chairwoman of the LPN portion of the 280-member Service Employees International Union Local 285, which also includes technical and professional employees.

The hospital announced last week that the 78 employees would be laid off from the 930-member hospital work force.

About half of all the hospital employees are from Quincy, according to QCH director Mark Mundy.

Mundy said that the layoffs are in reaction to a decline in hospital admissions and the average length of stay of inpatients.

Mundy maintained that even with the layoffs, the hospital will still be adequately staffed.

"The hospital is responding appropriately so that it can operate within its budget," he said.

"We haven't seen that great a reduction in business," contended Mrs. Haigh, who feels that the LPNs are being unfairly singled out.

"We plan to use a lot of words and action," she said, "we're not going out easily."

Mundy said that representatives of the hospital are sitting down with the six unions at the hospital this week to discuss the procedure for the layoffs regarding union and civil service rules.

"The general process should take 35 days for most of the contracts to be dealt with," said Mundy, hospital director for the past two and a half years.

Mundy said that the layoffs are part of a regional and national trend in terms of reduction of the census at hospitals.

"Quincy City Hospital is, from what we've seen, one of the very latest to do a reduction in force," said Mundy. "The trend started in August of 1984 in Massachusetts and has been going on, probably affecting 20 to 25 hospitals."

"We would do more harm than good keeping excess staff," Mundy said. "People might have a tendency to work at a less efficient pace."

"You have to look at it in the full context--the long-term survival of the

Fire Union Ratifies 3-Year Contract

The Quincy Fire Department Association Local 792 ratified a three-year contract with the city over the weekend.

According to Mayor Francis McCauley, the contract will be retroactive to July 1, 1984 and will run until June 30, 1987.

The salary terms are similar to that of other unions which have settled, said McCauley.

The terms are: 1-1/2% in July 1, 1984; 1-1/2% Jan. 1, 1985; 6% July 1, 1985; 4% July 1, 1986, and 2% Jan. 1, 1987.

The mayor said the union also received an additional personal day and a slight increase in clothing allowance.

Unions which have yet to reach agreement with the city are the Police Superior Officers and Hospital, Library and Public Employees Union, he said.

McCauley said that he hopes the Police Superior Officers contract will be settled in the near future.

He said the HLPPE negotiations are in arbitration and a decision from the arbitrator is due the latter part of January.

McCauley said that the funds for the union contracts have already been budgeted for 1986.

"The contracts are fair to the employee groups and to the citizens of Quincy," said McCauley.

A Notice To Our Readers

Due to rising production and other costs, the price of The Quincy Sun will be increased to 25 cents effective with the Dec. 5th issue.

Increased costs in typesetting and photographic materials and other supplies make this move necessary.

The Sun has absorbed these increased costs for sometime now but now finds it impossible to continue to do so.

This will be only the third and home delivery - newsstand price increase for The Sun which is now in its 18th year.

Part of the increase will go to our 400 news carriers who faithfully bring The Sun to your homes each week and to newsstand vendors.

The cost of mail subscriptions which were increased last year, will not be affected at this time.

The cost of producing a community newspaper-like everything else these days--is up considerably from what it was 18 years ago.

We hope our readers who have been so faithful to us since we started in 1968 will understand this very reluctant but necessary move.

Thank you.

New Restaurant For Sea St

By LINDA WILKINS
A restaurant featuring Italian and American food will soon open behind Bob White's Lounge, located at 211 Sea St., Quincy.

The city's Licensing Board granted a common victualer's license Tuesday to Sheila's, which will lease the dining room at Bob White's as a concession.

"This will be a restaurant concession in Bob White's liquor establishment," said Building Inspector and board member Allan MacDonald.

Sheila's will serve liquor but was not required to apply for a liquor license because the building is already licensed for liquor.

Still pending is an appeal to the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission (ABCC) by Bob White's concerning the suspension of its liquor license by the board. The board had voted at its Oct. 8 meeting to suspend for three days the establishment's license for an alleged violation.

According to board members, if the ABCC upholds the board's decision, Sheila's will also have to close during the suspension period, even though Sheila Monteiro, who will operate the restaurant concession, was not involved in the violation.

Sheila's will be open seven days a week. Food will be served from 11:30 a.m. to 10 p.m. but pizza will be available until 11 p.m., said Monteiro.

Monteiro was previously manager of the Roman Gardens in Quincy for six years. She has been in the restaurant business for 20 years, she said.

The common victualer license was granted with the stipulation that any sign erected be first approved by the building inspector.

License Board Briefs

The License Board took the following action at its meeting Tuesday at City Hall:

- Granted a request from Quincy Chapter 88, O.E.S., for a permit to conduct its annual fair Saturday, Nov. 23, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., at the Masonic Temple, Hancock St.

- Granted a request from North Quincy High School Red Raiders for a permit to sell food and drinks on the premises of the school, which is located on Hancock St., Sunday, Dec. 1, from 12:30 to 4:30 p.m. during the Christmas parade.

- Granted a request from

5 Guns Stolen

Five guns were reported stolen from the home of William Halpin of Wollaston Thursday.

Reported stolen were a 410 Remington Shotgun, 20 Gauge Remington, 20 Gauge Fanchi, 2-1100 Remington

Quincy Nursing Home, 11 McGrath Highway, to hold a Holiday Fair Saturday, Nov. 23, from 10:30 a.m. to 3 p.m.

Automatic, and a Military Issued M-16.

Halpin told police his son found a cellar window screen cut and a window removed and placed behind the garage. A blue Pinto was seen leaving the scene, said police.

CITY CLERK John Gillis signs an initiative petition for post card registration. The petition is being circulated statewide. If enough signatures are gathered, the question will be put on the state ballot, according to Gillis. Standing, from left, are Mary Quinn, League of Women Voters of Quincy; Sandy Eaton, Coalition on Human Rights; Karla Johnson, League of Women Voters of Quincy; and Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney.

Brownell Criticizes Plan To Relocate State Education Dept.

Rep. Thomas F. Brownell says the city's downtown commerce would suffer tremendously if a consultant's recommendation to relocate the state Department of Education from 1385 Hancock St., to Boston, becomes a reality.

A study prepared for the Board of Education by Cresap, McCormick, and Paget said the department's ability to work with other state officials "has been adversely affected by its present location in Quincy."

Brownell, in a letter to Commissioner John H. Lawson, disputed that claim saying, "It appears that some members of the department have expressed a preference for working in Boston without really demonstrating an actual need."

"Economically, a move by the department would have the practical effects of a plant closure...the city's downtown commerce would suffer tremendously."

"By 1987, the year of the proposed move, we may be in a recession. At any time, but particularly in a difficult period, moving 450 employees would have a devastating impact and should only take place when there is no other alternative."

"We like having the education department in Quincy. Their employees are good people and they contribute a great deal to the local economy. But, it works both ways. I just don't see why they have to pack up and leave. They're just 20 minutes from Boston. I take the same trip every day. It's not a problem for me and it shouldn't be a problem for them."

Wollaston Youth Assaulted, Robbed

A 17-year-old Wollaston teenager was assaulted and robbed of $800 worth of jewelry and property by four other youths as he walked from the Wollaston MBTA station.

Alfred P. Perez told police that he was hit from behind with the fist of one of the suspects as he walked from the station Sunday night.

He started to get up, but was knocked down by the four and repeatedly kicked, Perez told police.

Reported stolen were an 18-inch gold herringbone chain worth $450, gold rope chain bracelet valued at $250, and Wilson suede leather wallet worth $100, according to police.

His Panasonic AM/FM cassette portable radio worth $200 was kicked and the speakers smashed, police said.

Perez received bruises to his right ear and right eyebrow and a swollen upper lip, police said, but did not go to the hospital.

His assailants fled down the train tracks towards North Quincy, Perez told police.

Burgin Parkway Ext. Nov. 27 Date Firm

It's official-the long awaited Burgin Parkway Extension, which will link Quincy Center with Routes 3 and 128, will open with ceremonies Wednesday, Nov. 27, at 11 a.m.

Ceremonies will be held at the entrance to the $9.9 million extension on Granite St., Quincy Center, according to Sen. Paul Harold.

Scheduled to participate in addition to Harold, who has considered the extension a major project during his seven years as senator, are Secretary of Transportation Fred Salvucci, state Department of Public Works Commr. Robert Tierney, and Associate DPW Commr. Martha Reardon, as well as representatives from Modern Continental, the contractor.

Also invited are Mayor Francis McCauley, former mayors Walter Hannon, Joseph LaRaia and Arthur Tobin, and members of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

A special invitation has been issued to former mayor Thomas Burgin after whom the Burgin Parkway and Extension are named. Burgin, 83, is recovering from a recent hospital stay.

"The only work left to be done," said Harold, "is erection of overhead lighting, which will probably take a few weeks and won't affect safety, and installation of landscaping in the spring."

Harold said that Salvucci is particularly pleased with the early opening of the extension which is 10 months ahead of schedule.

"With all the recent state projects, this one stands out because it is so far ahead of schedule," said Harold.

The extension proceeds straight from the Quincy Adams MBTA station, parallel to the railroad tracks and comes out on Granite St., near Burger King, said Harold.

There are entrances and exits for the limited access highway at Star Market and Penn St., he said.

A traffic task force, established to handle any problems with the opening of the extension, will meet this week, according to the mayor's office.

Members of the task force are Harold, Arthur Foley, the mayor's administrative assistant, Ken Fallon, executive director of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, DPW Commr. Paul Anderson and Police Capt. Walter Frazier of the Traffic Division.

$33,074 Grant For Council On Aging

Sen. Paul Harold announces that a grant for $33,074 has been awarded to the Quincy Council on Aging.

Harold said that the grant will be used to continue the position of social service technician as well as the senior corps workers, and to repair and improve a portion of the Senior Drop-In Center on High School Ave.

The grant is part of a statewide award of $10.5 million, he said, and is an increase over last year of 17 percent.

"The money is being awarded to allow the Council on Aging to continue its services to the senior citizens of Quincy," said Harold.

"It reflects the efficient and good administration of past award grants," he said.

Credit Rating Answer Due Early December

The city could have an answer the first week in December on whether or not its credit rating of Ba will be raised.

Mayor Francis McCauley said that Moody's Investment Services and Standard & Poors Corp. both said they expect to have an answer by that time.

McCauley said that he and members of his administration went to New York City last Thursday to meet with Moody's representatives.

Making the trip with McCauley were his executive secretary Peter Kenney, Planning Director James Lydon, Auditor Robert E. Foy III, treasurer Franklin Jay, Tom Megan, from Touche Ross, and two representatives of Shawmut Bank.

Representatives of Standard & Poors Corp. came to Quincy for a similar meeting and toured the city Nov. 12. The city's current credit rating comes from Moody's. McCauley said he also wants a rating from Standard & Poors.

If the credit rating is raised, said McCauley, that would mean saving on interest for bonding.

"The higher the credit rating, the lower the cost of borrowing for the city," said McCauley.

Readers Forum Republican Diversity Is A Strength

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

As a former Democrat who was tired of the constant leftward swing of politicians and issues, I switched over to the Republican Party during the Avi Nelson Campaign back in 1978.

I have not always been 100 per cent in agreement with every Republican official (what few there are) or every candidate (even fewer) but usually find GOP candidates to be of better quality than their Democratic counterparts.

However, even I, from time to time, find a Republican candidate whom I can not support. It happens very rarely but does happen. Recently, during Quincy's mayoral election, I supported a self-identified Democrat, City Councillor Joanne Condon over the incumbent Republican mayor.

This decision on my part was made on principles I hold which tell me sometimes a Democratic candidate can be better than anyone who simply carries the label "Republican." My decision, which was made public in this newspaper, ended with the chairman of my Republican Ward Committee calling me to question my party loyalty. As a member of the Wollaston GOP Ward Committee and Quincy Republican City Committee, I can not simply be anyone's rubber stamp and I refuse to believe the foolish notion that, "The worst Republican is better than the best Democrat!"

My independent streak is something I pride and I hope there are more Republicans out there who support my position that the Republican Party will grow with diversity not only in the candidates who decide to run for public office but diversity at the ward and city party level.

I have supported Republicans who were liberal as well as conservative, even though I find more political agreement with conservative Republicans. The Massachusetts Republican Party is where it's at today because too many close-minded Republicans were in control too long.

The state GOP apparatus is growing stronger with newer Republican types who are fleeing the liberal Democrats and now is not the time to set up roadblocks.

The Republican Party must be open to self-criticism if it is to become a major political force again. To be robots is not the way to attract ethnics and conservatives over to the real "Party of the People."

My loyalty to the Republican Party is well documented but sometimes that can mean not supporting a Republican candidate when one feels very strongly against the position or positions taken by that candidate.

I am sure some of my comments here will be met with skepticism by some Republicans who might see self-criticism as showing weakness but the real weakness is the unwillingness to try a radical approach. After all, what do Republicans have to lose? We're outnumbered at the polls as far as party registration goes and maybe if we showed the general voting public that we are a truly open party of new ideas, they might see that we are the better of the two parties!

LOWER DOWN PAYMENT BETTER

QUESTION: I can pay much more than the required down payment on a home. My wife wants to make only a minimum down payment and invest the rest of the cash. What do you suggest?

ANSWER: I suggest you listen to your wife. The lower your down payment, the better. The reason includes leverage (that means you control the property and all its benefits with minimal cash of yours and using mostly the lender's money). You will be receiving the maximum tax advantage on tax deductions.

Per dollar invested, your resale profit will be the largest if you invest only a minimum down payment.

EVEN IF YOU CAN afford a higher down payment than required, it may not make sense to do so.

Don't Count LaRaia Out

If your hobby is collecting names of potential future mayoral candidates be sure to add that of Joseph LaRaia to the list — and circle it.

LaRaia watchers are convinced he wants to be mayor again and is biding his time for the right moment to make the move for it.

On the strength of his vote in the Nov. 5 city election, he certainly cannot be dismissed as a political has-been.

Before that election there were some who were saying: "LaRaia is slipping."

There were even some who thought if Ron Iacobucci, lone councillor at-large challenger had made it, LaRaia could have been the incumbent knocked out. Others, of course, thought it would have been Patricia Toland.

Instead, LaRaia finished on top of the at-large field with 12,925 votes, leading Richard Koch, Jr. (12,057) Patricia Toland (10,776) and Iacobucci (10,437).

LaRaia's margin over Koch — who topped the field two years ago — was 868, not exactly a super-duper cushion. But, good enough.

When you're No. 1, you're No. 1 whether it's by one, two, 10 or 868 votes.

KOCH JR. LaRaia would definitely have to be reckoned with if he decides to run for mayor two or four years from now.

LaRaia has a track record for bouncing back from defeat.

He was bombed by James McIntyre (14,321 vote margin) in 1965 for the right to succeed Amelio Della Chiesa as mayor after the latter retired undefeated.

"LaRaia's all through," they said after that.

It looked like it for a while. He tried to come back to the City Council in 1969 and failed. But two years later, he made it.

LaRaia pulled the rug out from under Mayor Walter Hannon in 1975 winning by 483 votes on a recount after a bitter campaign.

It looked like the dawn of a new political era with a new figure in the mayor's office who could go on to equal or surpass the political power of a Della Chiesa or McIntyre.

LaRaia had boyish charm and a good vote-getting name. Opponents dreaded the day he moved into the mayor's office. They were sure he would be there at least four — maybe more — terms.

But, after two stormy years he was outside looking in.

LaRaia

Koch Jr.

McIntyre

Hannon

In 1977, after another bitter election campaign, LaRaia was out, defeated by Arthur Tobin by a wide 5,050 vote margin.

"LaRaia's all through for sure," was the word around town.

Not so. Another comeback was in the making.

In 1979, just two years after being ousted by Tobin, LaRaia was returned to the City Council, winning the at-large seat vacated by Paul Harold when he became state senator.

He made it back by inches, taking the third spot by only 197 votes from newcomer Richard Koch, Jr.

If he had lost that one, he may well have been through for good.

But he had won and was back.

Those who think they know LaRaia believe he returned to the council to someday use it as a launching pad back to the mayor's office.

They are convinced he wants to vindicate himself.

He also had another goal: to complete the Ruth Gordon Amphitheater which was started under his administration and left a rock pile.

He steered the project to completion as a city councillor and gave Ruth Gordon one of the happiest days of her life last November when she returned for the dedication of the amphitheater.

As it turned out, it was her last visit home. She died Aug. 28.

That leaves the mayor's office LaRaia's remaining big goal.

Will he run?

He has been busy the past year or so mending fences with old political foes. He is mellowing.

The fact he was among those supporting the re-naming of old City Hall as The James R. McIntyre Government Center may be the tip-off that he wants to patch things up with "the other side" and is getting ready to make that run for mayor.

In fact, the day after the Nov. 5 election, he bumped into an old political foe on the street who congratulated him on his vote and wondered if he might run for mayor again.

"Stranger things than that have happened," LaRaia smiled.

Stranger still is the fact that LaRaia and long-time political enemies are not only talking to one another again, but shaking hands.

Time, they say, heals wounds.

Time changes things.

And LaRaia still has plenty of time to make it back to the mayor's office.

Residents To Receive Life Saver Awards

Two Quincy residents will be among 52 Massachusetts persons to be honored Dec. 5 by Blue Cross and Blue Shield at their Life Saver awards ceremony at the Sheraton-Boston Hotel and Towers.

For their quick action in time of distress Christine Churchill of 52 Forum Rd., and Jefferson Thomas of 45 West St., will become members of the Life Saver Club, formed by that medical group to honor those who have saved a life by applying the Heimlich Maneuver.

Christine, a registered nurse, was enjoying an evening out with her husband and friends, at a Marine Corps Ball.

During dinner, she noticed a friend, James Hughes, in distress; his wife said he was choking. Although he was turning gray, Christine said Hughes got up to leave the room.

She followed and saw him in the classic pose, as he pointed to his throat. Christine quickly performed the maneuver, unblocking his airway.

Thomas was able to save his wife, Barbara, when she began choking.

"Barbara started choking on a piece of food," he recalls. "I tried the maneuver on her, and the second time the blockage popped out."

Thomas learned about the Heimlich Maneuver from a Blue Cross and Blue Shield television commercial demonstrating the life saving technique.

Over the past six years, the medical group has recorded more than 250 cases in which the lives of Massachusetts residents were saved by people who knew how to perform the maneuver.

Dr. Henry J. Heimlich will be personally congratulating the honorees. The renowned chest surgeon created the easy-to-learn technique which bears his name. The maneuver is credited with saving the lives of thousands of people nationally who had choked on food or other objects. It is also used extensively on drowning victims.

Donnelly Seeking Shipbuilding Buyer For GD Yard

By DAN CONNELLY
General Dynamics has hired a firm to determine what the disposal process and real estate price will be for its Quincy shipyard which faces a scheduled closing next year.

Cong. Brian Donnelly said his hands are tied in seeking shipbuilding candidates as potential buyers for the local shipyard until a price is put on the facility.

The Quincy legislator made his comment during a $100-a-ticket fundraiser that was being held for Donnelly at the National Fire Protection Association, Batterymarch Park, West Quincy.

"I've had a series of quiet discussions with some very successful American shipbuilders to see if they are interested in purchasing, or leasing, the yard. But the problem is with no price on that facility we really have to wait.

"We are also extremely disappointed that the Secretary of Labor denied special trade adjustment benefits for workers of the yard, considering the fact twice before in the past four years they awarded those same workers under the same set of circumstances those benefits. We have appealed that decision."

Donnelly has asked for a hearing to investigate why changes in policy by the labor department when "at this time we need the benefits more than we've ever needed them in the past."

"So, to sum it up, the battle continues on two tiers," Donnelly said. "We need to extend some benefits, short and long term, to workers who will lose their jobs either for short or long periods depending on what the final results are of our efforts to keep the yard open. I am also continuing delicate discussions with other American shipbuilders and ship owners, to see whether they're willing to purchase the Quincy shipyard."

In a related matter, the House tax-writing panel in Washington has approved new tax rides that could make General Dynamics' Quincy shipyard a slightly more attractive piece of property for potential buyers.

In a weekend session on the tax overhaul proposal, the House Ways and Means Committee approved an amendment by Donnelly that continues the Capital Construction Fund (CCF) and mandates that any money invested in the tax-free fund be spent within 10 years of deposit.

The CCF, which is roughly comparable to an Individual Retirement Account for ship owners, is designed to allow ship operators to amass the cash on a tax-deferred basis necessary to finance the construction of a new ship in American shipyards.

Some $900 million deposited by about 120 companies now rests in the

BRIAN DONNELLY

CCF. The Reagan administration and ship owners have been seeking to kill the CCF in order to build new ships overseas for less money.

The absence of commercial clients and General Dynamics' inability to land new Navy work has been cited as the key reasons for the closing of the Quincy shipyard next year when its current workload for the Navy is completed.

A Donnelly spokesman said the change was made in hopes of improving the long-term outlook for Quincy and other yards. "This is as close as you can get to a guarantee that there is going to be private shipbuilding work in the U.S.," said John Stobierski.

City's First Draft Quota Bid Farewell

At ceremonies in the council chamber, Quincy said good-bye to nine young men who made up the city's first draft quota.

The farewell included speeches by Mayor Thomas Burgin, war time former mayor Joseph Whiton and Colonel George Adams, veteran of the Spanish-American War and WWI. Rev. Carleton Easton of Quincy Point Congregational Church gave the invocation.

Nov. 20-26 1940 45 Years Ago

The young men, all volunteers, were Robert Cutler, George Gorbunoff, Herbert Blanchette, Joseph Goode Jr., Edmund McCarron, Henry Tucker, Paul Sheridan, Joseph Cummings and Donald Knowles.

NEED FOR HOTEL CITED

"Quincy not only needs a hotel, but the city can support one," said Mrs. Florence Crone, a hotel executive living here temporarily.

She pointed out the city, with hotel accommodations, would be in a position to go out after many conventions which do not consider the city.

"A central location, possibly near the courthouse would be the best site," she said. She noted Quincy was one of the few cities of its size in the country without adequate hotel facilities.

TAXPAYERS ASSOCIATION BACKS ABOLITION OF RESERVE FIRE LIST

The Quincy Taxpayers Association announced its support of Mayor Burgin's recommendation to abolish the reserve list for the fire department.

William Edmonston, executive secretary of the association said his group supported the recommendation because the department would soon become an organization of old men. In place of the reserve list, it was suggested that an eligible list be set up instead.

Edmonston said, "It was not fair to either members of the reserve force, to the city or the taxpayers, that middle aged firefighters, without experience, be placed on the active list."

LATE STARTING TIME OF THANKSGIVING GAME PROTESTED

The late starting time of this year's Quincy-North Quincy Thanksgiving Day game was protested.

Instead of starting at the usual 10:30 a.m., this year's game time was changed to 11 a.m. so that the game would not interfere with church services. Football fans, however, argued that the late starting time would interfere with Thanksgiving dinner. Fans wanted the 1941 game pushed back to the 10:30 time or even 10.

Fire Dept. Receives Chemical Suits

The Quincy Fire Department has been awarded three totally encapsulated chemical suits which cost $824 each and could be used in the event of an accident with the new 16-ton chlorine trucks in the city.

The presentation was made at Monday night's City Council meeting by John Kellogg of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority.

The equipment was requested by Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney and the Citizens Advisory Committee.

Cheney had written to Philip Shapiro, MWRA acting executive director, that "there is a great deal of concern by the residents of the City of Quincy relative to the transportation and use of chlorine as a disinfectant (at the Nut Island Plant)."

The chlorine is being delivered by a 16-ton tanker truck, noted Cheney.

"The streets through the Houghs Neck area are narrow and unsafe for such a large quantity of any toxic material. I fear for the safety of all the residents of Houghs Neck," wrote Cheney.

Cheney also encouraged the MWRA to look into alternative methods of disinfection.

"I'm presenting these suits in the hope that you'll never have the opportunity to use them," said Kellogg, "but if the situation should arise, you'll be ready."

Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti said that the suits will enable firefighters to enter any atmosphere with that kind of leak."

Those who purchase a regular year or half-year membership will be given the special gift certificate announcing their gift and who it is from. A special holiday greeting is also attached.

Recreation Director Barry Welch said the certificates make an ideal stocking stuffer or last minute gift, and will provide an individual or family with many hours of healthy recreational swimming activity.

Legal Secretaries Collecting Books For Inmates

The Norfolk County Legal Secretaries Association has begun its traditional collection of books to be donated to inmates of area jails and prisons during the holiday season.

Marie B. O'Neill, PLS, of Dedham, chairman of the project, will accept new and used books and requests current novels of fiction or historical, biographical or non-fiction works.

It has been specifically requested that technical and/or instructional manuals and materials not be donated, as the prison libraries are well stocked with these. They are most interested in receiving hardcover or paperback books that might bring some enjoyment to the readers and fill some empty hours.

For the past several years, the Norfolk County LSA has been accepting donation of books at this time of year and delivering them to various prisons in the area during the Christmas season, where they have been gratefully received. This and the mitten tree for children of The New England Home for Little Wanderers have been the chapter's major annual community activities.

Quincy residents may drop books off up to Dec. 6 at the law office of Peter J. Leveroni, Esq., 1259 Hancock St., at McIntyre Mall.

For further information relative to the Books for Prisoners project, the chairman, Marie B. O'Neill, PLS, may be contacted at 471-0800.

For information about membership in the association, calls should be directed to Susan DiNicola, c/o Schlesinger & Buchbinder, 1200 Walnut St., Newton, tel. 965-3500.

THE KEY TO WEIGHT MAINTENANCE

Q: After several months of dieting, I have finally lost those extra pounds I've been carrying around. But I've lost weight before and gained it all back. How can I keep that weight off this time?

A: First, don't be afraid to eat; just eat the right foods! A diet high in lean meats, fresh fruits and vegetables is good insurance for weight maintenance. These foods contain "staying power" and will satisfy your hunger for longer periods of time. Of course, you'll still want to limit your serving size and number.

Avoid junk foods that contain refined sugars and white flour. These foods initially satisfy your hunger but soon you crave more.

Remember, take one day at a time. At Diet Center, we believe that permanent weight loss comes only through dedication in changing your eating and exercise habits.

If you would like additional information on dieting, contact your local Diet Center at 770-3442.

B. Approval of Application and Annual Program Plan for Special Education

Each year the School Committee must approve the Annual Program Plan for Special Education. This year the format has been changed and the Nov. 1 submission deadline extended to Dec. 15. This document serves as a report on the implementation of procedures and programs by asking for information relative to last year's Chapter 766 program, for current programs and census data and for projected objectives and budget expenditures for 1986-1987.

The major change this year is that we are now required to allocate money for staff retirement (6 per cent) and for indirect costs (2.5 per cent). These expenditures result in a loss of the resource room position in the Extended Vocational Alternatives program budget. With this one exception, the budget is the same as it has been in previous years.

The Annual Program Plan for Special Education is before you for information only. At the next meeting, Dr. Griffin and Mr. Tozzi will be present to answer any questions that you might have. I will be recommending that you approve the Annual Program Plan as submitted.

IRS Move To Brockton Protested By McCauley

Mayor Francis McCauley has written to Cong. Brian Donnelly about plans to consolidate the Quincy and Brockton IRS offices in a new federal building in Brockton in the spring.

McCauley said: "I am very concerned about the announcement that the Quincy IRS office will be closing. Quincy has had an IRS office since the 1950's.

"The closing of this office will prove a severe hardship for Quincy residents and especially for the many seniors who reside here.

"I believe that you will agree with me that it is difficult for most seniors to get on and off buses and transportation is often a problem for many of them.

"To get to an IRS office in Brockton, I know, will prove a source of worry and aggravation to our seniors.

"I ask that you make a concerned effort to see if the decision to close the Quincy IRS office can be reversed. I will appreciate your cooperation in trying to have the decision rescinded."

Central Baptist To Share Thanksgiving Day

The needy and those who will be alone on Thanksgiving Day are welcomed to share that holiday with the Central Baptist Church of Quincy, who will host its third annual Community Thanksgiving Dinner.

The free meal, prepared by members of Central Baptist and other volunteers, will be served in the church's center, Foster and Washington Sts., Quincy Center, Thursday from noon to 3 p.m. Last year over 150 meals were provided through this program.

Central Baptist Church is also the location of the Quincy

For more information on the Community Thanksgiving Dinner or other programs, call Central Baptist Church at 479-4932.

Christian Scientists Observe Thanksgiving And Bible Week

Because Thanksgiving Day occurs in the middle of National Bible Week, the Christian Science congregation in Quincy is making preparations for both.

A special Thanksgiving Day service is planned at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 20 Greenleaf St., at 10 a.m. Anyone wishing to join with members is invited to give thanks. Free child care will be provided during the hour-long service.

During that same week, the church joins other denominations in marking this year's National Bible Week theme: "Bring your mind as well as your heart to the Bible."

A special display will appear in the church's Reading Room window at 18 Beale St., Wollaston, a week prior to Thanksgiving. An entire issue of the denomination's magazine, the Christian Science Sentinel, focuses on the enduring vitality of Scripture. It will be on sale during Bible Week. The lead editorial of that issue begins:

"More words than ever before in the history of mankind are being poured out today. But most of them seem like adding dry sand to an already massive desert. The Bible, however, is full of words that satisfy our deepest thirst."

The Bible is central to Christian Science services and practice, and the upcoming special Thanksgiving service is no exception. It will include hymns of praise, brief silent prayer and the Lord's Prayer, as well as readings from Scripture on "Thanksgiving," Jesus' counsel to "Heal the sick, cleanse the lepers, raise the dead, cast out devils" is the takeoff point for the focus of the service on expressing gratitude to God through daily Christian discipleship.

Of particular interest to visitors is the portion of the service set aside for spontaneous expressions of gratitude. It's not unusual for Christian Scientists to briefly relate instances of spiritual healing among their blessings.

The altar and chancel will be decorated with fruits, flowers, vegetables, corn stalks and pumpkins, arranged by a committee chaired by Sandra Jones and Carol Massey.

All the food will go to the Protestant Social Service Bureau's "Pantry Shelf" to be distributed to needy families and individuals.

The children of the church school will attend the first portion of the service and will present their food gifts at the altar during the worship. Later, the children will go to their class rooms for half-hour classes. Provisions are also made for babies and toddlers.

a traditional Gaelic melody.

An excerpt from Gov. Bradford's Journal entitled, "Thanksgiving 1623" will be read by Louise B. Forsyth, moderator of the congregation. The associate minister, Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will serve as liturgist in leading the worship.

A fellowship time with light refreshments will take place in the Allen Parlor following the worship.

'More Than Conquerors' Sermon At Squantum Church

The congregation of the First Church of Squantum remembered its Pilgrim ancestry Sunday in its worship.

The second service began with a congregational reading of the Hundredth Psalm. Later, the congregation sang that Psalm using the words and the tune from the Ainsworth Psalter which the Pilgrims used in their worship, too.

The hymns were "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come," "We Plow the Fields and Scatter" and "Now Thank We All Our God." The offertory music was a medley of tunes from Psalms 5, 15 and 136, as sung by the Pilgrims. The Chancel Choir sang Hendrik Kremer's "Prayer of Thanksgiving" as the offertory anthem.

The organ prelude was John Goss' "Praise My Soul, the King of Heaven." The postlude was "Now Thank We All Our God" as arranged by George F. Kaufmann. Mary Ruth Scott was the organist. Church pastor Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin used a large map of England and Holland to illustrate the story of why the Pilgrims came to the New World.

In a sermon entitled "More Than Conquerors," Dr. Langevin described the traits of Pilgrim character taking his illustrations from the lives of John Robinson, William Brewster and William Bradford. His text was "...in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him who loved us." (Romans 8:37)

Stewart Scott and Harry Holmes were the ushers. Ruth Swenson and Evelyn Ahearn hosted the Fellowship Hour after the service.

Dr. Langevin spoke on the subject "Pilgrims in Christ" at the early service. Marci Hurd and Lori Ogilvie were the ushers.

This Sunday there will be a Thanksgiving Sunday breakfast at 9:15 a.m. The menu includes orange juice, French toast, sausages, hash brown potatoes, and a beverage. The public is invited. ## Hospice Helps Ease Pain Of Terminally Ill At Home Hospice on the South Shore tries, and succeeds in many cases, in easing the pain of terminal illness for some 250 South Shore residents and their families.

It is part of a national movement which is being honored this month by Congress with a declaration that November is "National Hospice Month" in the United States.

Hospice helps people who are terminally ill to live out the rest of their lives in dignity and free from pain as much as possible. The program counsels both the ill, their families and friends, working to try to heal even before it actually happens the tragic end which terminal illness inflicts.

The program does not sugarcoat the future of those who travel this difficult journey but rather uses a combination of special skills and therapies to help the patient and those concerned to live their remaining days together as fully as possible.

According to Barbara Ross, director of community relations, the program is available to residents of Quincy, Hingham, Braintree, Cohasset, Holbrook, Hull, Milton, Norwell, Randolph, Scituate, and Weymouth without regard to race, ethnic origin, creed, sex or ability to pay. In the late 1960s St. Christopher's Hospice was established in London, England, sparked by the concern of Dr. Cicely Saunders, who saw that advanced medical technology had nothing to offer to the quality of life of those patients who could not benefit by this technology - the terminally ill.

Through her efforts, a synthesis of the centuries-old principle of surrounding the dying with love and compassion, and contemporary medical techniques for the alleviation of pain was found, and the hospice movement as we know it today, was born.

In 1978, after St. Christopher's Hospice was established, the Visiting Nurse Association of the South Shore began its planning for the development of the Hospice of the South Shore. This grew from the conviction that hospice care can and should be given to the patient and family in the security and comfort of their own home.

The planning process continued concurrently with testing the concept with a select group of terminally ill patients and families drawn from the rapidly growing caseload of patients served by the Visiting Nurse Association of the South Shore, until 1980, when the hospice was formally introduced as a program of the VNA.

In 1981, the hospice program grew beyond expectations. The patients and families served through this program named it the Hospice of the South Shore.

Even greater growth took place in 1982, when approximately eight thousand visits were made by the hospice team of nurses, therapists, counselors and volunteers to families residing in the 11 town South Metro area.

This rapid growth prompted the board of directors to vote to incorporate Hospice of the South Shore as a separate entity. This incorporation went into effect Jan. 1, 1983.

Patients and their families need varying amounts and kinds of services to maintain a hospice patient at home. One such service is spiritual - providing pastoral counseling. Beginning the first of the year the Rev. Janet Vernon of Hingham will, upon request, meet with patients and families to address such concerns.

Her non-denominational approach is not meant to be a replacement for a person's own clergy's service, but her special training and gift for working with families where there is life-threatening illness will provide many hospice families an added dimension of faith during a difficult time.

Because Reverend Vernon's work will require a volunteer component, she is presently seeking assistance. Those interested in participating in this work and wish more information can contact Hospice of the South Shore at 843-0947.

Hospice To Hold Open House Nov. 24

The staff and volunteers of the Hospice of the South Shore will hold an open house Sunday afternoon, Nov. 24, for families who have been involved with the Hospice program.

The event is an opportunity to renew contacts and share experiences.

The open house marks the observance of Hospice Month, recognized nationally to acknowledge this special kind of health care offered to patients with life-threatening illness.

The Hospice of the South Shore provides comprehensive home health and support services to patients and their families. Since 1979 the agency has served 11 communities in the South Shore area. Hospice care is based on the tenet that every person deserves to live life fully with optimum physical, spiritual and psychosocial well-being even until death comes. Hospice care emphasizes the comfort of the patient at home and support of the family, extending even to bereavement.

The Hospice open house will be held from 2-4 p.m. in the offices of the VNA Foundation of the South Shore, 400 Franklin Street, Braintree Five Corners.

VNA Program Offered On Helping Elderly

Parenting Elderly Parents will be the topic of a program offered by the Visiting Nurse Association of the South Shore and its affiliated agencies Wednesday evening, December 4 from 7:30 - 9:30 p.m. in the classroom of the VNA Foundation, 400 Franklin St., Braintree Five Corners.

The program, which is free to the public, will provide information on caring for an elderly person at home, and helping elderly parents to remain independent in their own homes or to live comfortably with the family. The practical, what-to-do issues of managing a parent's care at home plus the broader personal issues of facing the reality of a parent's aging will be discussed. Professionals in social work, occupational therapy, community nursing and nutrition will speak on techniques, community resources, finances and planning for the care of the older person who requires assistance at home.

The program is offered free to the public as part of the observance of National Home Care Week, Dec. 1 - 7. The sponsoring agencies, the Visiting Nurse Association of the South Shore, Inc. and its affiliates, Home and Health Resources of the South Shore, Inc. and Hospice of the South Shore, Inc., provide a full range of home health care services to persons in eleven area communities.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

Do you ever feel you have no influence whatsoever? How untrue this is... Everybody has influence. Whether we like it or not we do influence others by what we say; by what we do; and what we think. But most of all we influence people by what we are!

D. Scott Deware

There is not a human being living who doesn't influence others at some time or another. Think back over your life and evaluate the influence certain people have had on you. Your parents, your friends, your teachers and even your enemies have all produced an effect on you. It may have been good; it may have been bad; but it was there.

Isn't it true that some people have the gift of extending their influence on others? These are the leaders and the geniuses. They do influence periods of time and change human customs.

But, let us remember that the influence of the greatest leader that ever lived cannot compare with the daily influence we encounter and exert every day on our family, friends and acquaintances. Influence can be powerful. Let us not take it lightly for it is a powerful reality and one of serious importance.

institution is critical."

Mundy said that morale at the hospital is "OK."

"We're dealing with intelligent people. Nobody likes to go through anything like this, but we have a mature staff."

"The only thing I'm concerned about is that inappropriate allegations might be made as to the quality of care, which I think will hurt the reputation of the hospital and is unfounded."

"The hospital has maintained its reputation and the quality of care is excellent."

"I'm terribly concerned that people not take that kind of publicity and have it impact a decision on making use of this fine institution."

Mayor Francis McCauley said that Hospital Corporation of America, which manages the hospital, held off the layoffs as long as it could.

"But steps had to be taken," said McCauley, who noted that there has been a general reduction in the amount of money a third party payer will pay, and an increase in procedures done outside of the hospital.

"The result is that the hospital had to take action. They're no different than other hospitals."

"The layoffs are unfortunate, but they are being done professionally and with sensitivity."

"We've been assured that there will be adequate staffing at the hospital."

"What is happening now is scaring the life out of the RNs who know they're going to be doing without us," said Mrs. Haigh, an LPN for 27 years who is scheduled to be laid off.

"South Shore Hospital is running at 100% occupancy, why is QCH different?" asked Kathleen Shaw, chairwoman of the technical-professional part of the union.

"Why are LPNs still being called in for overtime to cover shifts? Why are they still using RN agencies and why are RNs still being hired?"

Mrs. Haigh continued, "We have a lot of questions. We'd like to see figures on the census and hours."

Morale at the hospital is "poor, poor, poor," according to Mrs. Haigh.

"This has always been known as the land of the free, now it's the land of the fearful."

"Everyone in the hospital is considering the fact that they may lose their job."

"One person who is being laid off has 26 years experience at the hospital," said Mrs. Haigh.

"They're telling us they don't want us to bad mouth the hospital because if less people use it, there could be another layoff after the first of the year."

"We've heard comments that management has signed a death certificate for this hospital," said Mrs. Shaw.

Mrs. Haigh said it is debatable whether the hospital was adequately staffed prior to the layoffs.

"It was beginning to look like staffing was adequate," she said.

Will it be adequately staffed after the layoffs, she was asked.

"Definitely not," she replied.

Camp Fire Holds Square Dance

Quincy Camp Fire had a record turnout of nearly 200 people for their annual Square Dance held recently at Wollaston Baptist Church.

Professional caller Bob Johnson and his wife Ruth led the young dancers and their parents through line, circle, and the traditional four-couple square dances. Their repertoire included simple dances like the "Bunny Hop" and "Seven Steps" for the younger folks as well as more complicated maneuvers such as "Digging for Clams."

Everyone attending brought a non-perishable food item for the Quincy Crisis Center. Paula Gordon's Cabbage Patch Blue Birds from Houghs Neck decorated the Food Collection Boxes; Fran Meade's Pine Cone Blue Birds from Wollaston, delivered the six cartons of food to the center.

An added feature this year was a "Big 21" drawing, with 21 prizes including a gift certificate for O'Connell Gardens, plants from Wollaston Florist, Wollaston Theatre and General Cinema movie tickets, a certificate for a decorated birthday cake, and several Christmas craft items.

Munchkins and apple juice were served.

House Passes 10-Year General Dynamics Payback Plan

The House of Representatives has passed legislation introduced by Mayor Francis McCauley, which allows the City of Quincy to delay for 10 years the payment of $2.4 million in tax overcharges resulting from a court case involving General Dynamics.

Several years ago, the city was found to be over assessing property at the Shipyard, said Rep. Thomas Brownell. Consequently, a court order forced the city to incur a $2.4 million deficit, Brownell explained.

The legislation approved by the House allows the city to pay the debt off in smaller annual payments over the next decade, rather than the total amount in one year, according to Brownell.

"Deferring this debt obligation will certainly help the city's financial position," Brownell said. "I'm pleased that we were able to assist the Mayor and the City Council on this approach to improve Quincy's fiscal condition."

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey said, "While this doesn't relieve the city of its obligation, it does lessen the impact on local services."

Sen. Paul Harold said, "This legislation will give the city needed flexibility in paying off the court-ordered judgment regarding the General Dynamics case."

Rep. Robert Cerasoli (D-Quincy) said, "I am very happy to have worked in the best interests of the city to get this bill passed."

QHS Student Council Dance Friday

Hosting a dance this Friday, community involvement projects, and interest in state government were among the priority tasks of the Quincy High School Student Council's recent activities.

The Home Coming Dance will be from 7:30 to 11:30 p.m. on Friday, Nov. 22 at the MacLean Gym. Tickets are $5 and may be purchased from Lisa Perfeio, Tina Calabro, Diane Light, Dorothy Cameron, and Laura Des-Roches.

Earlier this month a student council sponsored bloodmobile contributed 52 pints to the Red Cross. The special drive was held Nov. 1 in MacLean Gym.

Members of the council dressed up in full costumes on Halloween and raised $97.68 in collections for UNICEF.

Juniors Michele Palardy and Tina Calabro, alternate, were elected to participate in the 39th Annual Student Government Day next spring at the State House, Boston.

This six-month study of all aspects of state government concludes with students assuming the roles of legislative officers.

At an earlier student council meeting, Maria Politano of Houghs Neck was elected the school's representative to the Hugh O'Brien Youth Foundation State Leadership seminar scheduled for next spring at Boston College.

Lydon Introduces Admendmentments To Hospital Permit

The Quincy City Council voted Monday night to refer to its ordinance committee a series of 12 admendmentments relative to the $75 million replacement of a major portion of Quincy City Hospital.

If the council adopts the admendmentments, the admendmentments will be part of a special Planned United Development permit which QCH will apply for at the Dec. 2 meeting.

The admendmentments were introduced by Councillor John Lydon, in whose ward the hospital is located.

Lydon said that he and Councillor Patricia Tolant met this week with representatives of the hospital to discuss the admendmentments.

The admendmentments, some of which are still being negotiated with the hospital, are:

- That the ambulatory care entrance as submitted by the Hospital Board of Managers on the northerly side of the Hospital new construction be redesigned and located on the southerly side with access from Whitwell Street only.

- That the existing fence construction as exists on hospital property not be moved any further toward Colonial Drive and further that a newly constructed stockade fence be constructed along the Colonial Drive abutting properties the length of the Hospital.

- Prior to the issuance of a Building Permit a written program of sound, dust and erosion be on file with the building inspector and enforced by him.

- Prior to the issuance of a Building Permit, Engineering Certification be obtained with regard to a certified drainage plan being on file with the Building Inspector and enforced by him.

- That the ventilation units located on the northerly side of the new construction be placed on the roof away from the abutting community.

- That a formalized work hours for major construction exempting weekend and holiday work and fixed work hours be established and on file with the Building Inspector and be enforced by him.

- That a formal lighting plan for new construction for building, parking lots and abutting property lines be submitted to the Building Inspector for his approval.

- No access shall be allowed to the construction site except from Whitwell Street.

- Landscaping of evergreens along property lines shall be 18 to 20 feet evergreens space at 10 foot intervals.

- That the 22 Parking spaces adjacent to rehab entrance be restricted to posted handicap parking spaces.

- That the seven member community building liaison committee have five members appointed by the Hospital Board and two members appointed by the City Council.

- That a formal construction workers parking plan and employee parking plan for off site and on site be on file with the Building Inspector specifically restricting parking to construction workers and Hospital employees to residential streets abutting the Hospital.

- That the hospital construction for the new building be restricted to five stories.

Free Coin Appraisals At Weymouth Savings Bank

Weymouth Savings Bank account holders were greeted with a special surprise in their statements this month.

Rather than the usual bank advertising, customers discovered a tradition-breaking, free service -- an offer to appraise their old coins or currency free of charge.

A special card stating, "Take A New Look At Your Old Coins", was mailed to over 10,000 customers. This has led to many phone calls and appointments. The professional coin firm, Dubin, Browne Rarities of Mills, is providing the expertise to conduct the appraisals.

"So far it's been amazing", says one bank employee. "I never knew how many people had old coins out there."

The bank expects to generate well over 200 such appraisals through a combination of in-house mailings, lobby signs and newspaper ads.

"Many of the coins brought in by customers are of limited value -- the price of bullion or a little more and it is unusual that a customer discovers a high quality coin with a rare date. But exceptions do occur and make it ever so interesting", says professional numismatist Bruce Dubin.

"We are always delighted to look at coins," says Dubin, "for a number of reasons. First, it is a courtesy that strengthens our image and reputation. Second, it provides us with the opportunity to meet people who might be interested in learning more about rare coins and coin investment."

When asked if he ever gets tired of looking at bags of wheat pennies or worn silver dollars, Dubin replied, "Tired, yes, bored, no. And besides I am very aware that many people seem embarrassed about taking up our time over a single coin or two."

"In such cases, I try to reassure them that we are providing our appraisal as a bank service, and as such, are happy to accommodate them. Besides, we have the option of conveying by telephone the worth of many pieces for those who just want a quick answer."

George Thompson, president of the bank, said the program is a continuation of one of the ongoing educational programs to bring the knowledge of coins and currency to the community, with a special focus on customers and school children.

"We purchased several hundred copies of Coin World (a leading publication in the industry) with the intent of distributing them widely to our customers, the community and the schools. We have in the past given away uncirculated pennies and Kennedy half dollars, so this idea is not entirely new, but it is a nice addition."

In regard to selection of the firm, Thompson said, "We checked these people out carefully (Dubin, Browne Rarities) and their credentials were very good. I especially liked their approach, which is to meet with the customer, discuss his or her coins and furnish a formal appraisal, as well as any other information needed."

Vice President Ron Downing, who was originally in contact with the coin firm, said, "When you think about it, it is a money-related service and that's what banking is all about. I think our customers will find this service most interesting."

"We try to make the appraisal an enjoyable experience", says Charles Browne, a principal of the firm. "I think people really enjoy it when you tell them about their coins -- not just what they are worth, but how they were made, where, and some of the historical and political circumstances that often affect their mintage."

"I also like hearing the people's stories too, like the grandfather who handed it down or the discovery in the attic. It is all part of coin lore, so to speak. It keeps me going."

And what do the customers think? At the end of the appraisal, which generally lasts 15 minutes to an hour, they are invited to put their comments in writing. Some of their comments have been: "Nice", "Very professional", "Thank you for the opportunity to appraise my coins", "A great idea", "Numismatists very fair and courteous", "I thank the Bank for this opportunity".

People do not have to be customers of the bank to receive this free service. They should call 337-2700 in advance to arrange an appointment.

Although the program is slated to last only through November, Thompson said that the bank would be glad to continue the program longer if needed.

$30,000 Grant For Incentive Aid Program

The Planning Department of the City of Quincy has received a $30,000 grant from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for an Incentive Aid Program to set up a public works capital improvement program.

According to Planning Director James Lydon, the Department of Public Works now works on streets on an "as needed" basis.

"With money from the program," said Lydon, "we can now plan ahead."

A survey of streets will be done, and information updated, he said.

Work on the project will begin over the winter months, Lydon said.

Holiday Swimming Program At Lincoln Hancock Pool

The Quincy Recreation Department will, for the third year, conduct a special schedule of swimming on Sundays between Thanksgiving and Christmas as part of its recreational swim programs at the Lincoln Hancock Community School pool.

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch said the pool will be open on Sundays from 1 to 4 p.m. for children age 6 - 18 who may swim all or part of this period, while parents take advantage of the Sunday store openings and shop at local stores.

From 4 - 5 p.m., the normal adult swim will remain in effect. Regular pool memberships can be used or a $1 guest fee can be paid at the door. As usual, all swims will be supervised by American Red Cross trained personnel from the Quincy Recreation Department.

Adults may also swim in the extended hours swim and family groups are encouraged to participate. The dates of this year's special shopper swims are Sunday, November 24, December 1, 8, 15, and 22.

Welch said, "This program has proven popular to parents and participants alike and I am pleased that we can repeat it."

Hospice Seeks Volunteer Workers To Help Ill

Hospice of the South Shore, Inc. is offering a training program for volunteers interested in working in the community to help patients who have life-threatening illnesses.

The training program will prepare volunteers to work directly with Hospice families as a vital part of the Hospice team that provides medical, psychological, spiritual and personal support services in the home. The training program develops skills needed to provide a caring relationship for the terminally ill patient and family members. Training topics include listening and communication skills, grief and bereavement.

The Hospice volunteer serves as a "befriender" of the patient and family, offering to help on small but important activities such as errands, reading or lettering. Most of all, the volunteer offers companionship -- the opportunity to talk to someone who cares and wants to listen. The Hospice volunteer is a friend during a difficult time. His or her support can create a positive force that helps the patient to live more fully and deal with the illness without despair.

Experienced volunteers maintain that Hospice work has enriched their own lives and given them as much as they give to their patients.

While no experience is required, those who qualify as volunteers will be expected to donate a few hours each week. Hours are flexible and may be arranged around a work schedule. Ongoing supervision and group support are major components of the program.

The Hospice program serves about 250 patients annually in the South Shore area, including Braintree, Cohasset, Hingham, Holbrook, Hull, Norwell, Quincy, Randolph, Scituate and Weymouth. Volunteers generally work in their own or nearby communities.

The Hospice training program will be conducted Wednesday evenings beginning Jan. 22 at the offices of the Visiting Nurse Association of the South Shore, 400 Franklin St., Braintree, at Five Corners.

Anyone interested in the program may call Hospice Volunteer Coordinator Janet Vernon at 849-1710 or 843-0947.

Injured Presidents No Match For Boxers

By TOM LUSIVIAN

The Quincy football team's "first season" has ended without a victory and frustrated coach Jack Raymer is hoping that his many injured players will be back for the "second season" against North Quincy on Thanksgiving.

The Presidents were forced to face Brockton's undefeated Division 1 leaders last Saturday at Veterans Memorial Stadium with 10 players on the sidelines with injuries.

They turned in an inspired performance-but the Boxers (8-0), the defending Div. 1 Super Bowl champions, taking advantage of every break, rolled to a 41-14 victory, lowering Quincy's record to 0-9.

"I couldn't ask any more of these kids," Raymer said. "It's had enough facing a team like Brockton at full strength and it was just asking too much of them with 10 players, including several key performers, out of the lineup."

Watching from the sidelines were quarterback Steve Austin, defensive back Tony Venturelli, linebacker Dave Murphy, defensive end John Picarski, center Karl Stasky-wicz, guard Kevin Devonshire, guard John Bogan, center Kerry Burne, tackle Paul Lally and defensive back Chris Mackey.

Larry Taglieri started only his second game at quarterback and did a good job under tremendous pressure. He hit on eight of 17 passes but had four intercepted.

| Venturelli | 0  | 1   | 1    |

"He deserves a lot of credit for the way he played," said Raymer. "After all, he hadn't played anything but defense until the Newton North game when we found Austin wouldn't be able to play. He threw some fine passes and also ran well."

"We will now point for North Quincy and I think everyone except Devonshire and Venturelli will be back. If we can beat them, it will make up for all our losses."

Quincy held Brockton to 87 net yards rushing, one of the Boxers' lowest totals of the year. Brockton quarterback Tom Colombo completed nine of 13 passes for 171 yards and four touchdowns, but had two intercepted by Don Parry, who turned in another outstanding two-way performance for the Presidents until he was injured late in the game.

Quincy had only 23 net yards on the ground and 175 yards passing. The Presidents gained 62 yards rushing but lost 39. Brockton had 11 first downs and Quincy nine.

One Brockton interception was returned for a touchdown, another set up a score and a Quincy fumble on the one-yard line handed the Boxers a third touchdown.

things today," Raymer said. "Perry did an excellent job on pass defense as did Mike O'Connor. We didn't double team (Greg) McMurry, one of the finest players we have ever faced, and Perry covered him well."

Raymer also had good words for Ron Luisi, Ken Southwick, Norm Hassan, Mike Eastwick, Paul Munaf, Frank Calabro, Kevin Jolley, Steve Picarski and Joe Innello.

On offense John Heath, Rick Smith, sophomore Tom Bjork, who filled in well for Lally; Jeff Sprague, Dave Savage, Gardner and Innello all played well and Mark Porzio and Luisi ran well.

Two sophomores, quarterback Jay Bennett and Shawn Monroe, hooked up on a spectacular 66-yard touchdown pass play in the final minutes.

Quincy was stopped following the opening kickoff and Brockton took possession on its 37. It took only four plays for the Boxers to score, Colombo hitting McMurry for a 31-yard scoring pass. Sal Gonsalves kicked the extra point.

That was the only score of the opening quarter but on the second play of the second quarter a Mark Flanders punt went to Quincy's 17. On the first play Ted Donovan recovered a fumble on the two and Tim McCoy scored. Gonsalves again kicked the extra point.

It didn't take long for the Boxers to make it 21-0. Dennis Martin picked off a Taglieri pass and ran it back 30 yards for the touchdown and Gonsalves' kick made it 21-0.

A few minutes later Colombo passed to McMurry in the flat and the fleet-footed wide receiver escaped several tackles and went 50 yards for the score. Gonsalves' kick made it 28-0 at the half.

Brockton received to open the second half and six plays later Colombo passed to Dave McCormack for 25 yards and another score. This time Brockton tried for a two-point conversion but it failed.

Colombo threw his fourth touchdown pass, this one to Rocco Marciano for 13 yards and Gonsalves kicked his fifth point to end the Boxers' scoring for the day.

After Calabro recovered a fumble on his 16, Quincy scored its first touchdown when Taglieri hit Innello for a 42-yard gain to the Brockton two, where Innello was brought down from behind.

Taglieri scored on a sneak and then passed to Munroe for the two-point conversion.

In the final minutes Dennett threw a perfect bomb to Munroe, who ran 45 yards to complete a 66-yard scoring play to end the scoring.

Montgomery, who held the overall collegiate mark. He is fourth on the all-time NCAA rushing list with 5305 career yards.

Also playing for Plymouth State are North Quincy's Neil Fisher and Steve Lee and Quincy's Bob Mudge.

North Girls Finish Second In State Meet

The North Quincy girls' cross-country team, Eastern Mass. champions for the sixth straight year, finished second in the state championship meet last Saturday over the Franklin Park course.

Notre Dame of Hingham won the girls' title for the third year in a row as it battled North Quincy, the 19-82 state titlist.

Each school had three finishers among the first 25, but Notre Dame's last two scorers finished well ahead of North's final pair.

was 17th, her sister, Terri, 24th, and Karen Keough, 25th.

But, while Notre Dame's Marybeth Powers was 26th, Suzanne Jones 30th, Ellen Crowley 94th and Maureen Stanley 150th, North Quincy's Tricia Leary was 54th, Ann Toland 148th, Caryn Collings 153rd and Sharon Barrett 158th.

Chance To See Dudek Saturday

Quincy fans will get one more chance to see North Quincy's Joe Dudek, the all-time national college scoring leader, in action.

Dudek's Plymouth State College team, co-champion of the New England Conference, will meet Wagner State

Dudek has scored 77 career touchdowns, 11 more than Walter Payton, who Coached by Dr. Nancy Dewtler, the Wollaston-based team won their third New England NAIA District 5 championship in as many years by defeating Gordon College 3-0.

In the Nov. 9 Northeast Regionals, played in Quincy, Eastern Nazarene defeated New York's Concordia College 3-0. This win guaranteed them another trip to the nationals.

On Nov. 2, the squad finished third behind MIT and UMass Amherst in Class A action in the Massachusetts State Championships. Last year they won that title.

Runge, Choukas In Key Roles For Bridgewater

The Bridgewater State College women's basketball team opens its season at home against Curry Friday at 6 p.m. and on Saturday at 6 p.m. hosts Southern Maine.

Two former North Quincy players will be key performers for the Lady Bears, coached by Bo Ruggiero of North Quincy.

JoAnne Runge, a 5-7 junior guard, was the ECAC Rookie of the Year two years ago and made the ECAC all-star team last season. Last year she shattered the school record for assists in a season with 204 (an average of 7.3 a game). She is the quarterback of the offense.

Chris Choukas, a 5-10 junior forward, had a slow start due to a hand injury last season, but came on strong in both scoring and rebounding at season's end. For being the team's tallest player, Chris runs the fast break well.

Ruggiero, entering his third year as coach, has an impressive 66-15 record, a winning percentage of .815.

Brookline 33, North Quincy 12

Raiders Lose But Score Deceiving

A year ago the North Quincy football team took a 7-2 record and six straight wins into the Thanksgiving game, then was upset by Quincy.

This year's squad, stripped of virtually all of last season's players, started slowly, losing its first five games, then split in its last four games and takes a 2-7 mark into the holiday classic.

Last Sunday the Raiders lost to Brookline by a deceiving 33-12 score at Northeastern's Parsons Field, as the Raiders' ground attack was completely stymied by the Indians' strong defense.

"We just didn't play a solid game," said Coach Ken McPhee. "Our defense played well, but we couldn't move the ball against them. The turning point came at the start of the second half when we held them, then moved to their 16 and couldn't score. A touchdown at the time (North trailing, 13-12), could have made a big difference."

North was set back to Brookline's 30 and the Indians took over on their 24 and marched 76 yards to open up an eight-point lead.

North's Ted Shionis, who had five straight 100-yard plus games, was held to a mere 10 yards on the ground. He did, however, score both touchdowns on a pass and a pass-lateral play, running for 98 yards on the two big plays.

"Ted has done a great job for us and just his presence on the field gives us a lift," said McPhee. "He did a nice piece of running on the two big scoring plays."

North was held to 69 net yards on the ground, 40 by Gary McNamara on eight carries. Chris Gray, who had a fine first half, hit on five of 13 passes for 154 yards, while Brookline's Bill Polishuk was five for 11 for 75 yards. Brookline, which had over 200 yards rushing, had 14 first downs to nine for North.

"They weren't that much better than us and the score is deceiving," McPhee said. "Several of the boys played fine defensive games and we recovered five fumbles (McNamara, Mark Bilton, Steve Miller, Rob Bradley and Ken Kemp had the recoveries). We were right in the game at the half but when we failed to put it early in the third quarter, they dominated the game after that."

McPhee hailed the defensive performances of Bilton, Bradley, Mike Haynes, Dan Conway, Don Clancy, and Matt McNamara.

North received to open the game and was held. A Brookline pass was fumbled and Kemp recovered on the Brookline 45. Gray hit Shionis for a 45-yard touchdown but Mark Scanlon's kick for the extra point was blocked. Despite not having a first down, the Raiders led, 6-0, at the end of the quarter.

In the second quarter, Ron Shelbourne, who ran for well over 100 yards, broke loose and raced 47 yards to tie the score. Rene Elysee's kick was blocked.

North drove to Brookline's 14 but a pass was intercepted with less than a minute to play. The Indians drove downfield and Polishuk passed to Elysee for eight yards and a touchdown with only 29 seconds left. Elysee kicked the point.

It appeared the 13-6 lead would last until the half but North then pulled the pass-lateral play that has been a North mainstay since the coaching days of the late Jack Donahue.

"Give Kevin Cobban (assistant coach) credit for this one," McPhee said. "He suggested I insert Steve Haggas and he made a fine catch of Gray's pass off his shoetops and made a perfect lateral to Shionis. Ted did some great running to complete the play."

The play covered 73 yards with Shionis, shaking off several tackles, running about 50 yards. Gray's pass for the go-ahead points failed and North trailed, 13-12, at the half.

After the Raiders failed to score following their long drive in the third quarter, Huthman Cavallo capped the 76-yard drive by scoring on a 15-yard run. Elysee added the point to make the score 20-12.

North was pushed back to its three-yard line on the ensuing kickoff. Gray, who did some excellent punting, kicked to the Raider 40 and Shelbourne went all the way for an apparent score, but a clipping penalty set the Indians back to North's 46.

Bradley fell on a fumble on the North five. Gray's pass was intercepted by Shelbourne, who waltzed in from the 11 to make it 26-12.

Twice in the final minutes Brookline intercepted Gray passes, but both times penalties nullified them. With time running out, Shelbourne went 51 yards for his third touchdown and Elysee kicked the final point.

Quincy Girls Advance To Semifinals

The Quincy girls' volleyball team, undefeated Suburban League champion seeing its third state championship in four years, breezed through the opening round of pool play, then eliminated Somerset to advance to the South sectional semifinals last night (Wednesday) against Dufree.

Notre Dame faced Bp. Feehan in the other South semifinal.

The state championship match will be played Saturday at Waltham High.

In Pool A the First Ladies breezed past Seekonk, Bp. Connolly and Fontbonne in straight games.

In the quarterfinals Quincy was forced to three games before ousting Somerset, 15-6, 6-15, 15-11.

"It was probably a combination of a little complacency and fatigue setting in," said first-year Quincy coach Tom Henderson following the victory over Somerset.

In the third and deciding game Quincy opened up a 14-5 lead only to see Somerset run off five straight points. After a timeout, the First Ladies' Pam Austin finally tipped in the winning point.

Marlo LeVangie, the only senior on the Quincy squad, was a dominating force at the net, while Ginny Duggan provided strong setting and defense. LeVangie and Austin were the leading servers. Quincy allowed no more than eight opposition points through pool play.

Curry Hosts ENC Nov. 26

The Curry College basketball team, coached by Brian Buckley of Quincy, will host Eastern Nazarene College Tuesday night, Nov. 26, at 7:30 p.m.

An individual showdown in this game will pit Curry's Paul "Pudge" Gill, a senior guard, against ENC's Mark Millane, a junior forward. Gill and Millane, close friends, played for Coach Ed Miller at North Quincy High.

Buckley is enthusiastic about his team's chances. "Last year at Eastern Nazarene we lost at the buzzer in a great game," he said. "Being so close geographically generates a natural rivalry that produces some great games."

With Curry opening Friday against Bridgewater State (8 p.m. at Bridgewater), then meeting ENC, the Colonels should have an idea of how competitive they will be.

"Bridgewater and ENC are very strong teams," Buckley said. This is the most depth a Curry squad has had in years (16 players) and that certainly helps. I hope local hoop fans will come out and see some college action. It's enjoyable."

Squantum Artist's Works At Library

Thomas Crane Public Library, 40 Washington St., Quincy Center, will present the work of painter Frank J. Strazzulla, Jr. Monday, Nov. 25, through Saturday, Dec. 7.

Strazzulla, a native of Squantum, completed his undergraduate work in Boston at Massachusetts College of Art in the spring of 1980. During this time he was greatly influenced by Ralph Rosenthal, a teacher at the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston.

Having studied previously for two summers in Europe, he returned there in July of 1980 to work toward his graduate degree at the Villa Scifanoia, Rosary College in Florence, Italy. He received his degree in May of 1982.

While studying there, Strazzulla had the opportunity to meet a number of painters whose work and ideas greatly influenced his own. He spent time with such painters as Ben Long, who at one time was apprenticed to Pietro Annigoni; Charles Cecil, a former student of Boston's R.H. Ives Gammell and Richard Lack of Minneapolis; and Dan Graves, a graduate of the Maryland Art Institute and student of Richard Lack at Lack's Minneapolis Atelier.

Returning to Boston in the summer of 1982, Strazzulla began working with muralist James McGurl of Quincy. During this time he met another Gammell student, Paul Ingbertson, at the Fenway Studios in Boston, and has spent the last year under Ingbertson's instruction.

Strazzulla again returned to Florence in the spring of 1985, and while there learned the traditional skills of pigment grinding, sun thickening oil and preparing grounds for painting at the studio of Charles Cecil and Dan Graves.

The opening date of the showing will be Monday, Nov. 25. Hours will be from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. on that day.

Following the opening, gallery hours will be 5 to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 2 to 4:30 p.m. Fridays, and 1 to 4:30 p.m. Saturdays.

The final day of showing will be Saturday, Dec. 7. The library will be closed Thursday, Nov. 28, for Thanksgiving.

Gov. Praises Mayor, City For Hurricane Work

Gov. Michael Dukakis has written to Mayor Francis McCauley to praise him for his leadership during Hurricane Gloria and to acknowledge the cooperation of many local public, private and volunteer agencies.

In his letter, Dukakis said: "On Friday, September 27, the Commonwealth experienced the fury of Hurricane Gloria. The destructive winds and driving rains of what was termed one of the worst storms ever to threaten the east coast, caused widespread damage and forced many residents to leave their homes for emergency shelter "With your leadership and the excellent cooperation of many local public, private and volunteer agencies, the safety of the public was protected and we were able to work together to assist the citizens of your community in a time of need. Your contribution was a great credit to the Commonwealth and the citizens you serve so well.

"You should feel especially proud of the performance of your emergency personnel and the citizens of your community who acted responsibly in every sense of the word.

"My warmest thanks for a job well done and please convey my appreciation to all town employees and citizens of your community."

4 Automotive Licenses Granted To Ayers Bros.

By LINDA WILKINS

The Quincy License Board Tuesday granted four automotive-related licenses to Ayers Bros., Inc., 440B East Squantum St.

Three of the licenses, for storage of 600 gallons of gasoline in the tanks of cars, storage of 400 gallons of solvents, and auto body repair and assembly, were previously held by Ayers Bros. but had to be reapplied for because the company was scheduled to relocate. A fourth license, for used car repairs, was a new license application.

According to Atty. Dennis E. Harrington, who represented Ayers Bros., Inc. at the meeting, the company was formerly located at 542 East Squantum St. (Bldg 18) The new licenses were issued for 440B East Squantum St., where the Ayers' Family Trust has recently erected a two story office-garage complex.

The new facility was approved by a special P.U.D. permit of the City Council for all of the above uses as requested by the licenses applied for, Harrington said. He added that Ayers Bros., Inc. will be the sole operator of the business at that site.

The newly constructed garage holds 20 vehicles, Harrington said. Ayers Bros. does classic automobile repairs and normal repairs, and disassembles and modifies vans for handicapped drivers, he said.

Harrington told the board the vehicles will be stored inside an enclosed area in response to concerns voiced by Building Inspector and board member Allan MacDonald. "Bodyshops become junkshops," MacDonald said, "make sure this doesn't become another junkshop."

"Anything that has to be sold will be behind the building," said Charles Ayers. "And anything that doesn't look good will be covered up." Board members were also concerned with the type of sign the company planned to use, Harrington said that because the business is located off the roadway, its sign would have to be placed on city property.

The license was granted with the stipulation that the sign be subject to the approval of the building inspector.

Maintenance Building Approved For Wollaston Facility

Rep. Michael W. Morrissey announces that a bill filed by Norfolk County Legislators and the Committee on Counties which authorizes the construction of a maintenance building at the Wollaston Recreation Facility has been signed by the Governor.

The act authorizes the Norfolk County Commissioners to borrow money for the preparation of plans and specifications for the construction.

equipping and furnishing of a maintenance building at Norfolk County Wollaston Recreation Facility, Morrissey said. This building will replace one that was destroyed by a fire June 28, 1983, he said.

"The bill is the first step in a long process for rebuilding the facility," said Morrissey. "Once it is approved by the county, work can begin and the project can be put out to bid."

Plumbing, Gas Fees Total $2,904

Inspector James A. Erwin Jr. reports the Department of Plumbing and Gas Fitting issued a total of 215 permits, for an estimated $2,904 in fees for the month of October. The department also made 171 plumbing and 134 gas inspections.

That Man's Coming To Town Again - Page 2

Christmas Parade Sunday 'Biggest One Yet'

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The 34th annual Christmas Festival Parade, said to be the biggest yet, will bring the holiday spirit to Quincy Sunday, Dec. 1, starting at 12:30 p.m.

About 300,000 people from as far away as Rhode Island, Connecticut and New York are expected to line the 2.8 mile route for one of the largest Christmas parades in the east.

The parade will proceed down Hancock St. from Elm St. in Quincy Center to East Squantum St. in North Quincy.

A number of favorites from past years, such as the Hallamore Bandwiser Clydesdales, Boston Police Motorcycle Drill Team and of course Mr. and Mrs. Santa Claus, will be featured, according to George White, general chairman for the past five years.

"Each year, a statement is made that this is the biggest parade ever, and perhaps this statement loses credibility on the basis of, 'how can that always be?'"

"But it must be said that this year is truly the biggest of all."

"The parade consists of at least four additional floats, three additional bands and four additional specialty units than last year."

"For the first year, all three categories had to be closed because of the number of applications we received."

"The Festival Committee is greatly concerned about the length of time this will add to the parade."

"We will be taking every step to speed its progress in the hopes of concluding the parade within a 2 1/2 hour period," said White who has been a member of the Christmas Festival Committee for 23 years.

The parade is one of a series of holiday activities sponsored by the Christmas Festival Committee of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, the city of Quincy and The Patriot Ledger.

A number of streets will be roped off at the sidewalk and White asks the cooperation of parade spectators in keeping behind the ropes.

The streets are Hancock St., from Granite to School Sts., St. Ann's Rd. to Old Colony Ave., W. Elm Ave. to Beale, Billings Rd. to East and West Squantum St., as well as McIntyre Mall.

Floats illustrating the parade theme, "Visions of Christmas," will be competing for prizes and money in the commercial and non-commercial categories.

In addition, trophies are presented for the Best Overall Float, the Fr. Thomas Tierney Trophy and $1,000; Second Prize, $500; Third Prize, $300; Fourth Prize, $200; The Mayor's Trophy, the best Quincy float; Best Commercial Float; Special Category Winner, Festival Committee Christmas Trophy.

Mrs. Marie Luck of 84 Countryside Lane, Milton, winner of the parade theme contest, will be a special guest. She will be transported along the parade route and will receive a gift presented by the Festival Committee.

State, county and city officials will also be in the line of march.

The floats will be judged on the basis of originality, use of materials, use of color, overall look, and adherence to theme.

Float participants are Cerberus Palsy, the Viking Club, Quincy Kiwanis, American Cancer Society, Cub Pack 14, South Shore Bank, Sen. Paul Harold, St. John's CYO, Germantown Yacht Club, The Koch Club and Woodward School.

Also, Sacred Heart Youth Association, Catholic Daughters of America, Houghton Neck, Jack Conway Realtors, Ayres Brothers, Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, The Patriot Ledger, Headlock Cafe, Bernie's Modern Formal, and Quincy Bay Race Week.

Floats will be judged by Elizabeth Shoor, fashion illustrator; Myron Hartford of the Quincy Art Association; and Ruth Duquet, former Christmas Parade theme winner.

The high school bands in the competition will be competing for the state and New England High School Championship Competition.

The winner will be eligible to appear in the New Year's Day Cotton Bowl Parade in 1987.

Bands which will participate in the parade are David Prouty High School, The Klassy Clowns, 215th Army, Milton High School, Canton Post, New Bedford High School, Pittsfield High School, East Bridgewater High School, Sturbridge High School, Lawrence High School, Haverhill High School, Franklin High School, Southbridge High School, Chicopee Comprehensive High School and Somerville High School.

Also, Douglas High School, Agawam High School, Weymouth South High School, Chicopee High School, Bishop Feehan High School, Holbrook R.L. High School, North Quincy High School, Whitman-Hanson High School, Norton High School, Bedford High School, Fairhaven High School, Abington High School, and Plymouth Carver High School.

Picard Recount Continues, Iacobucci Withdraws Request

A recount of the school committee votes from the Nov. 5 election was scheduled to continue today (Wednesday) at the request of incumbent Joan Picard who lost her seat by 80 votes.

Ronald Iacobucci, who had requested a recount of the councillor-at-large race in Wards 1 and 2, withdrew his request Monday after a recount of Ward 2 didn't show a substantial change.

Iacobucci finished fourth in the three man race. He trailed incumbent Patricia Toland by 339 votes.

The recounts are being conducted by hand. The votes were tabulated by computer in the election for the second time in the city's history.

A recount of the school committee votes in ward 3 showed little difference, according to City Clerk John Gillis.

The new vote totals contrasted to the original ones were: Mary Collins, 1872 and 1884; Picard, 1519 and 1529; Nicholas Verenis, 1268 and 1277; Margaret Nigro, 2268 and 2279; and Frank Santoro, 1569 and 1562.

Banks went from 3234 to 3200, Gillis said.

The new vote totals compared to the original ones in Ward 2 for councillor-at-large were: Richard Koch, Jr., 1893 and 1897; Joseph LaRaia, 2565 and 2567; Patricia Toland, 1842 and 1846; and Iacobucci, 2058 and

Blanks were 3324 and 3312, according to Gillis.

Gillis explained the slight changes in the tally by saying if the punch was not all the way through on the punch card ballots, the machine didn't count that vote.

Eighteen election workers are recounting the ballots under the supervision of three members of the Board of Registrars, Howard Willard, John Papile and Arnold Levine; Assistant City Clerk Thomas Burke, register of elections, Robert LeBlanc; and Police Officer Guido Pettinelli, said Gillis.

He estimated that the recount would cost about $2,000.

RONALD IACOBUCCI, left, who requested a recount of two wards in the councillor-at-large race, watches as election workers count the ballots by hand. Iacobucci later withdrew his request after the recount of one ward showed little change.

Burgin Parkway Ext. To Open Wednesday

An idea which was conceived about 15 years ago will come to fruition today (Wednesday) at 1 p.m. when the $9.9 million Burgin Parkway Extension is officially opened.

The 1.2 mile roadway will link Quincy Center with Routes 3 and 128, and was first discussed when the late James McIntyre was a state senator.

According to Sen. Paul Harold, who has also worked on the extension during his seven years as senator, a host of officials will be on hand for the ceremonies.

Secretary of transportation Fred Salvucci, state Department of Public Works Commr. Robert Tierney, and Associate DPW Commr. Marsha Reardon, as well as representatives from Modern Continental, the contractor, are expected to attend.

Also invited are Mayor Francis McCauley, former Mayors Walter Hannon, Joseph LaRaia and Arthur Tobin, City Councillors and representatives of the business community.

A special invitation had been issued to former mayor Thomas Burgin, 83, after whom the Burgin Parkway and Extension are named.

However, Burgin is recovering from a recent hospital stay and is expected to send a message for the opening instead.

The ceremonies will be held at the entrance to the road on Granite St., Quincy Center, and the public is invited.

"Through the public's support and patience, we are finally able to open this vital link for downtown Quincy. We also see it as a solution to the traffic conditions on some of the South Quincy roads."

Harold said that a traffic task force, established to handle any problems with the opening of the extension, will have extra police details at Burgin Parkway at Granite St., and at the roadway through the Star Market roadway.

"The task force will meet next week to see if any other response is needed," Harold said.

The extension, which is opening 10 months ahead of schedule, is expected to boost holiday shopping in downtown Quincy, noted Harold.

Police To Enforce Hawker, Peddlers Laws

The Christmas Festival Committee is requesting that the Quincy Police Department strictly enforce the city ordinances regarding hawkers or peddlers at the Christmas Parade Sunday, Dec. 1.

The Ordinance stipulates "No hawker or peddler shall obstruct the public nor shall be impede the progress of a parade nor shall he remain on the public way within 300 feet of the progress of a parade."

Christmas Lights To Be Turned On Friday

Holiday lights will shine on Quincy beginning Friday evening, Nov. 29, when the annual "Turning-On-The-Lights" ceremony is held at City Hall Plaza.

Entertainment will begin at 6:30 p.m. Costumed characters will arrive at 7:15 p.m.

At 7:20 p.m., Santa will arrive with Disney characters. Dignitaries will have the opportunity to make brief speeches.

After the lights are turned on at 7:30 p.m., Santa and his Disney friends will give candy canes to the youngsters in attendance.

Maintenance Union Settles

The maintenance union of the Quincy School Department has settled its contract with the city, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

McCauley said that the terms of the contract are: three per cent raise effective Jan. 1, 1985; six per cent July 1, 1985; four per cent July 1, 1986; and two per cent Jan. 1, 1987.

The contract expires June 30, 1987, McCauley said.

The Police Superior Officers, Teachers Aides and Hospital, Library and Public Employees Union have yet to settle, according to McCauley.

'Christmas In Quincy'

If you've ever wondered what it was like to celebrate the holidays in Quincy in the 1700s or 1800s, you'll have the chance to find out thanks to the local historical organizations.

"Christmas in Quincy", a celebration of the Christmas season, will be held Thursday, Dec. 5, to Sunday, Dec. 8, at Adams Academy, the Josiah Quincy House and First Parish Church.

Hours will be 9:30 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. Dec. 5 to 7, and 1:30 to 8:30 p.m. Dec. 8.

The celebration is sponsored by the Quincy Historical Society, the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities and United First Parish Church.

The Josiah Quincy House (1770), the center of social and political activity in the 18th and 19th centuries, will be elegantly decorated for the holidays by local garden clubs.

Candlelight will brighten the winter afternoons and evenings, and the house will be filled with harpsichord music of the season.

Adams Academy (1872), will feature an exhibition, "A Child's Victorian Christmas" with toys, dolls, clothing and furniture of the 19th century.

Ticket holders will be treated to a Victorian tea with sweets and a choice of teas.

The Quincy Historical Society's Museum Shop will feature gift items, ornaments and materials used in the creation of the decorations seen in the exhibit.

First Parish Church (1828) will be decorated in the spirit of the season and will feature seasonal music by musicians from Quincy churches.

Guides will be on hand to explain the history of each site and comment on the seasonal decorations.

Highlight of the celebration will be the Christmas Gala Friday, Dec. 6, 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. complete with candlelight, music and holiday refreshments.

Tickets include admission to Adams Academy, Josiah Quincy House and First Parish Church, tea and pastries at Adams Academy and a program booklet with a history of the sites, information on the decorations and comments on the celebration of Christmas.

WHICH IMPROVEMENTS MAKE SENSE?

QUESTION: How prudent do you think it is to make MAJOR improvements in a home that will shortly be put up for sale?

ANSWER: Seldom do such improvements bring more than fifty cents on the dollar. And all bets are off if you overvalue your house in relation to others in the neighborhood. Few buyers will spend $100,000 for a house in a $50,000 neighborhood.

Adding an extra bedroom or in-ground pool will increase the value of your home—but only at a fraction of the cost. The only money you should spend on a house to sell it at a higher price is for repairs that are OBVIOUSLY NEEDED to put your best foot forward.

OVERIMPROVING A HOME just prior to selling will lessen your profit.

Corner Eyes Treasurer's Post

Richard Corner, former member of the Quincy Hospital Board of Managers, is looking westward — to Dedham.

Corner would like to succeed embattled James Collins as Norfolk County treasurer.

And makes no bones about it. He's interested in being appointed or in running for the post.

"Very interested," he says.

Collins, who faces a long list of charges to which he has pleaded innocent, is under an agreement with Atty. Gen. Francis Bellotti not to operate as county treasurer while the charges are still pending.

If Collins resigns or is forced out of office, Corner is a definite candidate for the $43,000 post.

Corner is a successful certified accountant, a partner in a well-established Quincy CPA firm and a member of the Massachusetts Board of Public Accountancy.

Why would he want to get into politics and, specifically, the Norfolk County treasurer's office?

Simple, according to him. "That office," he says, "has had some problems. There is a need for someone with accounting background and discipline — a professional to do a professional job."

Corner's interest in the job, however, presents a bit of a family problem.

His father-in-law, James (Pete) Ricciuti, former city public works commissioner and right arm to late Mayor James McIntyre, is among those supporting another interested contender for the treasurer's job.

That's former City Councilor Daniel Raymond who, incidentally, was a 1965 classmate of Corner at Quincy High School.

Ricciuti, former Dist. Atty. George Burke, former Assistant Dist. Atty. Richard Barry and former Mayor Arthur Tobin are all reportedly backing Raymond.

Wollaston Woman Flinm Flam Victim

Two men posing as city water department employees took $85 from a 78-year-old Wollaston woman last week.

According to police, the men told the woman they were there to check the meter.

One of the men went to the cellar, the other stayed with the woman, police said.

When the man came up from the cellar, he said the meter indicated that she owed $85 and they were to collect it, according to police.

The woman said she thought this was unusual, but was told the city would mail out a notice later, she told police.

She gave the men the money and they left, the woman said.

A neighbor told police she saw two men about 5 ft. 8 in. tall with curly, dark hair, and beards, and one wore a yellow sweatshirt.

Police say a similar incident occurred in September in an attempted larceny involving an 87-year-old woman in Quincy Point.

Corner and his father-in-law are close and get along better than some fathers and sons do.

So how come Ricciuti is listed in the Raymond camp?

"Well," says Corner, "I just never got around to telling him I was interested in the job."

Your serve, Pete.

THE NEW VICE-CHAIRMAN of the Quincy School Committee reportedly will be Steve Durkin.

Reports are that he apparently has enough votes lined up to succeed Joan Picard in January.

Picard, meanwhile, is awaiting the results of a city-wide recount requested by her after losing to newcomer Margaret (Peggy) Nigro by only 80 votes.

DURKIN

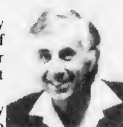

HOWARD MacKAY, who challenged long-time incumbent John Lydon for the Ward 3 City Council seat, says he will be back.

MacKAY, making his first run for public office lost to Lydon by only 275 votes.

"Right now I plan to run again in 1987," he says. "I know my way around a little better politically and I think I can do better."

TV AND RADIO personality Ron Della Chiesa, a product of Quincy, is host and musical director at Le Papillon, Boston's first international nightclub.

Della Chiesa, as you probably know, is the son of the late Aldo Della Chiesa, former Quincy city DELLA CHIESA councilor, and the nephew of the late Amelio Della Chiesa, former long-time mayor. Ron's mother still lives in Quincy.

ARTHUR FOLEY, Mayor Francis McCauley's administrative assistant, doesn't read tea leaves or keep a crystal ball in the closet but he's still pretty good at peeking into the future.

There's a grapefruit tree in the executive office which was started from seed by Peter Kenney, the mayor's executive secretary, also known as Mr. Green Thumb.

Four years ago, Foley looked at the little tree sprout and predicted, without reservation, that McCauley would stay in office at least until the tree reaches the ceiling.

The tree now measures about 7 ft., 9 1/2 inches. The ceiling is about 8 feet high.

And, McCauley has at least two more years (third term) for it to hit the ceiling.

OBSERVATION via the Quincy Kiwanis Club newsletter: Winter is the time of the year when it gets late earlier.

Pre-Holiday Gala For Harold Dec. 7

The annual Pre-Holiday Gala, sponsored by the Senator Paul D. Harold Committee, will be held Dec. 7, from 8 p.m. to midnight at the Viking Club, 410 Quincy Ave., Braintree.

Donations are $10. There will be a limited number of tickets available at the door. Co-chairmen of the event are Paul Hogan and Mike Linnane.

A Story For Thanksgiving: People Helping People

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

When the Hoskins family of Streator, Ill., gathers around its holiday table Thursday to give thanks, it's a safe bet that students at the Sterling Middle School in Quincy will be among those it remembers.

For the students have not only raised about $5,000 for St. Jude's Children's Research Hospital where the Hoskins' daughter, Emily, is an outpatient, but are also helping to finance a trip to Quincy for the family in January.

"I can't tell you how proud of the students I am," said math teacher Robert Mattsson, who has coordinated math-a-thons to raise money and is also helping to organize the family's visit here.

It's unbelievable what a great job these kids have done," said Mattsson, a teacher for 36 years, 19 of them at Sterling.

About three years ago, students began participating in math-a-thons to raise money for St. Jude's Hospital, Memphis.

Students saw Emily's picture in St. Jude's Quarterly Newsletter and decided to "adopt" her.

Now almost 3 years old, Emily was born with a kind of cancer, said Mattsson.

"The students took a real interest in her," said Mattsson, who explained that they wrote to her and received letters and photos from her parents keeping them up-to-date on her progress.

"Why don't we invite them here to visit us?" asked one student and the idea for the visit was born, said Mattsson.

The Hoskins family, which includes parents Linda and Greg, Emily, and a baby

The Four Seasons Hotel in Boston has donated four days' free lodging for the family, said Mattsson, and Norfolk Flower Shop in Quincy is donating a flower arrangement for their room.

Mayor Francis McCauley will proclaim "Emily Hoskins' day in Quincy, said Mattsson.

A special assembly will be held at Sterling Middle School Jan. 31, according to Mattsson, who said that both Quincy and North Quincy High Schools will participate.

Emily's parents will visit classrooms before the assembly, and the next day they will be taken on a tour of Boston.

Child care will be provided by teacher Margaret Spencer and nurse Marjorie Sullivan, Mattsson said.

Winners of the sixth, seventh and eighth grade math-a-thon will be taken out to dinner with Emily's parents Saturday night.

Some of the children will be having the family to their homes for breakfast, and dinners have been donated by local restaurants.

"Many Quincy teachers and retired Quincy teachers have contributed to this endeavor as well," said Mattsson.

The only expense not yet taken care of is $600 for airfare, he said.

Anyone who would like to contribute may send a check to Sterling Middle School, 444 Granite St., Quincy, Ma., 02169, c/o Mr. Mattsson.

"Students are collecting birthday cards to present to Emily," said Mattsson of the youngster who will return to St. Jude's Hospital in early January.

"It will be the first time doctors will see her walk with braces," said Mattsson; "they never thought she would walk."

In the meantime, Emily's picture is in every classroom and Sterling students are eagerly awaiting her visit here.

"It will be a day these kids will never forget," said Mattsson.

Cornerstone At New Placed Presbyterian Church

The cornerstone was laid for the new $400,000 First Presbyterian Church on Penn's Hill.

Ground was broken for the new church in July 1959 after the conclusion of the church's bond drive which raised $120,000. At the cornerstone laying ceremonies, addresses were given by Rev. Dr. Reed, Mayor Della Chiesa and Rev. Roy Shoaf, pastor.

The 75-year old Presbyterian congregation expanded twice since its founding in 1884. The original congregational met in Faxon Hall on Revere Rd. (since torn down).

LEAGUE TOURS PARK

J. Ernest Collins, chairman of the City Park Board accompanied members of the League of Women Voters in their fifth in a series of tours of city parks and beauty spots. The group visited parks in Ward 6 and Merrymount and Faxon Parks.

The tours, sponsored by the league, were an attempt to survey existing park facilities to find out what, if anything, was needed to be done to preserve and improve them. On the final tour, the group would visit parks in Ward Three, accompanied by Commissioner of Recreation William Ryan and City Councillor George Burke.

STEEL FRAME BLOWN DOWN

High winds blew over and bent the girders erected at the site of the Dolphin Motel at the Neponset Bridge and caused an estimated $4-5,000 damage. The steel was being supported by guy wires which snapped in the wind. The damage was expected to delay the opening of the motel, scheduled for April 1.

Koch Club Readies Yule Program

The Koch Club Christmas Charitable Committee is finalizing plans for its 30th season of assisting those in need during the holiday season.

The organization started the program in 1956 delivering two food baskets to needy families in the North Quincy area. Each year after, the group increased and expanded its activities to include food and yule gifts to hundreds of families and the homeless.

Executive Director Richard J. Koch, Jr., said that the club can be only as helpful as the response of the members and friends of the organization who participate each year in the holiday project.

Koch added that food baskets and gifts are channeled through local charitable and social service organizations who provide service to the needy as part of their year-round responsibility.

Anyone wishing to donate canned goods or non-perishable foods are requested to leave them with officers of the respective units or any of the Koch Club district directors.

Members and friends may also donate money toward the turkeys provided with each basket or assist in the purchase of new toys provided to children. Those interested may contact Treasurer Thomas F. Nestor, 69 Welland Rd., Weymouth, or Richard Koch. Checks should be made payable to the Koch Club Christmas Fund.

Donations Requested For Dress-A-Doll Program

The Koch Club Dress-A-Doll Program, in its 12th year, is requesting the donation of new and good used dolls to the project.

THE NUTRIENT AGE

Q: As I was growing up, there was very little talk about nutrition. Now, more discussion is devoted to nutrients. Exactly what are they?

A: Nutrients, like gas in a car, keep your body running in good condition. Your body can adapt to a poor diet, but it will not be as healthy, and can be more susceptible to illness.

Although the word nutrient may sound unfamiliar, fat, proteins, carbohydrates, vitamins, minerals, and water (all nutrients) are terms that are widely used.

Your nutritional requirements will vary according to age, sex, weight and physical activity. If you are skipping meals, you can become undernourished. People often believe they are eating well but are actually deficient in one or more nutrients. Fatigue, irritability or depression are all signs of an inadequate diet.

Good nutrition doesn't just happen. It requires awareness, knowledge and planning. Contact your Diet Center Counselor at 776-3442, for other valuable information and advice.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

November is the month of Thanksgiving. From the lips of Confucius comes a Thanksgiving story that never grows old...

A Chinese beggar wallowed in self-pity because he had no shoes. He bitterly denounced every rich man who passed by wearing fine leather sandals. One day he clapped a wrinkled hand over his mouth and vowed never to complain again. He was a smiling contented man from then on—he had just seen a man with no feet...

Should we not be thankful not only on Thanksgiving Day, but on every day throughout the year? Should we not enlarge the reasons for Thanksgiving to include the blessings that come to our family, our friends and our neighbors? Should we not become more aware daily of the blessings that fill our lives?

Thanksgiving is better translated as "Thanks-living" for one cannot truly give thanks unless he lives it... "It is in giving that we receive"...

Faxon House Shelter Ready For Homeless

Volunteers from local Nazarene churches and students from Eastern Nazarene College spent Saturday cleaning Faxon House, adjacent to Quincy City Hospital, which will be used as a temporary shelter for the homeless.

The shelter is scheduled to open Dec. 15 and will accommodate 33 men and women.

Between 20 and 30 people helped sweep, mop, wash windows, scrub walls, and replace tiles at Faxon House. The group was organized and supervised by Tim Lanham, Associate Pastor at Bethel Church of the Nazarene, Adams Shore, Kent Vanderwolf provided technical assistance to the project.

Faxon House will have a 24 hour a day program that will offer shelter, showers, clothing, personal hygiene items, and a full range of social services to the homeless. The day program will offer classes in stress management, nutrition, health and hygiene, and alcohol education.

The shelter will be operated by the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition. Four of the Coalition's staff members who will be working in the shelter also volunteered to help clean.

"It's exciting to see groups who care getting involved with the homeless. It's because of churches and people like the Nazarenes here today that the Coalition has had such a successful history. We greatly appreciate their work and spirit," said Nancy Powers, Executive Director of the Coalition.

Anyone interested in getting involved with the Coalition in any way should call 770-3314.

The congregation will celebrate the reality of God's presence in our world on this first Sunday in Advent through special music, prayers, and by joining together in Holy Communion.

The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will preach the sermon at both services on the topic "Custodians of the Future" based on the Biblical texts of Jeremiah 33:14-16 and I Thessalonians 3:1-13. The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will lead the liturgy at both hours.

Lay Scripture readers will be Jean C. Smart in the chapel and Lena Foster in the sanctuary. The communion commentary-for the radio only-will be given by Irene Belcher.

At the 10 a.m. service the Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter E. Krasinski, organist, will present "Come Thou Redeemer Of The Earth," with a traditional melody adapted by M. Pratorius and arranged by David Willocks as the offertory anthem.

The worship service will be broadcast by delayed-tape over WJDA, 1300kc, at 11 a.m.

Sunday School will be in session from 10 to 11 a.m. with classes from pre-school through eighth grade. Nursery care for babies will be provided, as well as a toddler class for young children.

Ecumenical Service At Good Shepherd Church

The Interfaith Council of North Quincy and Wollaston will celebrate an ecumenical service of Thanksgiving, Nov. 27, at 7:30 p.m. at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd, North Quincy.

This year's worship celebration will highlight the 300th birthday anniversary of Johann Sebastian Bach. Bach has made a considerable influence on sacred music, evidenced by performing no fewer than 62 cantatas during his first year as Cantor in Leipzig, Germany in 1723. Bach produced some of the most sublime music in the history of the church.

The Thanksgiving Eve worship will feature the following Bach pieces: "Bist Du Bei Mir," "In Heavenly Love Abiding" (Bach tune), "Jesus, Joy of Man's Desiring," "Now Thank We All Our God" (Bach tune), "Alleluia" (from For Us A Child is Born).

Several pieces of Bach will be performed by a violin and vocal duet.

The Interchurch Council is comprised of the following churches: Good Shepherd, First Church of Squantum, Memorial Congregational Church of Atlantic, Sacred Heart Church, Church of the Nazarene of Wollaston, First Baptist Church of Wollaston, Quincy Community United Methodist Church, St. Chrysostom's Episcopal Church, Union Congregational Church, Wollaston Congregational Church, and Wollaston Lutheran Church. Each year on Thanksgiving Eve, pastors and members of these churches come together as one body to give thanks.

The Quincy community is invited to attend this musical service of thanksgiving.

The Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd is located at the corner of West Squantum and Harvard Sts., North Quincy.

Thanksgiving Mass At St. John's Church

Parishioners are asked to bring their favorite holiday dessert to share with the parish family and to leave it in the church kitchen prior to the liturgy.

The parish will provide coffee and cider.

A Mass at 8:30 a.m. Thanksgiving Day will be the only Mass that day.

The special Thanksgiving Mass is being sponsored by the Spiritual Development Commission, Patricia Mul-len, chairman, and the Parish Activities Commission, Jim Hall chairman.

First Parish Church School Begins Holiday Festivities

United First Parish Unitarian Church School, Quincy Center, will begin its celebration of the Christmas season with an ornament-making jamboree Sunday, Dec. 1, during the 10:30 a.m. Church School session.

All classes will meet together to fashion a variety of handmade ornaments, moving round-robin style from table to table. Featured will be lacy Victorian ornaments designed by the Quincy Historical Society, which is sponsoring "Christmas in Quincy" for which the Quincy Garden Club is decorating First Parish as it was in the Victorian era.

On Decoration Sunday, Dec. 8, the children will join their parents at 10:30 a.m. in the sanctuary for the traditional "Greening of the Church."

Marc Adams, a 7 year old Church School member, will come forward to place his handmade star atop the church tree. Members of the congregation will then decorate the tree with ornaments brought from home as they sing "O Christmas Tree." The children will hang evergreen swags on the pews.

After the service, the children will hang ornaments on the "Mitten Tree" in the Parish Hall. During the coming weeks, children and adults of the church, as well as members of the community, will hang mittens, scarves, and hats on the tree for Christmas delivery to the ladies at Rosie's Place in Boston.

For Christmas Sunday, Dec. 22, the children will join their families in the sanctuary for the entire Christmas Service which will be led by the Rev. Dr. Cynthia Edson.

Traditional carols will be sung, with the choir under the direction of organist Norman Corey. At the conclusion of the service, everyone will choose an ornament from the church tree to bring home for the family tree.

In the weeks preceding Christmas, the Church School will begin a study of Jesus' life with the story of his birth as told in Matthew and Luke.

Level I will hear some of the Christmas legends and learn "The Cherry Tree Carol;" Level II will discuss legends surrounding births of religious leaders in other countries; and Level III will compare the stories as presented in the Gospels and begin a room-sized pictorial time line of Jesus' life which will be continued through the winter session as their study of the New Testament progresses.

Broad Meadows Students 'Adopt' Staff For Smokeout

Students and teachers at Broad Meadows Middle School were among those who recently took part in the "Great American Smokeout" campaign.

For the past few weeks, the sixth grade and M-I classes have been learning about the hazards of smoking.

Study materials, stickers, smokeout buttons and adopt-a-smoker packets were provided by Arthur Milnor of the American Cancer Society.

The school's "stop smoking campaign" coincided with the Great American Smokeout.

Student-designed stop smoking posters were displayed throughout the school.

With the financial assistance of the Broad Meadows PTO, a GAS balloon release took place a few days before Smokeout Day.

Students attached cards to the balloons asking the person who finds it to join in the smokeout, and if the finder didn't smoke, to pass it along to someone who does.

Another aspect of the program focused on the adopt-a-smoker activity.

The students adopted as many smokers as they could find to stop smoking for the 24-hour smokeout.

In addition to many words of encouragement, each adoptee was given a special packet to help survive Smokeout Day.

Looking For An Upset For Presidents, A Chance To Make Good

QUINCY

By TOM SULLIVAN

Quincy's football team has pushed a winless "first season" aside and hopes to make up for nine straight losses with a victory over North Quincy on the holiday to win the "second season" for the second year in a row.

For the first time since early in the season the Presidents, under second-year coach Jack Raymer, will be virtually at full strength with the return of many injured players.

"I know North will be favored but they were last year, too," said Raymer. "In that game I was able to put my full team on the field for the first time and we upset them (14-12)."

"I haven't had my full squad since very early in the year and in our last game against Brockton (unbeaten Div. 1 leader) we had 10 players, including many starters, on the sidelines."

Only two players, guard Kevin Devonshire and defensive end John Picarski, will be out of action on the holiday.

"It will be especially good to have Chris Veneto back in the lineup," Raymer said. "He had two 100-yard-plus games in his first three before being hurt and missed five games. He came back for the Brockton game but played very little.

"Our offense was hurt immensely by his absence, although Mark Porzio, Joe Innello and Ron Luisi did some good running. Our attack should pick up against North with his return."

Also coming back for The Game is quarterback Steve Austin, who missed the last two games. He has proven he can throw the ball with anyone and with him going to his favorite target, Don Parry, Quincy should be able to move against the Raiders.

"Don has had a tremendous year," Raymer said. "He is one of the best wide receivers in the Suburban League, plays fine defense, does the punting and has gained a lot of ground on end-around plays."

Kevin Jolley, who missed the first four games of the season, has been playing outstanding defense and has been a key to a defense that has improved every week.

Quincy is a young team and Raymer will be starting six juniors on offense and two juniors and a sophomore on defense.

The Presidents will open with Steve Gardner at tight end, Parry at wide receiver, Jeff Sprague and Dave Savage at tackle, Paul Lally and Rick Smith at guard and John Heath at center.

Austin will start at quarterback and if relief is needed, Larry Taglieri, who filled in nicely in the last two games, will take over. Innello and Veneto or Luisi will open at halfback and Porzio at fullback. Also seeing offensive action will be sophomore Sean Munroe at wide receiver, sophomore Tom Bjork at guard and Steve Picarski at fullback.

Starting on defense will be Jolley and sophomore Frank Calabro at end, Paul Munafò and Mike Eastwick at tackle, Ken Southwick at noseguard, Steve Picarski, Dave Murphy and Luisi linebackers and Parry, Mike O'Connor and Taglieri defensive backs. Also playing defensively will be Norm Hassan at nose guard, Jim Feeley at tackle and sophomore Ernie Light and Innello at defensive back.

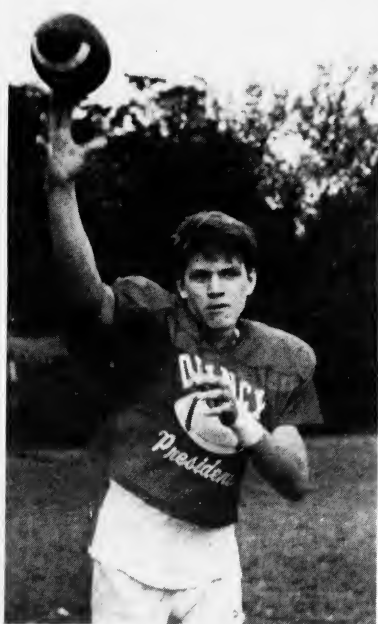

Tony Venturelli is another returnee from the injured list but his services will be limited to kicking extra points and possible field goals.

Raymer, hoping to go 2-0 against North, has a new coaching staff this season with Mitch Finnegan the only returnee from last year. The other aids are John Taglieri, Peter Chrisom, Kevin Kelly, Jim Kennedy, Fran Gaudiano, Mark Righini and Chris Dracchio.

QUARTERBACK Steve Austin, who missed the last two games because of injuries, will return to lead Quincy in the holiday classic.

McPhee Cautiously Optimistic

Raiders Seeking Revenge For '84 Upset

NORTH

By TOM SULLIVAN

Last year North Quincy's football team took a six-game winning streak and a 7-2 record into the Thanksgiving classic and was upset by Quincy, 14-12.

This fall the Raiders' record is the reverse but, despite a 2-7 mark, Coach Ken McPhee is cautiously optimistic that the team will reverse the 1984 decision.

"We are ready and only one player, John Pacino, a fine halfback and linebacker, will be out of the lineup," said McPhee. "We'll have no excuses. I'm glad that Quincy will be back at full strength, because we want to beat them at their best."

McPhee is looking for his first coaching win over the Presidents. In the past three years his teams lost to Quincy, 26-3, played to a scoreless tie in Tom Fitzgerald's last year as Quincy coach, and lost, 14-12, last fall in Jack Rayer's first season as coach of the Presidents.

"We don't plan anything new, you don't play nine games and then try to change things for Thanksgiving," McPhee said. "I think we can move the ball against them and I think our improving defense can stop them."

"Ted Shionis has had a remarkable year and Quincy will have a tough time stopping him. He had five 100-yard-plus games before our last game with Brookline. He runs extremely well and if our offensive line operates as I know it can, he could give Quincy some headaches."

"Gary McNamara has against a lot of yardage at fullback and he and Leo LeMay have done some tremendous blocking to clear the way for Shionis. I'm confident that Chris Gray will do well at quarterback and his outstanding punting could be a big factor for us."

McPhee will open on offense Mike Cicerone and Mark Bilton or Chuck McGrail at end, sophomore, Matt McNamara or Mike Hugyo and Co-Capt. Steve Miller at tackle, Kevin McCarthy and Ed Bagley at guard and Ken Kemp at center.

Gray will be at quarterback, Shionis and LeMay at halfback and Gary McNamara at fullback.

Also seeing service offensively will be freshman Bill McDoougal at wide receiver, Steve Happas at wide receiver, sophomore Paul McCormack at halfback, Mike Bowes at center, Sean Shields at end and Chris Malloy at tackle.

Defensively the Raiders will start Gary McNamara and Brian Flukes at end, Miller or Kemp and Scott Williams or Don Clancy at tackle, John Ainsley at nose guard, freshman Mike Ainsley and Mike Haynes linebackers, Co-Capt. Rob Bradley and Bilton at corner back and Scott Chansky and Angelo Kapetanakis at defensive back.

McPhee has Ted Sadowski (28th year), Mark Mulvaney, Kevin Cobban, Pete Zoia and first-year coach Jamie Walsh as his assistants.

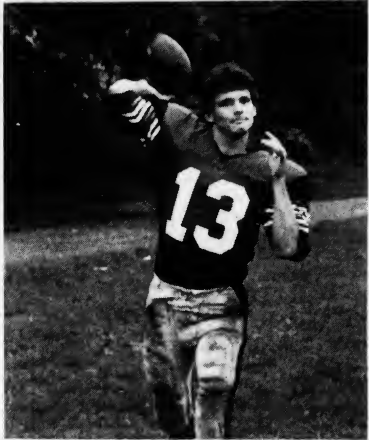

NORTH QUINCY Co-captains Steve Miller, left, and Rob Bradley have had fine seasons and will lead the Raiders against Quincy on the holiday.

North Jayvees, Frosh Sweep

By PETE ZOIA

For the second year in a row the North Quincy junior varsity and freshmen football teams swept their Quincy rivals last Saturday.

The Raider freshmen won, 20-6, with Mark McDonough blocking a punt and recovering on the Quincy one-yard line to set up the first of Ryan Craig's two touchdowns. Craig later scored on a 10-yard run.

Tim Baker intercepted a pass to pave the way for the third North score. Dave Hutch passed to Craig putting the ball on the Quincy 19, Paul Adams went to the nine and Hutch passed to Brian Tobin for the touchdown. Jim DiCarli passed to Dan Hoban for the two-point conversion.

Coaches Jamie Walsh and Joe Morrissey praised the play of Brian Gates, Brian Mahoney, John Ballerino, Jim Ward, Brian Healy and McDonough on defense. The offensive star was Craig, who ate up over 100 yards, breaking numerous tackles on his carries. Hutch, Adams and DiCarli also stood out.

Quincy's touchdown came in the closing minutes. Scott Campbell passed to Bill Norton for 32 yards to the North 13 from where Jim Dennett scored.

The North jayvees defeated Quincy, 20-0, sparked by sophomore Paul McCormack, who scored on a dazzling 97-yard run and scoring again on a 20-yard run.

The young Presidents were hampered by poor field position, yielding two safeties, one on a bad pass from center and the other when the ball carrier was nailed in the end zone by Keith Segalla.

McCormack added a two-point conversion and Brian Durgin rushed for another two-point conversion.

Tom Casey and Mark

Giordano intercepted passes and the Segalla twins, Keigh and Kevin, were standouts on defense, along with Mike Malloy, Paul Hogan, Brian Campbell, Tim Kelly, John Rodophele, Tom Dolan and Durgin.

Bob Sylva and Joe Mulvey shared the quarterback duties and both directed the offense capably.

Coaches Mark Mulvaney, Kevin Cobban and Ted Sadowski had good words for the entire squad and agree that this jayvee group, along with the freshmen, make the future look bright for the North varsity.

CO-CAPTAIN Rob Bradley will play both ways for North Quincy in the holiday clash.

Quincy principal Lloyd Hill, a teammate of Carl's at Brown University, said he and Brockton Athletic Director Jack Sarson, also a teammate of Brown, played against Leone in high school and spoke of his outstanding ability.

Bill Walker, who played for Leone at North and is president of the Mass. State Coaches Association, and executive director Julie Doherty, presented a citation from the association.

Mike Rourke, pitching coach for the St. Louis Cardinals and former Detroit Tiger catcher, was a teammate of Carl's in the service and spoke glowingly of the guest of honor.

Ed Miller, president of the North Quincy Football Boosters club, and Dr. Yacubian, former North player, presented Leone with a North baseball cap and stocking cap.

Ted Sadowski, assistant coach at North for 28 years and an assistant to every North coach, the late Jack Donahue, Leone, Ralph Frazier, Dave Burke and McPhee, said Carl was an innovative coach "who called many plays on the spur of the moment and most of them worked."

Ken Rickson, who worked closely with Carl as director of physical education, spoke of their close friendship and the closeness of their families.

Lois Constantine presented a citation from the Bus Drivers Association.

Sarson said he, Carl and Lloyd Hill were roommates at Brown and played with Joe Paterno, coach of Penn State, the number one college team in the country. "I guess our greatest claim to fame was showering with the great Joe Paterno," he said. He praised Leone's work for the Suburban League Athletic Director Association.

Ed Schluntz, Brookline High AD, presented a citation from the association.

Bill Curran, one of Leone's top players at North, had glowing words for his former coach. Curran went on to several recruits at Northeastern University.

Councilor-at-Large Patricia Toland presented a citation from the Quincy City Council.

Frank Gaudio, one of Leone's closet friends, spoke on behalf of Carl's many friends.

Beverly Reinhardt presented a gift on behalf of the Quincy Youth Hockey Association, thanking Carl for his support.

Carl Leone, the honored guest's oldest son, spoke on behalf of the family. "He is a wonderful father, even if he is always wrong," he said. "You know, fathers are always wrong."

Marty Finnegan, who succeeded Carl as director of athletics, and Barbara Cahill, athletic department secretary, presented Leone with an exercise bike on behalf of all his colleagues.

The night came to an emotional close when the guest of honor thanked everyone present and thanked his family for their support.

The organizing committee which did an outstanding job getting things in order was comprised of Carmen Mariano, Dave Burke, Barbara Cahill, Finnegan, Gaudio, Hill, Rich Hutchins, Lou Ioanniti, Jean Leone, Dee Dee Mariano, McPhee, Rickson and Ricciuti.

All-American.

ped down after two seasons due to new administrative duties.

Mitch Finnegan was re-appointed jaycee coach and Bob Uhlar, who recently resigned the girls' coaching job at Quincy, citing family responsibilities, was named freshman coach, a job which will be less demanding.

Replacing Uhlar as girls' coach will be Flava Gailbreath, the assistant volleyball coach. Mary Travers will continue as assistant and Dana Jones has been named girls' freshman coach.

Kevin Kelly will coach boys' winter track at Quincy. John Taglieri will be assistant, Charlie McLaughlin will coach girls' track and Rita Gauthier will coach swimming.

"Because of my duties in the special needs program, I can't put full time into coaching," Tozzi said. "I will be available and will help Peter in any way I can. I am confident he will keep our fine tradition going."

Chelmsford Takes Title From Quincy

Chelmsford used superior height and depth to its advantage as it foiled the Quincy girls' volleyball team's hopes of a second straight state championship last Saturday at Waltham.

Chelmsford took the championship match, 2-1 (15-13, 13-15, 15-11, as Quincy finished with a 23-1 record. Over the past two years the First Ladies had won 46 straight matches before losing in the title game.

Quincy won the state crown last season and in 19-82, and lost to Stoneham in the state semifinals two years ago. Tom Henderson and his assistant, Flava Galbreath, did an outstanding job with the squad this year.

Quincy's starting team was superior to that of Chelmsford, but the winners had the superior squad. The six Quincy girls, none taller than 5-6, played the entire day without substitution. Chelmsford, on the other hand, was able to use designated hitters and designated servers to great advantage.

Chelmsford featured 6-2 Kristina Shields, a superb spiker and shot blocker, but played her only in the front court.

She was substituted for in the back court so that, at the end of the match, she was comparatively fresh to pound home thunderous spikes into the strained Quincy defense.

It is difficult to pick out a standout among the Quincy sextet, Mark LeVangie, Lauren Standing, Pamela Austin, Ginny and Terry Duggan and Susan Parry. They gave a quality performance, but Chelmsford's greater height and depth was just too much.

Quincy served notice at the start that it would not be intimidated by Chelmsford's height as LeVangie stuffed Shields' first effort at a spike. The First Ladies took an early lead in the first game, only to fall behind and then regain control at 12-11. The teams were tied at 13 before Chelmsford eked out a win by the narrowest of margins.

Quincy ran up a 9-1 lead in the second game behind the blocking of Austin and hitting of Standing. The teams were tied again at 13 when Parry took the service line and fired two beauties to give Quincy the victory and hand Chelmsford its first game loss of the year.

The deciding game was a ding-dong battle with the impeccable setting of Ginny Duggan, the service returns of Terry Duggan and the spiking of LeVangie keeping Quincy in contention. Quincy went ahead at 11-9 but, at this juncture, Shields returned to the front court and blasted Quincy's hopes.

Quincy had attained the final by overcoming Mahar Regional in the South-West semi-final. The First Ladies have some trouble with all-purpose Sandy Clune of Mahar in the first game but Standing contributed five strong services and Ginny Duggan provided the clincher with a cross-court spike from her setter position for a 15-11 victory.

The second game belonged to the Duggan twins. Ginny took over service at 2-11 and ran the Quincy total to seven. Mahar cut her off only to have sister Terry assume charge and hammer home eight straight points, four of them aces, for a 15-2 victory.

The Quincy girls earlier won the South Sectional title for the fourth year in a row by defeating Notre Dame of Hingham, 3-1 (15-8, 15-5, 11-15, 15-6).

The First Ladies proved they could overcome adversity as they had to play without their best player, Marlo LeVangie, who sat out the match as the result of a sprained ankle suffered in practice.

"I'm proud of the way the girls responded emotionally after Marlo's injury," said Henderson. "We weren't too worried about how Amy Guidice and Nancy Laitinen (both freshmen) would play, but we were concerned about the psychological reaction. The girls really handled it well. Amy and Nancy did fine jobs and everyone else played the way they've been playing all year."

LeVangie was named the tournament MVP and she and Ginny Duggan were named on the all-tournament team. Henderson was named the South Coach of the Year.

Quincy had advanced to the South finals with one of its best performances of the year as it swept past Dulce of Fall River, 3-0, (15-6, 15-1, 15-10).

"That's the best I've seen them play this year," Henderson said. "I'm always getting congratulated, but I didn't do anything. It was the girls. When they play like they did tonight, there is nothing to my job."

The First Ladies were led by LeVangie and Terry Duggan. Defensively Laurant Standing and Susan Parry helped keep Duffee at bay with key blocking. Ginny Duggan also stood out.

Dudek Sets Another Scoring Record In Finale

North Quincy's Joe Dudek wound up a brilliant college career last Saturday with another outstanding performance, although his Plymouth State College team, leading 21-0 at the half, lost to Albany State, 33-21, at Plymouth, N.H., in the ECAC Division 3 championship.

Dudek, who had previously broken the NCAA touchdown mark held by Walter Payton and the all-time collegiate touchdown record held by Wilbert Montgomery, rushed for 265 yards on 34 carries and scored two touchdowns.

In so doing, he broke Payton's NCAA all-division record for scoring points.

The former North Quincy star scored on runs of two and three yards before leaving the game with a sprained right ankle with 4:16 remaining in the game.

He finished up with 79 touchdowns, 474 points and 5570 yards rushing to move into third place on the all-time list.

Bradley Returns As ENC Basketball Coach

Athletic director Carroll Bradley has returned as Eastern Nazarene College men's basketball coach after a 15-year absence and he got off to a good start Saturday when the Crusaders defeated The University of Maine Augusta, 82-66.

Bradley led ENC to a 157-112 record from 1956 to 1970. He returns with a squad which last year posted an 18-8 record.

This year's squad is led by 6-4 junior forward Mark Millane, a former North Quincy player, who started off Saturday with 32 points, all from the floor. He has exceptional strength and quickness on the boards as well as a nice touch away from the basket. Another key player is senior guard Wes Paul, another former North Quincy standout. He scored eight points in the opening day win and played an outstanding floor game.

ENC played Curry College last night (Tuesday), will play at Southeastern Mass. Dec. 3 at Dartmouth and will compete in a tournament at Roger Williams College Dec. 6 and 7.

City's Credit Rating Gets Boost Up

Moody's Investment Services has notified the city that it will move its credit rating up two notches - from Ba to Baa - based on information presented by the mayor and his administration two weeks ago.

"This is very good news," said Mayor Francis McCauley. "The rating is starting to move back up the ladder."

"Some of the improvements in the city's finances are now being recognized by the people who rate us."

"The higher the rating, the lower the cost of borrowing. This will certainly translate into lower borrowing costs, and will help with city's bond issue for the police station."

Since 1981, the city has had a Ba rating. A few other communities in Massachusetts have that rating, but none has a rating lower than that.

McCauley said he hadn't expected a decision from Moody's until the first week in December.

"Maybe Moody's is more familiar with us because they've given us ratings in the past."

McCauley said he is optimistic that Standard & Poor's, another financial rating firm, will also give the city a good rating.

McCauley said he stressed to both firms the facts that the city is living within its budget, short-term borrowing is down, and development projects are ongoing and bringing in increased revenue.

Tree Lighting Ceremony At Houghs Neck Sunday

The Houghs Neck Community Council will celebrate the beginning of the holiday season Sunday, Dec. 1, at 5 p.m. with the annual Tree Lighting Ceremony at the Houghs Neck Fire Station on Sea St.

Mayor McCauley will be emcee. The Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, youth fellowship of the Houghs Neck Congregational Church and Camp Fire Girls will sing Christmas carols.

The Houghs Neck Legion Post will place a wreath at the memorial across the street from the fire station. After the ceremony, coffee and donuts will be served at the post home, located at 1116 Sea St. Santa Claus will arrive at the home to a chorus of Santa Claus is Coming to Town.

Council To Get Bond Order For Police Station

Mayor Francis X. McCauley will present to the City Council Monday, Dec. 2, a bond authorization order to begin design of the addition and renovation of Quincy Police Headquarters.

Police Chief Francis Finn, DPW Commr. Paul Anderson and the architect will be at the meeting which starts at 7:30 p.m. in the Council Chambers at City Hall.

The design will be completed by DiNisco, Kretsch and Associates of Boston at a cost of $445,000 and is expected to take 10 months to complete.

The police station project was initiated by McCauley in 1984.

In November, 1984, a contract was awarded to DiNisco, Kretsch and Associates to analyze and plan for the needs of a modern police department.

In April, 1985, the city was presented with the architects' analysis which clearly showed that the station was obsolete and not large enough to house the Quincy Police Department in 1985 and beyond, said McCauley.

The architects then began the task of detailing the needs in a facilities plan. The addition and renovation of the existing building will provide 57,000 square feet of space. The present facility, built in 1926, contains 21,000 square feet.

The plan calls for:

•A four-level addition to the west of the existing building.

•The inclusion of Civil Defense and Auxiliary Police, the police vehicle maintenance garage, increased parking, additional cells and pa-trolmen's facilities (which are currently non-existent).

•The replacement and relocation of communication antennae.

•Moving the entrance onto Sea St., further away from the intersection of the Southern Artery for better traffic flow.

•Total rehabilitation of the existing building, including refacing the existing building which will give the expanded facility a unified look.

The total project cost has been formally developed by professional construction estimators and set at $8,200,000 which will be funded by a bond issue.

McCauley said that he was hopeful the council would deal with the matter before the end of its term in December.

A Boost For Downtown

Burgin Parkway Extension Opens To Rave Reviews

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

"From the standpoint of vehicular traffic, Quincy just moved into the 20th century."

That's the opinion of Ron Zooleck, executive vice president of the South Shore Chamber of Commerce on last week's opening of the Burgin Parkway Extension which links Route 3 with downtown Quincy.

"Our growth and strong economy to this point in time has been in spite of poor linkage with the highway system," said Zooleck.

"Our salvation has been, up to this point, the 'T' which has helped us dramatically."

Mayor Francis McCauley said that he has already received favorable comments on the extension.

"People who have used it are very happy with it," said McCauley. "It cuts down on travel time, and hopefully it will show an increase in economic activity downtown."

"It should take the pressure off streets in South Quincy, and is a very big plus for the city."

Steve Gillig, president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, said the extension has been well travelled so far.

"It should create a lot more interest on the part of developers, people who really haven't ventured into Quincy," he said.

"An announcement will be made in the near future regarding more buildings in the square," Gillig added.

Thirteen signs for the roadway were unveiled Saturday on Routes 3 and 128, and on the ramps directing people to Quincy Center, said Sen. Paul Harold, a long-time proponent of the extension, who went up in a bucket truck himself to help with the job.

"The signs were erected a year and a half ago," said

Harold, "but they had a plate over the part about the extension."

Harold said there have been no problems so far with the extension, but a traffic task force will meet to discuss the roadway next week.

The opening last Wednesday brought out a host of officials, and everything went smoothly, according to Harold.

"Our only regret was the absence of Tom Burgin, after whom the Burgin Parkway and extension were named," said Harold.

Burgin, former Mayor and State Senator, is recovering from a recent hospital stay.

Officials at the opening underscored the importance of the Burgin Parkway Extension opening, which took place 10 months ahead

Council To Act On Hospital Permit

The City Council voted Monday night to request Jay McRitchie, City Solicitor to draft a special permit for Quincy City Hospital's application for Planned Unit Development in time for the Dec. 16 meeting.

But how the council will act, and what stipulations could be added to the permit, have yet to be decided.

The matter was discussed during an hour and a half public hearing in the Council Chambers.

Hospital director Mark Mundy said that the hospital plans before the council are similar to those presented to it last February.

"The project is not at all detrimental to the area," said Mundy, "in fact, it will improve it, and will enhance the image of the hospital."

Mundy introduced architects and engineers for the project who showed the council and about 60 people in the council chambers designs for the hospital.

He said the hospital has made concessions regarding the number of stories on one of the buildings, landscaping and placement of a psychiatric building.

However, Mundy said it would not be feasible for the hospital to comply with requests such as relocating the ambulatory care entrance, and restricting construction to five floors.

Thirteen such requests were made by Councillor John Lydon, in whose ward the hospital is located. Lydon and Councillor Patricia Toland met with hospital representatives to discuss the requests.

Speaking in favor of the project were Dr. William Helfrich, president of the hospital's medical staff; Dr.

Sun Now 25 Cents

The price of The Quincy Sun at newsstands and home delivery by carriers is 25 cents effective with this issue.

As announced Nov. 21, the five cent increase is due to rising production and other costs.

This will be only the third home delivery-newstand price increase for The Sun which is now in its 18th year.

The new price of 25 cents is still at least 10 cents less than most weekly newspapers in Massachusetts.

The price of mail subscriptions which has been increased in the past because of rising mailing costs will not be affected at this time.

The newstand-home delivery price increase is the result of rising costs in typesetting and photographic materials, other supplies, and other factors.

The Sun has absorbed these costs for sometime now but finds it impossible to continue to do so.

Part of the price increase revenue will go to our 400 newscarriers and to newstand vendors.

The cost of producing a community newspaper—like the cost of food, clothing and just about everything else these days is up considerably from what it was 18 years ago.

We hope our readers who have been so faithful to us since we started in 1968 will understand this very reluctant but necessary move.

Thank you.

Concerns Raised Over Traffic, Parking At N.Q. Employment Office

Members of the North Quincy business community are concerned that traffic and parking problems will be aggravated when the Quincy Center offices of the state Division of Employment Security move to the area.

The group will form a subcommittee to study the situation and come up with suggestions to present to the city and the state regarding the situation.

About 20 people including members of the North Quincy Local Development Corporation, Quincy Police, Fire and Building Departments, residents and the state representative for the area attended the meeting called by LDC president Carmela Corbin.

DES offices at 1433 Hancock St. and 160 Parkingway are scheduled to be consolidated into a new building under construction at 1 Billings Rd., a dead end street.

The move will affect a traffic flow of about 2,500 people who pick up unemployment compensation checks each week, plus those who use the DES Job Matching office, according to Robert Daly, DES supervising manager in Quincy.

DES is leasing all of the space inside the new $1.2 million three story Kelly Enterprises Building.

Andy Walsh, at whose restaurant, Walsh's Restaurant, the meeting was held, outlined some potential problems with people going to the DES building.

Walsh also said that there has been an assumption that those who go to the DES building will travel by MBTA.

"That's a false assumption," said Walsh, who estimated the move could bring 200 more cars a day to the area.

"How do they get in here, where do they park, and how do they go out?" he asked.

Richard Meade, of the city's Planning Department, said that plans for the building call for 55 parking spaces, with 19 under the building.

The amount meets the requirements for the building, he said.

Daly said that there is no parking for employees or clients at the current location in Quincy Center, and he noted that the move will bring money into the North Quincy area.

Hours for the clients to sign for unemployment checks are 8:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 3 p.m., Daly said, and visits usually last 5 to 10 minutes.

Daly also said building owner Peter Kelly told him he has other property in the area which could possibly be converted for parking.

Walsh said Kelly was invited to the meeting but did not attend.

Daly said that the decision to move to North Quincy was made by the state on the basis of space requirements.

"If they made the decision, why can't they solve the problems?" asked Walsh.

"Parking has always been a problem in the area," said Rep. Michael Morrissey. "Maybe the city could pursue building a structured parking lot (garage).

"It would double the limited space available."

NATURAL GAS THE MODERN ALTERNATIVE

Take a big load off laundry costs with a new gas dryer.

- Nothing dries clothes more economically than a natural gas dryer. Clean, efficient gas dries more loads than electric dryers do for the same cost.
- Nothing dries clothes faster than a natural gas dryer. It moves more warm air through the drying drum.
- A reliable gas dryer maintains its efficiency year after year. Your dryer lasts longer.

Burning calories before you eat them? Take control with a gas range.

- Professional chefs demand natural gas ranges for the precise temperature control they need.
- Only a clean, gas flame adjusts instantly from high heat to low, low to high and everything in between.
- A gas range's flexible flame hugs every size pot and pan perfectly, for total heat distribution.
- With gas, there's no warm-up or cool-down delay. You start cooking instantly, and have control to stop boiling over, burning and spattering.

City To Save $35-70,000 With Higher Credit Rating

The city got more good news about its credit rating this week, and the news could translate into a savings of $35,000 to $70,000 on a bond currently being floated.

Standard & Poors financial rating firm has decided to rate the city BBB, according to Mayor Francis McCauley.

That corresponds with a Baa rating given by Moody's Investment Services last week, McCauley said.

The rating is the first given by Standard & Poors, said the mayor. Moody's rating moved up two notches - from Baa to Baa.

The city received the news of Standard & Poors rating Tuesday morning through the Shawmut Bank. Official notification from the company is expected to be forthcoming.

"That shows that another rating agency, based on the city's financial situation as well as its future, is going along basically with what Moody's said," said McCauley.

"It gives credence to the fact that the city's finances have improved."

McCauley said that the city is currently floating a

$2,850,000 four year bond for hospital equipment.

"Auditor Bob Foy says that the upgraded rating will probably save the city $35,000 to $70,000 in interest charges alone. The interest rate will be lower," said McCauley.

The higher credit rating will also help with the planned bond issue for the addition and renovation of Quincy Police Headquarters, McCauley said.

The city's credit rating from Moody's had been Baa since 1981. A few other Massachusetts communities have that rating, but none has a lower rating.

In meeting with both firms, McCauley said he stressed the facts that the city is living within its budget, short-term borrowing is down, and development projects are ongoing and bringing in increased revenue.

Meeting On 509 Apartments

An informal meeting regarding "The Ledges", a project which will include 509 luxury apartments in five buildings off Quincy Ave., will be held Monday, Dec. 9, at 7 p.m. in the second floor conference room at New City Hall.

The meeting was scheduled after a public hearing held by the City Council Monday night during which neighbors voiced their concerns for about an hour.

The council will reconvene the public hearing regarding planned unit development for the project Monday, Dec. 16, at 6 p.m.

According to Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, in whose ward The Ledges will be located, neighbors are concerned about changes in zoning of Circuit Rd. from residence A to Business B as well as the whole project.

The developer is scheduled to attend the Dec. 9 meeting, said DeCristofaro, and neighbors can learn more about the project to see if they are in favor or opposed to it.

DeCristofaro said he is concerned about such things as traffic, water, sewers and density in connection with The Ledges which will be located behind Bradlee's.

DeCristofaro said he will report back to the council after the informal meeting.

P.O. Offers 6 Tips For Holiday Packages

If you want to be sure your holiday parcels get delivered on time follow these six "Dos" and "Don'ts," says Joseph T. Sullivan, Acting Manager of the Quincy Post Office.

Boxes must be adequate in size for the items being mailed and provide enough space for cushioning material. They must also be strong to hold the weight of their contents. If the box has adequate space for an address (cross out confusing information), it is not necessary to wrap it in paper. If you use paper, be sure it is equivalent to the kind used in grocery bags. Fiberboard tubes and similar long packages are acceptable if their length does not exceed 10 times their girth.

Cushioning absorbs and distributes shock and vibration. Examples of good cushioning materials are foamed plastics, corrugated cardboard and loose fill material, such as polystyrene, popcorn or shredded newspaper. Loose fill material should completely cover the items being mailed.

Use tape, not string or rope, to close packages. Cellophane and masking tape should not be used. Pressure sensitive, filament-reinforced tape is recommended and should be wrapped around the parcel at least twice.

You can spend a fortune on wrapping, but your package will never reach its destination if it is not addressed right. Print or type the address clearly on one side of the parcel only. It is also a good idea to put the name and address inside the package in case the address label comes off.

Packages must not exceed 70 pounds. They must also be at least 3 1/2 inches wide and 5 inches long, and total length and girth cannot exceed 108 inches.

If your parcel is valuable, you might want to insure it, but insure it only for its actual value. The postal service pays claims based on the actual value of lost or damaged items and not a higher insured amount.

Mayor Francis McCauley is thinking about his third term inaugural address and hints he has "a surprise or two."

He isn't saying what. But he indicates the accent this time will be on the future — not the past.

He ran on his record for a landslide third term re-election victory over Joanne Condon.

But now he is looking to what's ahead for the next two years.

"We may have a surprise or two," he says. But don't try to pin him down. He won't be pinned. He says he again will — as in the past — deliver his inaugural address extemporaneously.

"I don't like to read a prepared speech," he says. "It doesn't come across as well."

What if he gets through, sits down and then remembers something he should have said?

"Oh," he says, "that's all right. I'll just save it for another day."

The inaugural, the swearing in of the City Council and the School Committee, will take place at 10 a.m. ceremonies, Monday, Jan. 6 at the Quincy Vocational Technical School gym.

At that time, Quincy will get a new City Council president (Steve McGrath) a new School Committee vice chairman (Steve Durkin), a new city councillor (Thomas Nutley, Ward 6) and two new School Committee members — Frank Santoro and Margaret (Peggy) Nigro.

The inaugural ball will not be held the same night, however.

Because the Quincy Neighborhood Club is closed Monday, the ball will be Tuesday night.

It's a swanky affair. Tuxedos and gowns.

WHEN THE CEREMONIES marking the opening of the Burgin Parkway Extension were over last week Congressman Brian Donnelly, Senator Paul Harold, Mayor Francis McCauley and Rep. Michael Morrissey climbed into a car with Quincy DPW Supt. Paul

McCAULEY

Anderson behind the wheel for the first ride down the new roadway.

COLE

But Hingham's Fred B. Cole, former long-time Boston radio personality and now a dispatcher for the Hingham Police Department, had beat them to it.

Cole was driving north on Rte. 3 when he heard over WJDA that the extension was about to be open.

Coming in from the Braintree end, he got off at the South Quincy T station ramp, got on the Burgin Parkway extension and drove up to the Granite St., Quincy end where the crowd and officials had gathered.

He parked his car on the extension, walked over and joined the crowd and took in the ceremonies.

WELL, you can never say that Quincy Civil Defense Director Tony Siciliano doesn't give it his all — all the time.

Three weeks ago, he was injured in an auto accident on Fore River Bridge when his car was hit by another. He was taken to Quincy City Hospital with a hip injury.

While he was waiting to be treated, he was on the phone trying to help out the Carver Fire Department. Carver firefighters were battling a tough blaze at the town's landfill and needed floodlights.

Tony got them the lights and Deputy CD Director Jordan Cohen went along with them to Carver to supervise their use.

Tony was sidelined a couple of weeks but is back on the job and raring to go.

CREEDON

FRITZ, THE WEATHERMAN: Former School Supt. Lawrence

Creedon got one of the highest ratings on the laugh-applause meter at the recent testimonial dinner for Carl Leone, retired Quincy athletics director, former coach and football star.

Creedon disclosed he and Leone had a pretty much fool proof system when it came to deciding whether there should be school or not on a snow threatened day.

Creedon noted that Leone has a dog named Fritz. "On what looked like a bad day," Creedon said, "I would call Carl and he would ask Greta (his wife) to open the door to let Fritz out."

"If Fritz refused to go out, we would call school off."

It worked, too.

Woof! Woof!

Praise For QHS-NQHS Bands

Editor, The Quincy Sun:

On Thanksgiving I witnessed a tremendously emotional battle, under terrible weather conditions, between the North Quincy and Quincy High School football teams.

The battle was won by my "alma mater" North Quincy, by the slimmest of margins. This, I'm sure, eased the pain of a lackluster season by beating their arch rival. My feelings go out to Quincy High School's team, as their season of disappointment ended with an all-out effort but they still came up short.

Through the years, I have been able to see both sides of the rivalry, by being a student at North Quincy and now a member of the staff of the Quincy High School Band. I feel I can appreciate the feelings of both high schools towards one another through the rivalry.

There was another feeling of great disappointment on Thanksgiving. That was the disappointment felt by the members of the high school bands. They had worked so hard practicing since the middle of September for two nights and Saturday mornings each week, so that they could show their musical and marching abilities to their parents, fellow students, and other fans on this day. Because the weather and field conditions were so bad, they were prevented from doing a half-time show that I know would have thrilled those in attendance.

There were band members from both sides that wanted to do their shows anyhow, but for their own health and safety, and to protect both their uniforms and instruments from any great damage, the decision was made not to do the shows. Both Mr. Rull from North Quincy and Mr. Coviello from Quincy deserve the thanks of their students, the parents, and the City of Quincy for making such a sensible decision on this day of high emotions.

Finally, I'd like to congratulate both bands for all their hard work this year. They get very little recognition for all the extra hours that they put in, and I encourage the people in the City of Quincy to become more aware of the time, work and sacrifices these young men and ladies give to the city.

WATER—NATURE'S BEVERAGE

Q. The only time I ever drink water is with my evening meal. A friend of mine informed me it isn't good to drink water with a meal. Is this true?

A. Not at all. It is important to consume adequate liquids, especially water. It will help to soften the food in the stomach and assist in moving food through the digestive system. Water is also important in carrying nutrients, disposing of waste products and regulating body temperature.

Because the body loses approximately 10 glasses of water each day, it is essential to good health that it is replaced. If the body doesn't receive adequate water intake, a poor complexion may result, or the individual may experience a feeling of sluggishness.

Treat water drinking as any habit you would like to acquire. At first, you must make it a conscious effort. Our recommendation is to drink water with each meal, then increase your daily intake to eight glasses. For other healthful hints, contact your local Diet Center at 770-3442.

Quincy City Club Christmas Breakfast Sunday

The Quincy City Club will hold its 11th annual Christmas Breakfast Sunday, Dec. 8, at 10 a.m. at the Venetian Room of the Sons of Italy Hall, Quarry St.

Christmas donations by the organizations for 1985 will be announced to members and guests.

Christmas came early to patients at Long Island Hospital thanks to the Quincy City Club.

At the request of the supervisor of patient activity, a clothes washer was provided to replace the obsolete unit in the recreational area. Nurses wash many of the personal belongings of patients rather than use the time consuming laundry system, and some patients that enjoy washing their own clothes can do so.

Last Christmas, the Quincy City Club provided a golf cart to Long Island Hospital. Following the installation of a canopy, the vehicle named the "Island Cruiser" provided enjoyable rides for over 60 patients during the spring, summer and fall months on the Long Island grounds.

The Quincy City Club will again allocate its Christmas contribution from members and friends for clothing for the homeless at Pine Street Inn, Rosie's Place and the Long Island Shelter. It will also provide gifts for patients at Medfield Hospital, presents for the children at the Quincy Recreation Department's Christmas Party for the Retarded and gifts and clothing for halfway houses.

The Quincy City Club has provided over $25,000 in Christmas Charity Projects during the past 11 years. The primary source of revenue is personal contributions from the 100 member roster of the organization.

Richard J. Koch, club president, reminds members to contact one of the officers if they plan to attend with a guest on Sunday.

Career Postal Workers will now earn a starting salary of $18,332 plus benefits - with an accelerated step increase plan; men and women, regardless of age, are eligible. Marc Peloquin, 22, son of Mrs. and Mr. Marcel Peloquin of Woonsocket, R.I., is now the new staff organist and musical director at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, North Quincy.

Peloquin is a May 1985 graduate of the Boston University School of Music. He studied piano under Leonore Engdahl. He also pursued studies in conducting under Thomas Dunn and music accompaniment with Alan Rogers. His previous assignment was as organist and choir director with Lime Rock Baptist Church in Lincoln, R.I.

Peloquin has been studying music in some capacity since the age of six. During his high school years he studied with the New England Conservatory in Boston. He is presently employed by the BU School of Music.

12th Thanksgiving Feast At Daniel Webster

The fifth grade class of David Erickson at the Daniel Webster School recently hosted the 12th annual Thanksgiving family feast.

Students invited their families - parents, grandparents and others close to them - to share in a turkey dinner to which each family has contributed.

This year, special guests were members of the Senior Day Care program of the Salvation Army and their program director, Kathy Wolf.

Erickson's class and the Seniors are in the sixth year of an intergenerational program. They seek to find the many ways people, regardless of age, have things in common.

The students visit the Salvation Army Day Care center monthly for activities such as computer games, arts and crafts projects, exercising, hatching eggs, cooperative plays, sharing experiences and oral history.

The theme of "Hand-in-Hand" was carried out in the joy of togetherness at the school for Thanksgiving dinner, Erickson said.

Another special guest for dinner, and a contributor to the program, was Linda Jeffers from the Boston Children's Museum. Miss Jeffers is a Wampanoag Indian who shared the Indian perspective of Thanksgiving.

Students also had displays and demonstrations.

Squantum Church Celebrates First Sunday In Advent

In a church sanctuary decorated with evergreen boughs and red ribbons, the congregation of the First Church of Squantum celebrated the first Sunday in Advent with an observance of the Lord's Supper.

Church pastor the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on the subject, "Waiting for Messiah," based on this text, "The Lord, whom ye seek, shall suddenly come to His temple, even the messenger of the covenant, whom ye delight in; behold, He shall come, saith the Lord of Hosts." (Malachi 3:1)

Other scriptures that were used during the service were Isaiah 60:2-3; Isaiah 40:1-5; Hagai 2:7; and Malachi 3:1. "And the Glory of the Lord" from "Messiah" by George Frederick Handel was included as special music.

The Chancel Choir sang J. Jerome Williams' "Call to Advent" as the offertory anthem. Mary Ruth Scott directed.

Ian MacRitchie and Gwen Williamson assisted the pastor in lighting the first candle in the Advent wreath.

Hymns sung included "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel," "Watchmen, Tell Us of the Night" and "As With Gladness Men of Old."

Seated at the Lord's Table with the pastor were Deacons Kathryn Hansen, Joan Hansen, Tom Williamson, Leon MacIntyre and Stewart Scott. Edna and Leon MacIntyre were the greeters; Tor Wallin and Harry Holmes were the ushers; and Sandra Sumner and Janet Sumner were in charge of the fellowship hour after the service.

In the early service, Dr. Langevin spoke on "The Idea of a Messiah." Guitarists Mary Ruth Scott and Andrew Ogilvie accompanied the singing. Robert and Chris Dixey were the ushers.

On Saturday, Nov. 30, there was a "Deck the Halls" Christmas Party for people of all ages. At the party, there were opportunities for everyone to help decorate the church or make Christmas crafts that they could take home. There were things to do for children as young as two years of age and many senior citizens participated as well.

Christmas cookies and wassail were served when the whole church was decorated and all the crafts were done. Mary Ruth Scott played the piano for carol-singing.

Patti Hurd, of the Board of Christian Education, was Chairperson for the program. She was assisted by the following leaders of decorations and crafts: Gail Thornton, decorating; Ellen Ogilvie, cookie table; Mary Ruth Scott, crafts and music; Sally Johnson, paper angels; Pat Olson, decorating and crafts; Mindi Hurd, candy cane reindeer and clothes pin angels; Kate MacRitchie, origami birds; Sarah Mildram, clay ornaments; May Lewis and Ruth Swenson, greeting card Christmas baskets; Karin Reister, collage trees and lid ornaments; Susan Scott, Christmas painting and marshmallow snowmen; Andrew Ogilvie, potato print gift wrap; and Gene Langevin, hand-decorated gift wrap.

Thanksgiving at the church was observed the Sunday before with a Sunday morning breakfast sponsored by the young people and a Thanksgiving service which included four choirs.

Choirs participating in the service were the Cherub Choir, which sang "We Thank You, God," directed by Susan Scott and Mindi Hurd; the Crusader Choir, which sang "I Will Give Thanks" by Michael Jothan; the Youth Choir, which sang "O Give Thanks" by Henry Purcell; and the Chancel Choir which sang "Let All Things Now Living" to a Welsh melody as arranged by Katherine K. Davis. Susan Scott and Karen Reister sang the descent with the Chancel Choir. Mary Ruth Scott directs all of the choirs except the Cherub Choir.

John Chapman accompanied the Crusader Choir on the clarinet. He also played the saxophone to accompany the hymns sung by the congregation and for the offertory, "Give of Your Best to the Master."

Hymns sung during the service included "Come, Ye Thankful People, Come," "We Gather Together" and

"Now Thank We All Our God."

Dr. Langevin told the final portion of the Pilgrim story, "To the New World," with a large map that helped the congregation visualize the travels of first comers as a Separatist congregation first from the little village of Scrooby in England to Amsterdam and then Leyden in Holland and finally to Cape Cod and Plymouth in the New World.

Dr. Langevin later preached on the topic, "Rejoicing in the Lord," basing his sermon on these two texts: "...and the Lord brought us out of Egypt with a mighty hand and an outstretched arm, with great terror, with signs and wonders; and he brought us into this land, a land flowing with milk and honey" and "...and you shall rejoice in all the good which the Lord your God has given to you and to your house, you, and the Levite, and the sojourner who is among you." (Deuteronomy 26:8,9 and 11)

Greeters for the morning were Kay Kelly and Drucilla Warnes. The ushers were Tor Wallin, Stewart Scott, Dana Olson and Harry Holmes. The fellowship hour after the service was hosted by Ellen Ogilvie and Sandra Stohlberg. The breakfast sponsored by young people of the church before the service was also supervised by Ellen Ogilvie. Proceeds from such breakfasts go into a campership fund to help send children and teenagers to Christian camps during the summer.

There will be two morning services at the church December 8: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. It will be the second Sunday of the Advent season.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK:
"Gloria in Excelsis Deo" — "Glory to God in the Highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

The Christmas Season is fast approaching and, as usual, almost everyone is getting into the mood of the season... shopping for friends and loved ones... buying all the ingredients to bake the goodies that we share... cleaning the house in preparation for the company we will be receiving... and, of course, digging the decorations out of the attic or the basement for the Christmas tree.

For the next few weeks we would like to help you prepare for the coming season in another way by featuring a brief history on how three of our most loved Christmas Carols came to be written. In this way we feel we will be instilling in your hearts an even greater love for the true meaning and joy of Christmas. We hope it will be inspiring...

Did you ever stop to think that the very first Christmas Carol was sung by the angels in heaven? Yes, on that holy and blessed night when Christ was born they sang, "Gloria in Excelsis Deo" — "Glory to God in the Highest, and on earth peace, good will toward men."

Over one hundred years ago a young man lay severely wounded as our country lay under the cloud of war. The boy's father longed for peace. "Peace on earth, good will to men," he kept repeating as he thought of the angels on that first Christmas night. Those words echoed in the father's heart — over and over again. Since the boy's father was a poet, he seemed compelled to write these words on paper and it was at this time that Henry Wadsworth Longfellow wrote the lovely song "Christmas Bells" — sometimes known as "I Heard The Bells on Christmas Day." As you probably know, the last line of each stanza ends with the words "Peace on earth, good will to men."

One of the dearly beloved Christmas hymns, perhaps the one most stirring of all, was translated into English from the Latin language in 1841. No one is really sure who wrote it as it has been accredited to several authors, and it is said to have been the favorite of President Theodore Roosevelt. The Christmas hymn so loved by so many does not rhyme, yet few persons have realized this... "Adeste Fideles" — "Oh Come All Ye Faithful..."

Feast Of Lights

Chanukkah Begins Saturday

By LESTER H. GLASSER

Chanukkah, observed for eight days beginning with the 25th day of the month of Kislev begins Saturday evening, Dec. 7.

Chanukkah, the Feast of Lights or the Feast of Dedication is a minor festival but one of the most joyous on the Jewish calendar. There is no cessation of work except briefly for the women of the household who cease their labors for a short time during the evening as the Chanukkah lights are being lighted by a member of the family.

The children like Chanukkah best because they receive many gifts, some receive a gift on each night of the eight days of the holiday. It is celebrated usually in December when the short days of winter begin to lengthen, when once more the sun gives all the assurance that spring is not far behind.

Chanukkah celebrates the occasion when the Temple in Jerusalem was consecrated anew to the service of God after it had been defiled by the Greek conquerors.

This year the first candle will be lighted in the Menorah which has eight places for each candle, Saturday evening after sundown. The following traditional blessings are recited as the lights are kindled: "Blessed be Thou O Lord our God, King of the universe who hast sanctified us with Thy Commandments and commanded us to kindle the light of Chanukkah."

"Blessed be Thou O Lord our God, King of the Universe who hast wrought miracles for our fathers in days of old at this season".

Only on the first night the following blessing is added, "Blessed be Thou O Lord our God, King of the Universe who has kept us and enabled us to reach this season".

After kindling the lights, songs are sung in honor of the holiday. The popular "Mo'oz Tsur" (Rock of Ages) but different from that used in Christian churches, is the best known of these.

After the kindling of the lights, the family gathers about the table. Usually there is a goose prepared for the occasion, a goose that was bought weeks before and fattened and stuffed with dumplings. There may be potato pudding, potato pancakes, also other cheese delicacies.

After the meal the family starts to play games. They spin tops, but in the main all play cards. The table is opened as wide as possible and all members of the family, neighbors, relatives and friends gather. They play cards, drink tea, talk and frolic in honor of Chanukkah. The outstanding Chanukkah night is that on which the fifth candle is lit, especially for the children.

This is the evening when the children are given Chanukkah-money. Special food is served again, either pan-cakes or pudding. It is no wonder children love this holiday because in some families a gift is given on each night of Chanukkah.

The story of Chanukkah is that for a century after the death of Alexander the Great, Palestine found itself the coveted territory of the Syrians in the north and the Egyptians in the South. Finally Syria gained possession of the little land. The Jews naturally resented the presence of the invader, but undertook no active resistance until the Syrian King Antiochus Epiphanes attempted to destroy the Jewish religion and spirit by a campaign of cultural and religious imperialism.

The tyrannical imposition of a decadent Hellenic culture and cult upon the small nation was met by revolt initiated by a priest of the town, Mattathias and his five sons. They organized guerrilla bands and successfully fought off the stronger armies of Syria and achieved independence for Judea. In the meantime, the sacred shrine in Jerusalem had been violated by the setting of a pagan altar in the Temple.

Judah Maccabeus son of Mattathias was the foremost leader of the struggle. On the 25th day of Kislev 167 BCE (before the Christian Era), the Temple was cleansed of every trace of heathen worship and rededicated.

In order to re-establish the Jewish Temple Service, pure olive oil was needed for the kindling of the lamp that burned steadily and continuously in the Temple. The oil used by the Jewish priests had to be absolutely pure.

It was pressed from special olives and then placed in small vials and sealed by the High Priest.

After a prolonged search, Judah found one small vial of this pure oil. It was sufficient for one day's burning. However this one day's supply sufficed for eight full days. By that time, Judah obtained oil prepared by the Jewish priests which was pure and undiluted. Little yellow candles (sometimes blue, pink, green or brown) and wells of oil with threads folded together are used as a rule.

The lamp is generally placed on the window sill or in some conspicuous place where it may be seen from the outside. It is generally agreed by scholars that if the Jews had been defeated by the Syrian Greeks, the religious foundations upon which Christianity was later established would have been lost to the world and neither Judaism nor Christianity would have exerted their influences upon civilization.

Chanukkah is the traditional time for playing the "Dreydel" game. The dreydel is a small four-sided wooden or metal top that is spun by hand. The sides are inscribed with four Hebrew letters which begin with the words-Nes gadol haya sham

(A great miracle happened there). With the passage of centuries, the Chanukkah candles have taken on a deep meaning for Jews. They symbolize the light of religious freedom that Judah Maccabee and his followers kept alive.

In the glow of the candles, many Jews rededicate themselves to the ideals of their faith as once the Maccabees rededicated the Temple to the service of One God.

Because Chanukkah symbolizes the triumph of faith in God over brute force, it has long been a source of inspiration to the weak and small in number who fight for liberty and justice against stronger and tyrannical foes.

It strengthens the conviction that religious freedom is the right of all people and that God desires man to worship him in freedom.

250,000 Welcome Santa

Houghs Neck Catholic Daughters, New Bedford Take Float, Band Honors

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Nearly 250,000 people lined Hancock St. Sunday for the 34th annual Christmas Festival Parade which featured colorful floats, talented bands and an ample dose of the holiday spirit.

The crowd was a bit smaller than last year, but general chairman George White attributed that to the weather.

"We were fortunate that the rain held off in Quincy, but people from other areas might have thought the parade was cancelled because of the weather outside their door.

"The enthusiastic crowd that watched the parade showed much enjoyment for all that was presented.

"The floats were outstanding with regard to creativity, adherence to the theme, "Visions of Christmas", and originality.

The Fr. Thomas Tierney Trophy for best float and $1,000 went to the Catholic Daughters of Houghs Neck, for their float entitled, "Not A Creature Was Stirring, Not Even A Mouse."

"There weren't too many points separating the top winner from the other floats which won prizes," said White.

Some of the other crowd favorites were the Boston Police Motorcycle Drill Team, McDonald's characters and the bands, he said.

In the high school band category, New Bedford won the right to appear in the 1987 Cotton Bowl Parade in Dallas, Texas.

"K.C. Jones, Boston Celtics coach, was a real crowd pleaser. "We're certainly glad that he participated in the parade," said White.

"One of the concerns of the committee was the length of time of the parade. We had projected two hours to two hours and 15 minutes and it turned out to be one hour and 45 minutes.

"Hopefully in 1986, we'll have good weather forecast early so it won't be necessary for the committee to get up at 4:30 or 5 a.m. the morning of the parade to make a decision on whether it will go on or be postponed."

White said the committee is comprised of 26 community-oriented people from all walks of life who begin work on the parade in February.

"I certainly appreciate the work of the numerous people and their organizations who make this success possible," said White.

All the work paid off, according to White, and it was an enjoyable day for everyone.

During the parade, White donned a Rudolph the Red Nosed Reindeer costume and walked along the parade route.

"I must have had my picture taken 50 to 75 times with kids," said White, with obvious enjoyment.

"My gut tells me that that is what the parade is really about - family and children."

Other winners in the float category were:

Second prize and $500 in the float category was won by the Woodward School's "It's Almost Christmas."

"Visions of Peace," Sacred Heart Youth's float, won $300 and third prize, while "Christmas Confections" by Cub Scout Pack 14 won fourth prize and $200.

The Mayor's Trophy for the best Quincy float went to the Koch Club for "New England Christmas."

The festival committee trophy for the commercial group went to The Patriot Ledger.

Koch Club Sponsors Santa Visit To Shut-Ins

The Koch Club of Quincy will conduct its 29th annual Santa Claus visit to shut-in children Saturday and Sunday, Dec. 21 and 22 between 2 p.m. and 5 p.m.

The program is primarily conducted for children who are confined to homes year round.

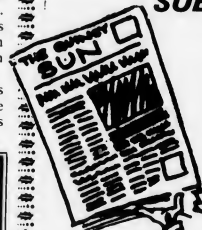

Originally, the service was provided to Quincy families. However, calls from parents in Braintree and Weymouth were honored and the South Shore is now included.

Only parents or guardians of shut-in children may make the above request for Santa's visit and they should contact Richard J. Koch, 241 Newbury Ave., North Quincy, and arrange for the time most convenient for the family and children to be visited.

of schedule.

"The rapid completion of this project underscores the emphasis the administration placed on its commitment to revitalized downtown Quincy," said Robert T. Tierney, Massachusetts Department of Public Works Commissioner.

"The downtown area now has the potential to, once again, draw commerce from a wide geographical region. This vital link between Quincy Center and three major highways will give the business and historic districts a tremendous boost."

Tierney said that the $6.5 million Burgin Parkway Extension, which runs parallel to the MBTA Red Line, was part of an overall plan which included the construction of the $25 million Quincy Adams MBTA Station, a new $30 million ramp interchange at Routes 3 and 128 in South Quincy and Braintree, and $3.6 million in flood control improvements developed by the MDC.

Tierney said that overhead lighting will be installed during December and minor clean-up work will take place in the spring.

"This roadway, which Governor Dukakis committed to Quincy during his first administration, is a classic example of public improvements designed to revitalize our older cities and stimulate private investment," said Frederick P. Salvucci, State Secretary of Transportation and Construction.

"The DPW/MBTA/MDC package represents the most important public construction activity in Quincy for at least the last 50 years."

Other speakers were Martha Reardon, associate commissioner of the Mass. DPW, Mayor Francis McCauley, Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, Robert McDonagh, chief engineer, Mass. DPW; Sen. Paul D. Harold; Rep. Michael Morrissey.

The invocation was given by the Rev. Steele Martin, Christ Church. The benediction was given by the Rev. William McCarthy, St. John's Church.

Also attending were representatives of the contractor, Modern Continental Construction Co. of Cambridge, and other state and city officials.

St. Joseph's School Hall Fund Drive Needs $1,500 For First Phase Goal

St. Joseph's Church in Quincy Point has been working the last six months to raise $150,000 in the first phase of a fund drive for a new school hall but they are $15,000 short of their goal and time is running out.

Rev. Joseph Downey, pastor said if the parish campaign can raise this sum by Dec. 31 the fund will benefit from a $100,000 gift by an anonymous donor.

He added that just this past week the project was enriched by $500 presented to him by Reverends Frederick and Carol Atwood-Lyon, recently installed co-pastors at neighboring Quincy Point Congregational Church, 444 Washington St. An anonymous Quincy Point businessman has also pledged $10,000 to the project, Downey said.

Fr. Downey said the new school hall addition will include a basketball court for junior high school students. This can be converted into an assembly hall to accommodate some 500 persons.

Architect Joseph Donoghue's design for the new addition will include two classrooms and storage space. It will be sited between the convent and school.

Fr. Downey who is confident of reaching the first phase goal of the drive said the project is needed. Because of the lack of an adequate parish hall St. Joseph's has to rent from the Salvation Army space for its gym program; the youth committee and school has to rent from the city assembly hall for its shows and basketball programs; and the parish has to go to Montello's for its bingo games, Downey said.

The parish building committee is made up of Norman Girard, President; Theodore Harrington, Secretary; John Carney, Treasurer. The advisory board is comprised of Paul Brodner, Rocco Della Barba, Frank Brillo, Adin Langille, and Joseph Hajjar.

Council To Act Dec. 16 On Hospital Permit

Peter Barrett, staff radiologist and union representative Fred Taub.

Taub, of Local 285, Service Employees International Union, AFL-CIO, said the renovation was generally favored, but recommended that the council continue the PUD process and act as a watchdog through the 36 months of construction.

"You're asking that we grant segmented-style approval," said Council President James Sheets, "the City Council will consider the request."

Speaking against the project was Hal Shainwald, chairman of the Colonial Heritage Neighborhood Association.

Shainwald said that the association has dropped its suit against the hospital to block the project.

He also indicated that the relationship between QCH and the neighbors could be better.

Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro said that the Council should see the QCH board of managers talks with its neighbors.

"The council has no official power over the board of managers," said Sheets, but as Yogi Berra said, "it's not over until it's over."

Sheets suggested that Mundy and Shainwald talk between now and the Dec. 16 meeting.

Firm Given 2 More Weeks To Clean Debris

By LINDA WILKINS

Joseph H. Vissa & Sons, 18-20 Furnace Ave., West Quincy, was again called before the city's Licensing Board regarding conditions in its surrounding area.

The board voted at its meeting Tuesday at City Hall to continue Vissa's hearing to Dec. 17, giving the company two more weeks to clean trucks and debris allegedly placed on land beyond Vissa's licensed lot.

Vissa was originally called before the board Oct. 15 after the board received complaints from Joseph R. Valante of Valante Mechanical Contractors, Inc. According to Valante, Vissa had "created an eyesore in what is basically a residential area."

At that meeting, the board gave Vissa 30 days to clear its surrounding area and screen its property or lose its repair service and gasoline license.

"He just started moving stuff out of there last week, that's far beyond the 30 days he was given," said Valante, who attended Tuesday's meeting.

Valante, an abutter of Vissa's, said the area is a disgrace. He added that Vissa has not screened its property. Vissa's original license stipulated that the company screen its land as requested by the zoning ordinance, said Building Inspector and board member Allan MacDonell.

"Screening is some form of fence or high shrubbery which protects neighbors from having to look at the construction on your property." Police Chief and board member Francis Finn told Robert Vissa, an owner of Joseph H. Vissa & Sons, "It does not involve trying to hide what you're trying to hide. You're running a junk yard down there," he said.

Vissa said he had moved eight vehicles off the property but was having difficulty finding junk dealers who would clear the debris.

"He's only moved out approximately three vehicles," said Valante. "He only has a 50 foot wide strip there and he's all over the place."

"We're not telling you to get rid of working vehicles," Finn told Vissa, "but you can't keep wrecks there that will never run again."

Jackie Quirk, Administrative Assistant to City Council President James Sheets, said Vissa's neighbors "are not trying to run the man out of business."

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago. If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

Honors Keep Rolling In Dudek In Heisman Company

Honors continue to be bestowed on North Quincy's Joe Dudek, who broke every collegiate scoring record this year at Plymouth State College.

Dudek's 79 career touchdowns broke Walter Payton's NCAA mark by 13 and the overall college record of Wilbert Montgomery by nine. He also canceled Payton's overall scoring mark and his 5570 career yards rushing puts him in third place behind two other greats, Tony Dorsett and Charles White. During his four years at Plymouth, the Panthers were 37-6 and won the New England Conference title every year.

To cap off his outstanding career, Dudek will be playing in the Japan Bowl Jan. 12 in Tokyo with three of the top runners in the nation, Bo Jackson of Auburn, Alan Pickett, who broke all Notre Dame rushing records, and Keith Byers of Ohio State.

The latest honor has to be the greatest.

Sports Illustrated last week ran Dudek's picture on page one with the top two Heisman Trophy favorites, Jackson and quarterback Chuck Long of Iowa.

The magazine gives the former North Quincy High standout the "thinking fans" vote for the 1985 Heisman Trophy.

Dudek had heard it might happen when the Sports Illustrated reporter and cameraman covered his final game at Plymouth State. "I thought they might use a little story on the back page with a one-inch picture or a list of my records, but there I was in living color on the cover," he said.

"Seeing it was just unbelievable, incredible. This is the exclamation point in my career. What I wanted to do has been done. Now maybe more people will know about it. This caps everything off, it's put on the finishing touch."

"It's the greatest thing that ever happened to Joe and to North Quincy," said North assistant coach Pete Zoia, known as "Mr. North Quincy Football" and a star on North's first three football teams in 1933, 34 and 35. "It's so thrilling to see him associated with these great backs who played at a higher level of football than he did. But we are sure he will fit in beautifully, especially at the Japan Bowl."

Just to be mentioned with such Div. I greats is a great boost for Dudek and Div. 3 Plymouth State.

"The thing about Joe is that it hasn't caught up with him yet," said long-time assistant coach Ted Sadowski. "He spoke to the students and the team at our pre-Thanksgiving rally and encouraged them. He caused some excitement."

"Everybody here in New England knows about him and now, with this magazine recognition, he'll get the Heisman Trophy national attention."

Coaches Mark Mulvaney, Kevin Cobban and Jamie Walsh all agreed.

Dudek, who led North to wins over Quincy in 1980 and 81, scoring three touchdowns in the 1980 win and the only touchdown of the game in 1981, attended the Quincy-North Quincy Football Hall of Fame dinner last week and received a special plaque, then appeared at the North rally and watched the game on Thanksgiving.

"He doesn't forget where he came from," said Coach Ken McPhee. "He could have been anywhere on the morning of our rally, but he was here with us. He's a 100 per cent class kid."

Dudek last week was named to the All-New England team.

North 7, Quincy 6 For McPhee Thrill, Raymer Agony

By TOM SULLIVAN

The 53rd Quincy-North Quincy game was played under what were called the worst weather and field conditions since the 1945 game, but as far as North coach Ken McPhee and his players are concerned, it was a beautiful day.

With rain, sleet and then freezing rain falling throughout the contest and the Veterans Memorial Stadium turf a quagmire, the Raiders squeezed out a 7-6 decision over the Presidents. About 6000 braved the atrocious conditions and most stayed until the end.

North finished with a 3-7 record and Quincy finished 0-10, the first winless Quincy team ever.

For McPhee it was his first coaching victory over Quincy after two losses and a tie and it was hard to hold him down after the game.

"This is the happiest moment of my coaching career," he told the joyous squad in the dressing room after the game as he handed the Kiwanis trophy to Principal Peter Chrisom for the school's trophy case.

"This was coach McPhee's first win over Quincy but I can assure you there will be plenty more," said Chrisom.

"This has been the finest bunch of boys you could ask for," McPhee said. "They never quit, they continued to give 100 per cent and more all season and I'm just so happy for them, especially our seniors, who finally can enjoy a win over Quincy."

Quincy coach Jack Raymer was bitterly disappointed, as his team came within a foot of pulling out the victory. The Presidents had scored early in the fourth quarter to make it 7-6 and Chris Veneto was stopped a foot short of the goal line in the try for the winning.

"I'm very disappointed for the kids, they certainly didn't deserve to go winless," he said. "They never once quit despite our many injuries and I couldn't ask for more from anyone. They did a great job and I'm just so disappointed they couldn't have won a few games."

The first thing McPhee did was pay tribute to his coaching staff.

"I have some terrific assistants," he said. "We head coaches don't win the games, the fine assistants we surround ourselves with deserve most of the credit. I have some great coaches, Kevin Cobban, our offensive coordinator, Mark Mulvane, the defensive coordinator, Ted Sadowski, who has been here 28 years, does our scouting and handles the sophomores and jayvees; Jamie Walsh, who led the freshmen to a 5-2 record in his first season, and, of course, Pete Zoia, "Mr. North Quincy football," who does a tremendous job. We are very fortunate to have him."

McPhee was high in his praise of Ted Shionis, who ran for 147 yards, his sixth 100 yard-plus game. He rushed for about 800 yards and gained more than 1000 yards over all (rushes and pass receptions). Gary McNamara, who picked up 32 yards, and Leo LeMay did some excellent blocking and McPhee hailed quarterback Chris Gray for a fine game. Also coming in for his share of the praise was center Ken Kemp, who handled the ball under the adverse conditions.

The Raider coach praised the entire offensive line and on defense he hailed Mark Bilton, who had a pass interception; Rob Bradley, John and Mike Ainsley, Don Clancy, Scott Williams, Mike Haynes, Brian Flukes, Angelo Kapetanakos, who had a key fumble recovery, and Scott Chansky.

Chansky and McNamara were the two who stopped Veneto in the try for the game-winning points. Flukes and Bradley teamed up for another key play when they stopped quarterback Steve Austin for a sizable loss.

Veneto, who returned after missing several games, and Mark Porzio ran well for Quincy, with Veneto, who had two 100 yard-plus games in his first three, running for 60 yards and Porzio 54.

"I thought all the boys did as well as could be expected under the conditions," Raymer said. "Our defense did an especially fine job and the offensive line also did a good job."

On defense Raymer praised the defense of Ken Southwick, Paul Munafio, Frank Calabro, Kevin Jolley, Mike Eastwick, Steve Picarski, Dave Murphy, Mike O'Connor and Ron Luisi.

Both teams stuck mainly to the ground, with North gaining a net of 160 yards and Quincy 107. Gray threw only three passes, completing two for 23 yards, while Austin completed only one of 7 for 24 yards and had one intercepted. Another completion was voided when the receiver was out-of-bounds. Both teams had seven first downs.

Quincy had to play most of the second half without its best, two-way player, Don Parry, who was injured.

Both Parry and Gray punted well and when Parry was sidelined, Steve Gardner got off a fine punt.

Quincy received to open the game and was stopped. Parry punted to North's 42, from where the Raiders drove to their only touchdown. McNamara capped the drive by scoring from the one. Mark Scanlan, a top soccer player who joined the squad late in the season, then kicked what proved to be the winning point.

Quincy picked off an Austin pass. A few plays later, on the first play of the second quarter, Quincy recovered a fumble, but Quincy was offside and North kept the ball. The Presidents held and Gray got off a fine punt.

North received the second half kickoff and drove all the way to the Quincy 10, with Shionis racing 49 yards from his own 42 to Quincy's 10 before being brought down by Parry. Two plays later Quincy's Picarski recovered a fumble on the eight.

Late in the third quarter Gray's punt was blocked by Jolley and Taglieri and Quincy had the ball on the North 33. On the third play of the fourth quarter Porzio scored from the seven. Then came the big play by Chansky and McNamara, enabling North to hold its lead.

Quincy's last chance went by the boards with 1:05 left when Joe Innello broke into the clear but Austin was unable to get the water-logged ball to him. North took over and ran out the clock.

Sports Writers Get Help Covering Game

Covering the Quincy-North Quincy game was quite an experience on the holiday.

Not only were the players' numbers obliterated a few minutes into the game, but it was virtually impossible to see out the press box windows. Rain, sleet and freezing rain poured down continually and the windows kept getting fogged up.

A few spectators in the box helped out the Quincy Sun's Tom Sullivan and the Patriot Ledger's Bob Pirie by going outside to wipe off the windows and also wiped the fog off indoors.

Dave Lubarsky, who can tell you anything you want to know about Quincy and North sports going back to the early 1900s, described the conditions as the worst since 1945 when North kicked off to open the game and the Raiders' Dave Burke recovered the free ball in the end zone for the only score of the game.

Finnegan Explains Why Game Wasn't Postponed

Director of Athletics Marty Finnegan, when asked why the holiday game was not postponed, explained that more than 1500 tickets were sold in advance to students.

"We knew most of these kids worked on Saturday and wouldn't be able to see the game and we still play the game with the kids our first priority," he said.

"Another thing, the emotion built up for the holiday game is missing when the game is postponed. It just isn't the same."

12 Inducted Into Quincy-North Hall Of Fame

By TOM SULLIVAN

Twelve more former Quincy and North Quincy football players, two posthumously, were inducted into the schools' Halls of Fame last week at the second annual Hall of Fame dinner at the Quincy Elks Hall.

Quincy Hall-of-Famer Jim Colclough, an outstanding end for Quincy, Boston College and for the Patriots, was the master of ceremonies and introduced Rev. Cornelius Heery, pastor of Sacred Heart Parish, who gave the invocation.

The following were inducted into the Quincy Hall of Fame:

Vic DiGravio (1933-35), presented by Nick Malesti, captained the 1935 team and later starred for the Providence Steamrollers.

Bill Sullivan (1928-30), presented by Nick Malesti, captained the 1935 team and later starred for the Providence Steamrollers.

Bill Sullivan (1928-30), presented by Colclough, was assistant coach for several years, then was the Presidents' head coach for eight years, leading Quincy to five straight wins over North Quincy. He played at Mt. St. Mary's College and later for the Washington Pros.

Malvesti (1933-34), presented by Quincy Hall-of-Famer Dan Raymondi, captained the Presidents and starred for several years with the Quincy Manets.

Hank Conroy, presented by Quincy Hall-of-Famer Jon Provost, coached Quincy for 14 years, won two Greater Boston League titles and led the Presidents to their only perfect season in 1970.

Bill Mayer (1969-70), presented by former Quincy assistant coach Gene Macomber, played for the unbeaten 1970 team, went to the University of Connecticut, where he was captain his senior year and was named All-Yankee Conference. He was a Quincy assistant for several years, then was head coach for one season before accepting a teacher-coach position at Acton-Boxboro High.

The late Tony Quintiliani (1951-52), was one of the top linemen in Quincy history. He starred at Boston College, played in the North-South game, was a teacher-coach at Braintree and then principal of a Braintree junior high school. Sullivan, his coach, presented the plaque to his widow, Jean, and his son, Larry.

The new inductees into the North Quincy Hall of Fame: Al Jago (1936-38), presented by Colclough, was an all-star in track as well as football, attended Bridgton Academy and played semi-pro ball for a number of years.

Dave Burke (1943-45), presented by Conroy, led the Presidents to wins over North in 1944 and 1945, was a standout at Bowdoin College, was an assistant coach at Quincy for many years before taking over as head coach at North. His best season was 1975 when he led the Raiders into the Div. 1 Super Bowl. He is now an assistant coach at Milton High.

John "Butch" Mahoney (1952-53), presented by Colclough, went on to shine at American International College where he was captain and a Little All-American. He played for several years in the Atlantic Coast League and also played for the Patriots.

Pete Varney (1964-65), presented by North Hall-of-Famer Bill Curran, was an all-scholastic in football, basketball and baseball at North and at Deerfield Academy. One of Harvard's outstanding football and baseball players, he was drafted by several major league teams and played seven years with the Chicago White Sox and Atlanta Braves. He had a record 10 RBIs in a game at Harvard. He has been baseball coach at Brandeis University for four years, leading the Judges to three NCAA Northeast Regional playoffs.

Ken McPhee (1965-66), presented by North Hall-of-Famer Tom Kiley, captained the Raider's unbeaten Greater Boston and Class A champions in 1966, starred at Central Connecticut and played pro ball for the N.E. Colonials. He has been North's head coach for four years.

The late Walter "Cap" Bryan (1933-34), presented by North Hall-of-Famer Pete Zoia, was one of North's best and the North Quincy gymnasium is named for him. Zoia presented the plaque to Cap's son, Richie.

The following special awards were made for meritorious service to Quincy and North football:

George Page, a former Quincy athlete, has been in charge of getting Veterans Memorial Stadium in shape for Quincy and North games for many years. "George has performed miracles through the years getting the field in condition and it looks as though he will have to perform another one this week," said Quincy coach Jack Raymer.

Bill Myers, a former Quincy football player, has been connected with the Quincy Youth Football League for 35 years and has helped prepare many youngsters to go on to greater things in high school and college.

Dr. Al Yacubian, a former North player, has done much for the North players through the years. The Raiders' mascot, "Mr. Yakoo," is named for him.

Ted Sadowski has been a North Quincy assistant coach for 28 years and has been assistant to every one of North's coaches.

Quincy Hall-of-Famer Carl Leone, retired coordinator of athletics and former Quincy star and North Quincy coach, was introduced as was his successor, Marty Finnegan.

Also introduced was LaRoy "Curly" Rogers, a long-time North teacher-coach who is 82 but looks 20 years younger. Many former North players thanked him for the influence he had on their lives. Curley received a special award at last year's Hall of Fame dinner.

The 1984 inductees received Hall of Fame sweaters in the school colors.

Raymer and McPhee introduced their assistant coaches and the senior players who were guests at the dinner.

To top the evening off a special plaque was presented to Joe Dudek, former North Quincy star who this year broke every college scoring mark at Plymouth State College. Dudek, who suffered a badly sprained ankle in his final game, is eagerly looking forward to playing in the Japan Bowl in January.

Jaehnig Club Wins Second Straight Title

The Jaehnig Chiropactic Club of Quincy won its second straight South Shore Sports Center basketball title with a 69-50 victory over the D.C. Club of Hull in the championship game.

The Jaehnig Club, which topped the Quincy Nets in the semifinals, finished up with eight straight wins. The D.C. Club had upset the top-ranked John Hancock team to make the finals.

D.C. got off to a fast start and led throughout the first half, mostly on the strong efforts of Mark Fallon, who scored 16 points. However, Jaehnig rallied in the second half, as it had all season long, with a fine effort that saw five players hit double figures.

With matters still undecided, Billy Murphy hit four technical foul shots in a row en route to his 18 points and Jaehnig never looked back. Jim Timmins and Chuck Jaehnig kept the game close in the first half and finished with 14 and 13 points respectively. Mike Venna and Mark Jaehnig had 10 apiece. Mike and Dan Jaehnig had a basket each and Pete Gray played his usual aggressive defensive game.

The Jaehnig roster included five Jaehnig brothers, Mark, Steve, Mike, Chuck and Dan Venna, Grav, Timmins, Murphy, Paul Principato and Bob Dacey.

Apaches Upset Elks, To Win 13th Crown

The North Quincy Apaches, who finished second to the West Quincy Elks during the regular season, upset the Elks, 18-8, to win their second straight Quincy Youth Football championship. It was the Apaches' 13th league championship.

The Apaches took the opening kickoff and kept the ball for all but one play in the first quarter. The drive was dominated by the running of Jim Bryan and Keith Gott, but the quarter ended scoreless.

In the second quarter the Apaches drove 21 yards for a touchdown after recovering an Elks fumble. Gott picked up 10 yards in three carries, the Bryan ran it in from the 11 on a bootleg. Gott added the two-point conversion.

After recovering another fumble on the Elks' 41, Gott went 41 yards on runs of 16 and 25 yards for the score. Bryan ran in for the conversion and the Apaches led, 16-0.

The Elks' next drive again was unproductive as the Apaches pushed them deep into their own territory led by the outstanding defense of Dave Murphy, Barry Glynn, Mike Earley, Dan Gilmartin, Kevin MacDougall, Mike Islep and Andy Burns. Flynn tackled Elks punter Chris Noble in the end zone for a safety following a bad pass from center.

The Elks dominated the third quarter with Noble, Dave Nourse and Scott O'Brien running well, but the Apaches' Gilmartin threw Noble for a 12-yard loss as the quarter ended, stopping the drive.

The fourth quarter was a battle of defenses with the Elks scoring on the last play of the game on a two-yard run by Noble after a long pass to Dennis Platter brought the ball to the two.

The Apaches' victory was especially sweet as they lost starting guard Jason Doyle in a pre-game warmup and quarterback Jim Bryan played the last three quarters with a fractured thumb.

Gott had 107 yards on 23 carries and Bryan added 46 on 10 carries. Mark Kellher and Mike Doherty, both up from the junior varsity, played fine games at guard, enabling the team to control the ball for most of the game. Matt Lebrun, another jayvee, filled in nicely as a running back.

"We snuck in the back door when no one was looking," Apaches coach Tom Carter said. "The kids never doubted that we could win. I knew the Elks would be tough, but we were overdue to win one from them." The Elks twice defeated the Apaches during the regular season.

Gott, an eighth grader at Central Middle School, had a fantastic season, leading the league in scoring and rushing for more than 1200 yards.

"He is one of the quickest, if not the quickest, kid in the league as far as flat-out running is concerned," Carter said. "He never misses a practice and has shown us unlimited potential."

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

Steve Downing, Manager

REAL ESTATE VS STOCKS

QUESTION: How do you compare real estate with stocks as an investment for the future?

ANSWER: Other investments (such as stocks) show broad price fluctuations, but real estate prices have gone steadily upward.

Other investments require large amounts of ready cash, but leverage and pyramid enable the real estate investor to control large holdings by using a small amount of his own money and much larger amounts of other people's money.

Real estate, through its incredible tax benefits, allows you to keep more of what you earn through depreciation allowances, capital gains, refinancing, tax-sheltering

REAL ESTATE is the most reliable and profitable investment for the small investor.

Track Club Qualifies 20 For Junior Olympics

The Quincy Track Club qualified a record 20 boys and girls to compete in the National AAU Junior Olympics Saturday in Philadelphia.

The QTC cross-country runners turned in many outstanding performances at the Region 1 championships at Washingtonville, N.Y., over the toughest course ever run by Quincy athletes.

The Bantam (9-10) boys team qualified with a third place finish with Nat Lloyd finishing ninth and Jerry Marshall 10th. Other finishers were Mike Kenney, Anthony McGahan and Chris Klier.

The 9-10 girls' team was one girl shy of the necessary five to score a team, had all four girls qualify for the nationals with Norcen Fewer placing seventh and Susan Krier 12th. Kerry McGhan and Eileen Fewer were the other qualifiers. Regina Murphy, one of the top runners, was lost for the season with a foot injury.

In Midget (11-12) boys Brian Klier qualified and in the girls, Lindsey McGovern, Katie O'Shea and Maureen Fewer survived the cut.

Brian Barrett, running his first year of high school cross-country, finished 13th in the junior (13-14) division and Sherrin Quintiliani, Nancy Sheehy and Karen Cashman all made it.

Tricia Barrett made up for her 19th place finish in the Mass. State schoolboy championships with a strong third place finish, just seconds behind New York's two best runners, and Lee Ann Fitzgerald finished ninth in the same (15-16) race. Harry Morash, long time QTC standout, completed the scoring with a 16th place finish in the tough senior (17-18) race.

Quincy Girls Swimmers Finish Up Season

The Quincy High girls' swim team finished its season at the recent South Sectional championships at the Lincoln-Hancock School pool.

The first ladies' 400-yard freestyle relay team of Karen Craig, Keri Mortimer, Janet Morrell and Renee Gaura finished in 4:37.20, clipping more than 30 seconds off their time of last year (5:09.00), but it still was not fast enough to qualify for the finals.

This year's team, made up mostly of freshmen and sophomores, finished at 1-6 but second-year coach Janet Keyes was pleased with the increase in interest this season.

"Last year we had only

Powers and her teammates outran a field of over 30 championship teams from all over Massachusetts to claim the title. This is the third consecutive year that the NDA Aces have won the state title. The team also won seven swimmers and this year we had more than 17," Keyes said. "I have high hopes that next year more girls will turn out and we can have a winning season."

"I am still in the process of rebuilding our program and I hope that next season a bigger turnout will finally produce a truly competitive girls' swim team for Quincy."

the Massachusetts Class C state meet Nov. 9.

A recount last week of the school committee and councillor-at-large votes for some of the wards cost the city $2,800 according to City Clerk John Gillis, and resulted in no change in the Nov. 5 election results.

The recount left Patricia Toland as the third councillor at large, and Margaret Nigro and Frank Santoro as the new school committee members.

A recount of the whole city was requested by Joan Picard, who lost her school committee seat by 80 votes.

She withdrew her request after Wards 1 and 2 were counted.

Ronald Iacobucci who finished fourth in the three man race and trailed incumbent Patricia Toland by 339 votes, requested a recount of Wards 1 and 2. He withdrew his request after Ward 2 was counted.

Both candidates withdrew their requests after the recounts failed to show a substantial change.

The recounts were conducted by hand. The votes were tabulated by computer in the election for the second time in the city's history.

The original vote totals contrasted to new ones in Ward 1 for the school committee race were: Mary Collins, 1872 and 1884; Picard, 1519 and 1529; Nicholas Verenis, 1268 and 1277; Margaret Nigro, 2268 and 2279; and Frank Santoro, 1569 and 1562.

Blanks went from 3234 to 3200, Gillis said.

Ward II school committee results were: Collins, 1978 and 1992; Picard, 1572 and 1579; Verenis, 1404 and 1409; Nigro, 1,680 and 1,691; and Santoro, 1,702 and 1,704. Blanks went from 3,346 to 3,307.

The old vote totals compared to the new ones in Ward 2 for councillor-at-large were: Richard Koch, Jr., 1893 and 1897; Joseph LaRaia, 2565 and 2567; Patricia Toland, 1842 and 1846; and Iacobucci, 2058 and 2060.

Blanks were 3324 and 3312, according to Gillis.

Gillis explained the slight changes in the tally by saying if the punch was not all the way through on the punch card ballots, the machine didn't count that vote.

Twenty election workers recounted the ballots under the supervision of three members of the Board of Registrars. Howard Willard, John Papile and Arnold Levine; Assistant City Clerk Thomas Burke, register of elections; Robert LeBlanc; and Police Officer Guido Pettinelli, said Gillis.

Public Hearing Thursday On Issues Affecting Retarded

The Norfolk County Dist. Atty. William Delahunt will discuss major policy issues affecting mentally handicapped citizens at a public hearing Dec. 5 at 7:30 p.m. in Quincy City Hall.

Delahunt said over 3300 retarded citizens in Massachusetts are on waiting lists for therapeutic service; 1200 people are on lists for residential services; and another 1500 are awaiting vocational training.

He added that the mentally handicapped adults strive to become self-sufficient, but, taxpayers still spend as much as $60,000 per year on each retarded citizen who is institutionalized. Whereas, on alternative, respite care, allows the disabled member to remain with his family and costs taxpayers less than $3000.

Also attending the Dec. 5 hearing will be community and business leaders and members of the South Shore Association for Retarded Citizens. The hearing will focus on alerting the general public to the problems of inadequate services and imbalanced funding facing the mentally retarded.

Koch Receives Festival Award

George F. White, general chairman of the Christmas Festival Committee, presented a Chairmanship Plaque to Richard J. Koch at the Awards Event held after the Christmas Parade Sunday.

In presenting the award, White said that the plaque is for "much deserved recognition and appreciation for the unold time and effort expended by this individual who year in and year out coordinates several of the Christmas Festival Season programs."

"The Christmas Festival Committee is deeply grateful and the appreciation of the entire community is hereby expressed through the presentation of this citation," said White.

FREE $500.00 VALUE

With Purchase Of The Viking 990!

Choose a handcrafted sewing cabinet or a Huskylock Serger each valued over $500.00.

The computerized Viking 990 is the one machine tailored to today's need for both craft and garment sewing.

The Sewing Advisor™ automatically tells you the correct stitch length and width, and adjusts to the proper tension. The Exclusive Pictogram™ lets you "paint" pictures with a needle . . . perfect for floral satin-stitch embroidery and crewel. Six programmable button holes can be created without even turning the fabric. Together, these features make all other machines obsolete.

Whether you're a beginner or experienced sewer, the Viking 990 lets your imagination sew.

Now through December 31, 1985, you can receive a $500 bonus gift with your Viking 990. Get yours in time for the holidays. (Not good with any other offer)

Move For Signs Marking Entrance To Burgin Parkway

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Quincy now has the means to get people to Quincy Center easily and quickly thanks to the Burgin Parkway Extension, but what is needed are more strategic signs on Routes 3 and 128 to show them the way.

That's the opinion of seven businessmen, city and state officials who met last Friday at City Hall to discuss the matter at the suggestion of Sen. Paul Harold.

Harold is asking for ground signs on Route 128 between the old Howard Johnson's site and the split in the road, and Route 3 by the Washington St., Braintree, and Quincy Adams MBTA sign.

And the signs would be twice as effective if they said Quincy Historic Trail as well as Quincy Center, according to Harold.

Harold hopes to have an answer from the Department of Public Works next month.

"I'm very confident we'll get both," said Harold, who called another meeting of the group for Jan. 10, at 9:30 a.m.

Attending the meeting in addition to Harold were Martha Reardon, associate commissioner of the DPW, Richard Gilmartin, manager of systems control for the Bureau of Transportation, Planning and Development; Richard Meade, Principal Planner, Quincy Planning Department; Steve Gillig, president, Henry Bosworth and Robert Colman, of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

"We need signs to direct people off the highway into Quincy," said Colman. "That's the number one priority."

He pointed out that there are signs to Quincy at Neponset Circle and Furnace Brook Parkway, but that directions to Quincy Center from those exits are confusing to people unfamiliar with the city.

"The new entrance (Burgin Parkway Extension) is fantastic. If they're coming here, that's the way they'll come," said Colman, owner of Colman's Sporting Goods. Colman also said that the Quincy Adams MBTA Station would be an ideal spot for a tourist information booth.

There is a community parking area at the station where a booth could be located, said Harold.

Reardon said that 500,000 tourists a year are needed to qualify for a historical ground sign.

Harold said he thought the city could meet that criteria.

Quincy Gets Triple B Rating

Quincy Mayor Francis X. McCauley was notified Tuesday that the city has received a triple B bond rating from the investment rating firm of Standard and Poor's in New York.

McCauley said the rating is comparable to the city's new Baa rate set recently by Moody's Investors Service.

The two new rates reflect the city's financial condition and enable the city to borrow at lower interest rates.

"We're pleased with the Standard and Poor's rate," McCauley said. "One rate reinforces the other."

The mayor said he plans to try for an additional raise in the ratings late next year or in 1987.

Succeeds Collins As Treasurer Raymondi Vows To Restore Credibility

By DAN CONNELLY

The new Norfolk County treasurer, Daniel C. Raymondi, 38, of Quincy, promises to restore credibility to that embattled office.

Raymondi, who succeeded convicted former county treasurer James Collins, also said he wants to move some county investments from Boston banks to Quincy and other Norfolk County banking institutions.

The prominent Quincy Democrat received two of the three Norfolk County Commissioners votes at a meeting in Dedham Monday.

He was nominated by George McDonald of Quincy. The nomination was seconded by James Collins of Milton, no relation to the former treasurer.

Abstaining was third commissioner David Ahearn, who had nominated Westwood town Treasurer John J. Cronin. All three county commissioners are Democrats.

The appointment of Raymondi came after Collins pleaded guilty to 69 counts of larceny, forgery and state tax evasion while he was in office. The 47-year-old Collins was sentenced to 9 to 15 years at MC Cedar Junction at Walpole.

"Mr. Collins would take anything that wasn't nailed down," Assistant Norfolk County Dist. Atty John P. Kivian said in asking Norfolk Superior Court Judge Roger J. Donahue for a 10-to-15-year sentence. "He's a monument to venality and greed. He's a monument to corruption."

The prison sentence, which for the remaining four years of Collins' six year term.

Raymondi, who practices law in Quincy told Quincy Sun Cable Ch. 8 in an interview that: "I had no idea this appointment was to happen. It gives me the opportunity and enormous challenge that I look forward to doing."

"My political background is getting things done. One of credibility and integrity. My professional life has been the same."

"I don't want to comment on the actions of Mr. Collins. I think it is unfortunate for him, his family, that this whole situation happened. It is also unfortunate for public officials of Norfolk County, for public officials in general. It casts a wide range of repercussions all across the

Foster Parents Urge Hike In State Aid

Foster parents in Quincy, Milton, and Randolph feel a need for higher state reimbursement rates, increased clothing allowances, and prompt medical benefits.

These findings were compiled from completed questionnaires in a survey made by the South Shore Council for Children's Needs Assessment Committee, to find out why there is a foster parent shortage in the Quincy area. As a follow-up to the report the council plans to advocate for positive changes in the foster care system.

The council is part of the citizen arm of the state Office for Children, responsible for assessing children's service needs in the area and advocating for resources where they are lacking.

By LINDA WILKENS
The city's Licensing Board held an informal hearing during its meeting Tuesday at City Hall to discuss proposed restaurant plans for Marina Bay in Squantum.

The Roman Gardens Cafe Corp., 653 Southern Artery,

Quincy, would like to open a restaurant specializing in Italian food on Victory Rd., which is located in Marina Bay. But board members expressed concern over parking and the need for water lines to the complex. The board also requested a master plan of Marina Bay from O'Connell Brothers, developers of the complex.

Building Inspector and board member Allan MacDonald said he has seen a model of the site but added that it keeps changing.

"It was my understanding that there was an agreement with Fire Chief Barry that no new places would be built there until the water situation was checked. We have an obligation to the City for orderly growth," MacDonald said. Retired Fire Chief Barry previously said that no more buildings should be erected at Marina Bay until the water line is looped.

Echoing MacDonald's sentiments, Police Chief and board member Francis Finn said the water situation was not adequate enough for any more licenses to be granted in that area. He added that acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti had said at previous meetings that it would be difficult to get water to Marina Bay if a fire broke out there.

"Chief Valenti was concerned about whether or not he could fight a fire over there," Finn said.

The proposed building the restaurant would be located in would be erected by The O.B.C. Corporation or B & M Trust and its overall motif would be consistent with other structures in the area. Atty. Richard W. Barry said in a letter to the board. Barry represents The Roman Gardens Cafe Corp. and Stacia Kelly, shareholder and manager, and Theresa Murphy, shareholder.

The letter said that the corporation would lease the property from a trust to be known as the B.M. Realty Trust which is not yet formed. Trustees of the trust will be Donald Brown and John Murphy. The trust will lease the site property from The Marina Bay Corp., owner of the property.

According to Brown, he and Murphy will invest with Marina Bay and lease the building to Roman Gardens as a restaurant.

The Roman Gardens Cafe Corp., Kelly, and Murphy are desirous of transferring the all-alcoholic common victualer license and all other licenses they presently hold to the proposed restaurant's location.

The building would consist of two floors with approximately 4500 square feet on each floor.

A restaurant on the first floor, with seating for 200 people, would feature Italian food and take-out service for boat owners. A full kitchen would also be located on this floor.

The second floor, with seating for 190 patrons, would also be a restaurant featuring Italian food, but would have a high quality menu. The kitchen on this floor would not be full, Brown said. He added that there would be no entertainment at the restaurant.

Atty. William F. Sullivan, of Barry, Masterson & Harrington law firm, was also present at the meeting.

NATURAL GAS THE MODERN ALTERNATIVE

Take a big load off

- Nothing dries clothes more economically than a natural gas dryer. Clean, efficient gas dries more loads than electric dryers do for the same cost.
- Nothing dries clothes faster than a natural gas dryer. It moves more warm air through the drying drum.
- A reliable gas dryer maintains its efficiency year after year. Your dryer lasts longer.

Washington Trip Helps Hospital Insurance Program

By LINDA WILKINS

Mayor Francis X. McCauley said his recent trip to Washington with Hospital Director Mark Mundy and City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie began to clear the way for activating solutions to problems that could affect Quincy City Hospital's application for the Federal Housing Administration (F.H.A.) insurance program.

The program would insure the city's loan for the expansion of the hospital.

McCauley said the group met with Ronald Alvarado, special assistant to President Reagan for inter-government affairs, who said he would do what he could to help the City.

"He said he'd talk to some of the groups involved; they're bouncing the ball back and forth right now," the mayor said.

Alvarado acts as a liaison between the President and the mayors of U.S. cities and towns. McCauley said Alvarado "understands the problems" and will deal with the proper agencies, which include Housing and Urban Development (H.U.D.), Health and Human Services (H.H.S.) and the Bureau of Budgeting.

The mayor said he is concerned that regulations for the F.H.A. Insurance Program have not been activated yet. Until they are put into effect, the City is not eligible for the insurance, he added.

McCauley also said a special legislative act has been introduced into congress by Congressmen Brian Donnelly, Joseph Moakley, and Barney Frank which requests that present regulations for private hospitals be utilized for Quincy City Hospital in the event the new rules and regulations are not put into effect in a reasonable amount of time.

GOOD SCOUT--Richard J. Koch Sr. is presented the James R. McIntyre Good Scout Award at annual holiday party at Granite Place, Quincy Center. It is presented each year to a public spirited individual in recognition of dedication to service and commitment to youth. ## Public Hearing Dec. 16 To Air Accessible Transportation Views

Quincy residents who do not have transportation because of a disability will have a chance to air their views on the problem at a public hearing Dec. 16 in Boston.

Kathie Webb, a wheelchair user from Quincy, told commission director Jason Schneider: "How can I work if there is no transportation? Here I live just outside of Boston, and I must get cabs or beg rides from friends everytime I want to go somewhere."

Schneider said Webb is just one of thousands of area residents who do not have transportation because of a physical, mental, or sensory impairment. The hearing is scheduled from noon to 4 p.m. at the State Transportation Building (conference rooms 2 and 3) at 10 Park Plaza.

Boy, 11, Struck By MBTA Train

Eric J. Whittaker, 11, of Quincy, remained in guarded condition at Quincy City Hospital Tuesday following three hours of surgery, after he was pinned against a passenger platform by a passing train at Wollaston MBTA station Monday night.

Police said the Whittaker boy, who lives at 109 Taffrail Rd., and his friend, Kenneth M. Dadman, 17, also of Taffrail Rd., were on their way home from a movie at about 9 p.m. and climbed over a chain-link fence bordering Newport Ave., to get into the station.

Quincy Detective Thomas Malvesti said Dadman was over the fence first and was already on the platform when he noticed a southbound train was a distance away outside the station.

Dadman saw that Whittaker had just managed to get over the fence and yelled, telling Whittaker to wait until the train left the station before crossing to the platform, Malvesti said.

Thinking Whittaker had heard him, Dadman walked down the platform.

Malvesti said he was unsure if Whittaker heard his friend or saw the train.

The train, which stopped about six feet into the station, trapped the boy's leg between it and the platform.

Passengers were kept in the train until rescue crews arrived.

Quincy Fire Capt. George McCray said the fire department's rescue team, Quincy Police Department members, and Bay State Ambulance Service medics worked together to free the boy.

With some men underneath the train, McCray said the Jaws of Life device was used to push the train a few inches away from the platform, giving the rescue team enough room to ease the boy out.

McCray said Whittaker remained conscious while crews freed him and put him in anti-shock equipment.

An MBTA spokesman said the accident disrupted train service for about 50 minutes.

For a portion of that time buses were used to transport passengers at Wollaston.

Beware Of Flim Flam Artists During Holidays

'Tis the season to be jolly, but also the time to beware of flim flam artists, warns the Quincy Police.

Members of reputable organizations will show some sort of valid ID, said Lt. Walter Lynch, and will have registered with the Police Department.

One woman reported that she was approached in the parking lot of Bradlee's, Quincy Ave., to contribute towards a Christmas dinner for needy children but believed it to be a scam.

She gave the man no money and reported the incident to the store manager. However, another woman in the parking lot apparently believed the man's story and gave him some money.

Some people's consciences bother them if they are suspicious of other people at this time of year, Lynch said.

But if a person is acting in a suspicious manner, use your common sense just as you would any other time of the year, he urged.

Seat Belt Check Added To Auto Inspection

State Registrar of Motor Vehicles Alan Mackey said motorists should begin checking their vehicles to insure the proper working order of seat belts.

As part of the mandatory seat belt law recently signed by the governor, all vehicles will be required to undergo a seat belt check as part of the annual vehicle inspection.

The law takes effect on Jan. 1, and requires operators and passengers to wear seat belts on state public ways. The fine for those not in compliance will be $15, and can only be given if the operator is stopped for an unrelated violation first. In addition, drivers will be responsible for all passengers under the age of 16.

Owners will be required to prepare their vehicles for the seat belt portion of the inspection. All belts must be easily accessible to the inspector, and those tucked behind the seats will not be his responsibility to remove.

$2,670 In Plumbing Fees

Plumbing and Gas Inspector James A. Erwin Jr., reports his department issued 104 plumbing permits for $1,870 in fees for the month of November.

Fight-eight permits were also issued for gas fittings. Total cost of these fees is $800.

Erwin reported his department made 156 plumbing inspections and 113 gas inspections.

ADS AND DISCLOSURE SURVEY

QUESTION: I understand the truth-in-lending law requires lenders to give customers a plain statement of credit charges involved in any transaction. Does this also apply to real estate advertising?

ANSWER: Yes it does! It has helped clear up many previous misunderstandings when advertisers would mention some, but not all of the financial costs of a property for sale. Remember when ads used to read like this: "FOR SALE - 3-bedroom home, only $60,000 with $6,000 down."

Now, if you advertise down payment, you must also state the monthly payment and the interest rate. Tell all or tell nothing!

TRUTH-IN-LENDING law requires specific dollar information when advertising property.

Good Signs For Signs

They talked about it for at least 15 years. Then, finally, they decided to do it. And did do it. At a cost of about $6.5 million.

And, then they hid it. Not completely hid it. But enough so that thousands of motorists coming from Boston on the Southeast Expressway or from the Dedham area on Rte. 128 can zoom right by it and not even know it's there.

That's the main entrance to the Burgin Parkway Extension — the strategic 1.2 mile highway which links Quincy Center with Routes 3 and 128 at Braintree and is seen as a tremendous future economic boost for the downtown area.

There are signs on Rte. 3 to let motorists coming from the south know they now have a direct roadway (the Burgin Parkway Extension) into Quincy off the South Quincy MBTA station ramp.

But, there are no such signs for motorists coming from the north on the expressway or from the west on Rte. 128.

But that oversight, apparently, is now going to be resolved.

Representatives of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association met with state and city officials the other day to make a case for the signs.

Senator Paul Harold and State DPW Association Commissioner Martha Reardon who got the group together, Richard Gilmartin, Manager of Systems Control for the Bureau of Transportation agreed that the signs are needed as did City Principal Planner Richard Meade.

Gilmartin said it might take until next spring to actually see the signs if they are approved. But, encouragingly, there was no indication of any problem getting approval.

Robert Colman of Colman's Sporting Goods store, pretty much summed up the feelings of fellow QCBPA members.

"To spend all that money to build the road and then not let people know where they can get on it, is ridiculous," he said.

He noted there are Quincy signs at Neponset Circle and Furnace Brook Parkway, but none say Quincy Center.

The signs for the Burgin Parkway Extension turnoff should read "Quincy Center" because that is now the main entrance to Quincy Center.

The discussion also turned to the need for Historic Quincy signs along the expressway, Routes 3 and 128.

To qualify for that type sign, it was pointed out, a community must draw at least 500,000 tourists a year.

But there are waivers to that rule and if Quincy can't count 500,000 tourist heads a year, a waiver will be sought.

Quincy, the group feels, has a strong case because of its rich history: birthplace of Presidents John and John Quincy Adams, and John Hancock, the Adams Mansion, site of the First Commercial Railway, the First Iron Works and other historic locations.

Both Reardon, who has deep, affectionate Quincy roots, and Harold think the historic Quincy signs are attainable.

Those signs would be as valuable as the Quincy Center signs for the Burgin Parkway Extension.

Thousands of tourists drive from the Boston area to Plymouth and the Cape without realizing that they could stop off to see Quincy's historic site.

The signs would help intercept them and bring more business into the city.

The meeting, you might say, had some good signs. Signs that something is going to be done about the need for Quincy signs.

SPEAKING OF The Burgin Parkway Extension, there was a sad note to the official opening ceremonies.

Former Mayor-Senator Thomas Burgin, for whom the roadway was named, could not attend because of illness.

Those close to him feel bad that he could not be there for that big day, but more so, because of the nature of his illness.

HINDSIGHT, they say, is wonderful. The Burgin Parkway Extension is now seen as a boon for Quincy Center.

Quincy could have had this link to Rtes. 3 and 128 nearly 30 years ago but it was opposed by some of the then "community leaders" who feared it would be a one way street to the South Shore Plaza.

Just like those who later opposed the MBTA (then the MTA) because they also felt it would send shoppers to Boston.

And then later those who flatly opposed parking garages because they would hinder the appearance of rear entrances to stores on the west side of Hancock St.

Some of those so-called leaders finally become followers — after setting the city back 30 years.

Concerned Over Quantum Development

Editor, The Quincy Sun: I dislike coming across an obstructionist when it comes to economic development, but I have many concerns over the very real adverse impact the Marina Bay condo plan will have not only on Squantum, but all of Quincy.

I had problems with the past two article entitled, "Concerns Raised But Condos Seen As 'No Adverse Impact'" (Quincy Sun, Nov. 14th) written by reporter Dan Connelly. The community is raising concerns and it is a company spokesman who downplays any negative impact. When Project Director Walter Hannon says the project will have no adverse impact on Squantum, he has a vested interest in saying that. What would one expect from someone representing the firm doing the building?

It is nice to know that Marina Bay is a great place to eye "the scenic skyline of Boston and the harbor" but what does that have to do with questions of increased traffic and sewerage use? I feel Hannon is way off base when he states that, "We are building on only 125 acres in a 440 acre site... There's so much open space, water and marsh that it decreases the appearance of density."

However, appearance is one thing, reality is another. Take a ride down East Squamont St., drive into Marina Bay, the density under Phase One is outrageous and just imagining Phase Two can only serve to intensify the reality of Marina Bay's close quarters. Perhaps a name change is in order, possibly "Sardina Bay."

I wonder why some 300 acres are being left undeveloped? Is it out of some environmental conservatory goal or is developing marsh land economically unfeasible? I have not heard anything about condos being a part of the ecological balance of nature.

Condos are the latest craze among the so-called YUPPIE generation. Quincy needs more affordable housing for poor, working and middle-class people. Not meeting the vast housing needs of the middle-class population in the City of Quincy creates the potential of a community of extremes, public housing and condos.

If that is the future of Quincy, then Quincy's future is behind us. Unless Quincy makes a commitment to remain a city for people across the economic spectrum, it will have no future. It will become the South Shore's rendition of Boston's West End fiasco of the 1950's.

Thanksgiving Dinner Help

Editor, The Quincy Sun: This past Thanksgiving, a special tradition that has taken place for the last 13 years, took place once again at Montello's in Quincy Point.

The Mayor's Annual Thanksgiving Dinner for the Elderly attracted more than 150 Quincy senior citizens for a special holiday feast.

But, what made the dinner special was the fact that 40 volunteers gave up most of their day to set tables, serve the meal, clean the tables and wash the dishes. All those volunteers deserve a pat on the back for making Thanksgiving Day very meaningful to those who might otherwise have spent their holiday alone.

$40,000 Grant To Help Restore Main Library

By LINDA WILKINS

Quincy's Thomas Crane Public Library has been assured of $40,000 in funds from the state which will aid in the restoration of the main library.

At ceremonies Monday, City and State officials looked on as Deputy Secretary of State James W. Igoe made the formal announcement on the steps of the library which is located in Quincy Center. The notice of award was issued by Massachusetts Secretary of State Michael J. Connolly, Chairman of the Massachusetts Historical Commission.

The grant was awarded to the library as part of the "Massachusetts Preservation Projects Fund," a $640,000 state grants program administered through Connolly's office. Quincy's project was one of 20 projects in a field of 41 applicants.

The total project budget will be $138,000 with an additional $69,000 budgeted from the Federal Jobs Bill Program and $29,000 from the City's Community Development Block Grant Program.

The grant money will mainly affect the original Richardson building, said State Senator Paul Harold of Quincy.

According to Elsa Fitzgerald, Assistant Director of the Massachusetts Historical Commission (MHC), the money will be used for roofing and flashing repairs, masonry repointing, and waterproofing.

"It all has to do with waterproofing and sealing up the building," said Warren E. Watson, Director of Libraries. Watson added that various gutters on the building will be replaced or repaired. "It's amazing how many sources of problems there are," he said.

The Crane Library, which is listed on the National Register of Historic Places, was designed by architect Henry Hobson Richardson in the Romanesque style. Ground was broken for the project in September of 1880 and the project was completed in 1882 and dedicated in the memory of Thomas Crane, a long-time resident of Quincy who prospered by dealing in Quincy granite.

In 1908, an addition which matched Richardson's design in scale, materials and detailing, was made to the rear of the library by architect William M. Aiken, who worked in Richardson's office. And in 1939, the Albert Crane Memorial Wing was built to the southwest with funds provided by the estate of Albert Crane, son of Thomas Crane, and augmented by the Federal Works Projects Administration grant.

Some selected work will also be done on other sections of the library, Watson said.

The City has also applied for $95,000 for the Fiscal Year 1987 grant cycle. If approved, that grant would be used to repair the library's windows and doors, said Assistant Planner Elizabeth A. McElaney of the city's Department of Planning and Community Development. "This is only the beginning of the preservation work that needs to be done," she said of the restoration project which is scheduled to begin in the spring.

"Extensive work needs to be done, especially in the areas of windows and roofing," said Mayor Francis X. McCauley. "We've got additional work over there to do, those buildings are older, they're classics."

Those present at the ceremony included the mayor, Watson, Representative Thomas Brownell, Representative Michael Morrissey, City Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro representing Representative Robert Cerasoli, members of the library's Board of Trustees, and representatives of Secretary of State Connolly's office, the MHC, and the city's Department of Planning & Community Development.

AAA Urges Shoppers, Motorists, Use Caution

Quincy residents are warned that Christmas shopping and heavy holiday traffic are a dangerous combination at this time of the holiday season.

According to Caroline J. Hymoff, Manager of Safety

Services for the American Automobile Association, rushed and distracted shoppers in busy downtown areas and at shopping center and mall parking lots create special traffic safety hazards during the days before Christmas. To avoid problems, AAA offers the following tips for holiday shoppers:

Avoid window shopping when behind the wheel of your car, no matter how festive the displays and shop windows.

Don't pile Christmas packages so high in the back seat of your car that the rear view window is blocked.

Remain alert for traffic lights. Don't mistake brightly colored Christmas lights for traffic lights.

Watch out for bundle-loaded pedestrians. Many shoppers are so loaded down with packages that their vision is obscured when they cross the street.

Plan your shopping trip so that you can avoid last-minute rushing if possible. Hurry and carelessness go hand-in-hand.

Influenza Alert To Senior Citizens

The Norfolk County-Norfolk Lung Association is alerting Quincy senior citizens to the dangers of pneumonia and influenza.

Dr. Irving W. Bailit, medical advisor of the association calls pneumonia and influenza "underestimated killers," and said the lung association urges those at risk to protect themselves through immunization.

It is recommending vaccinations against pneumonia for adults 65 years and older; for adults and children with chronic illnesses like lung, heart, Hodgkin's, liver, and kidney diseases, alcoholism, and other ailments that increase the risk of pneumonia.

The association has available a fact folder. To receive this or other information call 668-6729 or write "FLU," Norfolk County-Norfolk Lung

A Sugary, sweet foods, such as cake, candy, pastry and soda pop, coat your teeth with a sticky, nearly invisible substance called plaque. Naturally occurring oral bacteria uses the sugars in the plaque to form acids that attack the normal surface of your teeth up to 30 minutes after eating. The end result is a cavity!

To prevent gum disease and cavities, eat a well-balanced diet, choosing foods from all four food groups, occasionally eating sweets, but only with your meals.

Replace those sugary, high-calorie desserts and snacks with fresh, natural foods, such as raw fruits and vegetables, nuts, lean meats, hard-boiled eggs or whole-wheat crackers. Just think, not only will you be saving your teeth, but your waistline as well!

Vo Family Says 'Thank You' In Special Way

By DAN CONNELLY

"This was a kind of living sermon. An American dream come true for the Dzung Viet Vo family who came to Quincy 10 years ago with nothing and have made a life for themselves."

These words by Bethany Congregational Church Minister J. William Arnold, expressed his, and his congregations' sentiments toward the Vo family who observed the 10th anniversary of its arrival from Vietnam to Quincy by cooking a thank-you meal Sunday for the sponsoring congregation. Sunday was the exact anniversary date.

A 10th anniversary engraved commemorative Revere bowl was presented to the Vo family at the morning service by Bethany Church Moderator Louise Forsyth in behalf of the congregation.

Family members prepared a lunch for about 200—egg rolls, fried rice, shrimp chips, and Vietnamese chicken salad.

"When somebody does something for you, you can never repay it, but you can show some gratitude," said Dzung Viet Vo, the father. "A friend in need is a friend indeed."

Vo was one of the last refugees to leave Vietnam. At age 45, he thought he was Today Vo is employed in the Polaroid research department. Their five children are Kim, a nurse at Quincy City Hospital; Sung, a student at Quincy Junior College; Mary, 14 and John, who at-success. This too won our respect and admiration. Our concern for other persons came out of the Christian faith of Bethany parishioners who at that time wanted to help people from Vietnam.

"In essence their life here in Quincy has been a living sermon of living out love which affects a positive way of life and that is what faith is all about," Rev. Arnold added.

'We Consider Ourselves Among The Fortunate'

By DZUNG V. VO

Ten years ago, as immigrants from a Far East country, we came to settle in Quincy under the sponsorship of Bethany Congregational Church of Quincy.

It was on a rainy night, Dec. 8, 1975 that we landed at Logan Airport and were greeted by a delegation of the Church headed by the Reverend John D. Banks. We were seven frightened in the family, two adults and five children. This warm welcoming scene brought to us much comfort and made us leave our recent ordeals behind.

For those who don't know our story, here it is in brief:

We came from Vietnam, an Asian country in war with the communist-backed rebels for nearly three decades. While these rebels were backed by Russia and by China, we had for allies the United States and the free world who helped us in our fight for freedom. But, all of a sudden, unable to cope with their politics and internal difficulties, our allies retracted the support, thus allowing our country to fall into communist hands. April 30, 1975. As an official for the former regime and fearing of reprisals, I took my family to a fishing boat and fled to Thailand. After a stay of 6 months in a Thai refugee camp, we were allowed to immigrate to the United States and were sponsored to Quincy by the Bethany Church.

We always consider ourselves among the fortunate ones, because our relatives and friends and our 50 million countrymen that we left behind are now enduring the most inhuman slavery in modern history. The officials and army men of the former Republic of Vietnam were sent to thousands of camps that they deceitfully named "reeducation camps." Actually, they were forced labor camps where communist jailers let the prisoners die of exhaustion, from forced labor, of starvation, and of lack of medical care. And they are kept there for an undetermined number of years without any judgement or any sentences. Hundreds of thousands of them have died of this ill-treatment while the free world, our former allies, look ashamedly away!

The civilian people are no better off! They are in need of everything even the most basic necessities as rice, medicine and clothing. The nation's efforts and dying economy are used to nourish another lengthy war to conquer neighboring Cambodia.

Back to our story. We came to live in a house that the wonderful people of the Church had put in money and time to make liveable. This house has been torn down since and an office building built in its place. But every time that we pass by there, we cannot help but think about the charity and God's love that motivated Bethany's people to do so. We also knew that in order to provide for our needs for the first 3 months, the congregation had donated money, foods, furnishings, utensils, much clothing and lots more. A big thanks for all of you. You wanted to be incognito but the Lord knows and may He bless you all.

Now, I think that I owe you a brief account of how well we are doing. We first tried to put our life back together and then adjust ourselves to our new environment and new culture. We almost succeeded.

We both work, my wife as a clerk for New England Life Insurance in Boston, and I've been working for Polaroid for eight years now. The children are doing well in school: John and Mary are in Quincy High, while Elizabeth, who was 3 years old when we came in is in Central Middle School, Quincy.

You might meet my older daughter Kim, who is a nurse for Quincy City Hospital. My other son is working a part time job while continuing his education with Quincy Junior College. The family now lives in a different house at 155 Quincy Street in Quincy.

That was our brief story. We realize that God always keeps us in His tender care and guides us to know such wonderful people as you.

On this occasion of our 10th anniversary in Quincy, we would like to thank all of the people in the Bethany Congregation who, directly or indirectly, contributed to our settling here. We want to meet you all again and our family wants to prepare a special luncheon to which you are all invited. Please come. We look forward to meeting you there.

Time Running Out To Nominate 'Citizen Of The Year'

You have only one more week to nominate someone for The Quincy Sun's first "Citizen Of The Year" award.

The award will be presented to a person for outstanding community service or for an outstanding achievement.

Nomination deadline is Thursday, Dec. 19 at 5 p.m.

A nomination ballot to help the selection process appears on this page.

A number of nominations have already been submitted and more are coming in each day.

But perhaps you have a person in mind who has not yet been nominated and should be.

If you have someone you would like to see recognized with this award, fill out the ballot and mail to: Citizen Of The Year, The Quincy Sun, 1372 Hancock St., Quincy, Ma. 02169.

Or, drop it off at The Sun office in Quincy Sq.

Although other organizations recognize outstanding individuals, The Quincy Sun "Citizen Of The Year" award will be unique in that the public is being invited to help make the selection of the recipient by submitting nominations.

The winner will be selected from among the nominees submitted by our readers.

This year's award and those in the future will go to a person - man or woman - who has contributed outstanding service in the community or who has attained an outstanding achievement.

It could be someone in elective office, a member of an appointed board, a member of the clergy, a teacher or principal, a police officer or firefighter, a business community member, someone who has given freely of his or her time in a worthy cause or project or has reached an outstanding accomplishment.

The person we are looking for is one who, through his or her dedication and service, has made Quincy a better community for it or someone's life better for it.

Or a person who has made a major mark for which Quincy is proud of him or her.

The total number of nominations any one person receives will not necessarily make that person the automatic winner of the award.

It will be what a nominee has done that counts. This is not a popularity contest.

Here is the opportunity for you to voice your opinion as to who is Quincy's "Citizen of The Year."

The winner will be announced in January.

Remember, Thursday, Dec. 19 at 5 p.m. is the absolute deadline to make your nomination.

To All Property Owners — Public Hearing Notice VERY IMPORTANT!! PLAN TO ATTEND!!

You have a right to speak or to sign your name in opposition to this undesirable zoning change in Residences "B" and "C".

The City Council will hold a public hearing this coming Monday evening December 16, at 6:45 p.m. in the Council Chamber, Quincy City Hall, to vote on this drastic change in the density section of the zoning classification in Residences "B" and "C".

That's the principal classification most of the small apartments are listed under.

Those are the only areas being built on now by either removing existing buildings or clearing formerly cast off or marginal lands for the construction of small, low profile, no frills buildings in the lowest price field the working class can afford.

If you can't attend the meeting, please write to the City Councillors and ask them to vote against the change. Ask others who might also own property, as they are bound to be affected in time.

The builders have even offered a compromise to the public official sponsors.

Very truly yours,

QUINCY APARTMENT HOUSE OWNERS ASSOCIATION

Roger B. Lyons

Koch Club Christmas Workshop Activities Underway

The Koch Club Christmas Charitable Committee will conduct its annual series of holiday workshops to refurbish, clean and prepare used toys for distribution to church, community, health and social service agencies. The agencies serve needy families in the Boston area primarily in the Chinatown, South End and Roxbury sections as well as those in the Cambridge area.

The program was initiated in 1971 when a Pre-Christmas fire left several hundred families in the Uphams Corner area of Boston homeless and the Koch Club responded with 300 gifts.

In the past 13 years, the project was expanded and a total of 20,000 toys were provided for children in Boston. Thousands of articles of good used clothing, shoes, boots and coats have also been collected and items distributed to the needy throughout the year.

Over 1000 used toys have been received to date from families and individuals from Quincy and neighboring communities. Other annual participants in the program include students from Sacred Heart School, North Quincy High School Honor Society, Francis W. Parker School, St. Joseph's School, First Baptist Church Sunday School of Wollaston, the North Quincy Catholic Women's Club, the Koch Club Districts and Units as well as families and individuals who are part of the holiday project.

Donations of food and funds for turkeys have been sent by organizations, families and individuals who wish to remain anonymous but each year are part of the coordinated efforts.

The Woodward School For Girls each year wraps over 350 gifts. It provides the paper and time to make the gifts more enjoyable.

New gifts for children in the Quincy area are channeled through the Catholic Charitable Bureau, Mass. Department of Social Services, Atlantic Neighborhood Association, Southwest Community Action Program, St. Vincent DePaul, St. Chrysostom's and a number of other agencies.

The Koch Club Christmas Charitable Committee can only be as generous in helping others as the response and cooperation received from the many organizations, families and individuals who each year assist the organization in its effort to reach out to others.

Hanging Of Greens At Bethany Church Sunday

The hanging of the greens will take place in Bethany Congregational Church, Coddington and Spears Sts., Quincy Center, at the opening of the 10 a.m. service, the third Sunday in Advent.

The sanctuary windows will be decorated with large evergreen branches and candles. Gerard Capobianchi and Richard Carr will hang the greens which will be brought to them by children of the Church School: Janette Archer, Keith Briggs, Ann Buckmann, Lisa Chenette, Wendy Eng, Steven Fernald, Curt Gifford, Jennifer Foley, Eric Luechte, and Kristina Massey.

During the ceremony the congregation will sing Christmas carols. Preceding the greening, the senior minister, Rev. J. William Arnold, will give a brief commentary concerning this Advent tradition.

The Advent wreath candle-lighting ceremony will be led by Kerry Gruner and her children, Michael and Stacey, and by Barbara Stuart, and her daughter, Heather.

The Chancel Choir, under the direction of Peter Krasinski, organist, will sing as the offertory. "Sleepers, Wake!" by Mendelssohn, and as the second anthem, "Angels We Have Heard On High," by Snow.

Pastor Arnold will preach the sermon entitled, "Fragile," at both the 9 a.m. chapel service and at the 10 a.m. sanctuary service.

Lay scripture readers will be Robert Lockwood at the early service and Alfred Toy at the later service. The Rev. Joel F. Huntington, associate minister, will serve as liturgist at both services.

Children of the church school will attend the first portion of the 10 a.m. service after which the pupils will go to their classes. A nursery is provided for babies and toddlers, under the supervision of Allana O'Shea, Bethany's early childhood coordinator.

The worship service will be broadcast "live" over station WJDA, 1300 kc, at 10 a.m.

At 11 a.m. there will be a fellowship hour in the Allen Parlor. Light refreshments will be served. Individuals and families from the community are welcome to come and share in the worship and fellowship, and to enroll children in the Sunday School.

A group of persons will be going to the Norfolk County Hospital to sing carols and meet patients on the wards, Sunday, Dec. 15, at 7 p.m. Persons who would like to go along and sing and share in this special ministry are invited to meet at Bethany Church at 6 p.m. for a brief warm-up and for pooled transportation.

A Christmas party sponsored by the Mother's Club for children in nursery through 6th grade will be held in the Allen Parlor Sat., Dec. 17, from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m.

For information about Bethany and any of its ministries and programs, contact the church office, 479-7300.

'Hail Mary' Discussed At First Church Of Squantum

"Hail Mary, Full of Grace" was the title of the sermon preached Sunday morning at the second service of the First Church of Squantum by the pastor, The Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin. The text was, "Blessed are you among women and blessed is the fruit of your womb!" (Luke 1:28)

In his sermon Dr. Langevin discussed the recent controversy in Boston and Cambridge over the showing of a French film entitled, "Hail Mary." He also explained the different ways in which Christians through the ages have regarded Mary and affirmed the high esteem with which Protestants regard her today.

Elizabeth Gustin and Michael Thornton assisted the pastor in the lighting of the second candle in the Advent wreath.

The Chancel Choir sang John Stainer's "How Beautiful Upon the Mountains" as the offertory anthem.

Mary Ruth Scott directed.

Carols sung during the service included "As With Gladness Men of Old," "Silent Night," "Lo, How A Rose E'er Blooming," "Bring a Torch, Jeannette, Isabella" and "Angels We Have Heard on High."

Pat and Henry Sorensen and their daughter Karen were the greeters for the service. Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott were the ushers and Shirley Mason and Lee Sindelar were in charge of the Fellowship Hour after church.

During the earlier service, Dr. Langevin preached about "The Coming of Jesus," Marci Hurd and Lori Ogilvie were ushers.

Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, the church will sponsor a Nativity Pageant at 7 p.m. during the family service. At 11 p.m. the annual Christmas Eve Candlelight Service will be held. Worshipers are invited to bring bells with them to church that night to ring during the singing of the carols.

The Baby Jesus Birthday Party will be held for Sunday School children Sunday, Dec. 22, at 9:30 a.m.

There will be a Christmas Breakfast for everyone Sunday, Dec. 22, at 9:15 a.m. There will be one worship service for all that morning at 10:30 a.m. with four choirs and a chancel decorated with candles and poinsettias. Helen Miller, Chairman of the Flower Committee, asks that everyone purchasing a poinsettia this year leave the plant in the sanctuary until after the second Christmas Eve service, if possible, so that everyone can enjoy them on both Sunday morning and on Christmas Eve.

This Sunday, Dec. 15, there will be two services at the church: the guitar service at 8:30 a.m. and the traditional service at 10:30 a.m. It will be the third Sunday in Advent.

Sunday Worship At Bethany Begins Live Over WJDA Dec. 15

Future Sunday worship services at Bethany Congregational Church, Quincy, will be aired live over radio station WJDA at 10 a.m. beginning Dec. 15.

In past years that religious service has been taped and then played one hour later. By mutual agreement between the South Shore Radio Station and Bethany Church the broadcasts will now be aired directly from the sanctuary.

Senior Minister J. William Arnold said, "This is the 24th year of the Bethany broadcasts and we are grateful for the cooperation and spirit which exists between Quincy radio station WJDA and our congregation."

"This broadcast provides a very significant and vital ministry to many confined members and friends of the church who can thereby keep in contact with Bethany, as well as to a listening audience numbering in the thousands from southern Maine to Cape Cod and the Islands."

Students Report

A Busy Fall At Sacred Heart School

By MARY DRISCOLL and AMY KREUZ

This fall, here at Sacred Heart, the students have been working hard to get this year off to a great start.

We couldn't have done it without the strong support of our pastor, Father Cornelius Hery, our principal, Sister Ann Marie, and our teachers and staff. These past months, our school has participated in many events and we would like to share a few with you.

The month of October was a busy month for both students and staff at Sacred Heart School, North Quincy. To start off, Grades 2-8 took their standardized achievement tests. The students patiently await the results. During Fire Prevention Week, Grades 1 and 2 took a tour of Engine 7 with the help of North Quincy's own firemen. Grade 4 studied Quincy's Past in depth. At Thompson's Island Grade 6 explored the island and look forward to a return in the spring. Sister Mary Corcoran, a superb music supervisor, kept the students on tone. To end our busy month of October our students generously gave and sacrificed on World Food Day.

This past month of November has surely been a time to give thanks. We are very fortunate to have such caring parents to volunteer for the Parents for Art Program. They have given us the opportunity to appreciate the fine art of sculpture and modern art. Representatives from St. Margaret's Hospital visited Sacred Heart for a talk on human sexuality. Grades 1-8 took part in this Family Life Program.

The chilly month of December promises to be activity filled.

May you have a blessed Christmas and a Happy New Year!

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

D. Scott Deware

Franz Gruber had hoped the old church organ would hold out at least until Christmas, but the mice had eaten at the bellows too long. Father Josef Mohr, the parish priest, told Gruber, "We must have something special for midnight Mass."

Two days before Christmas Father Mohr was called to administer the last sacraments of the church to a dying man. On his journey home through the peaceful countryside the thought of Christmas came upon him. He began to think of that first Christmas night — "It was a quiet night — much like this one," he thought. "It was a holy and silent night." Before he knew it, angels voices were singing in his head. Powerfully affected, he hurried home and began to write. He wrote all evening. The next morning he took the verses he had written to Franz Gruber. Gruber instinctively began to hear a melody in his head. The inspiration was so great that he immediately wrote the melody which we are all so familiar with today. That night Gruber brought his guitar to the midnight Mass and gently strummed the immortal "Silent Night" as Father Mohr sang. The people were so awed with the beauty of the new song that many of them sat with tears streaming down their faces. Each person in church that night carried the beautiful words home in his heart and from that time on the words have been instilled in almost everyone's heart until this very day....

Respite Care Center Offers Home-Like Service

A home-away-from-home is the concept of a new respite center that recently opened its doors at 549 Columbian St., South Weymouth.

According to owner Ginny Hutchins, her 'Maison Sans Souci' (home without worry) is a non-institutional concept to provide a comfortable temporary home-like atmosphere for up to 50 persons on a daily basis who are either elderly, dependent on walkers or cane, or not developmentally handicapped.

"The center also fills a gap for people to socialize. But, who, because of economic reasons, are home alone because those who care for them are working," Hutchins said.

The center, which does not provide daily transportation to and from the respite center, features a study area, indoor miniature bowling and cards. Meals are catered.

Located near South Shore

Hospital the center is professionally staffed.

Hutchins is no novice to this type of commercial caring. She is the owner of Ginny's Home and Health Services, Inc., of Quincy, established in 1974 to provide in-home care.

Of this service Hutchins said: "We all know how nice it is to enjoy the comforts and security of our own home and this is especially true after one has been ill in the hospital. Often times people are sent to nursing homes when all they need is help for a few hours a day or overnight for a period of time. It is not our intention to replace qualified medical professionals, but to help them with cases that do not require their services."

The care givers for the home and health program range in age from 25 and older, most of whom drive their own cars. The service, besides providing home health aides, has homemakers, companions, house sitting, and child and pet care for vacationing parents.

Those wishing further

Raymondi Pledges To Restore Credibility

county and the commonwealth."

Raymondi added that "every county office I know works to 4:30 p.m. The county treasurers office was working to 4. I extended their hours to 4:30 to conform with every other office in the county."

"The door to the treasurers office was a wooden one unlike the glass door that you have here at the Quincy Sun newspaper office. Wood is like a wall. I ordered the wood structure replaced with glass to make that office more visible to the public and the media. In other words I am going to be very open and accessible."

"Right now a vast majority of money is invested in Boston banks. For what reason I don't know. But I am in the process of conducting an evaluation to see who those banks are and how much money is there. Some Boston banks may generate more money in investments. But something has to be said for investing in Norfolk County. Investing in banks locally promotes employment in Quincy and provides more revenue for homes and construction. My position is for monies from Boston banks to run out to Norfolk County institutions.

Raymondi was born in Quincy and was a 1965 graduate of Quincy High School, where he played football, basketball and baseball. He received his bachelor's degree from Holy Cross College and a law degree from Boston College.

He served on the Quincy City Council from 1976 to 1982 and Quincy School Committee from 1972 to 1976. He ran unsuccessfully for mayor of Quincy in 1981.

Raymondi who is well-rounded with a background in law, accounting and being politically oriented had months ago begun his political plans to run for Norfolk County Treasurer.

The case against Collins began in 1984 amidst charges of improprieties in both the treasurer's office and the county retirement board.

Dist. Atty. William Delahunt sought and received the cooperation of the state revenue department's Bureau of Accounts, which oversees certain county financial and personnel operations.

The investigation later involved the revenue's Criminal Investigations Bureau, which probes tax evasion, and finally the Office of Internal Affairs, which investigates improprieties in dealing with the department of revenue staff.

Collins still faces a number of charges for other alleged financial abuses in Berkshire County.

4 Arrested In Drug Raid

Four men were arrested during a drug raid at a Quincy motel, which netted police an estimated $15,000 to $20,000 in heroin, several thousand dollars in cash as well as paraphernalia and records.

Arrested during the raid early last Wednesday were Mehdi D. Roohi, 24, a native of Iran, who gave his address as the Presidents City Motel; Simon Lee, 23, a Hong Kong native, 156 Farrington St., Quincy; Minh Tan Huynh, 24, a Vietnam native, 494 Tremont St., Boston.

They were charged with possession of a Class A substance, heroin, with intent to distribute, according to police.

Also arrested was Vincent

Mazzoni, 40, of 43 Orchard St., Medford, who said he was born in Italy. He was charged with possession of a Class B substance, cocaine, and conspiracy to violate the narcotic drug law, Rowell said.

At the arraignment in Quincy District Court, Mazzoni and Huynh were released on personal recognizance for a court appearance later this month. Lee failed to appear and Rooki was held on a parole violation, police said.

According to Rowell, Mazzoni called the motel while the other men were being arrested. Police then awaited his arrival and he was arrested two hours later.

The Quincy Police Drug Unit, assisted by other agencies, had had the men under surveillance for a period of time, Rowell said. Det. Robert Crowley obtained the search warrant. Det. Ernest Lijoi also put a lot of work on the investigation, according to Rowell.

Rowell said that among the items found in the room were a bullet proof vest made in the Peoples Republic of China.

Rowell added that some printed material and records seized indicated there may be international ramifications with the drugs.

He also said that other evidence may indicate that the men had more than a passing contact with radical groups.

Japanese Educators Visit Central

Twenty-five Japanese educators recently visited the middle schools in Quincy.

Two groups of eight educators spent two days at Central Middle School. One member in each group served as a translator. The group included teachers, head teachers, consultants and principals selected from the whole country of Japan to visit middle schools in Quincy, Ma., and Seattle, Wash.

On both days the groups were split so that one interpreter from the Japanese Department of Education could translate and a mother of two Central students, Hiroko Anderlionis, served as translator to the second group of four educators. Serving as guides were Elizabeth Vo and Destine Ryan, John Porcaro and Kerry DesRoche. Hosting the coffee hours and the luncheons were Crystal Moffett, Dora Tsang and Eric Fagerlund.

Each day was devoted to classroom visitations and open discussions with Principal Louis DiMartinis, Assistant Principal Elizabeth Bostrom and Head Counselor Mary Catherine Iannoni.

During one time slot two of the guests donned football jerseys, removed their shoes and socks, and gave the students a Judo and Karate demonstration in the gym. Gifts to the schools were exchanged and mementoes to the guides and hosts were Japanese jewelry, art pieces and hand calculators.

The mutual exchange of information provided an excitement for the Central students and the teaching staff. Coordination of the two day visit was arranged by Miss Catherine Iannoni.

Mrs. Anderlionis is the mother of Anthony and Vincent Anderlionis.

Ground Round To North Weymouth

The North Quincy corporate headquarters of Ground Round will move that facility early in 1986 to Stetson Place, a new renovated office building in Weymouth.

Ground Round is a subsidiary of Imperial Group Ltd., a British firm that retained the chain when it sold Ground Round's parent company, Howard Johnson, to Marriott Corp. last month.

"The move from our present offices in North Quincy was made necessary in part because of the sale, but we also plan to expand our operation," said Franz VonUlm, vice president of marketing. "About 40 to 60 employees will move into Stetson Place in March, but we anticipate increasing the headquarters staff to 90 or 100 people."

Concerned Citizens Of Quincy

People Who Live In Residence 'B' and Residence 'C' Areas

HELP

On December 16, 1985 the Quincy City Council will vote on three proposed zoning changes. These zoning changes will devalue and reduce the value of your home and property.

Example #1 If you live in a Residence 'B' area now and you have 10,000 sq. ft. lot area, under the present zoning you can legally build a five unit building or covert your home into 1-5 apartment units for rental income! Under the new proposed change in Residence 'B' you would only be able to put 1-3 units on your property. That is definitely a devaluation of your property and home.

Example #2 If you live in Residence 'C' area and you have 10,000 sq. ft. lot area you can legally put ten units of apartment type living under the present zoning. The new proposed change in Residence 'C' you would only be able to put six units on your property, that also is definitely a devaluation of your home and property.

If You Are Concerned About Your Property please come to the City Council meeting on December 16, 1985 at Quincy City Hall 6:30 p.m. Sharp.

Getting Your Best Photos For Christmas

By GEORGE RICCIO

Christmas is the one day that draws families and friends together, probably more than any other holiday during the year.

The job and the magic of the Christmas season gives each of us memories that we cherish for a long time.

According to recent figures, more and more of those memories are being recorded on film and videotape than ever before. From the most casual picture-taker to the most ardent professional, people just love to get behind the camera and capture those special moments: the family decorating the tree, the kids opening their gifts, Grandpa snoozing on the couch after dinner.

How many times, though, have we been disappointed when we get our pictures back from the lab and find out the flash didn't go off when we thought it did, or Uncle Joe got cut out of the picture, even though he was in the view finder. With a little common sense and a whole lot of care, your holiday photography can produce some pleasing results.

First, check those batteries in your camera and/or flash. They may have been fresh a month ago but usage and storage conditions can have an adverse effect on them. Worn batteries are the number one headache for most photographers.

Next, read the instruction booklets that came with your equipment. Do you really know what all those dials and buttons are for? Even the simplest camera can be perplexing when you don't know how to turn it on in the first place.

One of the more common problems in photography is a phenomenon called "red eye." Basically, red eye occurs when a flash is used directly on the camera, over the lens. The reflection of the flash is captured in the subject's eyes as a red dot. To avoid this, the flash should be taken off and placed to one side of the camera. If this is not possible, have the subject look away from the camera, slightly to the side.

Another problem that can occur is "washing out" a subject by getting too close with a flash unit. Being anywhere between five and ten feet away from your subject is usually a safe distance to photograph them without having to worry about overexposing them. Remember, it is always a temptation to move in and get a close-up of your subject but the results are always less than satisfactory.

Finally, when composing your picture, check to see that heads, feet and shoulders are well within the viewfinder. Sometimes, what you see isn't what you get. Back off when shooting large groups of people so you are sure that everyone will be in the picture. Now, hold the camera steady to avoid the shakes that would cause blurriness in your prints.

Got it? Read your booklet, check your batteries, take that extra time to compose your shot and hold it steady. Last, and most importantly, have a very Merry Christmas.

Nativity Pageant At First Parish Church

The Christmas Festival Committee sponsored by the Quincy Center and Business Professional Association and City of Quincy completed its series of activities for the season Sunday with the most solemn of events, the annual Christmas Pageant in scripture and song at the Church of the Presidents in Quincy Center.

Rev. Cynthia Edson, minister of the church, welcomed the gathering on behalf of the church membership and explained the Christmas in the Victorian period previous to the puritans.

The Sacred Heart Youth Choir of North Quincy presented musical selections including "The King of Glory," "Come Thou Long Expected Savior" and "Children Run Joyfully," while scripture readings were offered by Rev. Charles Higgins, Associate Pastor of Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy.

The first and second graders of Sacred Heart School combined in the Christmas Carol Silent Night.

Following the placing of the Christ Child, the participants attended a reception of light refreshments in the conference room of the New City Hall.

Kevin McMasters provided the musical accompaniment for the program while Mrs. Zoa O'Hearn directed the choir.

Richard J. Koch was the Christmas Festival committee member coordinating the program and was assisted by Rev. Charles Higgins, General Chairman George White, Robert Noble, Gloria Noble, Agnes Trillcott, Frances Flynn, and Thomas Barry.

Rev. Charles Higgins prepared the program for the Nativity Pageant originated by the late Rev. Thomas Garrett.

House Approves Consumer Utility Board

Despite strong opposition from utilities, the State House of Representatives has approved a measure giving gas, electric, and telephone consumers a strong, organized voice on utility rate and policy issues. The vote marks the first time that a Consumer Utility Board (CUB) has passed the House in the eight year history of the legislation.

"Without question, this is one of the most important pro-consumer bills before the House this year," said sponsor Rep. Thomas F. Brownell (D-Quincy). "CUB will finally give consumers the same clout as utilities in rate case hearings."

The legislation would create a non-profit organization to represent residential utility customers before the Department of Public Utilities (DPU), the legislature and the courts. Ratepayers would receive an enclosure in their utility bill from CUB asking them to join the organization for a voluntary contribution of $6 (one dollar for low income consumers).

After three hours of heated debate, the measure was passed by the full House. Opponents of the bill made repeated attempts to amend and weaken the legislation.

Move For Burgin Signs

erous historic sites including the birthplaces of two presidents, Presidents John and John Quincy Adams, the Quincy ironworks, the granite railway, the Adams Mansion, in which generations of the Adams family lived and which served as the Summer White House for two Presidents.

"We have so much history here," said Bosworth. "I think we should qualify for the signs and should make an effort to get them."

Harold said that if the historic signs are approved leading to the Burgin Parkway Extension, the Quincy Historic Trail could be realigned to coincide with that.

He said he would talk with the Quincy Tourism Association and ask its representatives to attend the January meeting.

Gilmartin suggested that Michael Myer, Undersecretary of Transportation, also attend the meeting.

Reardon also suggested that the group enlist the aid of Kitty Dukakis, wife of the governor, since she has been involved in similar projects.

QUINCY BUILDERS AND BUSINESSMENS ASSOCIATION

406 Willard Street
Quincy, MA 02169

Dear City Councilor:

We the builders and businessmen of Quincy are very concerned about the proposed zoning changes that have been presented to the City Planning Board and the City Council by Mayor McCauley.

The Planning Board recommended that the changes be approved as presented:

1. Residence 'B' areas changed from 2,000 Sq. Ft. density to 3,000 Sq. Ft. per unit density.
2. Residence 'C' areas changed from 1,000 Sq. Ft. density to 1,250 Sq. Ft. per unit density.
3. Parking from 1.50 per unit to 1.75 per unit.

The Builders and Businessmen Association are proposing the following compromise:

1. Residence 'B' change to 2,250 Sq. Ft. or 2,500 Sq. Ft. per unit density.
2. Residence 'C' leave at 1,000 Sq. Ft. per unit density.
3. Parking we will go along with the new proposed 1.75 per unit.
4. We would like to add changing P.U.D. from 250 Sq. Ft. per unit density to 1,000 Sq. Ft. per unit density.

We feel this last change is a big compromise on our part.

Thank you for your consideration,

Franceschini Optimistic Over Quincy's Future

By TOM SULLIVAN

If the new coach of the Quincy boys' basketball team has his way, things will be looking up for the Presidents in the future.

John Franceschini, a long-time assistant under Joe Amoroso, has taken over the reins and he has big plans for the future of Quincy High basketball.

"This is something I have looked forward to for 14 years and, in addition to our high school program, I am planning programs for boys from the fifth grade up," the new coach said.

A year ago Quincy was 5-14 with only one Suburban League win, a 50-47 decision over rival North Quincy. In turn, North's only league win was a 44-43 squeaker over the Presidents. Quincy did prove a good tournament team as it won the Weymouth South Christmas Tournament with victories over both Weymouth teams and in a tournament at Milton it topped Canton and lost by two points to Milton.

The Presidents open their first season under Franceschini next Tuesday night at home against Revere and Friday, Dec. 20, will play at Somerville.

These are the first two of four games against Greater Boston League opponents and Quincy also will play in a Christmas tournament at North Quincy Dec. 27 and 28 against the Raiders and Weymouth North and South.

The new coach has five veterans to build around, seniors Dave Britt (5-11), Don Parry (5-11), Robert Conley (5-11) and Frank Freedman (6-0) and junior Steve Austin (6-3).

Other top prospects are junior Tom Logan (6-1), up from the junior varsity, and sophomores Frank Calabro (6-2) and Dan Biagini (5-10), who played for the freshmen a year ago.

Other good looking candidates are four seniors, Fran Garvey (6-0), Bobby Pitts (5-0), Dave Mohr (6-3) and Sam Connelly (6-2).

"We had a fine turnout of 72 boys from all four grades," Franceschini said. "There are 32 freshmen and all will play for new coach Bob Uhlar. We have a full 17 or 18-game freshman schedule. I will carry 15 on the varsity and the rest will play for Mitch Finnegan's junior varsity team."

"The boys are enthusiastic and really want to win. They have a good attitude and are working hard learning a new system. I'm trying to instill a winning attitude. It will be important that we start winning early and how we do in our non-league games will give us an idea of how we will do in the Suburban League."

Franceschini sees Brockton's defending state Div. 1 champions and Cambridge as the class of the league and possibly the top two teams in the state.

"I will start a program for boys from the fifth grade up and Bob Cochrane, John DiNardo and a former freshman coach, Ron Mariano, will work with them," the new skipper said. "Once a week we will bring some of them up to work with the high school teams, we will have abbreviated games for them between the halves of our games and we will take some of them with us on road games. We want to make this a family-type of thing."

"With this program for the youngsters, summer leagues and intramural leagues, I am hoping things will begin looking up for basketball at the school. Also, I think it is important that the boys play other sports to stay in condition for basketball."

"Since the junior high programs were stopped, boys have been coming to the high school without the necessary fundamentals in basketball. We had a fine junior high program in all sports and I feel we must start teaching the boys in the lower grades the fundamentals so they will have some experience coming into high school."

More Honors For Dudek

The honors continue to come in for North Quincy's Joe Dudek, who this fall broke both the NCAA and intercollegiate touchdown all-time records with 79 and whose 5570 career yards gained put him in third place on the all-time NCAA list behind Tony Dorsett and Charles White.

Last week Dudek, for the second time during his illustrious four-year career at Plymouth State College, was selected as the Coca Cola Gold Helmet Award winner for the season as the top performer in New England college football in Divisions 2 and 3.

Senior guard Mike Ruth of Boston College was named the University division winner and the two were honored at the N.E. Football Association Writers Captains and Awards Banquet at Carroll's Restaurant in Medford.

Dudek also was named to the Kodak All-American team for the second year in a row and finished ninth in the Heisman Trophy race. He received only 15 votes less than Allan Pinkett, the all-time Notre Dame rushing leader.

"It is quite a thrill being mentioned with all these outstanding players and to be rated the ninth best player in the country," the former

NORTH QUINCY'S Joe Dudek, left, won the Gold Helmet Award as the top player in N.E. College football in Divisions 2 and 3. Also receiving awards were Ken Hudson, center, who won the George Carens Award for contributions to football over the years, and Boston College guard Mike Ruth, who received the Gold Helmet Award in the University Division.

North Quincy High standout said. "I think Bo Jackson deserved the Heisman Trophy."

Dudek will get a chance to play with Jackson, Pinkett and Keith Byers of Ohio State in the Japan Bowl Jan. 12.

Joe's many fans will get the opportunity to see him play in that all-star game as it will be televised nationally by ESPN, the all-sports cable network.

Dudek, one of the few Div. 3 players ever to receive any votes for the Heisman Trophy, was the only Div. 2 or 3 player selected on the all-New England team.

Pro scouts feel Dudek will be drafted as high as the fourth round and if he makes a good showing in the Japan Bowl, he could go even higher.

Lynne Maloney Wins Tennis Letter

Lynne Maloney, a sophomore from Quincy and the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Philip Maloney, has earned a varsity letter with the 1985 New England Division 3 champion women's tennis team at Tufts University.

Varsity teamed up with Kathy Voute to compile a 6-4 doubles record for the Jumbos.

Tufts won its third straight N.E. Div. 3 title by edging Amherst, 30-29, in the tournament. The team wound up with a 9-3 dual match record, its best since 1978.

Maloney is the third member of her family to letter in tennis at Tufts. She was preceded by sister Tracy and brother Phil, who was the MVP of the men's team last spring.

Miller Sees Improvement At North

North Quincy's basketball team had a frustrating season a year ago with a 3-15 record, but, with five varsity returns, Coach Ed Miller feels the Raiders will improve on that record.

North will open next Tuesday at Medford and will host Revere Friday, Dec. 20, at 7:30, the first two of four games against Greater Boston League opponents.

The veterans are Chris Rossi (6-2), Mark Scanlan (5-9), Bob Salton (5-9) and Brian Morris (6-2), all seniors, and Dave Lawless (6-2), a sophomore who played regularly as a freshman last year.

Also battling for starting spots are seniors Jon Paul (6-2) and Brian Koch (6-0), juniors Jim Phelan (5-10), Dan Herlihy (6-1) and Bill Palmer (5-9), and sophomores Ted Stevenson (5-10) and B.J. Silva (6-2).

"With a fine nucleus of veteran players, we should be better than last season," said Miller. "I think, if we get off to a good start in non-league games, we will have a decent season. The backcourt will be strong with Salton and Lawless returning starters. Lawless, who had a fine season for us as a freshman, has grown and is much stronger this year.

"The other players will mature and we will be depending a lot upon our bench. Herlihy, Phelan and Palmer had good seasons with the junior varsity and Paul, playing for the first time, looks good."

Miller sees good scoring balance with every starter capable of scoring well. North again will face a big problem when it opens the Suburban League season as it will be small and will have to depend upon pressure and create things.

"I hope we can win most of our non-league games and how we will do in those games will have a lot to say how we will fare in the league," Miller said. "I think Brockton (defending state Div. 1 champion) and Cambridge Rindge and Latin could be the two top teams in the state and we must defeat such teams as Waltham, Newton and Brookline in the league."

North Quincy will host a jamboree Dec. 27 and 28, competing against Quincy, Weymouth North and Weymouth South. The Raiders' new floor was completed last week. The old floor, which had resulted in numerous skinned knees and leg injuries, was torn up and replaced.

Last season North had only one Suburban League win, a 44-43 squeaker over Quincy, whose only league win was a 50-47 decision over North.

Miller has Ted Stevenson back as jayvee coach and Steve Miller has returned as freshman skipper.

ENC Wins Tourney

The Eastern Nazarene College men's basketball team, with athletic director Carroll Bradley back as coach after 15 years, is off to a fast start.

The Crusaders improved to 4-1 and won the championship of the Roger Williams Invitational Tournament at Bristol, R.I., with a 77-70 win over Bridgewater State College last Saturday.

sparkle for ENC and scored 36 points. Millane, averaging about 30 points a game, was named the tournament Most Valuable Player.

The Crusaders broke the game open in the second half with a 13-0 run that extended a 43-42 lead to 56-42.

Wes Paul who, like Millane, played for Coach Ed Miller at North Quincy High, played another excellent floor game and set up many of Millane's baskets.

In the semifinals Friday night ENC edged Rhode Island College, 64-61, in overtime with Millane scoring 19 points and Paul playing his usual outstanding floor game. Millane hit nine of 10 foul shots down the stretch. Rodney Thomas scored six of his 10 points in overtime for the Crusaders.

3 Half-Day Sports Clinic Planned

FORMER Quincy High standout Bob Mudge was a top reserve end and strong safety for the Plymouth State College football team this fall.

Director Barry J. Welch announces that the Quincy Recreation Department will sponsor three special half day sports clinics utilizing high school and college coaches during the upcoming school vacation period.

The clinics will be in basketball, swimming and volleyball, and are open to boys and girls grades 5, 6, 7, and 8. They are designed to give specialized instruction in the various fundamentals of each sport.

Welch noted that "these programs are a natural progression from the highly successful summer sports camps sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department. We are indebted to the head coaches from Quincy and North Quincy for the interest they show to the younger residents in the City of Quincy."

A special feature of the clinics will be the utilization of current high school players as demonstrators and assistants. These current athletes are excellent role models to the younger participants and will provide a valuable link between the elementary, middle and high school participants.

The clinics are as follows:
Basketball clinic: Coaches Ed Miller and Paul Bregoli, N.Q.H.S., Flava Galbreath and John Franceschini, Q.H.S., Brian Buckley, Curry College. Location: North Quincy High School. Time: 9:30 a.m.-12:30 p.m. Date: Friday, Dec. 27.

The program will emphasize fundamentals of passing, shooting, rebounding, and defense. As a special feature each participant of this clinic will be given a free pass by the Quincy Public Schools to attend the Holiday Christmas Tournament held on Dec. 27 and 28 at North Quincy High School. Both Quincy and North Quincy High Schools will participate in this tournament.

Swimming and diving clinic: Coaches Bill Walker, North Quincy High, and Rita Gauthier, Q.H.S. Location: Lincoln Hancock Community School Pool. Time: 10 a.m.-1 p.m. Date: Monday, Dec. 30.

The program will emphasize all aspects of competitive swimming and diving. This is not a learn-to-swim program and all participants must be able to swim. The clinic will cover stroke mechanics, swimming as a sport, diving mechanics, diving as a sport and videotaping techniques.

Volleyball clinic: Coaches Tom Henderson, Q.H.S. and Jim Rendle, N.Q.H.S. Location: Quincy Vocational Technical High School. Date: Thursday, Jan. 2. Time: 9 a.m.-noon. The program includes a wide variety of individual skills from passing and setting, to spiking and blocking and is geared to beginning and intermediate players.

Registration for all clinics will take place at the time and place of the activity. Appropriate sports attire should be brought with each participant. There is no charge for these programs and additional information can be obtained by calling --1380, ext. 204.

Ski Instruction Registration Starts

Recreation Director Barry J. Welch announces that the Quincy Recreation Department is conducting registration for a five-week program of ski instruction at the Blue Hill Ski Area.

The program, open to Quincy youngsters age eight through high school, features a half hour of free skiing, one hour and forty-five minute lesson from beginner to advanced, and free use of ski tows.

Supervised transportation from Quincy and return will also be included. The instruction will be provided by certified instructors of the Blue Hill Ski School.

The program will run on Tuesdays beginning Jan. 7, and will continue for five weekly lessons. The cost of this program is $44 and is payable at the time of registration. Equipment rental can be arranged for an additional cost.

A similar program is available for adults. Information on both can be obtained by calling the Recreation Department at 773-1380, ext. 204. Registration will take place at the Recreation Office, 100 Southern Artery, weekdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. as long as openings exist.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

The Season For Shopping Rights

Quincy shoppers are reminded that as the holidays draw near, a variety of laws protect their purchases.

According to Secretary of Consumer Affairs and Business Regulation Paula W. Gold: "When making any purchase, be sure to check the store's return policy." "If a store does not allow the return of an item, it must post that policy conspicuously. Be sure to save price tags and receipts so the store can identify the merchandise as theirs."

Many stores liberalize their return policies during the holidays, but that is by no means a uniform practice. Gold reminded consumers that under Massachusetts law a defective product can always be returned, irrespective of the store's general policy.

To help judge a product's reliability, she recommended checking its warranty. Under federal law, stores must make warranties available on items costing more than $15 before the purchase is made.

For consumers who prefer to let their fingers do the walking, Gold warns that federal mail order sales rules do not apply to purchases made by telephone.

"While calling an 800 number may be very convenient, unless you mail your payment in (as opposed to giving your credit card number over the phone), the seller is not obligated to fill your order within 30 days or give you the option of cancelling."

Whether a purchase is made in person, by mail, or by telephone, the Massachusetts implied warranty of merchant-ability protects buyers who receive defective merchandise. Under this state law, the seller has to provide the buyer with his choice of repair, replacement, or refund. Sellers are not allowed to sell "as is" or use a store's "all sales final" policy to get around the store's obligation to sell merchandise which functions properly.

"Shoppers who arm themselves with knowledge, as well as sale circulars, will wind up with the best holiday buys," commented Gold.

Holiday House Contest In S.W. Quincy

Quincy Neighborhood Housing Services (QNHS) is sponsoring a "Best Dressed Holiday House" contest.

The most uniquely decorated home will be chosen as the winner by Friday, Dec. 20.

In order to be eligible for judging, one must live within QNHS' target area consisting of 82 streets in southwest Quincy.

Judging will be performed by the QNHS staff, executive director Normand Grenier; office manager Judith Goldman; construction specialist Andy Diamond; neighborhood coordinator Gary O'Brien; and office secretary Elaine Roccaforte.

The following cash prizes will be awarded: first place, $50; second place, $30, and third place, $20.

To participate, southwest Quincy residents must either call Gary O'Brien at 770-2227 or write their name, address, phone number and description of holiday decorations on a postcard. The information should be mailed to Q.N.H.S., 266 Water St., Quincy, MA., 02169. Residents will not be eligible without notifying Q.N.H.S.

Q.N.H.S. also reminds SW Quincy homeowners that low-interest loans are available through their financial counseling process for home rehabilitation and energy conservation efforts.

Council To Vote Jan. 2 On Zoning Amendment

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The City Council is scheduled to vote Thursday, Jan. 2, on a zoning amendment which would reduce the number of units which could be put on a parcel of land and slow the rate of development in the city.

The special council session, tentatively set for 5:30 p.m., was scheduled after a packed public hearing Monday night during which proponents and opponents spoke.

The amendment, co-sponsored by Mayor Francis McCauley and Council president James Sheets, would increase the dimension requirements needed for each dwelling unit in residences B and C which allow for multi-family dwelling units or apartments.

It would also require more parking space per dwelling.

According to the amendment, the minimum lot area per dwelling unit in Residence B would be increased from 2,000 to 3,000 square feet, and in Residence C from 1,000 to 1,250 square feet.

The parking requirements for two-family and multi-family dwellings would be increased by .25 spaces per dwelling unit for guest parking.

During the hearing, six people spoke in favor and six spoke against the amendment. Nine residents signed in favor, and 63 signed against it.

Tax Bill Error Bit Of A Shocker

A breakdown in communication was responsible for incorrect personal property tax bills that were mailed last Friday, according to Treasurer-Collector Franklin C. Jay.

"The bills weren't returned to the Assessor's Office (to be checked) as they should have been," Jay told the City Council Monday night.

About 1500 incorrect bills were sent out based on $30.49 per hundred dollars of valuation, rather than per thousand, according to the mayor's office.

A bill for $36 was incorrectly printed as $360 for one example.

Councillors told Jay they received calls from constituents upset with the bills they received.

Jay said that corrected bills would be mailed within 48 hours and due dates extended because of the error.

The treasurer appeared at the meeting at the request of Councilor Joseph LaRaia to address implications in the Inspector General's Study on Municipal Banking.

At the time, council president James Sheets made it clear that Jay's invitation to address the council was in no way an indication that he was not doing an outstanding job.

Jay disputed many items in the report Monday and said that his office was working within the confines of the law.

City Councillors rallied to support Jay.

"I have no qualms at all about how you are running your department," said City Councilor Stephen McGrath.

McGrath said the Inspector General "painted with far too broad a brush" his report which alleged deficiencies in treasurer's offices throughout the commonwealth.

"It's extremely unfair to yourself," McGrath told Jay. "The overwhelming majority of treasurer's offices are well run and professionally run."

"The Inspector General owes you and other treasurers an apology."

Councillors Patricia Toland and Sheets also praised Jay.

Faxon Shelter Opens Dec. 23, Needs $50,000

By DAN CONNELLY

The Faxon House temporary shelter for the homeless will open its doors to some 32 people Monday, Dec. 23.

But the hopes of these homeless people to survive what is expected to be a harsh winter may well depend on another factor.

The shelter's sponsor, Quincy Interfaith Shelter Coalition, Inc., must solve a most unusual but difficult financial problem.

Nancy Powers, coalition director, explained:

"Old Faxon House has already been promised $206,000 from state public welfare funds to cover 75 percent of its 1986 budget. But, before the coalition can qualify, we must somehow raise $50,000 immediately for operating capital and I only have a short period of time to do it."

"Money funded by a state agency does not cover food or nursing service which we will provide. We will have to pick up that cost by applying to other private and public funding projects.

"The coalition has already received a challenge grant of $10,940 from the non-profit Harold Brooks Foundation that is administered by the South Shore Bank. We must match this sum in order to be eligible."

"We have had many gifts from churches and individuals in the form of material donations but what is needed now is an immediate monetary cash flow. So we are appealing for funds. They can be sent to QISC, Inc., Post Office Box 2512, Quincy 02269."

Powers stressed that should an overflow of the homeless arrive at Faxon House the coalition has contracted the Salvation Army and the Hingham Family Shelter as a support group.

"It's exciting to see groups who care getting involved," Powers said. "I'm referring to the hard work volunteered by the Quincy Building Trade Union, headed by Carmine D'Olimpio. Without them this shelter could not have been possible. Out of the goodness of their hearts they donated their technical skills to renovate Faxon House."

Powers also heaped praise on all those other volunteers who donated endless hours so that the shelter could meet the opening target date.

Faxon House will have a 24 hour a day program that will offer shelter, showers, clothing, food, personal hygiene items, and a full range of social services to the homeless. The day program will provide classes in stress management, nutrition, health and hygiene, and alcohol education.

Business Reported Brisk In Downtown Area

Business is reported brisk in the downtown area, according to the executive director of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association, and a large factor is the recently opened Burgin Parkway Extension.

"The reaction of the merchants in the downtown area is one of extreme enthusiasm," said Kenneth P. Fallon, Jr.

"A couple of merchants in particular have mentioned that customers coming into their stores have said that the Burgin Parkway makes it much easier to get to Quincy.

"At this point, it appears that the vision of many that the extension of Burgin Parkway would be a boon to the downtown shopping area is becoming a reality," said Fallon.

Sheets Completes Term As Council President

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Councilor James Sheets completed his two year term as council president Monday night and spoke about his tenure as well as his fellow councilors, mixing humor with accolades.

His remarks were met with a standing ovation by the council.

Councilor Stephen McGrath, who is expected to be elected the next council president, presented Sheets with a plaque and gavel.

The text of Sheets' remarks:

"It is with mixed feelings I complete my tenure as president of the Quincy City Council.

"I have a feeling of pride; proud to be an American; proud to live in Quincy; proud to live in a land of freedom and opportunity where one can be elevated to a position of public trust by the people, and further elevated to a council presidency by his or her peers.

"I have a feeling of greater wisdom and knowledge. For in the process of being council president, I have become a student again. I have learned more about how government works and at times does not work. Hopefully, I will be able to impart this new found knowledge and understanding to my students and they will become better citizens in the process.

"I also have a feeling of accomplishment. It has been a successful two years. Council divisions have disappeared. We have successfully redistributed the city extended democracy to the people of Quincy by allowing them to fill in-term vacancies on the council, such as Ward One. We have fought to keep General Dynamics in Quincy, fought for more police and fire services.

"I also feel a sense of confidence in the future because I have come to know each of you."

In tribute to council colleagues Sheets said:

"Councilor Michael Cheney: To me you have demonstrated that each generation will produce young, bright, energetic leadership, men and women who will challenge the old with the new, but will preserve the essence of what is best in America. You have confirmed my belief that the future of American government is secure and firm.

"Councilor Theodore De-Cristofaro: What can one say about the stability and steadfastness of such an ancient and honorable sage of old. You have taught me faithfulness to every aspect of one's responsibility to the city council and the people of Quincy is a hallmark of leadership.

"Councilor John Lydon: You have demonstrated that one can live a charmed political life. You have linked the politics of the old with the politics of the new. With your St. Patrick's Day parties, your quick Irish smile and warmth you have brought a touch of class to the city council.

"Councilor Joseph LaRosa: You have a true sensitivity to the cultural history of our city. Inception of Summerfest, completion of the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre, a councilor truly involved in the creation of a tradition.

"Councilor Richard Koch: A young man who has continued to remind me that there is life beyond politics, basketball. Seriously, I have been impressed by your ability to balance your public responsibilities and commitment, your love for Quincy with your commitment and love for your home and family. You are a true example for young people in the city to follow.

"Councilor Joanne Condon: Former student of mine, genuinely concerned about the quality of community life, founder of the Atlantic Neighborhood Association, fierce competitor has the ability to look at a problem, break it down into its component parts, examine it, reassemble it, change it and give us new insight into it. That is a gift few of us possess. We will be less than we could be in the future because you will not be with us. You have made a few bad votes, but are a gifted leader.

"Councilor Patricia Toland: What can I say about Pat Toland? In the last two years she has made three meetings on time. But I know why you were late. You have busied yourself and life in the helping of others. You are not only a wife and mother, but you are continually helping others, making their cause your cause. You are a warm, wonderful and caring person. You encompass the heart of Quincy.

"And now, like Santa Claus of old, I come to you Councilor Stephen McGrath with a council pack on my back and I give to you your gifts of talent, commitment, hard work, creativity and faithfulness, which have been given to me. With your perception, your quick grasp of problems and your ability to articulate the transition of the presidency will be smooth and there is a clear vision of a bright future.

"And if you reach a little deeper into that pack, you will find another gift - a dedicated, committed, experienced staff and organization. A staff to whom I'm deeply indebted. John Gillis, City Clerk; Louise Brabazon, Administrative Assistant to the Council; Jeanne Reardon, Clerk of Committees; Bob Foy, Auditor; Herb Blake, Assistant to the Council every Monday night, and our Sergeant-at-Arms, Carmen DiRamo.

Over $47M In Construction For 1985

The city building report states 1242 permits issued for this work which were: Thirty-one 1-family dwellings, $1,556,523; 1 two-family dwelling, $125,000; 1 four-family dwelling, $100,000; 9 multi-family dwellings, $20,922,450; 20 mercantile, $7,445,930; 1 storage, $1,297,000; 10 garages, $150,500; 759 residential alterations, $3,548,950; 155 other alterations, $7,993,277; 30 removals, $97,000; 89 signs, $110,202; 136 miscellaneous, $4,205,578.

Council Grants $57 M PUD Permit For QCH

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

The Quincy City Council voted unanimously Monday night to grant a special planned unit development permit for the $57 million replacement of a major portion of Quincy City Hospital.

Construction on the 36-month project is scheduled to begin May 1, 1986 according to hospital officials.

The permit was granted with 10 amendments introduced by Councilor John J. Lydon, Jr., in whose ward the hospital is located.

The amendments refer to such matters as fencing, work hours for construction and a Building Liaison Committee.

"It's been a long issue with the City Council," said Lydon, who explained that the amendments are to protect the neighbors during reconstruction.

Lydon thanked the council, neighbors, hospital director Mark Mundy and the Board of Managers for their efforts.

"We're very pleased about the action of the City Council," said Mundy. "In a perfect world, I guess we would like to have had the permit approved without any amendments."

"However, I think it's fair to say, with the assistance of City Councilors James Sheets, John Lydon and Patricia Toland, a series of reasonable compromises were reached with representatives of the Colonial Heritage Neighborhood Association."

"The nature of the compromises is such that we will be maintaining an ongoing dialogue with members of the association, as well as other neighbors in the Cranch Hill area regarding the program as it develops.

"This will be done through a Building Liaison Committee which will be made up of seven neighborhood representatives, two of whom will be appointed by the City Council.

"By the next board meeting, we'll announce the names of the people who will be on the committee which will be very much involved with the items that were noted as amendments."

"They will also be deeply involved with determining the most appropriate landscaping plan."

"I anticipate the committee will be meeting on a regular basis, at least monthly, during the course of the project."

"Our total emphasis from here on out will be to try to obtain FHA insurance which will guarantee a favorable rate of interest for the sale of revenue bonds," said Mundy.

"We're working with the HCA lobbyist in Washington as well as our investment banking firm and the national association of public hospitals to finalize approval of the FHA insurance application."

Mundy noted that this is the first application of a public hospital for FHA insurance.

The 10 amendments are:

- The special permit shall lapse if the applicant does not make substantial use of it within two years of its effective date, unless such delay was for good cause.

- That the existing fence construction, with the exception of allowing radius turns for fire apparatus on hospital property, not be moved any further toward Colonial Drive, and further that a newly constructed stockade fence be constructed along the Colonial Drive abutting properties the length of the hospital.

- Prior to the issuance of a building permit, a written program of sound, dust and erosion be on file with the Building Inspector and enforced by him.

- Prior to the issuance of a building permit, engineering certification be obtained with regard to a certified drainage plan regarding surface water and foundation excavation on file with the Building Inspector and enforced by him.

- That formalized work hours for major construction exempting weekend and holiday work and fixed work hours be established and on file with the Building Inspector and enforced by him.

- That a formal lighting plan for new construction for building, parking lots and abutting property lines be submitted to the Building Inspector for his approval.

- Landscaping of evergreens along property lines shall be approved by the Building Liaison Committee.

- That the 22 parking spaces adjacent to rehab entrance be restricted to posted handicap and rehabilitation parking spaces.

- That the seven-member community Building Liaison Committee have five members appointed by the Hospital Board and two members appointed by the City Council.

That the hospital submit to the Building Inspector a formal parking plan which restricts employees and construction workers from parking on residential streets.

Police Urge Be Cautious Before Contributing

Use caution if you are asked to contribute to any organization, either in person, at home or via the telephone, urges Police Chief Francis Finn.

People should not be pressured into making pledges or writing checks to organizations they do not know to be genuine and worthy of such trust, said Finn.

Most legitimate organizations present themselves to the Police Department, the Chamber of Commerce, or their religious affiliation in the city, for security in their own integrity and support for their cause, according to the chief.

A good and genuine cause is fertile grounds for con-artists and schemes to flourish, and the public must use extreme caution, he says.

If in doubt, contact the Quincy Police Department Crime Prevention Officer or the Detective Bureau to make certain that such organization is indeed legitimate before making any pledge or contribution, Finn urges. "Our best wishes for happy and safe holidays," says Finn.

United Way Raises $39 Million, Exceeds Goal

Quincy residents helped the United Way of Massachusetts to raise a record $39,010,240 - an 11 percent increase over last year - making this the fourth year in a row that United Way has exceeded its goal.

The sum will be allocated to 187 United Way affiliated agencies in 46 Massachusetts cities and towns. The agencies serve more than 1.2 million people, according to the United Way.

Local United Way volunteers will decide next month how best to allocate the contributions raised through the campaign according to spokesman Gary Woonleier.

Of every dollar pledged to the United Way, 88 cents goes to affiliated agencies, he said.

Oct. 8 Leif Ericson Day

Massachusetts will now celebrate Leif Ericson Day each Oct. 8 to honor the Norse explorer who sailed to North America in the year 1003, State Senator Paul D. Harold has noted.

New legislation calls upon the governor to issue a proclamation each year commemorating Ericson,

"whose courageous exploration, recorded in the Icelandic sagas, led others to the shores of our country."

Senator Harold said people of Scandinavian ancestry can take special pride that the state has now set aside a day to recognize Erickson's contributions.

A Bit Of Hollywood

Quincy hasn't gone Hollywood but it will play a major role in a series of filmed public service spots for the Armed Forces Radio and Television Service.

Cantomedia Corporation, a Hingham based film production firm recently selected Quincy as the primary location for a series of 39 public service spots.

Esmeralda Santiago, president of Cantomedia and executive producer of the project notes:

"We could have filmed this campaign anywhere, but Quincy had the most to offer of all the places we considered."

"The cooperation has been extraordinary, both from officials and from residents whose homes will serve as locations."

The 39 public service spots focus on a variety of issues involving the legal affairs of service personnel overseas.

Topics include wills, powers of attorneys, leases and military justice.

Director Frank Cantor says: "The campaign calls for scenes in cities, suburban neighborhoods, farmhouses, playgrounds, off-base housing overseas and at a waterfront."

"Quincy was chosen as a location because it offers a variety of looks and is easily accessible from Boston where most of our crew is located."

LARRY YERDON, executive director of the Quincy Historical Society will be leaving in January to head up the Hancock Shaker Village Museum in Pittsfield.

"But I will still have my Quincy connection," he muses.

He notes that the Adams Academy where the Quincy Historical Society is located was built over the cellar of the birthplace of John Hancock. The Hancock site was destroyed by fire.

"So," Yerdon says, "I'll be going from the Hancock birthplace to the Hancock Shaker Village Museum."

YOU WON'T have to dust off the old tux or dash to Bernie's to attend the inaugural ball Jan. 7 at the Quincy Neighborhood Club.

Mayor Francis McCauley, the City Council and School Committee will be in tuxedos and gowns.

But attire for everyone else is informal. But if you like to go formal, no problem.

The ball is being held the day after the Jan. 6 inaugural ceremonies because the Neighborhood Club is closed on Mondays.

The inaugural ceremonies will be at 10 a.m. in the Quincy Vocational Technical School gym.

"The series records show the 1962 score as North Quincy 18, Quincy 0, but Quincy won that game, 20-0," she said. "I know, because I was there."

However, upon checking the series results, it was apparent she was thinking of the 1961 game, won by Quincy, 20-0.

Joe Valle scored two touchdowns and Gene Nattie one for the Presidents in that game.

North DID win the 1962 game, 18-0, with Bill Curran scoring twice and Walt Simmons once.

Memories Of A Home

Editor, The Quincy Sun:
I write this with mixed emotions. It is not new-many others have and many more will have this same experience.

Recently, on property I had sold some time ago, a "house" that had been "my home" for 38 years was demolished.

It was a very old but quaint house, so now as the holiday season is with us, I would like to take this opportunity to thank all my family, friends, neighbors and tenants for the wonderful memories I cherish because of them.

In life many, many things happen to us but, thanks to all of you, the happiness shared by and with all of you at my "Washington Street Home" will always be remembered by me.

A GOOD FLOOR PLAN

QUESTION: I have been looking at old homes but they all seem to have jumbled up floor plans caused by adding rooms and changing room sizes. What is your guide to a good floor plan?

ANSWER: A sound floor plan is one where you can get to the separate areas of the house without going through another area (like a bedroom). The different areas should be well separated. The kitchen should be easily accessible from the dining room and recreation area.

Improperly placed or oversized windows can make furniture arrangements impossible. A good floor plan is only appreciated when you have suffered through a bad one.

A FLOOR PLAN that makes sense is an important consideration when buying a home.

Yerdon To Head Hancock Shaker Village

By LINDA WILKINS
The Quincy Historical Society will lose its director in January when Lawrence Yerdon leaves to become head of Hancock Shaker Village in Pittsfield.

Yerdon was the only paid employee of the Quincy Historical Society when he started working there. During the 10 years he has been with the society, it has grown from a volunteer organization to a cultural institution which reaches school children, families, senior citizens and those interested in finding out more about the city's past.

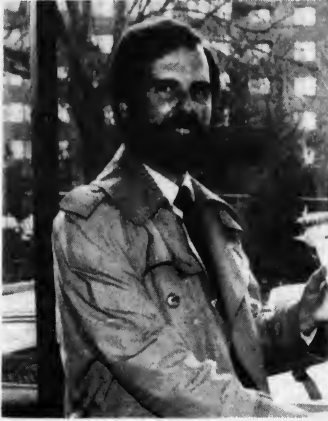

Yerdon said his most proud accomplishments probably are the professional level the program has reached and the educational programs it now offers.

"The school program, Working in Quincy's Past, is probably one of the most important programs we have," Yerdon said. The program enables fourth grade students in the city's schools to visit Quincy's historic sites and "work directly with artifacts for a hands-on experience," he added.

Adult education programs on local history, such as Quincy Remembers for Senior Citizens, have also been introduced, he said.

Since a favorite memory is sometimes a most recent one, Yerdon said the holiday program "Christmas In Quincy" is his favorite.

For the second year, the Quincy Historical Society, the Society for the Preservation of New England Antiquities and the United First Parish Church sponsored the program which is a celebration of the Christmas Season at the Adams Academy, Josiah Quincy House and First Parish Church. The program was held from Dec. 5 to 8.

Yerdon said response to "Christmas In Quincy" was great last year and that the program attracted 1,300 people this year. "I'm sure it's going to become a bi-annual event," he said.

An annual event held in spring which began under Yerdon in 1978 is the crafts and collectibles fair. "This year will be the ninth annual crafts and collectibles fair. The fair attracts nearly 100 craftsmen," Yerdon said.

The society holds in-house fundraising events and, according to Yerdon, has had success getting grants. It has, for example, received six consecutive grants from the Institute of Museum Services, a Federal agency, and four consecutive grants from the Massachusetts Council on the Arts and Humanities, a state agency. Such grants are based on the quality of a museum, merit aid and other qualifying factors. When Yerdon first came to the Historical Society, it did not have a museum.

Unlike the Quincy Historical Society, the Hancock Shaker Village will already have a museum when Yerdon gets there; its museum came into being 25 years ago as Shaker involvement with the village came to a close.

"The Hancock Shaker Village is a living history village. It has 24 buildings on 1,000 acres of land," Yerdon said. He added that the village is a Shaker settlement which began in 1790.

According to Yerdon, the Shakers are a "religious communal." As director of the Hancock Shaker Village, Yerdon hopes to "increase the enjoyment and use of the museum by the public. It's a treasure a lot of people don't know about." He said one of his goals there will be to increase its visibility within the historic and museum communities and to encourage scholarly research.

Yerdon came to Quincy in 1966. "I've lived here longer than I lived in my hometown," he said.

Yerdon, a native of Binghamton, N.Y., received a history degree from Eastern Nazarene College in Quincy in 1970. He has served on the Quincy Symphony Orchestra Board of Directors, Historic District Commission, Massachusetts Arts Council, Bay State Historic League of which he is president, and as organist at Wollaston Church of the Nazarene.

Yerdon said he has enjoyed his position as executive director of the Quincy Historical Society and his community involvement here. He added, however, that he is looking forward to a challenging future at the Hancock Shaker Village.

Teachers Reject Temporary Raise

Quincy teachers took a secret ballot vote on what to do next in their campaign to reject a temporary $300 salary hike and obtain a permanent $500 increase.

Kenneth J. Kelley, secretary of the Quincy Central Labor Union, said a number of the teachers had asked the American Federation of Labor how to go about organizing a union.

William H. Edmonston, executive secretary of the Quincy Taxpayers Association, which supports the temporary raise, said a poll taken of Medford citizens was against permanent increases.

But a committee of Quincy police and firemen noted that their counterparts in Somerville had received permanent hikes to $2,912 a year, adding only $1.40 to the tax rate.

The Somerville tax rate was $42.50 and the Quincy rate was $30.

U.S. ACCEPTS MANSION

Interior Secretary J.H. Krug accepted the deed to the Adams Mansion on Adams St., which is to become the Adams National Historic Site. It was owned by the Adams Memorial Society since 1927.

"There is probably no other home in the United States which has so long an association with American history and those who had an important part in shaping it," said Krug.

FOREIGN GRANITE PROSCRIBED

Officials of the International Association of Granite Cutters of America announced that Quincy granite cutters will not work on blocks of finished granite shipped from Scandinavia.

The local quarrymen denied that the Quincy hills were running out of granite, maintaining that there is enough to take care of the granite industry's needs for at least 100 years.

BELL RINGERS' SERENADE

The Granite Trust Bell Ringers, under the direction of Ringing Master Edward B. Whittredge, took part in the Christmas Carol Promenade on Hancock St. in downtown Quincy.

The ringers included: Priscilla Whitton, Edith Nicoll, Virginia Smith, Anna K.I. Olsson, Myrtle Whittredge, Priscilla Lantz, Vere Hatch, Isabel Meldrum, Esther Weeden.

Q: I've been overweight all of my life. I've tried several different diets, but I never seem to succeed. I just don't have the willpower. What can I do to make myself succeed on a weight-loss program?
A: Most important, you must commit to yourself. It is vital to your success that you are dieting because you want to. Then, after selecting a safe and effective diet, turn on the power in your mind. Visualization can be an extremely powerful tool in assisting you in reaching your goal. When you start to "see" yourself as a thin person, you will begin to act that way. If you can see your goal, it will seem attainable.
Start out slowly. Mentally take yourself on a shopping spree. Vividly picture yourself trying on a Size 10 dress in your favorite color, and looking great! Continue your trip to a relaxing restaurant for a refreshing green salad. Visualize the same scenario every day and soon you'll be living it.

Condon: 'Council Was Wonderful Experience'

City Councilor Joanne Condon concluded eight years as the Ward 6 representative Monday night and spoke about her experiences and hopes for the council's future in an emotion-filled speech.

Councilor Condon gave up her council seat to launch an unsuccessful campaign for mayor.

Her fellow councilors gave her a standing ovation after her remarks which were as follows:

"I would like to take this opportunity to thank the residents of Ward Six for the privilege of serving as their elected representative for the past eight years as a member of the Quincy City Council. "It has been a wonderful experience and I like to think that Ward Six is just a little bit better as a result of my efforts. Over the past eight years there have been many issues which I have taken a stand on representing the majority of residents. We have seen a lot of development in the north end of the city and I must say that the "gateway" to Quincy has been greatly improved as a result of these projects. I had the opportunity to learn how to cope with a blizzard in my first year on the city council and just recently went through the experience of a hurricane in this, my last year on the council.

"Might I say, that during my eight-year span there were many storms of a different nature.

"I am proud to say that we have a smoke detector ordinance in residential homes that I introduced for the safety of our residents.

"We also have a one o'clock closing hour in the city of Quincy which I feel has added to the quality of life in our city, introduced by me.

"I have always been an advocate of public safety and hope that someone on the council takes up this role - because I feel that the police and fire departments in our city are the finest anywhere in the commonwealth and should be properly manned and equipped at all times. I have also been pro development in our city, feeling that private developers have certain rights as well as residents, but I have always insisted that they work with the community and, hopefully, propose a plan that is acceptable to both the community and the developer.

"As chairman of the Hospital Committee, I feel privileged to have been part of the process of ensuring a new municipal hospital in the interest of the best patient care for our residents. The city of Quincy deserves nothing less.

"As chairman of the Ordinance Committee, I had the opportunity to work very closely with various departments in the city. I have also had the opportunity to work with many dedicated board members.

"I have served with two administrations - somewhat different in their approach, but both sincere in their interest in what is best for the residents of Quincy. It has been my pleasure to work with both of these administrations and all the people who were appointed by them.

"I want to thank just a few people by name, not to miss anyone certainly, but these special people have made me what I am today as far as a city official is concerned.

"Louise Brabazon - the lady who makes all of us look good - the heart of the council and a dear friend.

"Jeanne Reardon - a friend of many years, who I have had the privilege of working with.

"John Gillis - the keeper of the council and what a keeper he is, a very dedicated city official who works with each councilor at all hours, every day.

"Bob Foy - Bob is the best financial officer any city or town could hope to have, another dedicated city official who works long hours for the betterment of our city and he is a friend I am proud to have.

"My fellow councilors, especially Steve McGrath who I was elected with eight years ago. Steve is staying on as the Ward Five councilor and will serve as council president. My only regret is that I will not have the opportunity to watch him serve as one of the finest presidents the council has ever had.

"Speaking of presidents - how can I forget "the president," Jack Lydon - a friend and a fellow councilor I have enjoyed the pleasure of working with and learning from.

"Last, but not least, Jim Sheets - without him, I would not be here - my teacher, my fellow councilor, my friend.

"I have no regrets: only pleasant memories.

"Thank you one and all!"

Central Second In State Math League

Central Middle School has continued to participate in the Continental Math League with competition which is nation-wide.

Scores are presented in three forms: nation-wide, New England, and state-wide.

The first competition involved working out six problems.

Students with perfect scores were Cristen Clarke, William Chu, Joseph DiStasio and Matthew Price in Grade 8 and Holly McDonough in Grade 6.

Central's eighth grade placed 22nd out of 363 schools in the nation, second out of 50 schools in New England and second out of 28 schools in the state. The school tied for second place with Boston Latin School.

Seventh grade math placement was as follows: 59th out of 320 schools in the nation, eight out of 48 schools in New England and seventh in the state, while sixth grade math students placed 51st out of 270 schools in the nation, 12th out of 42 schools in New England and 10th in the state.

Student competitors are enrolled in the advanced placement classes. Their teachers are Jean Healy, Mark Dempsey, Edward Steele and Charles Caldwell.

The league periodically offers students the opportunity to enter the competition so that they may not only test their skills but compare their mathematical progress with other students at their grade level.

There is great enthusiasm that generates each time the tests arrive and genuine interest in the personal achievement of each student, according to Central.

It could be someone in elective office, a member of an appointed board, a member of the clergy, a teacher or principal, a police officer or firefighter, a business community member, someone who has given freely of his or her time in a worthy cause or project or has reached an outstanding accomplishment.

The person we are looking for is one who, through his or her dedication and service, has made Quincy a better community for it or someone's life better for it.

Or a person who has made a major mark for which Quincy is proud of him or her.

The total number of nominations any one person receives will not necessarily make that person the automatic winner of the award.

It will be what a nominee has done that counts. This is not a popularity contest.

Here is the final opportunity for you to voice your opinion as to who is Quincy's "Citizen Of The Year."

The winner will be announced in January.

Remember, Thursday, at 5 p.m. is the absolute deadline to make your nomination.

Bank Of New England Awards $25,000 Grant For Health Center

The Bank of New England has awarded a $25,000 grant to the South Shore Mental Health Center which will be used to aid in the renovation of the agency's Hilda Mahoney Learning Center on Moon Island Rd., Squantum.

William E. Kelley, president of the Bank of New England-Hancock, made the presentation at a breakfast ceremony marking the 20th anniversary of the Squantum site as a center for serving handicapped persons.

South Shore Mental Health Center executive director Harry Shulman announced that the Bank of New England grant which came from the Debra Monroe Noonan Memorial Fund will become part of a $125,000 capital program.

"We have waiting lists in both the Step 1 Early Intervention Program and in the Day Habilitation program," Shulman said.

"With this grant we have raised some $50,000 toward the goal. The completed renovations will allow us to utilize the existing space in the two buildings in Squantum more efficiently so that we can serve additional clients."

The Step 1 program serves South Shore emotionally disturbed and retarded children from birth to three years of age, while the Day Habilitation program meets the needs of severely handicapped adults.

"The importance of these programs cannot be overstated," said South Shore Mental Health Center president Peter L. Eley, Quincy attorney and Governor's Counselor. "These are the only programs of their type in this area."

Along with the Noonan Memorial Fund, support from the capital drive has come from Durgin Park, the Probate Club of Greater Boston, the Quincy V.F.W., Burger King, Howard Johnson's, the Randolph Jaycees, and the Irish American Club.

The Harold Brooks Foundation, administered by the trust department of the South Shore Bank, made a grant to the center for a new outdoor playground which is currently being constructed.

Taking part in the ceremony were Quincy Mayor Francis X. McCauley, Thomas J. Nutley, Ward 6 councillor-elect and State Sen. Paul Harold.

The service will open with a Christmas fanfare with Peter E. Krasinski at the organ accompanied by brass and tympani.

The Advent candle lighting ceremony will be led by Kenneth and Cheryl Fernald, and their three children, Steven, Gregory and Kati.

The Chancel Choir will sing as the offertory, "The Snow Lay On The Ground," by Sowerby, and the combined Children's and Chancel Choirs will sing as the anthem, "In the Bleak Mid-Winter," composed by Harold Darke.

The Rev. J. William Arnold, senior minister, will preach the sermon entitled,

"Merry Messiah," based on scripture readings from Colossians 3:12-17 and Luke 7:11-23. Lay scripture reader will be Robert R. Peoples, Jr.

Associate minister, the Rev. Joel F. Huntington, will be the liturgist and offer the Christmas prayer.

The sacrament of Christian Baptism will be given to William Charles and Daniel James, twin sons of Wendell and Nancy (Ross) Cosgrove.

There will be no Sunday School classes. Children are encouraged to attend the worship services with their families. Nursery and toddler care will be provided. Following the service there will be a fellowship hour with light refreshments in the Allen Parlor.

The service will be broadcast live direct from the sanctuary over radio station, WJDA, 1300 kc, at 10 a.m. Sunday.

On Tuesday, Dec. 24, there will be two Christmas Eve celebrations. A Family Service at 7 p.m., about 45 minutes in length, will include carols, and special music by the Children's Choir and the Bethany Folksingers.

The Advent candle lighting ceremony will be led by Ronnie and Jacqueline Rivera and their children, Jason and Kimberly, and Tammy Vozzella.

At 11 a.m. there will be the traditional Candlelighting and Carol Service.

Special music will be provided by guest violinist, George Vallatini. Well-known lyric soprano, Marie Terese Giordano, will sing "O Holy Night" by Adam, and "Panis Angelicus" by Franck.

'Maggie's Gift' Topic At Squantum Church

Members and friends of the First Church of Squantum celebrated the third Sunday in Advent at their morning worship services Sunday.

At the second service, the pastor's sermon was entitled "The Most Important Question" and talked about the ways in which Christ makes the Father real to His followers. The scripture readings were John 1:1-18 and Romans 16:25-27.

The Crusader Choir sang "Sing Now the First Noel" by Jack North. The Chancel Choir sang "While By My Sheep," a carol of the 17th century. Mary Ruth Scott directed both choirs.

Violinist James E. Sumner played "He Shall Lead His Flock," from Handel's "Messiah."

Barbara and Don Frazer were the greeters. Cheryl Potter and Ian MacRitchie assisted the pastor in lighting the third candle in the Advent wreath. Tore Wallin and Harry Holmes were the ushers. Jack Kelly and Barbara Frazer hosted the Fellowship Hour.

This Sunday there will be a Christmas breakfast at the church beginning at 9:15 a.m. The Baby Jesus Birthday Party for little ones in the Sunday School and nursery will be held at 9:30 a.m. At 10:30 a.m. the annual Christmas Sunday service will include four choirs. The sanctuary will be decorated with poinsettias.

Rev. Dr. Cynthia Edson:

First Parish Interim Minister 'Planting' For Future

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN
The Rev. Dr. Cynthia J. Edson, interim minister of the Church of the Presidents, Quincy Sq., realizes she won't be able to accomplish all that she would like to in the next eight to 24 months.

But one of the things she would like to do is impress on the congregation the possibilities in life.

"People tend to live and create their own realities," says Rev. Edson, "and they can be as filled with dreams as they let them be."

"As Thoreau said, though, the trick is not to build castles in the air, but to put foundations under them."

Rev. Edson, 40, has put foundations under a number of dreams.

Born in Braintree the daughter of William G. Edson and the late Catherine (Wishart) Edson, she started as a pre-veterinary major at the University of Connecticut and ended up with a communications degree.

Somewhere along the line, "I decided I liked working with people more than animals," she smiles.

While at BU, she had a parish ministry in Saugus where she combined her work in communications with her religion.

"A sermon is essentially a feature story," she explains.

Ordained in 1970 at First Parish in Saugus, she received a master of theology degree from Boston University, and a doctorate of ministry from Andover-Newton Theological School.

She has taught in the chaplaincy training program at Medfield State Hospital and Boston City Hospital, and has worked as a reporter for the Patriot Ledger and Hartford Courant.

She served three years at the Unitarian Universalist Church in Berks County, Pa., where she was president of the Joseph Priestly District of the Unitarian Universalist Association, an administrative job which found her traveling from northern Pennsylvania over a seven state region.

She was minister of the Unitarian Church of Bangor, Maine, and taught advertising at Husson College in Bangor and speech and interpersonal relations at the University of Maine at Orono.

Rev. Edson spent six months overseas as minister of Essex Church, just a few blocks from Kensington Palace, England.

"The place of the church in the community is very different there," she notes.

"The state church has all the power. The Unitarian Church is the poor cousin."

Back in this country, she worked on an organic farm in Maine, and was a Merrill Fellow at Harvard for the fall 1983 term.

Before coming to Quincy, she was interim minister of First Parish in Beverly for 18 months.

She is currently working on her FAA pilot's license and writes poetry which she sets to music.

An energetic, articulate

THE REV. DR. CYNTHIA EDSON

woman who smiles often, she succeeds the Rev. Keith C. Munson who recently retired as minister.

"We're different in training and background," notes Rev. Edson, who says she is not the first woman minister at the church.

"The church had a woman minister for one to three months about 12 years ago," says Rev. Edson, who is not married.

As interim minister, she sees her role at United First Parish Church as that of a gardener planting for the future.

"I hope to provide the congregation with stimulating sermons to get members to position of chairman of the board of the Woodward School which is traditionally held by the minister of United First Parish.

Rev. Edson would like to see if she can "get the physical plant of the church into the 20th century and make the space more creatively useable."

She would also like to resolve the problem of handicapped access, but adds that it is "almost impossible where it is a registered historic landmark. The costs would be tremendous."

Rev. Edson plans to look at the overall financial situation of the 200-member church, explore how the board relates to the committees and ministers, and look at the graphics of design on the newsletter.

She is also looking forward to "people work."

Rev. Edson says she enjoys working with people of all ages, particularly youngsters.

"Kids usually still have their eyes open to wonder, to the concept that there is more than one way to solve a problem," she says.

A priority of the denomination is a feminist agenda which includes cleaning up the language and using "person" instead of "man," she says.

"But to denigrate past writings doesn't do justice to them," she says.

Rev. Edson considers herself a qualified feminist.

"I'm doing with my life what I want to do, and that is probably the best argument I can give," she says.

She outlined what she plans to do with her life now.

"I want to do my job as perfectly, moment by moment, as I possibly can," she says.

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

It was Christmas Eve, Lewis Redner tossed and turned for hours but could not fall asleep. His mind was haunted by a request that Rev. Phillips Brooks had made of him during the day. Brooks asked him to write a tune for a new Christmas poem he had written. The children in Brook's church school liked it so well that they begged him to convert it into a song. He told this to Redner, the organist, but alas, the organist could not think of a single melody. After sheer exhaustion he fell asleep. Suddenly, he awakened. In his sleep a beautiful tune was playing over and over in his head. He quickly reached for a pen. By early daybreak he was done. He had written a beautiful tune for the lovely poem.

You might wonder what inspired Phillips Brooks to write this lovely poem. In 1865 he had made a trip to Bethlehem. In the evenings he stood atop the hills outside the town and watched the shepherds with their flocks. At midnight the chiming from atop the Church of the Nativity would peal out over the countryside and could be heard for miles. He would follow the melody of the chiming back to the church where he then worshipped with the other pilgrims. The memories of this enchanting experience so awed him that 3 years later he was compelled to write "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

There are many misconceptions about funeral costs. That's not surprising, really, as there are other charges involved in a funeral, then those of the funeral director . . . cemetery or cremation charge . . . monuments or markers . . . newspaper death notices and flowers. Many also believe that funeral directors will not discuss funeral or burial costs frankly and specifically. Nothing could be further from the truth. Wickens & Troupe Funeral Home, 26 Adams St., adjacent to the Quincy Historical Society Home, stands ready to give you whatever cost information you desire at any time. Roger Hamel, Donald McCarthy and Joseph Thompson are thoroughly trained in the profession they have chosen and ready to discuss frankly, funeral cost information. # The Ledges Developers Withdraw Application

The developers of The Ledges, a project which would include 509 luxury apartments in five buildings off Quincy Ave., withdrew without prejudice Monday night their application for planned unit development.

The withdrawal was at the suggestion of Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, in whose ward the project would be located.

Dennis Harrington, attorney for the developers, said the application would be re-submitted in January.

DeCristofaro said that 35-40 people attended an informal meeting with the developers last week and reiterated their concerns about traffic, sewage, water and density.

"People are very concerned about what's going on," said DeCristofaro, "and the Environmental Protection Agency hasn't sanctioned the project yet.

A petition was signed by more than 100 neighbors against the project, he said. A lot of homework has to be done by the developers," said DeCristofaro.

Health Club Debris Complaint Before Board Again

By LINDA WILKINS

A Quincy health club was again brought before the city's Licensing Board concerning debris on land surrounding the club.

At a hearing Nov. 26, the Department of Public Works' Environmental Inspection Unit filed a report stating that brush, logs, and leaves had been dumped on land at South Shore Health & Fitness Complex, 500 Washington St., Quincy Point. Peter Ricciardi, owner, was given two weeks at that time to improve conditions at the site. Bertrand LaPointe, Housing Code Enforcement Officer, said at Tuesday's meeting that the debris has not been removed.

Ward 2 Councillor Theodore DeCristofaro, who was also present at Tuesday's meeting, said tree trunks and a "pile of mulch which may draw vermin" have been dumped in the parking lot of the complex.

DeCristofaro said neighbors of the complex have complained about the debris.

"If you talk to the people in back on Lebanon St., I'll be happy," he told Ricciardi. DeCristofaro added that the mulch and wood should be removed. "The wood does not belong in the parking lot," he said.

Ricciardi told the board he needs the mulch for the lot and had planned to distribute it along the perimeter of the land but had been unable to because of recent rains.

"It's only fair to spread it and get it over with," said Building Inspector and board member Allan MacDonald.

The board continued the hearing for six months during which time Ricciardi will have to clear the area and talk to his neighbors.

DeCristofaro said a trailer at the site was not a problem to him and that he would review the situation when the six month period ended.

Bertrand LaPointe, Housing Code Enforcement Inspector, was also present at the meeting.

Council To Vote Jan. 2 On Zoning Amendment

Among those speaking in favor of the amendment was Carla Johnson, president of the Quincy League of Women Voters, who said, "There is no price tag on the quality of life."

"The health, welfare and safety of Quincy have been adversely affected by zoning density," she said.

Arthur Foley, administrative assistant to Mayor Francis McCauley, said the change in zoning "would by no means stop building."

Roger Lyons, of the Quincy Apartment House Owners Association, led off the opposition by asking that the proposed zoning amendment not take priority until after Quincy's new traffic engineering study is completed.

Lyons asked that, in the interim, the council investigate and document any complaint against apartment house construction since the last zoning change of March 22, 1971 regarding alleged parking and traffic problems and areas.

Richard Buccheri of the Quincy Builders and Businessmen Association, said "Builders in Quincy have been crucified enough."

He said that construction costs have increased 100-200%, and that builders and businessmen have worked with the government on sewerage problems.

Buccheri also said that homeowner's property values increase when multi-unit buildings are constructed.

James Drew of Wollaston said that the people who would be hurt most by the zoning change would be people who would like to put an addition on their home.

The council will consider a compromise plan offered by Lyons and Buccheri.

'Things Getting Worse'

Sylvia Discouraged About Hockey Future At Quincy

By TOM SULLIVAN

Bob Sylvia is starting his 22nd season as Quincy High's hockey coach and is getting more and more discouraged about the future of the sport there.

"Things are getting worse and worse," said Sylvia. "We not only are losing our usual quota of players to private and parochial schools, but players who usually would be going here are going to North Quincy instead. There is no longer any boundary line and boys can go to which ever school they want. We have boys from Houghs Neck and other southern sections of the city who are going to North instead."

The veteran coach is especially concerned with the dwindling interest among the lower classes. "Believe it or not, we have just one freshman out for hockey," he said. "We cannot have a freshman team and our freshman coach, George Peachey, will work with Bob Troup with the junior varsity. Sometimes I feel like stepping down, but once the season is underway and I get behind the bench, the adrenalin starts flowing and I hate to call it quits."

Sylvia has led many of his teams into the state tournament but the Presidents haven't made it for the past three years and last season they won only three games.

"We have a good group of boys (six veterans) who are very enthusiastic and if we can score some goals, we may have a shot at qualifying for the tournament," Sylvia said. "We have seven games against Greater Boston League teams before opening up in the very competitive Suburban League. By that time we should have an idea of what direction we are going in."

Quincy has a big question mark in goal with Wayne Chambers and Mark Sandonato, up from the jayvees, battling for the starting spot.

On defense Ed Flavin is a veteran with the most experience and he is joined by Eric Abboud, Jon Bertoni, Sean O'Neil, Hank Miller and Tim Hall.

Quincy's yellow line is comprised of Tony Scolia, Steve Conostas and Mark Winters.

The green line has Adam MacGregor, Paul Scolia, Tony's brother, and Mike Bille.

Steve Gardner, Kevin

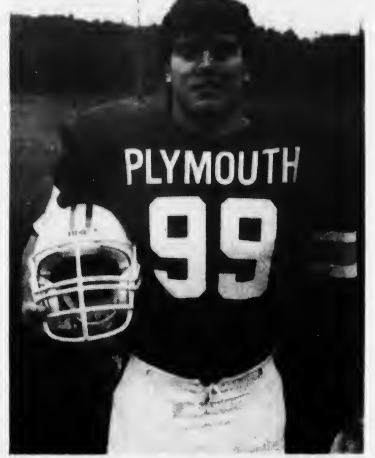

Provenzano, Carl Staskiewicz and Shawn Craig are battling it out on the red line, while Rod Davis, Dan Hurley, Steve Perdios and Ricky Ames are working on the back line.

"The defense is young but looks pretty good but, with two inexperienced goalies, we are going to have to outscore the opposition," Sylvia said. "MacGregor, Conostas, Tony Scolia and Bille must do some scoring. We will be able to skate with anybody but we just have to score a lot of goals."

Quincy opened up last night (Wednesday) at Revere and will host Somerville Saturday night at 7:50 at the Youth Arena.

The presidents will play at Arlington Monday night at 7 o'clock and will also meet Everett, Malden, Medford and Revere of the GBL before opening their Suburban League season against Waltham at Watertown Jan. 8.

Sun Sports

NEIL FISHER, former North Quincy line standout, had an excellent season at defensive end for Plymouth State College this season.

North Swimmers Host Newton South

The North Quincy boys' swimming team, coming off a fine 8-3 season last year, sent a team of 27 swimmers, including 18 returning lettermen, against a tough Westwood team Tuesday and will host Newton South today (Thursday) at 3:30 at the Lincoln Hancock School pool.

"It is always tough to open against strong teams and these two non-league teams took us to the last relay before we were able to beat them last year," said Coach Bill Walker.

"We are as strong up front as any team around, but we have a lot of inexperience in our depth. What has made us a strong team over the years is a large number of boys turning out. We could still use more athletes, especially freshmen, as we have only five."

North will open its Suburban League schedule Jan. 7 at Cambridge Rindge and Latin.

The Raiders are led by senior tri-captains Stephen MacKay, David Stockless and Dan O'Sullivan. Other seniors are Mike Melanson, Tom Stuyink, Rick Stanton and Greg Toland.

Juniors are John Donlan, Sean Geary, Eric Giordano,

Matthew McCusker and Jim Sumner. Sophomores are Derek Borek, Chris Burke, Fred Cawthorne, James Lou, Jason Moriarty, Paul Nitschke, Harry Towle, Bradley Waltemire and Ralph Willard. Pham Jung, George Gavros, David MacKay, Andy Ogilvie and Brian Ramos are the freshmen.

ASBESTOS LUNG DISEASE

Asbestos dust causes serious lung ailments; the diseases appear suddenly, years after exposure. Today numerous SHIPYARD WORKERS, MASONS, and PIPEFITTERS of the 1930's-1970's have lung afflictions because they inhaled asbestos particles many years ago.

If you worked in one of those professions then and now have a lung disease, you may be eligible to receive money damages or workers' compensation. Relatives of living and deceased victims can also recover in some cases.

North Icemen Have Good Shot At State Tourney

The North Quincy hockey teams made the state tournament the past two years after an absence of 23 years and it appears the current team will have another good shot at making the post season event.

Last season Coach Kevin Jago's Raiders missed their first Suburban League title but finished second to Waltham with a 14-3-1 mark and forced favored Malden Catholic into double overtime before doubling, 4-3.

Two years ago North finally made the tournament, defeated Saugus, then lost to St. John's Prep.

A year ago Jago had 11 veterans and four fine starters.

This year he has only one transfer, a fine looking goalie, but has seven experienced veterans and the outlook is bright.

"We have a fine nucleus, three good looking goalies, one strong defensive pair and two lines which should score well," said Jago. "After the first defensive pair our defense poses a question mark, but I think we will be strong in every department."

The lone transfer is Kevin Jeffers from Madison Park High in Boston and he has looked good in practice. He is battling Brian Mahoney, a fine sophomore prospect, and Doug Adams for the starting job.

"We lost one of the best goalies in the state in Matt Higgins and he left quite a big hole, but I think our present goalies will do the job," Jago said.

On defense Capt. Greg McGlame, a league all-star last year, is back and will team with Mike McGrath, an outstanding freshman, as the No. 1 duo.

The first line is made up of veterans Dave Tapper and Mike Haynes and a fine sophomore, Matt Furtado.

Playing on the second line are Mark Simonelli, Pat Feeley and Dave Fasano, while the third line is comprised of Mark Zimmerman, Matt Ostiguy and Jay Rodriguez.

Also striving for defensive spots are Tim Duff, Matt Paul and Mike Edgren.

Other forwards who look good are Mike Bartkus and Mike Leonard.

Jago is concerned over the small turnout of freshmen, as only 10 reported and the status of the freshman team is up in the air.

Rick Avery is the junior varsity coach this season and Dick Tapper, a former North star, is the freshman coach. It is possible that the freshmen may have to combine with the junior varsity.

The Raiders face seven Greater Boston League opponents before opening their Suburban League season against Brockton on Jan. 8.

They opened last night (Wednesday) against Peabody and will play Revere at Revere's Cronin Rink Saturday morning at 10 a.m.

They will be home to Somerville Monday at 5:30 p.m. at the Youth Arena and will also meet Arlington, Everett, Malden and Medford before the start of the league season.

20 Track Club Runners In Junior Olympics

Twenty Quincy Track Club runners were among more than 1500 from nearly every state who competed in the AAU/USA Junior Olympics at Gwynedd Mercy College in the Philadelphia suburb of Ambler.

A snowstorm on the night before the meet left as much as three inches of snow on many parts of the course which melted and made serious mud conditions.

The quality of talent was outstanding but Tricia Barrett ran an outstanding race to finish 13th in the Intermediate girls' division and Susan Curtis in the Bantam girls (45th) and LeAnne Fitzgerald in the Intermediate girls (36th) finished in the top 50 to earn ribbons.

The only sad note was Harry Morash losing a shoe early in the Senior boys' race and was running in the top 40 in a field of 200 only to be forced to drop out due to treacherous footing around the mile mark.

The top 25 finishers in each division received medals and the next 25 received ribbons.

The host Ambler Olympic Track Club treated the runners to a pre-race spaghetti dinner and a post-race pool and pizza party.

Quincy's other finishers:

Bantam girls: Noreen Fewer, 52nd; Kerry McGahan, 112th, and Eileen Fewer, 150th.

Bantam boys: Michael Kenney, 74th; Jerry Marshall, 106th; Anthony McGahan, 124th, and Chris Klier, 125th.

Midget girls: Lindsey McGovern, 58th; Katie O'Shea, 95th, and Maureen Fewer, 109th. Midget boys: Brian Klier, 106th.

Junior girls: Sherrin Quintiliani, 63rd; Nancy Sheehy, 81st, and Karen Cashman, 112th. Junior boys: Brian Barrett, 122nd.

Three Returning Starters Buoy Raiderettes

By TOM SULLIVAN

With three starters returning from last year's 11-9 team, the North Quincy girls' basketball team is looking to improve that record.

Paul Bregoli is beginning his sixth year as the Raiderettes' coach and is optimistic that this will be a successful season.

The North girls opened Tuesday against Medford, one of several Greater Boston League teams they will face before opening their Suburban League schedule.

The Raiderettes will play at Everett Friday at 4:45 p.m. and at Revere Monday night at 7:30 p.m.

"The three returning starters' experience should be invaluable, particularly in the early going," said Bregoli.

Tri-Capt. Karen Runge, a 5-9 three-year starter, will start at forward position. She is a fine shooter and an excellent passer. Bregoli expects her to be one of the team's leading scorers. She averaged 10 points a game as a junior.

Tri-Capt. Eileen Warren, a 6-foot senior, was a league all-star last season and holds the school's rebounding records for a season and for her career.

The other returning starter is the team's quarterback, Tri-Capt. Jean Welby, a 5-5 guard. An excellent point guard, she is the player Bregoli will be looking to for floor leadership.

Rounding out the starting five are 5-9 senior forward/guard Anne Marie Hughes, and 5-8 sophomore forward/guard Nancy Flukes.

Hughes, who passes with excellent quickness, will be North's defensive stopper. She also has the ability to score in double figures.

Flukes, who started several games as a freshman, looks as if she is more confident this season. A fine shooter, she also sees the floor very well and will help with the ball-handling duties.

Anne McGuigan, a 5-8 junior, will see a good deal of action. A finalist at Boston Garden in the Pepsi Cola Hot shot contest, she is also an excellent rebounder. Nancy Lyons, a 5-5 senior forward, will also see action off the bench and should help out on defense.

Also seeing considerable action will be 5-6 junior Maureen Donovan, a fine shooter; 5-10 junior Tricia Koski, a strong rebounder; 5-3 Nancy Leonard, a junior guard; 5-3 Marybeth Maloney, another junior guard, and 5-2 sophomore guard Kerrie Pistorino.

Rounding out the varsity squad are 5-4 senior guard Julie Abouzeid; 5-3 junior guard Ann Anderlonis, 5-4 junior guard Maureen Tolson and 5-6 junior forward Lisa Mitton.

"If everyone understands her role and pull together, we should have an outstanding team," said Bregoli. "We have a nice blend of experience, outside shooting, inside play, defense and rebounding. This team could surprise many people in the Suburban League this year."

Ken Panaro is North's junior varsity coach and Simone Koch, a former Raiderette herself, is the freshman coach.

STARSCOPE

Clare Answeil

WEEK OF: DECEMBER 19, 1985

AQUARIUS — January 21-February 19
Avoid tendency to overextend yourself... it's tempting to accept too many invitations, volunteer for too many assignments, or arrange too many parties. Selectivity, however, is current byword.

PISCES — February 20-March 20
There are no short cuts, but keenness — and intelligence — can lead you to the achievement of a major goal. Partnerships are highlighted. New source of income may open up.

ARIES — March 21-April 20
You show the world why Aries is a born leader; this week sees you as a source of inspiration to younger and older family members. Financial news is upbeat.

TAURUS — April 21-May 22
Be lavish with praise — you can help a friend or family member leap over a current hurdle. Financial maneuvers require major research. Impromptu gatherings are present highlights.

GEMINI — May 23-June 21
Inventive spirit soars and you may come up with a bright solution to an age-old difficulty. Guests from faraway enjoy your natural warmth — don't make a special effort to "impress."

CANCER — June 22-July 22
Being far-minded and open-minded makes you a highly regarded individual on the homefront and at the workplace. New friendships highlight the period. Older relatives offer wise suggestions.

LEO — July 23-August 22
New business ventures require a sensible approach — this is not the week to expect something for nothing. Travel ideas come from unlikely sources. Stay informed of current events.

VIRGO — August 23-September 22
Inventive spirit is hard at work — you may come up with an idea or product worth patenting. A distracted friend becomes more jovial thanks to your encouragement and upbeat personality.

LIBRA — September 23-October 22
Adaptability is your middle name in a week that offers an unusually broad variety of people and events. Creative gifts come your way. In relationships, there's cause for celebration.

SCORPIO — October 23-November 21
Nostalgia is a theme of the week as you hear from a long-lost friend or admirer. Surprise gifts arrive from unexpected sources. Meaningful bonus arrives after the weekend.

SAGITTARIUS — November 22-December 22
Triple-check your gift-giving list as you may be prone to forgetfulness. Simple ideas earn you praise and encourage you to expand in new directions. Romance is highlighted all week.

CAPRICORN — December 23-January 20
Mechanical and technical difficulties require a competent hand, and all guarantees should be carefully checked. You prove a qualified advisor to the lovelorn. Intuition is strong.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK
You're something of a late-bloomer, and throughout your life education is a major theme. You thrive in a challenging situation — and will create such an environment if necessary. New friendships dominate the next several months; reconciliations are highlighted from around June to late '86.

BORN THIS WEEK
December 19th, host David Susskind; 20th, actress Irene Dunne; 21st, actress Jane Fonda; 22nd, composer Carlos Sanlago; 23rd, actor Harry Guardino; 24th, actress Ava Gardner; 25th, singer Barbara Mandrell.

Ed Connolly, 'Cop's Cop' On Brady's Beat

Frequently honored Boston policeman Ed Connolly will appear with host Pat Brady on Brady's Beat on Cable Ch. 3 on Wednesday, Dec. 18 at 8:30 p.m. and on Sunday Dec. 22nd at 8 p.m.

Best known for an incident in Jamaica Plain in 1979, in which he was nearly killed while making an arrest, Connolly is the recipient of virtually every possible award from the Boston Police Department.

He was the first head of the

ED CONNOLLY

Boston Drug Unit, and for a time was Chief of Field Services, which placed him in command of all uniformed personnel and detectives in Boston, until he was demoted by then new Police Commissioner Francis Roache.

Connolly is the co-author with Chris Harding of a new book about his career, appropriately entitled "A Cop's Cop," which Telly Savalas describes as a "must-read for all who seek adventure."

2 A.M. Closing For New Year's Holiday

The License Board voted Tuesday to allow licenses establishments in Quincy to remain open until 2 a.m. on Jan. 1.

According to board members, an establishment must have both an all alcoholic license and a common victualer license to take advantage of the ruling. Taverns, which only have all alcoholic licenses, will have to close at the normal 1 a.m. hour.

"It's only one day a year, I don't see any harm in a two o'clock license," said Police Chief and board members Francis Finn.

Finn said Quincy establishments would lose customers New Year's Eve because patrons would go to such as Weymouth, Randolph and Boston, which have later closing hours.

"I think it's fair for one day of the year," said City Clerk and board chairman John Gillis.

"People are becoming conscious that drinking is down," Finn added.

Soviet Dissidents 'Psychology Tonight' Topic

Joshua Rubenstein, Northeast Co-ordinator of Amnesty International and author of "Soviet Dissidents: Their Struggle For Human Rights," will join "Psychology Tonight" host Tim Lynch Monday, Dec. 30, 8:30 p.m., on Quincy Cable Ch. 3.

Lynch and Rubenstein will discuss life as a dissenter in Russia.

In illustrating life in an unfree society, Rubenstein will give numerous examples of abuses of power in the Soviet Union, including the abuse of the psychiatric profession.

Russian propaganda will be discussed as a psychological technique to maintain order and to punish dissenters by robbing them of friends and social contacts.

Also, some of the more famous dissidents, such as Andrei Sakharov, will be discussed.

West Quincy Firm Again Told To Clean Property

By LINDA WILKINS

The Quincy License Board will send a letter to Joseph H. Vissa & Sons, 18-20 Furnace Ave., West Quincy, stating that Vissa further clear its business property and appear before the board Jan. 14 in response to their communication.

Vissa has previously been brought before the board concerning trucks and debris allegedly placed on and beyond Vissa's licensed lot.

A letter should be sent to Joseph Vissa stating that the problem still exists and that while we understand they have made some progress, it's not enough," said Police Chief Francis Finn.

Finn said the letter should also state that Vissa appear before the board. "At that time, we expect to hear from the health department as to what additional progress has been made," he added.

Finn said the letter would stress that Vissa's gasoline license is still in jeopardy and that considerable progress will be expected by the board.

"A considerable amount of junk and debris has been removed," said Joseph R. Valente, of Valente Mechanical Contractors, Inc., a butler of Vissa. The matter originally came before the board through a letter written by Valente which stated that Vissa had created an eyesore in what is basically a residential area.

Valente also said, however, that oil tanks and junk vehicles were still present and that he had observed crankcase oil being dumped on Vissa's land.

A report presented to the board at the meeting by Bertrand LaPointe, Housing Code Enforcement Inspector, stated that unregistered trucks, oil barrels, a steel chimney, wood, and other debris had not yet been removed from the site.

Building Inspector and board member Allan MacDonald said the board should also demand that Vissa fence the lot. "A fence was required in his original license," he said.

But City Clerk and board chairman John Gillis told MacDonald that if the board required one business to fence off its area it should require all of them to do it. "You go after them, that's your job, not ours," he said.

Acting Fire Chief Carl Valenti said the board should insist Vissa fence the land when called before the board in January.

Robert Vissa, an owner of Joseph H. Vissa & Sons, previously told the board that he had cleared some vehicles off the land, but was having difficulty finding junk dealers who would clear the debris. Vissa was not present at Tuesday's meeting.

Council Approves Revenue Bond For Messina

The first tenant in Quincy Pier 1 Imports opened last week at the former Sears

Building in downtown Quincy, according to Planning Director James Lydon. Messina Enterprises, which is developing Quincy Fair at a cost of more than $4 million, is now talking to two other prospective tenants, said Lydon.

One is a restaurant and the other is a clothing retailer, he said.

The City Council voted Monday night to approve $550,000 in Industrial Revenue Bonds for Messina.

Lydon said the funds are for brokerage payments not included in the original package, and for tenant fixture work.

"The market is tougher than anticipated," explained Lydon, "they are having to provide more for tenants than they thought they would."

Lydon said that at malls like the South Shore Plaza in Braintree, developers basically provide just a concrete box and tenants must do all the fixturing themselves.

But in locations like downtown Quincy, developers have to provide amenities such as rugging, counters and light fixtures.

Lydon estimated that it will be a while before the two lease negotiations are finalized.

"I'm optimistic about the progress of the building," said Lydon, "and I'm excited about the people they continue to talk to about leasing space in the building."

Surtax Repeal Hailed

Three Quincy state legislators were in complete harmony when they said the $331 repeal of the 7.5 per cent surtax on income is a result of a taxpayer concern demanded by the House of Representatives.

Under terms of the House-Senate Conference Committee measure, the largest tax cut in Massachusetts history will be phased out over a two-year period; half repealed in tax year 1986 and the remaining half repealed in tax year 1987.

Rep. Robert Cerasoli: "When the financial balance sheets indicated the state could afford substantial tax relief, it was the membership of the House that insisted the surtax be eliminated and that the taxpayers of the Commonwealth reap the benefits."

Rep. Michael Morrissey: "And it was the leadership of Speaker George Keeverian, House Ways and Means Chairman, Richard Voke, and the members of House Ways and Means, that produced the legislation that will bring about the cut. It was the thinking of the House that the best way to administer a major tax cut was to put the money where it would do the most good. And that is, right into the hands of the taxpayers."

Rep. Thomas Brownell: "Every taxpayer will benefit. For example, a couple filing jointly and earning between $20,000 and $30,000 a year would save $162, an effective tax cut of 20 per cent. We believe the exemption provisions will insure that the most substantial percentage cuts will go to people making less than $30,000 a year."

The elimination of the surtax will mean the no-tax status of the working poor will be increased to $10,000 for joint filers and $6,000 for individual filers.

Cash Reward For Fatal Bakery Fire Information

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

A cash reward is being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for arson at the staff of Life Bakery, Quincy Point, April 5, where two men died.

The reward is being offered by the Federal Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, Terrence J. McArdle, special agent in charge, Quincy Police Dept., Francis Finn, Chief, and the Mass. State Fire Marshall, Joseph O'Keefe.

Wisam Saba of Arlington and Joseph Houeiss of Roslindale died in the fire which destroyed the building at 567-569 Washington St.

The following information is particularly being sought: who set the fire, why they did it, and the whereabouts of the two victims between the hours of 11 p.m. April 4, and 1 a.m. April 5.

Saba was described as a white male, Lebanese, 22.6 ft. tall, 215 pounds, with short dark brown hair and a ruddy complexion.

Houeiss was also a white male of Lebanese extraction, 35, 5 ft. 11 inches tall, 190 pounds, black hair with a receding hair line, black mustache, one front tooth missing and a dark complexion.

An unidentified female called the Quincy Fire Department soon after the fire was reported and stated that two men were trapped inside the building.

This woman is asked to contact the authorities as soon as possible.

Anyone having information concerning the arson is asked to call the following numbers which are in service 24 hours a day: 223-7017 Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms Bureau; 479-1212, 328-4527, Quincy Police; 1-800-682-9229, State Fire Marshal's Office.

All information will be held in the strictest confidence, according to the agencies.

$420,000 Richer Thanks To Megabucks

Perseverance paid off to the tune of $420,000 for Laura M.

Kenny of Quincy when after a year of playing the same set of numbers, she cashed in as one of four winners of the state Megabucks.

Mrs. Kenny, 31, of Palmer St., bought the winning ticket at Lester's Variety, a neighborhood store.

"I was shocked. I screamed, I cried," she said. "I couldn't believe it as I saw the numbers come up one by one on television."

Four winning tickets with the numbers 3-7-11-13-25-32 were sold lottery spokesman Dave Ellis said.

Each of the winners get $420,000 or $15,777 after taxes each year for the next 20 years.

Other winning tickets were sold in Byfield, Lowell and Everett.

The True Spirit Of Christmas

415 Needy Families Get Christmas Help

By DAN CONNELLY

The true meaning of Christmas—people helping people—showed through in a tidal wave of generosity once again in Quincy.

Because of the charitable efforts donated and volunteered, local organizations were able to distribute 415 food baskets, toys, serve meals, distribute thousands of articles of clothing and provide shelter for the homeless during Christmas.

The Koch Club, Quincy Lodge of Elks, Quincy City Club, Salvation Army, Quincy Interfaith Shelter Coalition, Quincy Community Action Organization were joined by churches, civic and private organizations and individuals who all made it their top priority during this Christmas season to help the less fortunate.

The Koch Club of Quincy and its Charitable Committee has always responded to their long list of needy projects for the holiday season.

Now in its 30th year the club provided 80 food baskets to needy families in the Quincy area. They were distributed through social services, church and community organizations. The baskets consisted of turkeys, hams, canned goods, fresh fruit and vegetables and wrapped gifts for children.

Hundreds of donated re-conditioned and cleaned toys items were also delivered to church and community groups in Boston's South End, Dorchester, Jamaica Plain, Cambridge and Chelsea. Hundreds of clothing items were included in the distribution.

Children's knitted hats, socks and mittens along with other toys were provided to a community health center in a needy section of Boston where the doctors and nurses distribute the items.

As in 1984, the club assisted the homeless at the Long Island Shelter by delivering 13 dozen new pairs of woolen socks.

The Boston Catholic Charitable Bureau and Protestant churches aided the club in its overall distribution of items for the holiday season.

Richard J. Koch, Executive Director, said the program which has continually expanded since it started its program in 1956 would not be possible without the loyal support of organizations, families and individuals who annually contribute food, toys or funds toward the worthwhile club projects.

Koch said the North Quincy Sacred Heart C.Y.O. $500 donation helped enormously in the club's charitable endeavors for this Christmas.

Koch said thanks also goes to the Thomas Sherwin and Neponset Chapter Telephone Pioneers who have continually supported the projects as has the South Quincy Social Club and many other individuals.

He said students at the Francis Parker and Sacred Heart schools donated new and used toys for a number of years on behalf of the children served by the projects.

Woodward School For Girls Christmas-wrapped several thousand gifts presented to children for more than a decade with the girls providing the wrapping materials and ribbons making the presentations more enjoyable.

Also in for kudos: North

Quincy Catholic Women's Club whose membership bring Christmas wrapped gifts to their annual party for use of the club in its extensive program; and William E. Kelley who has been a major source of assistance by the committee.

The Quincy Lodge of Elks Sunday distributed about 200 Christmas baskets with turkeys and all the trimmings for a holiday meal.

About 25 club members used their own cars and trucks to load the packaged baskets from Charlie's Mini Market at 247 Atlantic St. for distribution.

"The money for the baskets was donated by the members," said lodge secretary George Alcott, "it's the Elks way of people helping people. We hope our efforts will make this holiday a little bit happier for the folks who need a helping hand."

About 135 families received food and toys from the Quincy Temple Corps of the Salvation Army in Quincy, according to Capt. Gerald Stephens, commanding officer.

Families that applied to the Salvation Army visited the Quincy Temple Corps and select toys they wrap and give to their children.

Parcels of food including canned goods, and vouchers for meats and vegetables according to family size were also distributed.

"Money from the Army kettles that helps pay for the toys and food is down but we hope that once again the

A Tribute To Jim Crowley

Well, you could say "it's about time."

The late David (Jim) Crowley, who in his day was "the people's city councillor" is at last, being honored. No big monument or anything like that. Snug Harbor Court in Germantown is going to be re-named David (Jim) Crowley Court in his memory.

He would have liked that because Snug Harbor meant so much to him because it was the site of the first permanent veterans homes after World War II. And, he made it possible.

It was also his action in the City Council that brought about the creation of the Quincy Housing Authority and public housing for low income families.

The naming of Snug Harbor Court in his memory is quite appropriate.

KELLY

Housing Authority.

Kelly made the suggestion to the QHA commissioners last week, presented convincing background and came away with a unanimous favorable vote.

Crowley, who died Oct. 5, 1978 at 71, could give and take on the council floor. There was no doubt he was for "the little guy".

He served as a Ward 1 city councillor under the old Plan A from 1946 to 1949 and then five years as councillor at-large under Plan E.

It didn't take him long to leave his mark in February, 1946, less than two full months after taking office, Crowley introduced a resolve to create a housing authority.

CROWLEY

A week later it was unanimously passed. It called for a five member authority to supervise the construction and maintenance of a low income permanent federal housing project. Four of the members, under the resolve, would be named by the mayor and the fifth by the state housing commission. Pretty much the same as it is today, only the governor makes the fifth appointment.

In October of that same year, Crowley initiated legislation to enable the city to borrow $750,000 to build permanent veterans homes here. It was passed and the facility was built at Snug Harbor.

Earlier, Crowley had played a major role in obtaining temporary housing for veterans.

He became known as the "Father of Veterans Housing" in Quincy.

It's nice to see Quincy remember him.

MAYOR FRANCIS McCauley took a cruise with his wife, Sandra, last week but didn't completely get away from his work.

McCAULEY

He made one ship-to-shore phone call from the Caribbean to see if his office needed him for anything.

They told him to go back to his vacation, that the wheels of Democracy in the City of Presidents, were turning nicely.

McCauley, who is known for his walking, said he was the best walker aboard ship — getting in more miles than anyone.

And, talk about small worlds: Aboard ship he bumped into Ralph Paull, commander of the Quincy Veterans Council and the Quincy Jewish War Veterans Post.

BOB BARKER of the Quincy Typewriter Service, has a dog which, he says, "is a barker, too." (Aw, c'mon).

BUT on a serious note, have a very Merry Christmas!

Councillors To Urge Continuation Of Seniors Housing Security

Two City Councillors will urge the mayor at a special meeting Jan. 2, to authorize expenditure of city funds for the continuation of security services at two Quincy senior citizen buildings.

Councillors Stephen J. McGrath and Theodore P. DeCristofaro will present to the City Council a resolve regarding 80 Clay St., Wollaston, and Martensen St., Quincy Point.

In the resolve, to be forwarded to the mayor, McGrath and DeCristofaro will note that community development funds have been used for private security positions for the past several years.

"We have been told by Mr. Domas of the Planning Department that the $20,000 in funding for these positions will no longer continue, as the social services portion of the CD budget can no longer support this funding due to a federally mandated cap," said McGrath and DeCristofaro.

The councillors noted that with the city in a positive cash position that could be available from city funds.

The councillors noted that the real problem is the lack of availability of state funds to provide security for the state facilities.

The mayor and the Planning Department have been very supportive of this funding in the past and, we are sure, share our concern at the lack of funding from the Commonwealth, they said.

However, McGrath and DeCristofaro said that until the Commonwealth corrects this deficiency the city is able and, in fact, should provide security coverage for these buildings.

REAL ESTATE UPDATE

THE TRUE MIDDLEMAN

QUESTION: I understand that the Realtor receives his commission from the seller. Does this mean that the Realtor works mainly for the seller and against the best interests of the buyer?

ANSWER: In practice, the Realtor receives his commission out of the price that is paid to the seller. However, this does not mean he will not protect the interests of the buyer. Indeed, under the law and codes of ethics, the Realtor must protect the interest of the buyer as well as the seller because of his status as the licensed professional who executes the sale. Also, as a matter of practicality, the agent wants both buyer and seller as satisfied customers and as future clients.

THE REALTOR is a true middleman, even though he receives his commission from the seller.

415 Needy Families Get Christmas Help

generosity of the people of Quincy will support us to carry on this ministry," Stephens said.

Providing help to some 135 families in the Greater Quincy area represents about 350 children who will be able to enjoy a good Christmas, Stephens said.

"We have our toy store ready. The parents come in and look for appropriate toys and take them home to put under the tree. There is no agency stigma. The toys are new and they didn't come from the Salvation Army; they come from Santa or the family."

Quincy Community Action Organization will be serving turkey and ham for their Dec. 25 noon dinner at the Quincy Free Restaurant, 29 Foster St. They are affiliated with the Central Baptist Center. Donated pies and pastries from Montilio's will complement the dessert course.

Mary Brelsford, coordinator of the dinner, said she plans to serve anywhere from 75 to 85 people. She also is giving an open invitation to those living alone in the city who are reluctant to come forward. For information they can call 472-1759, the organization's Hunger Hotline telephone.

Brelsford said staffers at the fuel assistance program of Quincy Community Action turned over $100 towards her food budget. "The additional money enabled me to purchase hams for the dinner."

The Faxon House temporary shelter for the homeless opened its doors to some 32 people Monday, Dec. 23, at 4:30 p.m.

The shelter's sponsor, Quincy Interfaith Shelter Coalition, Inc., couldn't be happier said Nancy Powers, coalition director.

Faxon House will have a 24 hour a day program that will offer shelter, showers, clothing, food, personal hygiene items, and a full range of social services to the homeless.

But, the shelter's financial future is dependent on donations. A local resident doing her part to help that cause is Dorothy McTiernan of Quincy who operates Dorothy's Card and Gift Shop in the Howard Johnson Plaza at State Street South complex in North Quincy.

She has been selling $1 tickets for a toy, full-size stuffed German shepherd and puppy, proceeds to benefit the shelter. The drawing for a winner will be held Monday at the card shop.

Mrs. McTiernan, an active member on several committees at Union Congregational Church in Wollaston, said "I feel this shelter is something that needs all the support we can give it, I hope proceeds from this drawing will help them."

The Quincy City Club has provided hundreds of woolen hats, socks and gloves to the Long Island Shelter, Pine Street Inn and Rosie's Place as part of its annual Christmas charitable projects.

The articles were delivered in advance of the cold weather to allow immediate use of the items.

Richard J. Koch, president of the organization, stated that five dozen men's pajamas had also been delivered to the Quincy Detoxification Center while items of clothing were forwarded to a halfway house for alcoholics in Quincy in response to its annual request.

The City Club again purchased and provided 41 gifts for the annual Christmas Party for the Retarded sponsored by the Quincy Recreation Department while dozens of items of personal clothing were delivered for distribution to patients at the Medfield State Hospital and clients at a number of Halfway Houses.

The club recently received a $300 donation from the waitresses at Dee Dee's restaurant in Quincy in the name of the late Richard M. (Dee Dee) Morrissey and the contribution has been applied to the Richard M. Morrissey Christmas Charity Fund established by the club in his name. That fund will be implemented in 1995, the 10th anniversary of his death and will continue each year thereafter.

'Elevator' Pay Plan Suggested For City Employees

City Councillor Louis A. George was seeking quick action on a Quincy Taxpayers Association suggestion that the pay of city employees be adjusted up or down annually according to the cost of living.

"Personally," said Council President William W. Jenness, "I would favor such a plan, although I would not favor a cut of wages below the basic rate now in effect."

The QTA submitted its plan two weeks before during the same City Council meeting at which representatives of the Fire and Police Departments asked for 15 per cent wage increases.

SHIP A DAY

William H. Collins, general manager of Bethlehem's Fore River Shipyard, announced that Bethlehem yards around the country had fulfilled a promise by delivering a ship a day to the government in 1943.

As Collins spoke, the 10,000-ton light cruiser USS Pasadena was launched at Fore River and the destroyer escorts USS Luke and USS Barr slid down the ways at the Hingham auxiliary yard on the same day.

The day before, Hingham launched the destroyer escorts HMS Hotham and USS Ahrens, its 100th and 101st ships, the first double launch of ships destined for the British and American navies.

MARAUDERS UNDEFEATED

Meade's Marauders continued unbeaten in the Sacred Heart Cub Basketball League with a 14-4 victory over the Atlantic Wildcats as Richie Sullivan got eight points and Tom Finneran four.

The lineups for the two teams included: Marauders - Johnson, Murphy, Bowen, Finneran, Sullivan, Morrissey, Concannon, Atlantic - Humphrey, B. Cullen, F. Cullen, McGuigan, Coburn, Caporan.

HOT PURSUIT

A boarder who was four weeks behind in his rent was suspected of stealing $40 in cash and $100 in goods from the home of Mrs. Dorothy Draffone of 35 Parker St., Quincy, on Christmas Eve.

Mrs. Draffone's 14-year-old son followed the suspect to South Station in Boston and then on the New York train as far as Providence where police refused to arrest him in the absence of word from Quincy Police.

THE MEAT OF THE MATTER

Q: My husband is a meat and potato man. He just doesn't believe that a meal is a meal without red meat. I'm afraid that it isn't very good for his health, but he won't believe me. Who's right?

A: Americans now eat record amounts of red meats. Unfortunately, along with meat comes large amounts of hidden fats, and fats contain more calories per gram than any other food. A combination of animal and vegetable fats comprise nearly half of the calories in an average American's diet.

For example, a 16-ounce sirloin steak contains 1,316 calories, 71 grams protein and 112 grams fat. The same 16 ounces of halibut have approximately half the calories. 30 percent more protein and two-thirds less total fats. To lower consumption of animal fats, switch to lean sources of protein, such as fish, chicken breasts and tofu.

For more tips on how to reduce the fat in your diet, contact your local Diet Center at 770-3442.

Thayer Students Raise $541 For OXFAM

Craig Salters and Joanna Skoler of Quincy were among the Thayer Academy Community Council members who sponsored a recent OXFAM International Fast for World Harvest at the school.

The fast provided $541.50 for the cause.

The council also sponsored a volleyball tournament. Registration fees of $1 for each participant on the 16 teams added $107 more for OXFAM.

Peter Mehegan of Channel 5's Chronicle, in a chapel talk about his recent trip to Ethiopia, commented that the students had contributed more than they perhaps realized because a dollar can be a whole month's wages in Ethiopia.

Thayer Middle School's eighth grade sponsored a canned food collection at Thanksgiving. They organized a competition among homerooms with the promise of a pizza party for the room contributing the most cans. The seventh grade is now sponsoring a Toys for Tots drive for Christmas and the Upper School Girls Athletic Association is having a candy can sale for Globe Santa.

Thayer Academy is located on Washington Street in Braintree.

Sen. Harold's Yule Card Designed By St. Coletta Student

A drawing, depicting Santa, a Christmas tree and small children was the winning entry in a designing contest for students at St. Coletta's School in Braintree, for reproduction on State Sen. Paul Harold's official Christmas card.

Barbara Batts, winner of the contest conducted at the school, will receive a $50 savings bond as prize for her entry.

The Quincy legislator said "we like to use the children's ideas for yule cards instead of the usual etching of the State House because, after all, Christmas is for children."

This is the 7th consecutive year Harold's official Christmas card has been designed by a student at that school.

The winning entry is selected each year by the faculty at St. Coletta's after a drawing contest among the students.

In appreciation for their work in designing his card Harold holds an ice cream and cookie party for the students.

A POUND CHRISTMAS

Lost pets held at the Quincy Pound have no cause to feel joy at this season or any other. Above the door of that decrepit slaughterhouse should hang Milton's words "Abandon Hope, All Ye Who Enter Here." Indeed, some like old Scrooge feel that these pets should die "to decrease the surplus population." We do not share their view.

We of the Quincy Animal League speak for those who cannot speak for themselves. We stand for life and for love. We need new members — men and women of courage and compassion to help carry on our fight against neglect and cruelty, and for improved pound conditions. We need caring people who are willing to attend one meeting a month, and to write, phone, or circulate a petition when necessary.

Ask your dog or cat lying there in the comfort of your home if you should make this sort of commitment. Their eyes will give you the answer. Whether you wish to join us or simply prefer to send us a small donation, we want to hear from you. Write now, and be truly blessed this holiday season. Thank you.

President

Brownell To Poll Constituents

Five sections of Quincy will soon be receiving a questionnaire from Rep. Thomas F. Brownell to obtain constituent opinions of 10 issues from the MBTA to a 2 per cent sales tax on home sales to fund a land bank.

The questionnaire will be sent to some 500 randomly selected registered voters in Houghs Neck, Adams Shore, Germantown, Merrymount and Wollaston.

"There are a number of very important issues now facing the Legislature," Brownell said. "By conducting this survey, our office hopes to get a good indication of voter sentiment."

In his letter to those receiving the questionnaire Brownell is asking voters to complete all the questions; and if they like, feel free to write about any or all topics that may interest them on the back of the sheet.

All individual responses will be kept confidential. Once his office has tabulated the data, they will announce the results in the local media.

Question No. 5 on the sheet is no longer an issue because legislation repealing the state's 7.5 per cent income tax surcharge and giving Massachusetts residents the largest tax cut in state history was on its way to final passage and signing by the governor after the sheet had been printed.

The questions are:

- Are you satisfied with the State's progress in improving transportation on the Southeast Expressway and the Red Line?

- Should we increase, to the poverty level, benefits for recipients of Aid To Family lies With Dependent Children and General Relief?

- Should cities and towns be allowed to place a 2 per cent tax on home sales in order to fund a Land Bank for open-space preservation?

- Are you in favor of legislation creating a Consumer Utility Board; a private, non-profit corporation devoted to representing the interests of utility consumers?

- Instead of putting excess budget surplus funds in a "rainy day" reserve fund, do you think we should reduce the surplus by repealing the 7.5 per cent state income surtax?

- Should the state purchase Long Island from the City of Boston in order to incorporate it into the Boston Harbor Islands State Park as a means of preserving it for open-space and recreational use?

- Are you in favor of mandating automobile passengers to wear seatbelts?

- Are you in favor of presumptive sentencing legislation which would limit a judge's discretion in sentencing defendants found guilty of criminal action, and increase the time served by the average defendant?

- Would you be in favor of a Press Shield Law which would immunize newspaper and T.V. reporters from revealing, to a court of law, the knowledge they might have about a crime?

- Would you be in favor of putting a limit on compensation and damages a medical malpractice victim could receive, to curb the cost of medical malpractice liability insurance that physicians must pay?

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK

For the past few weeks we have related to you, through this column, the history of some of our most sung and most loved Christmas Carols.

Each year, usually starting in the early part of December, we hear these songs being played on the radio and television and being sung in Church. We play them on our stereo for our own pleasure at home and even in our car. Now that Christmas is only a heartbeat away we hear the swelling of this music in our hearts even more. But let the swelling of all the traditional Christmas Carols we've been hearing all month - or la la the swelling of the great music the choir of angels brought on that awesome night over 2000 years ago? Is it the message of that first Christmas Carol - "Peace on earth, good will toward men?"

Never has there been a Christmas song written to equal the message of the first one. Never has there been a choir as beautiful to sing it.

We at the Deware Funeral Home hope in these modern times of great discord among nations and people that the words and music of the greatest Christmas Carol of all will fill your hearts not only during this holy week but throughout the years to come...

A Lot Of If's In Pact To Buy Quincy Shipyard

By DAN CONNELLY

There was a glimmer of hope for the General Dynamics Shipyard in Quincy Friday but officials were cautiously optimistic about the news.

John Stubierski, aide to U.S. Cong. Brian Donnelly, said there is a long chain of 'ifs' about a Houston firm seeking to buy the yard to build luxury cruise ships.

The deal is dependent on so many unlikely events, including government subsidies of $75 million for each ship, that Washington sources familiar with the deal are giving it little chance of success.

Stubierski said the Quincy Congressman has been in contact with Navy Secretary John Lehman over the past year seeking government shipbuilding contracts for the troubled yard which is scheduled to close down shipbuilding operations in the spring.

The pact to buy the yard hinges on whether Genesis Shipbuilding of Houston, Tex., gets federal government subsidies for the $200 million liners in exchange for making them convertible for military use in wartime.

Genesis has signed an open-ended agreement with General Dynamics to buy the shipyard, according to company president Frank Rack. Rack, a Houston shipbuilding consultant, formed Genesis Shipbuilding this month. Rack worked at the Quincy shipyard from 1965 to 1973.

Rack said he hoped to build "any kind of ship," but that discussions had focused on building cruise ships for American Flagship Corp. of New York, which has sought the government subsidies to build cruise ships that can be converted to troop carriers. Capt. Robert W. Kestelott, director of the Navy strategic sealift command, called the chances of the deal coming through "somewhat between slim and none."

A House Armed Services Committee has requested a study of the proposal, according to Stubierski. The study will most likely be conducted by the committee's staff with input from the Navy, he said.

In 1981 the Reagan administration eliminated a series of subsidies for building commercial ships that could be used by the armed services, said Stubierski. The primary purpose of the subsidies was to make American shipbuilders more competitive with foreign ones, he said.

General Dynamics Quincy spokesperson Evelyn Murphy declined comment on the agreement with Genesis Shipbuilding.

If the deal were to go through, sources said roughly 2200 persons could be employed at the shipyard.

General Dynamics plans to close the yard in the spring after completing the last of five Navy supply ships called for in its last Navy contract.

CHRISTMAS IN QUINCY was a celebration of the Christmas Season at Adams Academy, Josiah Quincy House and First Parish Church. David and Sally Bohl welcomed visitors to the Josiah Quincy House.

CHRISTMAS IN CHURCH

lights the way to the spirit and brotherhood of Christmas

The Christmas Story

Luke, 2, 1-14. At that time, there went forth a decree from Caesar Augustus that a census of the whole world should be taken. The first census took place while Cyrenus was governor of Syria.

And all were going each to his own town, to register.

And Joseph also sent from Galilee out of the town of Nazareth into Judea to the town of David, which is called Bethlehem - because he was of the house and family of David - to register, together with Mary his espoused wife, who was with child.

And it came to pass while they were there, that the days for her to be delivered were fulfilled.

And she brought forth her first-born Son, and wrapped Him in swaddling clothes, and laid Him in a Manger, because there was no room for them in the Inn.

And there were shepherds in the same district living in the fields and keeping watch over their flock by night.

And behold, an angel of the Lord stood by them and the glory of God shone round them, and they feared exceedingly.

And the angel said to them, "Do not be afraid, for behold, I bring you good news of great joy which shall be to all the people; for today in the town of David a Savior has been born to you, Who is Christ the Lord.

And this shall be a sign to you; you will find an infant wrapped in swaddling clothes and lying in a manger."

And suddenly there was with the angel a multitude of the heavenly host praising God and saying, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace among men of good will."

Ellen Ogilvie is in charge of costumes and Valerie Gorill, makeup.

Before the 7 p.m. service there will be two piano solos: Kristen Fluhr will play "The First Noel" and "Away in a Manger," and Marci Hurd will play "O Little Town of Bethlehem."

During the 11 p.m. Candlelight Service the Chancel Choir will sing "Away in a Manger," the Youth Choir will sing "Were You There on that Christmas Night?" and the combined choirs will sing "O Holy Night" with Susan Scott as the soprano soloist.

Worshippers at both services are encouraged to bring bells to church with them to ring during the carols.

The fourth Sunday in Advent was observed Sunday with an all-church breakfast, sponsored by the young people of the church, and a joyous Christmas service.

The service, which was held in a sanctuary decorated for Christmas, began with Christmas carols sung in the balcony by the Chancel Choir.

The Christmas prelude was "The First Noel" as arranged by Gail Pollock. It was played by Mindi Hurd on the organ and Mary Ruth Scott on the piano.

The call to worship was given by Don Frazer. Bob Gorill read the Scripture and Tom Williamson and Gretchen Bumpus assisted the pastor in the pastoral prayer.

Four choirs participated in the service: the Cherub Choir, under the direction of Susan Scott and Mindi Hurd, sang "Away in a Manger;" the Crusader Choir sang "Song of the Littlest Angel" by Ruth Artman; the Youth Choir sang "Go Where I Send Thee;" a spiritual paraphrased by Maurice Gardner; and the Chancel Choir sang "In the Bleak Mid-Winter" by Harold Drake. The selection by the Chancel Choir featured Valerie Gorill, soprano soloist, and James E. Sumner, tenor soloist. Mary Ruth Scott directs all of the choirs except for the Cherub Choir.

The carols of the morning included "O Come, All Ye Faithful," "Go, Tell It on the Mountain," "Joy to the World!" and "Angels We Have Heard on High."

Church pastor the Rev. Dr. Gene Langevin preached on the subject, "Where Christ Is To Come," taking his text from the scripture in Matthew 2:1-12.

Steve and David Williams were the greeters, Tore Wallin and Stewart Scott the ushers and the Fellowship Hour after the service was hosted by Janet Townson and Patti Hurd.

There is still time to give just a few more things in the real spirit of Christmas. And all they cost is a little of you. You can probably think of many more, but these are just a few suggestions to start with.

- * Ask someone who's far from home (or has no home) to share your Christmas dinner
- * Use your mistletoe generously
- * Say thank you a lot
- * Take one of your favorite presents to that kid in your class you suspect Santa might miss
- * Take a thermos of hot chocolate to your school crossing guard
- * Pick someone up and take them with you to Christmas services
- * Put out bread crumbs for the birds and nuts for the squirrels
- * Pull out your mother's chair for her when she sits down to dinner
- * Offer to say "grace" yourself
- * Invite someone who has no fireplace over to enjoy yours
- * Call your doctor and ask how he's feeling
- * Help the little kids in your neighborhood build their first snowman (if there's snow)
- * Tell someone you love them

Merry Christmas from the people who care

What Christmas . . . And Chanukah Mean To Me

Students in Quincy public schools again this year were invited to submit articles on the themes "What Christmas Means To Me" and "What Chanukah Means To Me."

This year, the authors are from Grades 3, 5 and 7.

The sun is happy to share their thoughts at this season with you. Publishing these articles has become a tradition to which all of us at The Sun look forward to and, we hope, you do, too.

In the past we have extended the invitation to all grades but because we were swamped with entries and because of space limitations, we decided this year to limit the articles to three grades.

Next year, we will invite students in other grades.

Even after limiting the grades to three we were still flooded with articles and are unable to print every one.

We are sorry because so many others were worthy of publication.

However, we will print more next week as space permits.

To all who participated we wish to extend season's greetings and a happy, healthy New Year.

Thank you all, most sincerely.

Christmas is a special holiday of giving, loving and sharing. We would not have any Christmas if Jesus was not born. He was born in the town of Bethlehem. He slept in a manger with a golden halo around his head.

Lisa Ferrara
Montclair Gr. 3

To me Christmas is a time to share and a time to care. It is also a time to give and receive gifts. Christmas is a time to get together with family. It's a time to sing Christmas carols. But most of all Christmas is a time to celebrate Christ's birthday.

Christina Abban
Sterling Gr. 7

When I think of Christmas, I think of giving presents to family and friends. Christmas is a time to share things. At Christmas we should be thankful for the things we have because some people are less fortunate than we are.

Geoffrey Allen
Sterling Gr. 7

I love to light the Hanukkah candles. I have special food for Hanukkah. I have Hanukkah with my neighbors. I sing nice songs and play with a dreidel.

Daniella Howes
Daniel Webster Gr. 3

Christmas is real great. Because you can't wait. You can have a lot of fun. Because you can play and run. Christmas means a lot of things. Like getting cladder rings. Opening up presents and finding toys. But keeping down the noise. Christmas means a lot of sharing and caring!

Jeffrey Jones
Parker Gr. 5

As I walk by the colorful houses, I see the candles in the windows.

When I walk into my house, I see the colorful gifts under the glowing tree.

There are giant red stockings filled with red and silver canes for the little ones.

Kerri McDonough
Atlantic Gr. 7

A Greek Christmas: Four days before Christmas, when school closes for Christmas vacation, we have something similar to a party.

We celebrate with poems and sketches that deal with the birth of Jesus Christ and at the end of the party we all exchange gifts.

The day before Christmas Day most of the children go from house to house and sing Christmas carols. It's a custom just like "Trick or Treat."

A few days before Christmas Day we set a Christmas tree under which we put our presents.

On the night of Christmas Eve all the members of the family open their presents.

The next day we will all go to church and we will receive the Holy Communion and after church we will cut the Christmas cake and we will enjoy the food.

Jimmy Verginis
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

Hanukkah means love and appreciation. It shows that everyone cares. And it means presents, BUT PLEASE DON'T BE GREEDY. And I get surprise presents, but I'm not greedy so sometimes I get EXTRAS!

Amy Sarabia
Daniel Webster Gr. 3

Chanukah means to me fun and joy. I like Chanukah when we get presents and when we light the Menorah. I like when we play games like dreidel.

Andrew Kramer
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

I like Christmas. It is fun. I like the toys I get. Christmas means love and sharing your heart with God. You should be with your family. I like Christmas.

Heather Murphy
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

Christmas means sharing, giving, having fun, spending time with my family, going to Christmas parties, putting up my Christmas tree, singing carols and opening presents.

Jason Currie
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

Christmas is a time to celebrate Jesus' birthday and a time to give presents to everybody. It's a time for sharing and decorating your house and singing Christmas carols. At Christmas, I go to my aunt's house and have a delicious dinner. After dinner, we open presents. It's my favorite holiday.

Leticia Clark
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

On Christmas I wake up about 8:30 and I wake up my brothers Ryan and Robbie. We go downstairs and we open all our presents, we play with our things we get for a while, then we go over my grandfather and grandmother's house. We get presents from our uncles and aunts and our grandparents.

Stephen Hennessy
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

What Christmas means to me is giving not getting. Christmas just doesn't mean presents it means caring and sharing. When Christmas comes every year I go to church and pray for my family. I am very happy every Christmas. I hope you have a safe and happy Christmas.

Erin Skehan
Daniel Webster Gr. 3

Christmas is my favorite time of the year. That's when I get to hang up my stocking. And I get to light up an Advent candle. I wish it was Christmas every day of the year. I love Santa too. He is super. I would like Santa to come in the daytime.

Beth Kelley
Daniel Webster Gr. 3

Chanukah means lighting the candles and saying the blessings for eight days. I also exchange presents and eat potato latkes. Chanukah is the holiday honoring the freedom won by the Maccabees.

Maria Levine
Parker Gr. 3

Christmas means beautiful lights, the wonderful smell of pine trees, and gifts from ones we love. It's a great feeling to give to those we love and have them share their love too. But I also remember the true meaning of Christmas. As I stand at the altar on Christmas Day and hand the cup of wine to my priest, I can't help but remember Jesus' birthday.

Michael Denaro
Atlantic Gr. 7

Christmas is a time of giving gifts in memory of Jesus Christ's birthday. It is also a time for sharing with friends, family, and those less fortunate than us.

Gareth Murphy
Atlantic Gr. 7

Christmas in my family means very much. Christmas in my family means being with family members. We wait for everyone to get up and go downstairs to open the presents. We each have a nice hot breakfast after opening presents. Then we get dressed and set up for relatives to come over. The way we celebrate Christmas means a lot to me and my family.

Christine Wirt
Atlantic Gr. 7

What Hanukkah means to me... There are eight days of Hanukkah. Each night our parents hide the presents. Each night we light the candles and say a prayer. We have a cardboard dreidel and our parents put the little presents in the cardboard dreidel. They also put candy inside.

Michelle Barbo
Parker Gr. 3

Little baby Jesus was born on this day. This is the time we kneel down and pray.

It's the time we get excited 'Bout getting the trees lighted. As we feel all the joy-- When we see that one toy-- That makes us rejoice in happiness!

What Christmas . . . And Chanukah Mean To Me

It means happiness. It means joy. It means friendship. It means Christmas carols.
Baby Jesus was born on Christmas. Everybody can come over to my house and build a snowman, if it snows.

David Scott
Parker Gr. 3

What Christmas means to me. I think it's a time for one big happy family.

Caroline Cote
Parker Gr. 3

Because it was Jesus's birthday we all celebrate Christmas. This Christmas I am going to my grandmother's house in Florida and maybe we will swim in the pool.

Kelly King
Parker Gr. 3

Rudolph leads Santa's sleigh with a shiny red nose, he lights the way every where he goes, he grings with him cheer and joy for every girl and boy.

Sheree Mackie
Quincy Point Gr. 7

Christmas means giving joy to everyone you know. Decorating the tree is fun when all of your family helps. At night sitting by a warm fire and listening to Christmas carols is joyful.

Jeffrey Cassetta
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

Christmas is a happy time for all because it is a giving season. For the older people, too, because we give gifts to them that we don't ordinarily give.

Melissa Anderson
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

Christmas is a time for love and happiness. It is a time for fun and excitement. Santa Claus comes. There is singing of carols, lighting candles and celebrating Jesus' birthday.

Paul DaSilva
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas is a time for love. Christmas is a time for caring. Christmas is when God was born. Christmas is a time for a celebration. I like Christmas. Christmas is a real nice time.

Seth Mott
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

I like Christmas because of celebrations. The reason why I like it is because I have the Christmas spirit. I especially like to open my presents. But best of all I like to be with my family.

Evalina Maria Toyser
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas is a holy day when families get together with lots of love in their hearts. They share their happiness along with their sorrows, and celebrate the birth of Jesus.

Lea DeGloria
Quincy Point KGr. 7

On Christmas Eve, I go over to my aunt Wanda's. Santa Claus comes over while we're eating our meal. We then open our presents. This year I hope to get a drum set.

Eddie Kenney
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

Christmas means fun and joy. Seeing my relatives once again and eating a feast of food is part of my Christmas.

Karen Mann
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

Every year at Chanukah time, the Menora gets taken out and shines. We light a candle for each of the eight nights. Every night, a new candle comes and we watch the flames burn very bright. We say a prayer, the same one of course, for there is no prayer for each night. Then sometimes Mother will come with a present for us. How joyful it is to get something you really want like a piece of jewelry or even a nice piece of clothing to wear.

Ilana Cobban
Montclair Gr. 5

The holidays mean to me, because I'm Jewish, traditional and artificial happiness. Lighting the Menorah and eating potatoe latkas is wonderful buy honestly I also love the presents. Everyone is always happy this time of year because of an artificial reason - Christmas or Chanukah is a reason to be happy and loving. It seems such a simple reason that maybe if everyone tried harder there could be as much love every day as there is at this extremely short time of year.

Sarah Goodman
Central Middle Gr. 7

Love and happiness. Decorating the tree and brightening up the house with lights is one of the best parts of the Christmas season. I also like buying and wrapping presents.

Julie Marinilli
Atlantic Gr. 7

I like Chanukah, because I see my family and we have a big dinner with lots of good food. Then we light the candles and, when they burn, we play games. I like opening the big presents the best of all, but I like opening the little presents, too. The best part of Chanukah is that we have vacation from school.

Jennifer Brams
Squantum Gr. 5

Christmas means joy and fun. Christmas means caring, loving, and sharing. Christmas is baby Jesus's birthday.

Time for friendship, enjoying, playing and time for snowball fights. Time for Christmas carols and time to be nice to one another.

Donna Briggette
Parker Gr. 3

Hanukah is a special time of the year to me. I love giving gifts and getting them too! Every night when my whole family sits down to light the Menorah I feel so good all over. Hanukah is really special to me!

Lisa Katz
Central Middle Gr. 7

Christmas is something different for me because, you see, I'm half Jewish. I also celebrate Hanukah. I know you are probably thinking, "Oh wow, she gets double presents!". But the thing is that my Jewish grandparents give me presents according to Hanukah and the rest of my family gives me presents according to Christmas. So I really get the same amount of presents.

Because Hanukah and Christmas are so far apart this year, December will be just like one big Holiday. It also means two delicious dinners.

I think Christmas means you give presents to somebody. And they give you something back. You can't see Santa Claus when he comes to your house because you could scare him away.

David Patrick Twomey
Squantum Gr. 3

The true meaning of Christmas is that baby Jesus was born. Three wisemen bore gifts to baby Jesus. We celebrate 1 Christmas a different way. We buy a Christmas tree and we decorate it. It's lots of fun! Christmas is a time to give, receive, and to have fun. To me, Christmas means Santa Claus comes down every good little boy's and girl's chimney and gives them presents. But, he gives coal to those who are bad. I really LOVE Christmas. Oh, one more thing, you'd better be good if you don't want coal for Christmas.

Michelle Walsh
Squantum Gr. 3

Chanukah is a Holiday when you light candles for eight days.

And get presents
Now you have only 3 days left
Until the eight days are over Kids and their parents dance some.

Kids and their parents go over to the kids' grandmother
And Have a party. Well, that's what I do.

Christmas is giving presents and being with your family. It is celebrating the baby Jesus' birthday.

Christmas means a joyful time to me. I could get lots of presents. I could get a day off from school too.

Vivian Kam
Parker Gr. 3

Christmas is Jesus's birthday. I am thankful for all my gifts and for my family. Christmas means no school and we can go sledding. I can play with my toys.

Philip Spira
Parker School Gr. 3

Christmas is a time for laughter and a time for sharing. Families get together along with old friends. It is a time to celebrate Jesus birthday and you go to church. We should remember those poor people who can't buy presents.

Jason Fell

To love other people. Jesus was born on Christmas day. Christmas is to be nice to other people. Christmas means to help people, share things with your friends, share secrets.

What Christmas Means To Me . . .

It means God's birthday and celebrations and things like that. I like Christmas. We can play in the snow. I build snow men in the winter. It is fun opening presents. I like waking up so early in the morning. I like to go out in the snow.

Tommy Clark
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas is a time for loving and sharing. It is a time for remembering Jesus' birthday. It is also a time for giving gifts.

Roger Haskins
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Looking through rows and rows of dark green Christmas trees, to find the perfect one. It means bringing the beautiful tree home and seeing it inches smaller, so it won't hit the ceiling and then letting it sit in the living room to open out its boughs. While we are watching Scrooge, we decorate the tree with ornaments and tinsel. My father hooks up the Christmas tree's lights. We watch it glow inside the room.

Rebecca Squires
Squantum Gr. 5

Christmas means to me opening lots of presents on Christmas. I love to open all those toys, games, and amounts of money. Opening presents is definitely my favorite part of Christmas. Then, once I have opened all my presents, I use them during a one week vacation!

Jeffrey Earnest
Squantum Gr. 5

Christmas is a time of year. Time for hopes.

Christmas is a time of days. Time for cheers.

Christmas is a time of day. Time for life.

Christmas is a time of day. Time for joy.

Ralph Bevilacqua

Christmas means loving and kindness. Christmas is a holiday for giving and receiving. I like this holiday because you have delicious food and fun. It is always fun when you put ornaments on the Christmas tree. When you decorate your house you sometimes put up wreaths.

Jamie Malames
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

Christmas means to me - love, joy, lots of presents and good times. Also, it is the time to think about other people in this country and other countries of the world. Some of them will have an unhappy Christmas because they are poor, like homeless people in this country, and the poor people of Ethiopia.

Georgia Kesaris
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

Christmas means a time of joy and a time of happiness. It not only means receiving but also to give. It is a time to share your love with family and friends. It is a time that we celebrate when Christ, our Saviour was born. My family and I go to church. We leave church I feel full of joy and happiness.

Heidi Daggett
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

It means giving and receiving gifts. It means having lots of fun with the family and friends. I like having parties and having cake and candy at my house. It means decorating the tree with popcorn, and tree lights and with all kinds of ornaments. Best of all, I like having dinner with all my relatives and friends. The most important thing is being loved by my family.

Eric Haskins
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

Christmas means Jesus' birthday and joy to everybody. Jesus Christ was born on December 25th in Bethlehem in a stable. Did you know Christmas has the word Christ in it? Christmas is a time for giving and receiving.

Billy Coughlin
Parker Gr. 3

Christmas is an exciting holiday. I love the Christmas season, because I get to eat turkey and open presents. I hate getting kissed by my aunts and grandmother. I like getting the Christmas vacation off from school. I like most thinking that in a few days it will be 1986.

Matt Levering
Squantum Gr. 5

Christmas means having lots of fun giving and receiving presents, decorating my Christmas tree with candy canes and Christmas bells. Christmas is the best time of the year for me. On Christmas you see a lot of people in your family. That's what Christmas means to me.

Andrea Plant
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

Christmas is a time for loving, caring, giving, and receiving. Sometimes I don't like Christmas. This is one time why I don't like Christmas. I had the chicken pox on Christmas day! Boy did I hate that.

Pietra Check
Parker Gr. 3

Because I can set up the stable and see my family. I have fun when I go out and play. I go sledding and I go skating, too. I have a lot of fun with my family. When I get toys sometime I lose them, but I still have fun. I wish Christmas would never end. I wish Christmas.

Jon Healy
Parker Gr. 3

I like Santa because he brings us presents. I'm not sure if Santa really exists but I believe in him. I also like a Christmas tree. I like to decorate the tree and to put the presents under the tree.

Matthew Goguen
Daniel Webster Gr. 3

Christmas means having fun, not just getting presents. Christmas means putting up the tree, hanging up stockings, singing Christmas carols, playing in the snow, going ice skating, giving and getting gifts. Christmas was when Christ was born. He was born in a manger in Bethlehem with three wise men, shepherds and sheep. Christmas is when we decorate the house and tree. Christmas is when children leave cookies and milk for Santa Claus.

Anna O'Neill
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

I like Christmas because of the Christmas trees that I get. I like my presents, too. Last year was the best Christmas I ever had. Why do you have to hide the presents, Mom?

Rene Sirois
Parker Gr. 3

The trees, the lights, the presents, the clutter. It still cannot cover the real reason why we have such a day. To honor a baby born far, far away.

Julie Furiato
Central Middle Gr. 7

Christmas means getting presents and getting together with family. Sometimes it means lots and lots of snow on Christmas day. It means giving and receiving presents, putting up decorations and putting up a great Christmas tree. Most of all it means the birth of Jesus who gave us that wonderful day.

Alfonso Cuomo
Sterling Gr. 7

Christmas is a time for giving, receiving, sharing, and, also, caring about other people.

What Christmas Means To Me . . .

What Christmas means to me. Well Christmas means when my family gets together and decorates the Christmas tree. We like to sing. I like best when everyone is happy and well.

James I Enck
Merry Mount Gr. 3

Christmas is a joyful day. Everybody sing Christmas song. And have dinner in my house. At Christmas my whole family will have dinner in my grandmother's house. And give Christmas presents away.

Chae Ho Ng
Merry Mount Gr. 3

Christmas is a time for sharing and love and thankful and peace and good will. Kids like presents and good food. It is a time for family to get together.

Andrea McKeon
Merry Mount Gr. 3

Christmas means a time of giving and receiving gifts. It means a time of joy, love, care and cheer. At Christmas almost everybody gets something or gives something. Christmas means a time of celebrating when Jesus was born. At Christmas everybody is eager to open gifts. I hope that every single person has a merry Christmas or Chanukkah!

Patrick Kearney
Merry Mount Gr. 3

I like Christmas because it was the day Jesus was born. I like the Christmas tree. Christmas is a holiday. I like Christmas vacation the best. We get a lot of presents. We all have to buy a present for our cousins. I have to buy for Jaime. They will come over. We open our presents. The End.

Leah Thompson
Merry Mount Gr. 3

The cold winds blow on Christmas day. All the little bunnies play in the snow and have lots of fun in the snow. Santa comes to leave us toys. He takes a long journey. He starts his journey at the North Pole. I love Christmas dinner most of all. Santa loves children. Santa fills our stockings. I have six presents too. It is Jesus's birthday. Christmas is the best holiday for me. I get a vacation from school.

Brittany Tower
Merry Mount Gr. 3

Christmas is a happy holiday. Christmas is a joyful and loving holiday. It is a time for giving and receiving lots of presents and love. Christmas is a very special holiday because Jesus was born on Christmas. That is why it is special.

Paula Novotny
Merry Mount Gr. 3

I like Christmas because it is Jesus' birthday and we can show caring for others. And giving and receiving.

Chad Cam
Merry Mount Gr. 3

Christmas means when Jesus was born on Christmas eve. Christmas means joy and baby Jesus. He is our precious gift which means a lot to us. Christmas means loving and sharing. Christmas is very good because you get gifts.

Steven Barrett
Merry Mount Gr. 3

Christmas means love to me. And Christmas is a time to believe in Santa Claus. Christmas means miracles all year. People like to sing Christmas songs. Christmas means happiness and giving.

Loc-Duyen Pham
Merry Mount Gr. 3

Jesus was born on Christmas and I like getting lots of toys and money. I like to put out on the roof. Do you like to eat candy? We have high jump parties. Jesus's birthday is on Christmas. I like to get the tree and decorate it.

Jell Keddy
Merry Mount Gr. 3

I like Christmas because we share with people. It's Jesus' birthday and we celebrate it. Christmas is about Christ. On Christmas the snow is beautiful. Santa Claus gives us toys.

Stephanie Wildshue
Merry Mount Gr. 3

Christmas is a day where we celebrate and give thanks to Our Lord. I give thanks for the gifts. I open my gifts and we go to church to celebrate with God. But the best thing is when I go sledding down the big hills and have snowball fights with my friends. After I play with my friends, I always try to have the Christmas spirit because Christmas is the best time of the year.

Michael Lunnane
Parker Gr. 5

Christmas means to me decorating the Christmas tree. I like putting on the Christmas ornaments as they dangle delicately. Sometimes I don't like how my mother puts on the tree because she puts it on stand by stand. My father works very hard to put the lights on the tree, but when you go to turn the lights on you'll be lucky if the lights come on the first time! After we're done we sit down in the dark and admire our good work. We just sit there watching the lights as they twinkle on and off beautifully.

Lizabeth MacLean
Merry Mount Gr. 5

Christmas is a time for joy to each little girl and boy, a time for peace, a time to love everyone. But what I like is when Santa comes with his reindeer, ten, and Christmas is also the time to celebrate Jesus' birthday.

Jason Carlewave
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas is the time for joy and when you go to turn the lights on it is a time to give thanks to all. We give presents to all and all get presents. It is a time to love.

Patricia Ann McCarthy
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas doesn't just mean toys. It means caring for baby Jesus and sharing with others. All I want for Christmas is love from my Mother and Father.

Joshua Ayoub
Merry Mount Gr. 3

Christmas is about giving not getting, caring and smiling and singing Christmas carols, and putting up decorations for Christmas to come.

Lena Pennellature
Daniel Webster Gr. 3

Christmas is sharing and giving being nice to others and being cheerful. Opening presents on Christmas morning is fun.

Kathleen
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

Christmas means to me love and to giving to others and sharing and most of all to care. I love Christmas. I think Christmas is fun. It's fun putting ornaments on the tree.

What Christmas Means To Me . . .

To me, Christmas means a time to give and receive gifts. It also means a time to decorate the family Christmas tree. Christmas also is a time when families get together and exchange gifts and have a Christmas dinner together.

Bryan Enos
Sterling Gr. 7

When Christmas is here, Santa is here. He lands on your roof top with his nine reindeer. Santa climbs down the chimney with a big bang and fills all the stockings. With a twinkle of his nose, he goes up the chimney with a big "Good Night!"

Daniel Francis
Montclair Gr. 3

Christmas is the time of year when Jesus Christ was born. If he had not been born on Christmas, we would probably not have it, but we were lucky! Now, on Christmas, we have Christmas trees, presents, decorations and a lot more. I think everybody should be thankful for this wonderful day.

Kathleen Boyle
Sterling Gr. 7

The Christmas tree waits in the attic, as I sit and wait for the Christmas toys, and all the meaningful joys. Soon everybody will break out with happiness, and play with their toys. All you have to do is wait.

Liam Higgins
Montclair Gr. 5

To be happy Christmas means to see our family. Christmas means to have love and be joyful. Christmas means to be nice. Christmas means to have fun. Christmas means a lot to me. Christmas is fun!

Wendy Beasley
Parker Gr. 3

Christmas is a holiday that Christians celebrate in the birth of Jesus Christ. On this day children get presents and so do adults, but that is not all. People also have a Christmas feast with turkey and trimmings. Many people put up a Christmas tree and other decorations like wreaths and lights. Christmas is also about happiness. Children also believe in a red-suited man, named Santa Claus. Christmas is the most joyfulest time of the year.

Courtney Tierney
Sterling Gr. 7

Some people think that Christmas is just to give and get. I know it's not just that, it's to remember Jesus, the baby that was born on Christmas morn. So my family sits and we sing carols and then we read the Bible story about Jesus being born.

Bonnie Gillespie
Parker Gr. 3

Candy canes are so sugary sweet. Having a nice delicious treat. Reindeer prancing with a hop. I think Christmas is a lot. Santa coming in the night. Trees are always so very bright. My heart is always so full of joy. And there are so many toys. So to conclude, I'd like to say that Christmas is my most favorite day!

Elizabeth Flaherty

Christmas Memories

I love Christmas for what it is, love, giving, and happiness.

When Christmas comes each year, our family prepares by decorating the house, and showing love to each other.

I especially like going out shopping for gifts for my family and friends.

People sometimes forget what Christmas really is. It's when Jesus was born, that's what we remember mostly about Christmas.

Then when Christmas day comes we celebrate it by having Christmas dinner, and opening our gifts together, and singing Christmas songs.

Susan Barry
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

Christmas is a time for happiness and joy. Everyone has a wonderful Christmas spirit, because they think of other people not themselves. Jesus has done a lot for me, and it is my way of saying thank you by helping and caring for other people.

Louise Mahoney
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

Christmas is a time for giving and sharing and being nice to all people around you. It is a time when joyous and decorated streets are filled with busy shoppers wishing to get last minute gifts.

Lap Wai Cheng
Central Middle Gr. 7

Christmas means to me happiness and joy and excitement. Christmas is the best holiday of the year because families get together. Christmas is fun with toys and presents.

Tom Geary
Parker Gr. 5

Christmas is when Jesus was born and how Mary and Joseph were to go to Bethlehem so Mary could have Jesus. Mary had Jesus even though there was no room in the inn. He was born in a barn and an angel appeared. Three Shepherds brought Jesus gifts. That's how we got Christmas.

Christina Strauss
Parker Gr. 5

Christmas is laughter and cheer. Most of my relatives are usually here. Good old St. Nick comes down the hatch with a very big bag that he has on his back.

Melissa Johnson
Merrymount Gr. 5

Christmas means happiness and joy. Santa comes on a special night. He comes with a bag of toys. I decorate the Christmas tree with my family.

Jennifer Shaw
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

Christmas is a time for loving and giving. You can put up a Christmas tree. You can put up decorations. You can have a feast. I think Christmas is a good time of the year.

David Short
Snug Harbor Gr. 3

I wish that there could be peace on the earth, and that the Ethiopians don't starve.

Kim Wilson
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

I wish that all the starving children would get food and clothes.

I also wish that all my family could be together this year.

Melissa McCarthy
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

Christmas to me means sharing, and giving to people you love.

A time to get together with your family and a time to forgive people and a time to remember.

And especially it means having peace throughout the world.

Arlena Politano
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

Christmas means a lot to me because I think it is a happy time of the year. A big star over the little town of Bethlehem led the wise men to the place where Jesus lay. Christmas is a very special time to me because Jesus is my friend.

John Sill

Christmas is a time for fun and joy. A time for giving and receiving gifts and toys. Christmas is a time for loving and caring while Santa Claus is flying up high in the air.

Michael Smith
Merrymount Gr. 5

Te me Christmas means love and joy, decorating the tree with tinsel and garend, putting lights on the tree that glow so bright, wrapping up gifts in the dim candle light, then going to sleep and hoping what we said would be under the tree when we get out of bed.

What Christmas Means To Me . . .

Melissa McCarthy

One special Christmas was when my Grandfather slept over.
I woke up first, then I had to wake up the rest of the family. We got lots of presents from Santa and each other. Our stockings were full. We opened all of the presents first. Then we played with all of our new toys and tried on our new clothes. Later we watched the Christmas specials on T.V. That was the best Christmas I ever had.
Christmas is my favorite holiday of the year.

Kevin Barrett
Parker Gr. 5

I like Christmas because of the laughter and the joy. I also like giving presents to people I love.
Getting presents is fun too.
Decorating the Christmas tree is the fun part of Christmas. Every year all my relatives come over and we open presents together. A also like setting up the stable that Jesus was born in.

Matthew Doyle
Parker Gr. 5

I like Christmas Day. It's fun opening presents and decorating the tree the day before. You think it's fun when it snows. Santa Claus is coming to town saying
"Ho, Ho, Ho! Merry Christmas."

Christmas means giving gifts and receiving them. It means sharing presents with family and good time.

Christmas means giving gifts,
but not always receiving.
Although it's nice to get presents when you give them. It also means

And it's a day for being thankful

Christmas is a time of joy and happiness. And loving others and sharing with others too. And for caring about everybody.

Jenny Sullivan
Daniel Webster Gr. 3

Over the past ten years,
Christmas has been too commercialized. I myself like to get presents, but that has nothing to do with the meaning of Christmas.

Christmas is the birth of the savior Jesus Christ, a time of joy and celebration. The whole town of Bethlehem turned out to see Jesus in the manger. Some people today resemble this, by coming together on Christmas day.

If more of us would come together, we would understand the real significance of Christmas.

Bobby Trifone
Central Middle Gr. 7

Christmas means decorating my tree, hanging my stockings, visiting my aunts and uncles, shopping for presents and making lists for what I want, going to Christmas parties, opening my presents. Later we go to my grandmother's house and we always eat turkey, apple pie and lemon merange pie. I always have fun playing with my cousins. I have a snowball fight with my uncles. Then my parents say it's time to go I moan and Groan but finally we have to leave.

MERRY CHRISTMAS

It's time for Santa to wish all his friends an especially happy holiday!

Councillor and Mrs.
Michael Cheney

Christmas is a time of joy. It's a special time to do things with your family. A time to remember those you love. It's also a time to celebrate a very special day, to remember Jesus's birthday.

Cindy Tripp
Daniel Webster Gr. 3

Christmas means to me that Jesus was born. Christmas is sort of his name to me. What is it like to you? Once a long time ago Joseph and Mary got married. A few years later Mary was pregnant. They got a baby 2 years later. They named him Jesus and that's my story.

Jeffrey Hill

Sherie Mackie
Quincy Pt. Middle Gr. 7

Christmas is giving presents, and most of all sharing your love with others. Christmas is not only giving out presents. It is also celebrating the birth of Jesus.

Christmas to me is joy and happiness all around, and fun singing love and presents
Sometimes it's sad at Christmas time when a person we love dies
Sometimes we go to church.
Christmas is fun.

Alicia McNaught

Christmas means to me decorating the Christmas tree. Seeing family and friends. Laughing, smiling and feeling good again.

Opening presents and being happy, giving them to make others happy.

Eating Christmas dinner with my family. Having phone calls from those who couldn't come.

Peeking through paper and shaking boxes. Saying "Good Bye" and "Merry Christmas."
Sneaking up stairs when it's time to do the dishes.

A time for joyful living

A time for gathering family.

December twenty-fifth has a very special meaning to me. All the presents aren't important to me nor are all the decorations. The important thing is that one thousand eighty five years ago Christ was born, and to honor Him we celebrate this special day annually. Santa Claus is very important to all children, but we shouldn't forget the true meaning of Christmas.

Mariabell Gouros

It means to me that people decorate their houses to make the house look pretty. This is the gayest time of year. I like Christmas better than any other holiday.

Mark Drinkwater

Christmas is a time of year when people celebrate Jesus' birth. The small lights that look like candles on the windows present Jesus is welcome in your house. When he was born he received lots of gold, Frankincense, and myrrh from the wise men. When he was older no one believed that Jesus was God's son before they crucified him. And that's the way Christmas started.

What Christmas Means To Me . . .

Christmas means sharing. It is not just receiving but giving. Christmas is also a time to remember when Christ was born.

Jana Cocio
Central Middle Gr. 7

Christmas means two things to me. One is it's Christ's birthday. The second is all the decorations, presents, Christmas trees, and Santa Claus. Christmas is probably the best time of the year for all kids. We should also think about Christ because we wouldn't be here and wouldn't have Christmas without him.

Christmas means love and joy. Christmas means getting a toy and giving toys to others. Christmas is a time to be with your family.

Brian Littlewood

It's time again for Christmas cheer, which is a holiday that comes but once a year. Children play and dance and sing, while wondering what Santa Claus will bring. Then it is time to go to bed and all kinds of dreams fill their heads. Christmas morning is finally here, and it's time again for Christmas cheer.

Kelly Meade
Merrymount Gr. 5

The snow crackled under hony hooves, as tiny gold bells bounced and jingled on cold leather reins. The red of the sleigh matched everyone's cheeks, but chilly as they were, their faces were bright and cheerful. They sang happy songs that chased away all the shadows of the night. The lanterns flickered with every booming voice and bump of the sleigh but always stayed lit as steaming cocoa was sipped between choruses. New hats, coats, and scarves covered giggling little children but they didn't mind. After all, hats, coats, and scarves do keep away the cold of night, and besides, Christmas was there again!

Nicole Mahoney
Central Gr. 7

Christmas means a lot to me. The thing I like best about Christmas is that there is no school for over a week. But that's not all it means to me. It means the whole family gathering together, and having a nice dinner. It also means having to talk to relatives overseas on the telephone. Having friends over to decorate the tree with us means a lot to me too. I also like giving and receiving presents. But Christmas really means being happy and caring for people around you.

Christmas means giving and receiving presents on Christmas Eve. It means having angel and Christmas tree shaped cookies. I like seeing displays of Santa and his reindeer in the store windows. It's fun waking up on Christmas day and seeing all the toys and celebrating Jesus' birthday. I help set up the manger and put ornaments on the Christmas tree. # What Christmas Means To Me . . .

Christmas is love and joy, flowers growing, sunshine shining, because Jesus is born on this holy day. Happy thoughts are everywhere. We will praise baby Jesus. Some of us have Christmas play to please baby Jesus.

Hyun Ju Kim
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

Christmas is love and fun. It is fun opening presents. I like going to my Grandmother's, cousin's, and Aunt's house. I like going to the Christmas party at my Aunt's.

Jay Baker
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

I love Santa because he is good to the children and he will be good for me. I like Santa because he builds a lot of toys for children. Jesus was born that night. I hope Jesus gets a good Christmas from Santa Claus.

Jorge Rodrigues
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

I think Christmas is a time for kindness and happiness. Toys are nice too, but I think the first things I said were the most important. My favorite part of Christmas is getting gifts and seeing people being happy.

Jacob Hall
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

Christmas is a time when people share and are thoughtful and happy. Christmas is filled with fun and kindness.

Stephanie Corkery
Furnace Brook Gr. 3

It's when Jesus was born. I like to run downstairs and tear the paper off my gifts. My sister runs downstairs, too. My brother Kevin is sleeping. I run upstairs to wake my Mother and Father. My Father stays in bed. I still jump on his bed to wake him up. He comes to open his gift. He gets the biggest gift of all.

Christine Morris
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

Christmas is not just fun and toys. It is also Jesus' birthday. I like Christmas because it is Jesus' birthday. I think Jesus' birthday is better than toys because toys are just to play with and Jesus is there to help us do what we do.

Craig McElmon
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

Christmas means families getting together and sitting around the Christmas tree. Christmas means decorating the tree. It's fun. Christmas means singing songs like carols and other favorites. Christmas also means people all getting together. That's the fun part.

Michelle Moffett
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

Christmas means giving-not getting. It is a time for joy! Children get out of school! It means love. It is when you get your favorite things. It is when Jesus was born. You decorate your Christmas tree.

Eric Dolan
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

I like to trim the tree. The tree has a fragrance like pine. It looks so extraordinary when it is finished being decorated. A hard thing is putting the star on top of the tree. One year the tree almost fell over. I like to put the tinsel on. Usually we get lights that flicker on and off. My father puts the ornaments on the top of the tree. If we did they would probably all fall and shatter. My father says you need a lot of consideration with the ornaments. And you need to concentrate on what you are doing, because they are very delicate. When we are done we stand back and admire all our hard work. Then we shut the lights off. We look at the lights flicker on and off, and the tinsel glimmers in the dark. Then we go to bed and wait for Christmas morning.

Derek Thompson
Merrymount Gr. 5

Christmas means joy and happiness and Jesus' birthday. It's not just presents and myself I care about. It's my family getting together and thinking of Jesus.

Dakota Riley
Daniel Webster Gr. 3

Christmas is a time to love and care. It's a time for giving, not getting. I don't really care about myself. I just like to see other people happy.

Jeffrey Burrell
Daniel Webster Gr. 3

I like to see the lights at Christmas. I love Santa because he is funny and has a red nose. I like his reindeer. I love presents and toys.

Robert Cavino
Daniel Webster Gr. 3

Christmas is a time for all. It's a time for sharing, loving, giving, and a time for happiness.

Michelle Frechette
Montclair Gr. 5

I like Christmas, because I eat fresh baked rolls and golden turkey with cranberry sauce. Also, I like to have snowball fights and see snowballs rip the air and explode on target.

Joseph Tant
Squamot Gr. 5

To me, Christmas means rushing to buy gifts and setting up the Christmas tree. Our train doesn't work but it's all right. I like hanging up the stocking too.

It's been hard the last Christmas because of my one year old dog (Astro). He eats the candy gifts, chews the presents, tears the decorations, and gets into the unwrapped gifts.

I like going to my grandmother's on Christmas eve and of course, opening gifts. This year I'm hoping for the best.

Luke Sheets
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

I like Christmas because the carols people sing are nice. I like to watch the Christmas specials on T.V. Christmas is a time to be happy. It is an enjoyable holiday. Decorations everywhere look nice. It is fun to decorate the Christmas tree. When there is snow on the ground it is fun to go sledding and have snowball fights. I buy gifts for people that I know.

I think that it is good the way people have different traditions in other lands for Christmas.

Nicole Hogarth
Merrymount Gr. 5

One Christmas my brother and I were peeking at our presents. Then we saw a big thing with a blanket on it. My brother and I went in to see it and all of a sudden one fell over, and we ran into my Mother's room and jumped on the bed and woke up my Father. My Father came out and stood it back up and we went back to bed and the next day we took off the blanket and two hicks were there.

Brian Ramsey
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

Christmas is a time for giving, not getting, from friends far and near. People help put up Christmas trees and ornaments. People share with friends, help others, and pray. Christmas is a joyful time.

Brenda Welch
Montclair Gr. 3

Christmas is a perfect season to be happy and joyful. All you have to do is go outside and look around. What do you see? Bright, magnificent, and shiny colors like red, white, green, and blue. Maybe that is why Christmas is my favorite holiday. Another reason is I can be with my family. And that is great!

Heather Rendle
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

It reminds me of when Jesus was born in Bethlehem. I like to receive lots of presents from Santa. I always leave some carrots for the reindeer and a little snack for Santa. I like looking at decorations on the trees and houses. Sometimes I hang up the mistletoe. My family likes to sing in front of our tree on Christmas.

A time to get together with each other, celebrate holiday traditions and eat holiday food. Since I'm half Hungarian and half Irish, we celebrate both customs. On Christmas eve we might have fried rabbit cooked Hungarian style or have Irish oyster stew.

Raiders Host Christmas Tourney

The North Quincy boys' basketball team, hoping to rebound after a 3-15 record last season, split two games last week against Greater Boston League foes.

Ed Miller's Raiders will host a Christmas tournament Friday and Saturday nights. North will face Weymouth

South at 8 p.m. Friday while Quincy meets Weymouth North at 6:30. The championship game will be Saturday night at 8 and the consolation contest at 6:30. The Raiders will play at Somerville Monday night at 7:30.

Last Friday North bowed to Everett, 69-59, after trailing by only two points at halftime.

Sophomore Dave Lawless led the Raiders with 18 points, Chris Rossi scored 14 and Bobby Salton 11.

Earlier in the week North opened up with a 62-52 victory over Medford.

Salton scored 15 points and Mark Scanlon, Lawless and Brian Morrishad 12 each and Rossi took down 12 rebounds.

North, with a good night at the foul line, led, 29-27, at the half and never trailed in the second half. The Raiders hit on 10 of 12 free thrown in the last quarter, Scanlon having five of six.

Raiderettes Off To Good Start

The North Quincy girls' basketball team, which barely missed qualifying for the Eastern Mass. tournament a year ago, is off to a fast start and last week opened with two victories over Greater Boston League opponents.

Paul Bregoli's Raiderettes will play in a Christmas Tournament Friday and Saturday at Weymouth South. They will face Weymouth South Friday at 3 p.m. while Quincy meets Weymouth North at 1. The championship game will be Saturday at 3 and the consolation game at 1. North will host Somerville Monday at 12:30 p.m.

Friday the North girls traveled to Everett and edged one of the GBL's top teams, 65-63.

North jumped out to an early lead as Eileen Warren scored eight points on a variety of post moves and offensive rebound conversions. Nancy Flukes hit on four foul shots and Karen Runge had four points as the Raiderettes took an 18-16 lead.

North got contributions from several non-starters in the second quarter as it increased its lead to 36-26 at halftime. Anne McGuigan hit on three foul shots, while junior Marybeth Maloney and sophomore Karrie Pistorino handled the guard duties well.

Everett cut the Raiderettes lead to seven points entering the fourth quarter. North increased its lead to 13 early in the quarter, but Everett, behind 6-2 center Rhonda Perry, whittled the lead. Jean Welby, with a jumper and two foul shots, boosted North's lead to 64-55 with a minute and a half left. However, the Raiderettes missed several free throws and Everett moved to within three points with eight seconds left.

Warren hit a free throw and North escaped with its second straight win as Everett scored at the buzzer.

Warren led the way with 23 points, a career high and she had 13 rebounds. Runge had 10 points, Flukes had 13 points and five assists and Ann Marie Hughes had eight points and eight rebounds.

points and eight rebounds.

Earlier in the week the North girls played their first game on the new floor and rolled over Medford, 60-36.

Fludes hit a baseline jumper to give North a lead it never relinquished. Hughes scored North's next 10 points, mostly on pinpoint passes from Runge. North led, 14-3, after a quarter.

The Raiderettes held a 26-13 halftime lead as Runge hit for five points and Hughes and Nancy Lyons added a pair each.

North's defensive pressure began to take its toll in the third quarter as the lead increased to 44-24. Runge continued her hot shooting with three more baskets, while Warren hit for seven in the quarter.

Bregoli cleared the bench midway through the final session with everyone getting playing time. Warren added eight points, while Tricia Koski added three and Lisa Mitton and Julie Abouzaid had two each.

Warren had 17 points, Runge 13 points and five assists and Hughes 12 points and five steals.

"This was a great way to start the season," Bregoli said. "The Medford win was a total team effort. Our defense was outstanding as was the overall play of Welby, Hughes and Runge."

"At Everett we faced a team which could win the GBL title. Their front court was much bigger than ours and our kids did a superb job of boxing out. Warren was great off the boards and McGuigan made a significant contribution off the bench. I was very disappointed in our foul shooting as we went only 17 for 38, but we maintained our poise and escaped with the win."

Quincy Man Provides 'Hall Of Fame' Ornaments For National Tree

By TOM SULLIVAN

The Baseball Hall of Fame in Cooperstown, N.Y., is representing the state of New York by providing unique Christmas tree ornaments which decorate the national tree in Washington, D.C.

The state trees comprise the Pathway of Peace in Washington which surrounds the National Christmas Tree, a living, 30-foot, 15-year-old Colorado blue spruce. President Reagan lighted the trees and gave his Christmas message at the opening ceremony on the Ellipse in Washington. The Christmas Pageant of Peace will run daily through Jan. 1.

The theme of this year's pageant is "Tradition" and the seven-foot New York State tree is decorated with ornaments depicting the living members of the Hall of Fame. Each of the 36 ornaments, four inches in diameter, was hand-crafted by Quincy native Ted Spencer, the Hall of Fame curator since March, 1982. He utilized the art work of the inductees by the noted sports artist, Dick Perez.

The Hall of Fame's own Christmas tree is similarly decorated by Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William T. Spencer of 312 Fenno St., Wollaston.

Ted's father is a retired Quincy police safety officer and supervisor of attendance for the Quincy schools.

"Ted is really William, Jr.," said Bill Sr. "But when he was christened, someone spotted him with a firm grip on a rattle and said, 'It looks like we have another Ted Williams.' The nickname has stuck ever since and he has always been known as Ted."

Ted, 42, born and brought up in Quincy, is a graduate of Abp. Williams High School and the Massachusetts College of Art where he received his degree in industrial design. He also attended N.E. School of Art where he received a diploma in advertising design.

The living members of the Hall of Fame depicted on Ted's Christmas tree decorations are Charlie Gehringer, Joe DiMaggio, Bob Feller, Luke Appling, Ted Williams, Roy Campanella, Stan Musial, Lou Boudreau, Yogi Berra, Lefty Gomez, Buck Leonard, Monte Irvin, Warren Spahn, Jim "Cool Papa" Bell, Jocko Conlan, Mickey Mantle, Billy Herman, Judy Johnson, Ralph Kiner, Robin Roberts, Ernie Banks, Al Lopez, Joe Sewell, Al Kaline, Duke Snider, Johnny Mize, Hank Aaron, Frank Robinson, George Kell, Brooks Robinson, Rick Ferrell, Harmon Killebrew, Pee Wee Reese, Lou Brock, Enos Slaughter and Hoyt Wilhelm.

Ted worked for the American Institutes for Research in Bedford, the Wellesley Press in Framingham, was a communications specialist in the INA Computer division, supervisor of the drafting department of the INA Corporation Systems and Administration, manager of media services for the INA Service

ONE OF the features of the Hall of Fame is this life-like statue of the immortal Babe Ruth. The statue is the work of the same man who did the statue of Ted Williams.

QUINCY NATIVE Ted Spencer, curator of the Baseball Hall of Fame, is shown with an all-star game exhibit in Minneapolis, where he was a guest at the 1985 all-star game and made several television appearances.

Company and worked for the Insurance Company of North America in Philadelphia.

In 1982 he was reading a trade paper and saw that the Hall of Fame was looking for a curator.

He told his wife, the former Patricia Woodbury of Burlington, Mass., whom he met in art school, that it sounded like an interesting job.

"His wife told him he should apply, but he said he wouldn't stand a chance," Bill Sr. said. "But she talked him into it and he had five interviews and was hired in March, 1982."

Ted played Little League baseball in Quincy and twice his B'nai B'rith team was held to one hit and he collected the only hit each time. He didn't play in high school as he worked after school.

"He worked his way through college," his dad said.

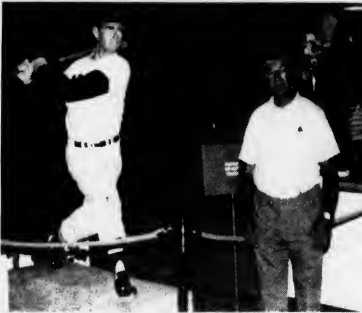

Ted, his wife and three children live in Cooperstown, near the Hall of Fame.

Bill Sr. has attended the induction ceremonies at the Hall for several years and usually handles the autograph table, where the inductees and other members autograph pictures and other articles for the thousands who attend.

"The induction ceremonies are very emotional," said Bill Sr. "When Brooks Robinson was inducted in 1982, he was honored in Baltimore and 43 busloads of fans went to Cooperstown for the ceremonies."

Bill Sr. and his wife spend the months of February and March in Winter Haven, Fla., the spring training home of the Red Sox. He has become friendly with the Sox players through the years.

"I became friendly with Ted Williams since I told him how my son got his nickname," Bill said. "Ted got a real big kick out of it."

BILL SPENCER Sr. of Wollaston is shown with the life-like statue of Ted Williams dedicated last summer at the Baseball Hall of Fame where his son, Ted, is curator.

TED SPENCER, born and brought up in Quincy, poses before picture of Ted Williams, the inspiration for his nickname.

STARSCOPE

by Clare Annsweil

WEEK OF: DECEMBER 26, 1985

AQUARIUS - January 21-February 19

A shaky relationship is stabilizing, thanks to your realistic and optimistic attitude. Business ventures are favored but benefit from refinement. Creative abilities are uncommonly strong.

PISCES - February 20-March 20

Week finds you enjoying the company of a new friend... and in the process learning something about yourself. The old year ends and the new one begins with a spirit of optimism.

ARIES - March 21-April 20

Don't impose your own high standards on others, and avoid taking sides unless you understand the situation completely. Willpower is strong so make some end-of-the-year resolutions.

TAURUS - April 21-May 22

Platonic friendship is spotlighted through this period. Year-end financial review should help you set goals for 1986. Older relative responds positively to your encouragement.

GEMINI - May 23-June 21

This is the last week of 1985, but the accent is on new beginnings; you may be launching a project or starting a new relationship. Creative ideas are unusually bright.

CANCER - June 22-July 22

You are introduced to a charismatic individual, but don't reveal too much about yourself until you get to know this person. Unexpected windfall may arrive after the weekend.

LEO - July 23-August 22

Week includes opportunities for travel and creative expression. Don't hesitate to present ideas, no matter how offbeat. Career expansion is spotlighted at year's end.

VIRGO - August 23-September 22

Information may not be consistently reliable; go after best available sources. Leadership role may be offered, or perhaps a coworker seeks you out as confidant. Romantic situation stabilizes.

LIBRA - September 23-October 22

You're known as the diplomat of the zodiac, and this week finds you negotiating several difficult situations. Year may end with a financial bonus. Project may be temporarily stalled.

SCORPIO - October 23-November 21

New light is shed on a long-lasting dilemma, and a solution may appear within grasp. Good week for sorting priorities, making resolutions, and reviewing financial prospects.

SAGITTARIUS - November 22-December 22

Don't hesitate to share ideas, no matter how offbeat. You excel in brainstorming sessions. Weekend focus is on new friendships. Youngsters are unusually receptive to suggestions.

CAPRICORN - December 23-January 20

Ambitious streak surfaces and leads to advancement in community or work environment. Family news bulletin may omit some key details. Look to a Libra friend to mediate a touchy situation.

BIRTHDAY THIS WEEK

You combine a sense of humor with a sharp business sense. Achievement is important in most spheres of your life. You tend to be picky and occasionally too cautious. Family matters dominate the next months, with you assuming a leadership role. Financial picture shows long-term promise.

North Quincy Woman To Appeal 14-Unit Condo Line Variance

By DAN CONNELLY

A North Quincy woman plans to appeal a lot line variance for a condominium complex which she says is too close to her back yard.

Mrs. Marie Mullen of 176 Newbury Ave., said she will file an appeal next month in Norfolk County Superior Court contending that a Dec. 10 ruling by the Quincy Board of Appeals to a developer who plans to build a 14 unit condominium at 81-83 East Squantum St., is too close to her lot line.

Mrs. Mullen, a widow, who has lived there since 1950 said: "I enjoy the fresh air and the trees in my back yard. Now they want to take that away and build a condo just 20 feet away from my land."

Separating her property from the proposed lot to be developed is a 12 foot wide path used by students as a shortcut from East Squantum St. to the Atlantic Junior High School. Mrs. Mullen said this tract of land is city owned.

"Instead of starting the variance from the edge of that path and into the planned lot to be developed they measured a 20-foot distance from my back yard lot line and that is not right."

Mrs. Mullen, who is employed, said it will cost her a $55 filing fee for the appeal and $2,000 to be represented by counsel. "I don't have that kind of money so I will have to bypass an attorney and do all my own legal work," she said.

George N. Clark originally planned to erect a 16-unit multi-family dwelling on the East Squantum St. premises but reduced the number to 14 and lowered the building height to ease the impact on adjoining properties.

Quincy Apartment House Owners Association 211 West Squantum Street Quincy, MA 02171

Dec. 24, 1985

If its good for the goose — now who will supply the affordable housing?

The City of Quincy changed the zoning from Res. 'B' to 'PUD' for the Adams School on Abigail Ave. in order to make it profitable for the city and the developer by increasing the number of units to 42.

The Pollard School on the Southern Artery was sold with an agreement to recycle the building into 30 units.

The fire of Feb. 2nd, 1985 destroyed the building, and the new owners negotiated with city officials to build a new building with 34 units.

Where is the traffic or parking problem?

Had the City Council considered the zoning change in January when it was discussed, but not officially submitted until October, then, only 20 units could have been built.

If the recycling of these city owned properties have proved so profitable to the city, why change the zoning density now on the many private property owners particularly when there is such a high demand for affordable housing by the working class?

Its Good for the Gander!

Please come to the public hearing in the City Council chambers Jan. 2, 1986 at 5:30 p.m., and start the New Year off right.

1985 In Review

It Was A Year Of Losses And Gains

By NANCY McLAUGHLIN

Quincy suffered some major losses but also made some substantial gains in 1985.

General Dynamics officials announced that the 101-year-old Quincy shipyard would close in mid-1986 following the completion of five Maritime Prepositioning Ships for the U.S. Navy.

Quincy lost its unofficial goodwill ambassador, award-winning actress Ruth Gordon who died at her Martha's Vineyard home at the age of 88.

But the city also won its fight to keep a sewage treatment plant off Long Island when the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority chose Deer Island off Winthrop.

The long-awaited Burgin Parkway Extension opened 10 months ahead of schedule providing a link between Quincy Center and three major highways.

As the year ended, Mayor Francis McCauley prepared for his third term in the executive office at new city hall, next to old city hall which was renamed James R. McIntyre Government Center.

Some of the highlights of 1985 were:

JANUARY

Joanne Condon, four term city councillor from Ward 6, became the third woman to run for mayor in Quincy when she announced her candidacy at the Morrisette Legion Post Jan. 30.

Mayor Francis McCauley, who was first elected mayor in 1981 and was reelected unopposed in 1983, had not yet announced for a third term but was expected to do so shortly.

Condon said she planned to campaign basically on a platform that Mayor McCauley was trying to balance the city's budget at the expense of services and the quality of life in the city.

"Joanne believes that there is more to running a city than just balancing the books,"

MAYOR Francis X. McCauley delivered his mid-term "state of the city" address in the City Council chamber in January. (Quincy Sun photo by Charles Flogge) said the campaign worker. "The leader of a city like Quincy needs a heart."

"Joanne feels that public safety is jeopardized by cutbacks in fire and police personnel and that the McCauley administration is not giving enough attention to parks, streets and other services."

McCauley started the campaign year 1985 with a total of $32,159.17. Condon had $2,811.37 in the bank.

In his mid-term "state of the city" address Jan. 7, in the Council Chambers at City Hall, McCauley rolled out the welcome mat for developers.

But he warned those who would plunge ahead wildly with plans that would "diminish the quality of life in our city" that he would take steps to bridle their enthusiasm.

"It wouldn't work even if we wanted it to," he said. "In our lives, in business or in our government, you don't stand still. You either go forward or you go backward."

"However, there are groups in this city, there are city councillors who are raising very valid points about the boom in economic development, the effect it has on the city's infrastructure and traffic."

"These concerns must be addressed."

"So let me say this, the welcome mat is still out to those individuals and those developers who want to come to the city of Quincy to develop."

"But I think we're going to say to those people, when you come, present us with a plan that the city can live with, that's compatible with the location that you're going into and will not, repeat, not diminish the quality of life in our city."

JOANNE CONDON became the third Quincy woman to run for mayor.

In his mid-term address to the council, City Council president James Sheets said he planned to submit to the council a list of six zoning and ordinance changes that would place new restraints on wide open development.

"We must plan for the orderly development of Quincy in the future," Sheets told his fellow councillors in what has become the traditional president's mid-term statement.

"For too long," he said, "The councillors have been the only lines of defense against bad development and the improper use of land."

"As a ward councillor entrusted with the responsibility of protecting the integrity of West and South Quincy, I must act."

"I cannot stand by and watch a section of Quincy hoisted, drawn and quartered on the petard of bad development."

City employees fortified their bargaining position for new contracts by picketing City Hall as McCauley delivered his address.

The board of managers and angry neighbors of Quincy City Hospital appeared to make some progress at the Jan. 28, Council meeting in their effort to iron out differences over a proposed new hospital.

But the plans also appeared to have run into a snag in the form of several city councillors who indicated they would not approve the financing of construction unless there was some community input.

Despite what Mayor McCauley called a "positive" financial picture, the city failed in its year-long bid to have its bond rating upgraded.

For the past four years,

Moody's Investors had rated the city Ba, one of the lowest in the state along with Boston, Chelsea and Somerville.

For the first time in the city's history, the entire Quincy legislative delegation of three representatives and a senator were named chairmen of important committees in the State House.

Sen. Paul D. Harold was named Senate chairman of the Joint Committee on Criminal Justice; Rep. Thomas Brownell, chairman of the Judiciary Committee; Rep. Michael Morrissey, chairman of the Committee on Counties; and Rep. Robert Cerasoli, the Post Audit and Oversight Committee.

City Personnel Director Donald W. Hansen was

"It might be a difficult job to fill," said Mayor

McCauley. "Dr. Hussey was perfect for the job. She not only had all the qualifications but she was retired from practice, too."

At a celebratory funeral Mass at Our Lady of Good Counsel Church, Merry-mount, the Rev. Frederick J. "During dark times, she was able to see the light, and, in the later years of her life as health commissioner she embarked on a mission from which many would shrink in this great city," Fr. Barr said.

Deaths during late December and January also included Henry J. City officials met with Jack Wyse, head of Burkhardt Corp. and worked out some new aspects of the agreement.

Mayor McCauley said the building was so badly damaged in the fire that it was decided to tear it down and start over in constructing the condos.

"The developer wanted to cut the price to $222,000 to reflect the cost of demolition," said the mayor, "but we objected. If the price were

Concerned Citizens Of Quincy

People Who Live In Residence 'B' and Residence 'C' Areas

HELP AGAIN

On Jan. 2, 1986 at 5:30 p.m. the Quincy City Council will vote on three proposed zoning changes. These zoning changes will devalue and reduce the value of your home and property.

Example #1: If you live in a Residence 'B' Area now and you have 10,000 sq. ft. lot area, under the present zoning you can legally build a five unit building or convert your home into 1-5 apartment units for rental income! Under the new proposed change in Residence 'B' you would only be able to put 1-3 units on your property. That is definitely a devaluation of your property and home.

Example #2: If you live in Residence 'C' Area and you have 10,000 sq. ft. lot area you can legally put ten units of apartment type living under the present zoning. The new proposed change in Residence 'C' you would only be able to put six units on your property, that also is definitely a devaluation of your home and property.

If you are concerned about your property please come to the City Council Meeting on Jan. 2, 1986 at Quincy City Hall 5:30 p.m. Sharp. Please call your councillors and ask them to vote for our compromise proposals. Thank you and have a Happy New Year.

QUINCY BUILDERS AND BUSINESSMENS ASSOCIATION

406 Willard Street
Quincy, MA 02169

Dear City Councillor:

We the builders and businessmen of Quincy are very concerned about the proposed zoning changes that have been presented to the City Planning Board and the City Council by Mayor McCauley.

The Planning Board recommended that the changes be approved as presented:

1. Residence 'B' areas changed from 2,000 Sq. Ft. density to 3,000 Sq. Ft. per unit density.
2. Residence 'C' areas changed from 1,000 Sq. Ft. density to 1,250 Sq. Ft. per unit density.
3. Parking from 1.50 per unit to 1.75 per unit.

The Builders and Businessmen Association are proposing the following compromise:

1. Residence 'B' change to 2,250 Sq. Ft. or 2,500 Sq. Ft. per unit density.
2. Residence 'C' leave at 1,000 Sq. Ft. per unit density.
3. Parking we will go along with the new proposed 1.75 per unit.
4. We would like to add changing P.U.D. from 250 Sq. Ft. per unit density to 1,000 Sq. Ft. per unit density.

We feel this last change is a big compromise on our part. Please vote for our compromise on Jan. 2, 1986 at 5:30 p.m.

reduced, we'd have to go through the City Council again. We felt the $252,000 was reasonable."

In return, the city agreed to permit Burkhardt to increase the number of condo units in the plan from 30 to 34. The building was to be the same height as the old school.

The mayor said Burkhardt also agreed to retain a part of the original agreement that called for the company to pay $14,000 to refurbish the city-owned playground at the school.

And the city in turn agreed to fence in the land that is not fenced now in order to keep neighborhood youngsters out of the area during demolition and construction.

Demolition began Tuesday, Feb. 19. When papers were passed, the city agreed to let Burkhardt develop 39 units as part of a final agreement to keep the price for the building at $252,000.

City Clerk John Gillis said that Quincy might have 30 instead of 39 precincts after the results came in from the state census, which was nearly completed.

"We will have to redistrict based on the new state figures," said Gillis. "We have been talking about decreasing the number of precincts to 30, five in each of the six wards, as a matter of economics."

"If we have fewer voting places, we will need fewer voting machines and fewer personnel to man the voting places."

The last time the city was redistricted was in 1972 when the federal government mandated precincts and wards of the same size under the one-man, one vote court edict.

Councillor Condon fired what appeared to be the first salvo of the 1985 mayoral campaign when he criticized Mayor McCauley for his settlement of the General Dynamics tax case that will cost the city $28 million over a 10 year period.

"I did not vote for the original bond and I would not vote for it today," she told fellow councillors. "I don't believe that the case was settled as it should."

Condon's comments came as the Council was considering a home rule petition that would permit the city to pay off an overlay deficit created by the General Dynamics case in 1994, the year after the last payment is made on the $28 million bond.

"I can't vote for this or any other legislation that takes money away from the city," said Condon. "This will mean fewer city services for the people of Quincy."

She suggested that perhaps the city should go to the state for a grant to pay the $2.5 million overlay.

Condon introduced at the next Council meeting a home rule petition asking state assistance in paying the city's $28 million tax rebate debt to General Dynamics.

Other communities in the state have received similar assistance in the past, said Condon, adding that she could not see why the state could not help Quincy.

Quincy was ordered by the court to repay General Dynamics the money for property tax overassessments dating back to 1977. With negotiated settlements for other years and interest on bonds, the total comes to $28 million.

Mayor McCauley said he would be happy to pass along to the State legislature two home rule petitions filed by Condon that would authorize the state to pay the city's multi-million debt to General Dynamics.

"If the state wants to give us the money, I'll be glad to accept," said the mayor. "But I don't count on them passing."

One petition would have the state give the city $17,715,999 in extra state aid to satisfy the judgement obtained by General Dynamics.

The amount would be repaid to the state in equal installments of $1,771,600 over a period of 10 years as a deduction in the amount of the city's state aid.

Condon's second petition would authorize the state to pay the city $2,436,727 as an outright gift to balance the books for the tax money legally withheld by General Dynamics.

Kathryn Roberts of 37 Estabrook Rd., Wollaston, was named to a five-year term on the Planning Board, the first woman to serve in that city agency. She succeeded John Barron whose term expired.

A Houghs Neck man, acting Lt. Francis M. Roach, was sworn in for a 60-day term as interim police commissioner of Boston.

Dan McManus, 23, co-captain of the Eastern Nazarene College's basketball team, was expected to be released from the hospital soon after a van accident which also injured four other players.

The accident occurred when the van, which carried eight members of the team, swerved off the snow-covered New York State Thruway while on the way to the game in Rochester, N.Y.

Sawyer's Campus Shop at 1508 Hancock St., Quincy Sq., closed its doors after 22 years in business.

The city spent $60,000 on snow removal for a storm during the first part of the month, bringing the total for the winter to $220,000, according to the mayor.

The first annual reunion of Quincy's elected officials held at the Quincy Neighborhood Club drew 18 office holders, six of them no longer in office.

The half dozen were former City Councillors Thomas Gilmarin, Edward Graham, James McCormack, Joseph E. Brett, George Burke and Angelo Bizzozero.

Bizzozero, 92, recalled the city council of his day which was 1921.

"We sat for five or six hours considering whether or not to increase the pay of the chief clerks in the different departments $50 a year."

"At that time, it was more or less a get-together of friends. There were differences of opinion on some things, but there was no animosity."

Deaths during February included: Lloyd V. Carroll, 57, a banker and former high school and semi-pro football star in Quincy, Melvin G. Wesley, 81, past master of the Granite City Grange, Nancy K. (Kiansten) Farrelly, 75, former actress and dancer with the Ziegfield Follies, Ruth F. (Oates) Phinney, former president of the Catholic Women's Club of Quincy, Rev. Thomas Garrett, formerly of Sacred Heart Parish, North Quincy, Sestino J. Tocchio, 67, retired member of the Quincy Police Department.

MARCH

About 1,500 people jammed Quincy Vocational School gym for the final environmental hearing on the siting of new sewage treatment facilities on Boston Harbor.

The crowd included not only residents of Quincy but also Braintree, Weymouth, Hingham and Hull.

Mayor Francis McCauley enlisted the aid of Sen. William Golden, who now lives in Weymouth, and was a resident of Squamouth and city solicitor of Quincy in 1983 when the city filed its lawsuit against the MDC that touched off the effort to clean up the bay.

School buses were used to ferry people to the Vo Tech School for the hearing from several outlying districts because of an expected parking problem.

The City Council passed two resolutions offered by Councillors Michael Cheney and Patricia Toland opposing

City Opposes Sewage Plant At Nut, Long Islands

any new sewage facility on Nut Island.

"This is the single most important environmental issue of our time," said Cheney. "We are not only fighting for ourselves but for our children."

The Council, again at the behest of Cheney, passed a second resolution urging residents of Quincy to attend the hearing and requesting McCauley to proclaim "Save Our Bay Day" in Quincy.

The new sewage treatment plant or plants, which would be located on Deer Island, Nut Island, or Long Island, would be part of a $2 billion plan to clean up pollution in Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay as demanded in the Quincy law suit.

Quincy residents turned out in droves Feb. 27 for the first of three EPA hearings on the siting, which was held in a "neutral" site of Cambridge. The second hearing was held Feb. 28 in Winthrop, where Deer Island is located.

McCauley told the Cambridge hearing that either or both primary and secondary treatment plants should be sited on Deer Island, which is considerably larger than Nut Island and would have less impact on the environment.

He also objected to an alternative that would locate a plant on Long Island, which would impact the Boston Chronic Disease Hospital and the streets of Squantum with traffic.

Cheney said the final decision is still a long way off.

"There will be no decision by the Water Resources Authority possibly for two months," he said.

"And whatever the decision, it will undoubtedly end up in court."

"Quincy would sue if there is any treatment plant on Nut Island."

"Quincy and Boston would sue if it is placed on Long Island."

"Winthrop already has promised to sue if it is sited on Deer Island."

"And there is a foundation that plans to sue if the secondary treatment plant is waived."

"Whatever happens, it will be a long time before the plant is built."

The Council approved a home rule petition, sponsored by Councillor Joanne Condon, asking the state to loan the city $17,715,999 interest free with which to satisfy a tax abatement judgement won by General Dynamics.

McCauley signed the petition the next week, but hesitated to sign a second petition offered by Condon asking the state for a gift of $2.5 million to settle the tax overlay deficit.

"We already have one home rule petition in the Legislature - a big one. What would I want to hold off and get a line on things."

The second petition was in competition with one of McCauley's asking the state for permission to settle the overlay in 11 years with city money.

"There is a question in my mind whether the state is going to make an outright grant of $2.5 million," he said. "Maybe my home rule petition is more in line."

McCauley's petition was left in the council's finance committee.

The Council set Tuesday, Sept. 10, as the date for the preliminary city election and Tuesday, Nov. 5, for the general election.

Public Works Commr. Paul Anderson was sworn in as a member of the board of directors of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority which is charged with cleaning up the polluted waters of Boston Harbor and Quincy Bay.

Mayor McCauley said he had no plans in the coming year to burden Quincy home owners and small businesses with a sewer user charge even in the face of projected major increases in sewer and water rates by the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority.

The Quincy License Board voted unanimously to recommend that licensing of bartenders be mandated by the Commonwealth either legislatively or through the Alcoholic Beverages Control Commission.

FIREFIGHTERS protested Mayor Francis X. McCauley's refusal to settle their contract disputes with a circular picket line on plaza in front of City Hall in March.

A letter sent to the ABCC stated, in part, that bartenders "are serving the public alcoholic beverages and their responsibility for public safety, both of their patron and those who might come in contact with their patron, is great."

The mayor's office received four applications for the post of City Health Commissioner to succeed the late Dr. M. Grace Hussey.

Mayor McCauley said he planned to interview two of the applicants and to make a decision after the first of April.

A third applicant did not meet the qualifications for the job, and a fourth did not want to give up a private practice. Pension costs could bring city layoffs, service cuts by 1987, said Mayor McCauley.

It could mean cuts in city services as early as fiscal 1987, curtailed pay raises for city employees and the state is moving lethargically to straighten the problem out all over the state.

City Councillor Patricia Toland announced her candidacy for a third two-year term on the council.

A 78-year-old man suffered burns on the left hand and face when an early morning fire swept a rooming house at I-3 McGrath Highway, Quincy Center.

A few hours later, the License Board voted to revoke the lodging house license held by Mrs. Hikmet Abraham for public safety and public health reasons.

The board later continued to April 9, a hearing regarding permanent revocation of the license.

There was a bit of Irish laughter and song as the City Council held its annual St. Patrick's Day party at Kelly's Pub, North Quincy.

City Clerk John Gillis announced that the city was accepting a bid of $158,869 by Electronic Voting Machines of Newton to supply the city with punch card voting machines.

The Quincy Kiwanis Club honored Robert Bouton, the first mentally handicapped scout to earn his Eagle Scout designation.

Deaths in March included: Raymond C. Warrington, 82, former Quincy banker, who served as Norfolk County treasurer for 22 years; Dr. Hyman Kurtzman, 71, dentist in Quincy for over 40 years; George Belezos, 102, believed to be the oldest person ever to receive a permanent cardiac pacemaker; William F. McCourt, 64, retired operator of the Fore River Bridge; Frederick Padula, 69, owner and founder of the former John's Constitution Restaurant.

BROWN-BAGGED NUTRITION

Q: My children refuse to eat hot lunch in the school cafeteria. How can I prepare lunches that are nutritious, yet appetizing?

A: Your family needs to understand the importance of natural foods for health and energy. Educate them about the foods that will provide them with proper nutrition, and which foods actually are harmful to their health.

You can save both time and money by finding out their likes and dislikes. Take your children shopping and let them select fruits and vegetables they would like to have included in their lunches. Allow them to choose items and create their own sandwiches. Don't overlook the possibilities of boiled eggs, broiled chicken, celery and carrot sticks, and fresh fruit salads.

It is very important to show your children, through your own behavior, the importance of nutrition and wise eating habits. For additional information on nutrition and weight control, call your local Diet Center at 770-3442.

More Still Needed

$7,000 Donated To Faxon House Shelter

By DAN CONNELLY
Faxon House got a $7000 Christmas present thanks to the generosity of Quincy residents.

This outpouring of money followed the reported $50,000 financial plight of the newly opened, temporary shelter for the homeless adjacent to Quincy City Hospital.

Nancy Powers, executive director of Quincy Interfaith Shelter Coalition, told The Quincy Sun in its Dec. 19 issue that "I must somehow raise $50,000 immediately to cover an operating cash flow and I only have a short period of time to do it."

Since that published appeal the true meaning of Christmas showed through in Quincy, Powers said. There were several $1000 donations, one $500 and a number of $100 and under.

Also arriving was $350 turned over to the shelter from proceeds of a drawing held last week by Dorothy McTiernan of Quincy who operates Dorothy's Card and Gift Shop in the Howard Johnson Plaza at State Street South complex in North Quincy.

She had been selling $1 tickets for a toy, full-size German shepherd puppy.

Powers said the donations came in by mail and all carried a brief note. The messages basically said the donors would rather help the needy at Christmas time than spend the money on gifts.

But despite the $7000 donations, Powers' financial woes for Faxon House are far from solved. She needs $20,000 now to give her more operating cash flow, "and I'm looking everywhere to find it."

Powers also wants to thank the people whose hard work made the shelter ship-shape for the homeless.

Thanks also go to the Quincy Building Trade Union, headed by Carmine D'Olimpio. "Without them this shelter could not have been possible," Powers said.

There were a number of other donations to the shelter over the Christmas. These included canned goods, clothing and homemade baked items from generous neighbors.

The shelter opened Dec. 23 and welcomed 15 guests. After screening, they were provided with a hot meal and invited to spend the evening, or stay until after breakfast. Twenty percent of the homeless who accepted the hospitality of the shelter were elderly. Two were women.

Faxon House cannot accommodate homeless families but it has a support group, the Hingham Family Shelter, which works to provide accommodations.

Powers said last Thursday 20 persons were sheltered. "The word is now out on the street, so we can expect more in the near future."

A THOUGHT FOR THE WEEK.

COME ON NEW YEAR ... Remembering the past is nice — sometimes. Especially if you have something nice to remember. But remembering can also be sometimes painful and frightening.

Because advertising and fashion-setting businesses are now pushing nostalgia, perhaps it's worth a thought or two on what kinds of things should be remembered. Thinking about our personal past is constructive if we can do it fairly, without sugaring up the good and ignoring hard times.

Remembering friendships that worked ... Love that has been shown ... Places and people that were special ... Ideas and beliefs that held your life for a time.

Also remember the knocks and bruises, your own limitations, the causes of pain and sorrow.

And when you're done remembering, take up the present and future.

We're all for the New Year ... Come on, New Year ... We're aching to take you on.

We know you're going to be a great year ... one hard to forget ...

More Public Housing For Minorities

(Cont'd from Page 6)

APRIL

About a dozen names were submitted to a federal judge as nominees for the role of monitor in the Quincy Housing Authority's new agreement to provide more public housing to minorities.

Among the names submitted were:

Dr. Clayton Johnson, president of Quincy Junior College, the first black to hold that post; the Rev. William McCarthy, pastor of St. John's Church; the Rev. Alicia Corea, co-pastor of Houghs Neck Congregational Church; Dr. Carol Lee Griffin, director of Pupil Personnel Services in the Quincy Public Schools; Atty. Lawrence O'Donnell, member of the Quincy City Hospital Board of Managers; William Kelley, president of Bank of New England-Hancock; Charles A. Pearce, president of Quincy Savings Bank.

The names were submitted by the QHA.

Several other names were submitted by the Greater Boston Legal Services, none of them from Quincy.

The consent decree which stipulates that 25 per cent of families selected to live in Quincy public housing be minorities, also applies to federal subsidized housing and not just state subsidized facilities.

The agreement is for four years, after which a review will be made and the ratio percentage could be increased or decreased.

The consent decree was signed not only by the QHA and South Shore Coalition for Human Rights, but also by the state Executive Office of Communities & Development (EOCD) and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and two individual plaintiffs.

Alex Rodriguez, the fiery chairman of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination who had sought monitoring rights in the matter, was not among the names submitted.

He came under sharp criticism at that week's City Council meeting for his announcement that he will continue with a complaint charging the QHA with racial discrimination despite the fact that the QHA and South Shore Coalition had settled basically the same complaint.

"He (Rodriguez) thinks he's anointed, he's appointed," said Councilor Richard Koch, Jr.

The council resolved to support the QHA in litigation with the MCAD.

Federal Judge David Nelson later signed the consent decree as well.

Mayor Francis X. McCauley submitted a fiscal 1986 municipal budget of $80,794,817 to the City Council a week earlier than required.

The budget reflected an increase of $4,199,125 or 5.48 per cent over the fiscal year 1985 budget.

"$2,486,010 of the increase represents the water and sewer assessment levied on the city of Quincy by the Mass. Water Resources Authority. These assessments were previously billed to the city on the cherry sheet," said McCauley.

"I believe the amount funded for the various city departments will allow our city government to continue to provide an acceptable level of city services in fiscal year 1986," he said.

The council's finance committee began hearings on the budget.

A home rule petition submitted by McCauley asking the legislature to allow the city to delay payment of $2.5 million in Quincy's tax rebate debt to General Dynamics was adopted by the council.

Councilor Joanne Condon opposed the petition which passed 7-1.

Under the mayor's petition, the city would pay off the $28 million debt to General Dynamics over a period of 10 years.

The majority of the 725-member Quincy Education Association voted an illegal one-day strike after the school committee and teachers union negotiating teams failed to reach agreement following an all night meeting.

School teachers are prohibited from striking according to state law.

Schools remained open, staffed by principals and non-striking teachers, as pickets marked in front of the city's nine elementary, five middle and three high schools and Quincy Junior College.

A school vacation week followed the strike.

A $150,000 fire took the lives of two men at the Staff of Life Bakery, 567 Washington St., Quincy Point, and arson was suspected.

The victims were identified as Joseph Houeiss, 35, of Boston, and Wissam Saba, 22, of Arlington, both employees of the bakery.

Their bodies were discovered nearly 12 hours after the fire started.

Several firefighters were treated at Quincy City Hospital for minor injuries.

The building was owned by Saleem Mouawad, who emigrated from Lebanon in 1970, purchased the bakery last January and had done considerable renovating, including a new store front.

"The building was a total loss," said Fire Chief Edward Barry.

Investigators from the office of Dist. Atty. William Delahunt moved into the probe.

Delahunt later declared the case to be a homicide under the so-called "felony murder rule" in which any death that occurs during the commission of a felony is a homicide.

James Hoyte, secretary of environmental affairs, all but ruled out Nut Island as a possible site for either a primary or secondary sewage treatment plant.

Hoyte said as much in 11 pages of comments on a supplemental draft environmental impact statement on the siting of wastewater treatment facilities in Boston Harbor.

"It is my opinion," said Hoyte, "that the SDEIS document makes a tacit case for the restriction of the final EIR to only two potential sites: Long Island and Deer Island."

"It is also clear that the data in the SDEIS compellingly disfavors any alternative using Nut Island as part of a split treatment scheme." The South Shore Chamber of Commerce gave its support to a legislative measure that would direct the MDC not to build a sewage treatment plant on Long Island.

The chamber also announced its support for another bill that would prohibit the disposal of sewage effluent, sludge or residue within the boundaries of the city of Quincy.

"We believe the only logical place to site a new sewage treatment plant is Deer Island," said the chamber in comments prepared for the Legislative Committee on Housing and Urban Development.

Police Chief Francis Finn defended the high scores achieved by 16 Quincy patrolmen in the sergeant's exam given last October and said he would "stake his professional reputation on them."

Finn made the remarks in response to questions by Boston television Channels 4 and 7 regarding the above 90 scores.

The City Council would have to wait until June to see if a zoning ordinance it passed that makes it difficult, if not impossible, to open an adult book store or movie house in Quincy, is constitutional.

Thomas P. Koch of 241 Newbury Ave., announced his candidacy for Ward 6 City Council.

Rosemary Wahlberg submitted her resignation from the Quincy City Hospital Board of Managers, acknowledging that she is too busy to do the job justice.

The Massachusetts Federation of Teachers (MFT), rivals to the Quincy Education Association, were on the verge of seeking a Labor Relations Board election to oust the QEA as bargaining agent for the Quincy teachers.

City Council action on a $75 million bond for the construction of a new hospital was postponed when the councilors decided they did not have enough information.

Deaths during April included: Beatrice E. (Guay) Priest, 94, retired president of the Guay Bakeries first established in 1920 on Hancock St.; Katherine G. McCoy, 79, who taught girl's gym and was girl's dean at North Quincy High School for 45 years before retiring; Charles Leveroni, 82, retired Herald city editor; Ruth M. Urquhart, 78, former supervisor for Howard Johnson's who helped establish the restaurant chain on the Massachusetts and Connecticut turnpikes; Joseph Zagarella, 80, retired owner of the former Joe's Barber Shop, Wollaston; Joyce B. Aronson, 46, chief administrative assistant at Quincy District Court under Judge Albert Kramer for the last five years.

MAY

General Dynamics, a local fixture for 101 years, announced to its employees that the current workforce, pegged at 5,267, would be reduced by 3,084 over the next eight months until it reaches 2,183 by the end of the year.

The shipyard was in the process of finishing the last of five Maritime Prepositioning Ships for the Navy's Rapid Deployment. Upon completion early next spring, there would be no work at the yard.

"Even if we got all the Navy contracts we're seeking or even if we got a lion's share of them, these layoffs could not be avoided," said Robert Sweeney, spokesman for the shipyard.

Cong. Brian Donnelly said he planned to continue lobbying Navy Secretary John Lehman to win more contracts for Quincy.

"I will re-emphasize to Lehman that Quincy has a modern facility and a skilled work force in place and it is terribly important for the industrial base of the country that additional work is forthcoming," Donnelly said.

Mayor Francis McCauley also contacted Lehman to emphasize the importance of keeping a skilled work force together in Quincy.

Meanwhile, General Dynamics opened a fulltime job placement center to find work for the 3,084 workers who would be out of jobs between then and the end of the year.

The Quincy City Council also urged the Navy Department to consider awarding future shipbuilding contracts to General Dynamics after it was learned the company lost its bid for a $222.5 million Navy contract that would keep the sinking shipyard afloat.

The council passed a resolve, introduced by Councilor Richard Koch, Jr., that it request its legislative delegation to urge Lehman to see that government shipbuilding contracts are awarded to GD.

A Blue Ribbon Task Force to investigate options for use of the shipyard was suggested by Councilor Patricia Toiland.

The task force was to be a joint effort of the City Council and Mayor McCauley.

"I firmly believe that now is the time for the City of Quincy to begin to look at possible options for the shipyard, one of the most important properties in our city."

"More than anything else, we need to be prepared should the time come that the shipyard does close its gates."

Councilor Michael Cheney sharply criticized General Dynamics' unwillingness to consider diversification of its Quincy shipyard facility and compete for a $52 million MBTA contract for service rail cars.

"This unwillingness is an indication that the yard is to be closed down and put in mothballs until a new Navy contract comes up," said Cheney.

The City Council voted 8 to 1 to pass a municipal budget of $80,621,255 for fiscal 1986.

City Councilor Joanne Condon voted against the budget, saying it did not address the priorities of the people.

With the budget approved, Mayor McCauley said he hoped to set a tax rate by late August or early September, and to have the tax bills in the mail no later than Sept. 30.

The bills would be due Nov. 1, McCauley said.

The budget was 5.48 percent or $4,199,125 over last year's figure of $75,647,674 and rose to $76,595,692 with additional expenditures.

"This is the earliest that the budget has been completed in the last four years," said McCauley.

Last year's so-called "Battle of the Budget" dragged on until July.

The only cuts in the budget were for retirement pensions, $71,062; law expenses, $2,500; judgements, losses and claims, $50,000; and reserve for salaries, $50,000.

A $2,134,000 Community Development Block Grant Budget was later passed by the council, but not before councilors expressed concern for the future of social services.

The councilors were concerned because of announced federal cuts in Community Development Block Grants, which would consequently reduce the maximum of 15 percent of that amount allowed for social services.

Increasing costs in other areas of the budget might also affect social services.

Teachers Ratify Contract

 was signed by Mayor McCauley.

The signing followed approval by the City Council of the petition.

The council held off acting on the petition until councilors were satisfied with the future of the Quincy Detoxification Center at the hospital.

Gerald Marquis, chairman of the hospital's board of managers, said that agreement was reached on a three year lease for the detox center at the hospital's now vacant Gordon House.

The detox center has been located since the early 1970s at the Faxon House which is scheduled to be torn down as part of the replacement plans.

Mayor McCauley announced that he would hold a meeting at City Hall to gather regional opposition to siting a new sewage treatment plant off Long Island.

"We want to let the Governor's Office know that we are continually opposed to Long Island as a site for the facility," said McCauley.

The battle over the site erupted following published reports of a Winthrop activist stating that a governor's office employee said Dukakis supported Long Island.

At a state house meeting, Quincy officials were told by Secretary of Environmental Affairs James Hoyte that no deal had been struck by Dukakis to site a new treatment plant off Long Island.

The City Council adopted a resolve, introduced by Councilor Joanna Condon, that the council go on record as strongly opposed to Long Island as a site for the proposed sewerage treatment facility.

Mayor McCauley submitted a home rule petition to the City Council asking to replace the city's public health commissioner with an appointed five member board of health.

The board, which would include at least one physician, would be named by the mayor to staggered five-year terms with the day-to-day operations of the department handled by a paid commissioner serving for three years.

McCauley said the difficulties he experienced finding a successor to the late Dr. M. Grace Hussey, who died in January, led him to the decision to go to the board of health form of administration.

The council referred the petition to its ordinance committee.

Architectural consultants who had been studying the Quincy Police Station suggested two options:

Either renovate the building and add 10,500 square feet at a cost of $4.8 million or build a new station, possibly at a new location, for $5.5 million.

The mayor said Public Works Department and Police officials would meet soon to examine the options and suggest a direction to the mayor.

Fire Chief Edward Barry said that he would retire at the end of September after turning 65.

The Quincy Education Association membership overwhelmingly ratified a recently negotiated contract.

School Supt. John Osterman told the City Council that the School Committee intended to formally ratify the contract at its next meeting.

Mayor McCauley appointed Gertrude Buckley of Doane St., Germantown, to the Hospital Board of Managers, replacing Rosemary Wahlberg who resigned.

The following announced their candidacies for the specified office: Francis McCauley, Herman (Hank) Pasquerella, David Peterson, mayor; Ronald Iacobucci, councilor at large; Thomas Nutley, Richard Sheridan, Ward 6 Councilor; Frank Santoro, School Committee.

Deaths during May included: Edna M. (Morris) Curtis, 80, retired librarian in the Squantum branch of the Thomas Crane Public Library; Paul J. Jacobs, 69, retired lieutenant in the Quincy Fire Department; retired U.S. Army Reserve Lt. Col. William J. Kelly, 64, purchasing agent for the city of Quincy; Hattiemay Thomas, 95, retired Quincy city clerk; Joseph A. Lemieux, 55, president of the Quincy Firefighters Relief Association.

JUNE

A City Hall memorial to the late Mayor-Senator James R. McIntyre was proposed by among others, City Councilor Joseph J. LaRaia, a long-time political foe.

LaRaia introduced a resolve at a City Council meeting calling for "an appropriate memorial on City Hall."

The resolve took many observers by surprise because of the political differences between LaRaia and McIntyre over a long period of time.

But LaRaia and Quincy's other three living former mayors were planning together to seek a suitable memorial for the late mayor.

The other mayors are Thomas S. Burgin, Walter J. Hannon and Arthur H. Tobin.

City Council President James Sheets called LaRaia's action "magnanimous."

The resolve stated that McIntyre "distinguished himself in his capacity as senator, representative, mayor and city councilor, representing the City of Quincy over the last two decades."

"...His inspiring presence in state and city government has greatly effected the lives of many people and his active leadership has changed the physical character of our city."

At the next meeting, the council adopted a new resolve that the original Quincy City Hall be designated as the James R. McIntyre Government Center.

The new designation was to be located on the front of the building. A dedication service was expected to take place in September.

The resolve was introduced by members of the City Council.

An earlier resolve, introduced by Councilor LaRaia was placed on file.

LaRaia explained to the council's Beautification Committee that the resolve was redrafted to include input from the City Council and others.

Also during the month, the first new official edition of the General Laws of Massachusetts were rededicated in memory of McIntyre.

It was the first time since 1932 that the state's general laws had been recodified and their volumes rededicated to someone other than a jurist.

Mayor Francis McCauley invited Gov. Michael Dukakis to tour Long Island which Quincy and other South Shore communities hoped would be ruled out as a site for a sewage treatment plant.

"I believe that it is imperative that you see for yourself why the placing of a sewage treatment plant on Long Island would cause a thing of beauty to be destroyed," stated McCauley in a letter to Dukakis.

The suggestion of a tour came from Councilor Michael Cheney during a City Hall meeting called by the mayor to gather regional opposition to Long Island, as well as the plant.

Deer Island is the other major alternative.

The meeting, which lasted almost two hours, was attended by nearly 50 people including representatives of Boston Mayor Raymond Flynn, Weymouth and Hull Selectmen, as well as Quincy City Councilors, representatives from Quincy and members of local associations.

Gov. Dukakis declined the offer to tour the island.

"I think it would be better if I did not tour either potential site (Long Island or Deer Island.)

"The decision rests with the Mass. Water Resources Authority, and I will support the board's decision."

Councilor Cheney wrote to each member of the MWRA urging them to vote against Nut Island and Long Island as options for the treatment facility.

City Councilor Joanne Condon, a mayoral candidate, initiated a city-wide petition for Quincy residents opposed to siting the treatment plant on either Long Island or Nut Island.

Mayor McCauley signed and sent to the Legislature two home rule petitions regarding $2,436,727 in taxes which General Dynamics legally withheld from the city.

The first petition, introduced by the mayor, would give the city permission to write off the amount over 10 years, as opposed to one year.

The second petition, introduced by Councilor Condon, would have the state treasurer pay the amount to Quincy.

A Blue Ribbon Task Force on General Dynamics held its first meeting at City Hall and those attending agreed to make their first priority helping the shipyard secure contracts.

"People want to put on the back burner alternative uses of the shipyard until we know what's going on," said City Councilor Patricia Toland who suggested formation of the task force.

Councilor Condon suggested that a home rule petition establishing a board of health be amended to include input from the City Council.

But Mayor McCauley, who introduced the home rule petition, said the city operates under a Plan A charter which Boston demonstrated peacefully in front of the Islamic Center of New England, in Quincy Point, and burned in effigy the Ayatollah Khomeini.

The demonstrators, reacting to the hijacking of TWA Flight 847, called for President Ronald Reagan to declare war against Lebanon and Syria.

Ken Sidman, 34, head of the Boston JDL, said his group chose the Islamic Center, at 470 South St., as a protest site because members had heard that the mosque sympathized with hijackers.

No representative of the Islamic Center spoke at the demonstration, but a statement was issued which read, in part:

"In regards to the incident of the hijacking of TWA Flight 847 on June 14, 1985, we do not condone violence and sympathize with the families of those who have been illegally held hostage."

Police Capt. David Rowell, Chief of Detectives, estimated the crowd at 50 to 60, including about 27 police officers and detectives.

President Ronald Reagan honored the South Shore Chamber of Commerce for its role in "Earn-It," a pioneering victim restitution program conceived by Quincy District Court Judge Albert Kramer.

Members of the Veterans Services Committee of the City Council promised to do what they could to find a meeting place for the Vietnam Veterans of Quincy.

Postmaster Paul N. Carlin paid tribute to Abigail Adams during ceremonies at the Church of the Presidents, Quincy Square, marking the issuance of a 22-cent commemorative stamp honoring her.

Fire Chief Edward Barry notified Mayor McCauley that he would retire Aug. 2, after 35 years of service to the department. He had earlier indicated he would retire in September.

Sabina Kavanagh took out nomination papers, bringing to five the number of contenders for mayor.

Ward 2 Councilor Theodore DeCristofaro announced he would seek a third term on the Quincy City Council.

Timcoe, 64, assistant adjutant for the Quincy Veterans Council; Helen (Carlson) Bruton, 73, member of the Republican City Committee and active in Quincy civic affairs; Robert C. Ericson, 60, retired Squantum Yacht Club steward; Mary (Bray) Neal, 101, who left 74 grandchildren, great grandchildren and great great grandchildren; Sun Lo, 67, chef and gourmet cook in Chinatown; Dorothy E. ### JULY

The Massachusetts Water resources Authority decided to place both a primary and secondary sewage treatment facility on Deer Island, off Winthrop, not Long Island, off Quincy.

"The logical choice was Deer Island," said Mayor Francis McCauley, "there is no sense desecrating Long Island."

"It was a team effort of a lot of people who deserve credit. It shows people can get together when there is a cause worth fighting for."

More than 700 men, women and children did just that at a candlelight rally on Moon Island Road to show opposition to the possible selection of Long Island for the treatment facility.

City Councilor Patricia Toland coordinated the event which was also planned by the Squantum Community Association and Atlantic Neighborhood Association.

The rally included speakers, sing-a-longs and cheers. A number of petitions were presented to Paul Anderson, Quincy's Public Works Commissioner and representative on the MWRA.

Mayor McCauley said his administration would watch the situation closely to make sure Boston's mayor and city council didn't attempt to move Deer Island's House of Correction to Long Island.

"A jail doesn't belong there either," said McCauley, "the island should be kept in a natural state."

Boston Mayor Raymond Flynn had said earlier he would "work with the governor, the state legislature, and the authority, if requested to do so, to remove and relocate the Suffolk County House of Correction in the event Deer Island was chosen."

Seven people were rushed to Quincy City Hospital, felled by chemicals that leaked from bottles ruptured when compacted in a trash truck making pickups in Wollaston.

Deputy Fire Chief Thomas Gorman said the three men crew of a BFI trash truck was on Cheriton Rd., Wollaston, making its routine stops.

The men were unaware that one of the barrels they emptied outside a home contained chemicals.

After being deposited into the well of the truck, the compactor was turned on. The compressor crushed the bottles and released the intoxicating fumes.

The truck crew, a Quincy police officer responding to the incident and three women were subsequently felled by the fumes.

Held at Quincy City Hospital for further treatment were BFI employees Robert Callahan, 34, of Dorchester, and Lorraine Brennan, 37, of Quincy. She reportedly tried to wet down the escaping fumes with a garden hose.

Treated at the hospital were Frederick Ash, 37, of Weymouth, and Carl Cuhn, 51, of Dedham, both BFI employees.

Also treated there were Daniel Kennedy, 42, of Wollaston, first Quincy police officer on the scene, Ann Amendolare, 46, of Wollaston and Florence Flaherty, 56, of Wollaston.

Deputy Fire Chief Gorman had the area sealed off and awaited arrival of a hazardous material unit of the Boston Fire Department to assist in neutralizing the area.

Thirty Wollaston residents were evacuated from their homes.

After reviewing a report on the accident from Anthony Siciliano, Acting Director Public Safety/Civil Defense, Mayor McCauley lauded the quick action by city and state personnel and residents.

He also said that, by coincidence, plans had already been in the works to have a city-wide hazardous waste pickup after Labor Day when most people have returned from vacation.

Mayor McCauley said he was willing to go to St. Louis to talk with the management of General Dynamics following the loss of two major Navy contracts by the Quincy shipyard.

Other local officials also reacted in efforts to keep the 101-year-old yard from closing when it finished work next spring on its last remaining ship, a contract previously awarded by the Navy.

The Quincy shipyard would not have any major Navy ship work to bid on until 1987.

Evelyn Murphy, spokeswoman for the Quincy shipyard, said that a decision regarding the future of the shipyard would be made in the very near future.

Sen. Paul Harold said the state budget had a $75,000 appropriation for a study of General Dynamics shipyard, either continued use of the shipyard or an alternative if shipbuilding is not the industry at that site.

Harold said the amount was inserted by himself and Quincy State Rep. Thomas Brownell, and that the study should be finished by the spring of 1986.

The president of the shipbuilders union at the Quincy shipyard charged that his membership was being made the scapegoat for that corporation.

Dick Piccuito of Quincy, head of Local 5, AFL-CIO, Industrial Union of Marine & Shipbuilding Workers of America, said his union was bearing the blame for the past errors of General Dynamics.

Piccuto defended his members who verbally clashed with a group promoting alternative uses for the yard during a meeting of the Blue Ribbon Task Force on General Dynamics.

"I stand behind my members. We do not want our fate determined by people who know nothing about shipyards," said Piccuito.

Councillor Patricia Toland, who headed the task force, said everyone at the meeting grew to understand the other person's point of view a little more.

About 25 off-duty nurses picked for two days in front of Quincy City Hospital in an effort to gather the public's support during negotiations for a new contract with the hospital.

The old contract had expired a month earlier and negotiations broke off.

A former member of the state Labor Relations Commission was named fact finder to hear the labor dispute between the nurses and OCH.

A hearing by fact-finder Gary Wooters of Brookline was expected to be held in August. A series of non-binding recommendations for reaching a settlement would be made by Wooters.

The City Council tabled

two of Mayor McCauley's home rule petitions dealing with the Health Department.

The first petition would have established an unpaid, five member board of health and a health commissioner appointed by the mayor for three years.

The second dropped the requirement of an M.D. degree for the city's health commissioner.

Senator Harold announced that a fall completion was possible for the 1.2 mile Burgin Parkway Extension linking Quincy Center with Route 3 and Route 128 in Braintree.

Harold, a long-time proponent of the Burgin Parkway plan, said the project was 10 months ahead of schedule and had originally been scheduled for completion in October, 1986.

Mayor McCauley and members of his administration travelled to Washington to voice concerns over a proposed 20 per cent reduction in the HUD Community Development Block Grant Program.

A reduction of the magnitude proposed would seriously affect the CDBG program in Quincy and impair its ability to deal with community and neighborhood development issues.

The Water St. bridge, closed to traffic for reconstruction since last October, reopened.

Mayor McCauley directed the Department of Public Works to begin plans for a new animal shelter, saying the present shelter has been insufficient for the city's animal sheltering and caring needs for a number of years.

Atty. Dean P. Nicastro resigned as city solicitor to accept the position of associate staff counsel with the Massachusetts Medical Society, and Atty. Joseph A. (Jay) MacRitchie, 33, of Squantum was named to succeed him.

Atty. Robert Quinn of Wollaston was appointed assistant city solicitor.

Mayor McCauley announced he would appoint Deputy Fire Chief Carl Valenti acting chief upon the retirement of Chief Edward Barry Aug. 2.

Tricia A. Tanner, 19, of Weymouth, was selected Miss Quincy Bay of 1985.

Polio victim Sybil Mattson of South Quincy held a "family" get together of nurses, orderlies and others who became "like family" when they cared for Mrs. Mattson and other patients 30 years ago at Massachusetts General Hospital during the polio epidemic of 1955.

Deaths during July included Kathryn M. Ackerman, 81, co-owner and operator of the former Ackerman Furniture Store and Moving Co.; Edward Barker, 85, founder and owner of the Barker Stationery & Supply Co. and Quincy Typewriter Co.; Chandler K. Garland, 73, banker and president-elect of the Quincy Kiwanis Club; Margaret A. (Carline) DeAngelo, 69, news writer for The Patriot Ledger; Edward Gentile, 62, retired Quincy Police Detective; William J. Martin, 85, former president and chairman of the South Shore National Bank of Quincy, and national leader in the fight against tuberculosis; the Rev. Romeo Levasseur, 61, who served his first Mass at Sacred Heart Church, North Quincy; Clara M. Pearce, 92, retired assistant principal of the Mass. Field School; Joseph E. Brown, 63, an ironworker who helped put most of the tall buildings in Boston's skyline.

AUGUST

The day after denying that a statement on its future was forthcoming, General Dynamics, the city's largest taxpayer, announced that its Quincy shipyard would close in mid-1986.

Gary S. Grimes, vice president-general manager, said the shipyard would close after completing the Maritime Prepositioning Ships under contract.

Layoffs of the over 4,000 workers had already begun.

"We very much regret that under the present depressed conditions in the U.S. Shipbuilding Industry it is no longer possible to maintain the Quincy Shipyard as an economically viable and ongoing operation," stated Stanley C. Pace, vice chairman of General Dynamics.

"Although Quincy has aggressively pursued new opportunities in the Navy's auxiliary, amphibious and sealift ship programs, no awards have been obtained that would effectively utilize the shipyard's facilities at a necessary minimum business base."

"General Dynamics intends to explore all options to find other ways to effectively use the valuable assets of the shipyard and will give careful consideration to any economically viable alternatives which are proposed," Pace said.

"I know that nothing can eliminate the shock and personal uncertainty that we all now feel," Grimes said in a letter to the shipyard's employees.

"I want you to know that General Dynamics will do everything it can to ease the distress of this closing and assist each of you in finding, new, good-paying jobs."

General Dynamics is committing itself to a program of expanded job placement and severance bonus benefits in excess of $10 million to assist Quincy employees in making the transition to new careers, said the company.

General Dynamics purchased the Quincy yard from the Bethlehem Steel Company in December, 1963. The yard, then known as the Fore River Shipyard, was founded in 1884 as the Fore River Engine Co. in nearby Braintree and expanded to its present location in 1901.

The company launched its shipbuilding tradition with the delivery of two 400-ton gunboat destroyers to the Navy in 1903.

Since then, Quincy had delivered more than 600 ships of all classes and types to the Navy and commercial customers.

Mayor Francis McCauley wrote to the president of Toyota Motor Corporation urging him to consider Quincy, and particularly the General Dynamics site, as the location for a plant in the United States.

McCauley stated in the letter that he was aware that Toyota is searching for a site to build a plant in this country.

The Planning Department also sent information packets to companies interested in commercial and residential uses for the shipyard.

"To put that shipyard back to business one way or another is the challenge before us now," said Councillor Patricia Toland whose Blue Ribbon Task Force on General Dynamics was scheduled to meet.

South Shore economic and real estate leaders were also scheduled to discuss the future of the site at a meeting called by the mayor.

McCauley also said he would ask General Dynamics officials to reconsider closing the shipyard in Quincy.

A rally and petition drive aimed to keep the Quincy shipyard open as a shipbuilding facility was scheduled to be launched.

Councillor Joanne Condon, who was spearheading the effort, said, "There hadn't been a concentrated effort to keep the shipyard open until now."

"All of the plans and directions made have been in a scattered variety."

"We're trying to bring together those people interested in a positive effort to keep the shipyard open."

Tony Svizzera, New England Regional Director of the Shipbuilders' Union, said at a City Hall forum that "We've got to get the politicians moving."

At the end of the month, Grimes told a group of about 20 business and political leaders from Quincy and the South Shore that there had been no basic change in General Dynamics' decision to close the shipyard.

One of the heaviest hitting political lineups ever seen here promised Quincy shipyard workers they would do everything they could to try to keep the Quincy yard open as a shipbuilding facility.

The likes of Senators Edward Kennedy and John Kerry and Congressmen Brian Donnelly and Gerry Studds as well as Governor Michael Dukakis were among those who addressed a crowd of shipyard workers and others on McIntyre Mall under intermittent rain.

They left the shipyard workers cautiously hopeful that something could be done to keep the yard - once called the U.S. Navy's right arm - open for shipbuilding.

Police estimated the crowd at 700 at the rally, organized by Save Our Shipyard, a committee comprised of local and state labor leaders and area politicians. Councillor Condon was among the organizers.

The Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition requested to use the Knights of Columbus building at 25 Foster St., Quincy Center, as a shelter for the homeless.

But area businesses were concerned with the proposed location.

"I'm not opposing taking care of the homeless, but I think there has been no consideration for the people of downtown Quincy," said Robert Colman, owner of Colman's Sporting Goods.

"It's an area that's been getting better over the years and to locate it there, I think would be a mistake," said Steve Gillig, president of the Quincy Center Business and Professional Association.

The QCBPA later said it would endorse a new location sought by the coalition behind the Quincy Police Station. But Public Works Commr. Paul Anderson said the area was not compatible with residential use.

Mayor McCauley said the decision rested with the Quincy License Board which was scheduled in September.

But he said he felt the coalition should have an opportunity to set up the shelter at the Foster St. Knights of Columbus building and see how it works.

No evidence was found concerning an alleged entrance into a file cabinet in the Learning Resource Center at Quincy Junior College, according to president O. Clayton Johnson.

Johnson was referring to a suggestion made at a Quincy School Committee meeting by a librarian, Susan Riley of Hingham, that the president of the college had taken papers from her office.

The city earned $162,000 from validated parking in fiscal 1985 and the mayor was "very pleased" with the way the system had worked.

"It's been a very positive first year," said McCauley, "over 100 businesses downtown are participating in validated parking."

"It's a great improvement over the old system where people got parking tickets if their parking meters expired."

Quincy's goodwill ambassador, award-winning actress Ruth Gordon, 88, died at her Martha's Vineyard home. She was with her husband of 43 years, author-playwright Garson Kanin. He was holding her hand. Her death was attributed to a stroke. There were no funeral or memorial services, according to her wishes.

Miss Gordon was awarded an Oscar in 1968 at age 72 for her supporting role in "Rosemary's Baby," and received an Emmy award in 1979 for a TV episode of "Ishi."

Her last visit to her hometown was Nov. 10, 1984 for Ruth Gordon Day and dedication of the Ruth Gordon Amphitheatre in Merrymount Park.

"I'm the first person in my family to have a theatre named for her," she told the crowd at the amphitheatre. "It took a long time. I started toward this 88 years, 11 days and five and a half hours ago."

She later wrote to her friend, Henry Bosworth, Quincy Sun Publisher, what that day had meant to her:

"I think it was the best day in my life."

"It was the perfect day - a day on which Quincy seemed to be a dream world all of its own."

"I thought we all took off and went somewhere else. We went somewhere where there was no trouble, or worry or mean stuff. We all floated off where it all went right."

Plans to honor the late Mayor-Senator James R. McIntyre with a granite marker affixed to the front of old City Hall renaming it the James R. McIntyre Government Center were approved by the Quincy Historical Commission.

Worry about pollution continued to keep swimmers away from city beaches.

Ward 1 Councillor Michael Cheney said the high coliform counts were related to inefficient treatment of sewage at the Nut Island Sewage Treatment Plant, in a letter to Philip Shapiro, Acting Executive Director of the Massachusetts Water Resources Authority.

The Wollaston Theatre, Quincy's last movie house, announced it was reluctantly relaxing its admission policy on "R" rated movies.

American Cablesystem offered to buy any and all of the shares of Quincy Cablesystems owned by 21 minority shareholders for more than 12 times the original price of $100.

Growers for the Quincy Farmer's Market turned over more than 200 pounds of a variety of fruits and vegetables to the needy.

The Rev. Keith C. Munson retired as minister of United First Parish Church, Quincy Sq., after 10 years of service.

Most of the reconstruction of the Southeast Expressway between Quincy and Braintree was completed and all lanes in this portion open to traffic.

Those who announced their candidacy for office were Richard Koch, Jr., Joseph LaRaia, councillor at large; Margaret (Peggy) Nigro, school committee.

McCauley, Condon Nominated

Condon's 4,642 with three other candidates trailing far behind.

Thomas Koch and Thomas Nutley won the nominations for the Ward 6 City Council seat in a tight race. Koch led Nutley by a scant 57 votes - 914 to 857. Richard Sheridan was third with 607, followed by John Walsh, 342; Marilyn Hanabury, 186; and former councillor Thomas Gilmartin, 183.

The election would mean that two brothers - Thomas Koch and Councillor at Large Richard Koch, Jr., would be on the same ballot in the Nov. 5 final election. They were believed to be the only two brothers ever to run in the same election in Quincy.

Other results of the mayoral race were Herman Pasquerella, 790 votes; Sabina Kavanagh, 162; David Peterson, 76.

Some 30 per cent of the city's 46,297 registered voters went to the polls despite the lack of contests, other than the two for mayor and the Ward 6 City Council seat, and drizzly weather.

The punch card voting machines - marking the first time in the city's history that paper ballots were not used - proved highly successful. Final returns from the city's 39 voting precincts were tabulated by 10:15 p.m. But for computer problems, the results would have been known by 9:30 p.m. or earlier.

With paper ballots, it was sometimes as late as 5 or 6 a.m. the following morning before returns were completed.

Condon outspent two-term incumbent McCauley by more than $10,000 in the preliminary race. She spent $29,060 to McCauley's $18,266.

The 1986 tax rates for personal and commercial property were officially set and both were lower than last year. Tax rates of $20.63 per 1,000 valuation for residential property, and $30.49 for commercial, industrial and personal property were officially certified by the state.

The rate for residential property was down 40 cents from last year's $21.03, and for commercial, industrial and personal property, down 37 cents from last year's $30.86.

Later in the month, Frank Santoro of 80 Haviland St., received the Ruth Gordon award for his contribution to community theatre.

General dynamics hoped to sell the Quincy shipyard as soon as possible, but local efforts continued to keep it open as a shipbuilding facility.

The Quincy Citizens Association sent a letter to President Ronald Reagan appealing to him to "exert your influence in preserving and supporting continuance of the Quincy Shipyard."

A group of Quincy and union officials travelled to Washington, D.C., to lobby for contracts for the shipyard. Plans for the $75 million replacement of a major portion of Quincy City Hospital hit a stumbling block.

The City Council, after a motion by Councillor John Lydon, voted to refer to its Ordinance Committee the mayor's veto of a council order proposing rezoning of the hospital site from Residence C to Planned Unit Development.

"It puts the hospital on hold until the council acts or doesn't act," said City Solicitor Jay MacRitchie.

The council had passed the PUD for the hospital site so that it could have control over construction plans.

The mayor said he issued the first veto of his administration because "delays caused by the PUD process would significantly increase the overall cost of the project."

The Quincy License Board

The continuance was at the request of Atty. Matthew J. McDonnell, lawyer for the Sheltering Coalition, "so that assurances can be made to the Licensing Board that the State Building Code will be complied with in all respects."

Mayor McCauley said the board "didn't really do the job" on deciding whether or not to locate a shelter for the homeless on Foster St.

City Clerk John Gillis presented to the City Council plans to redraw Quincy's wards and precincts which would take effect in about two years.

The action, which reduced the number of precincts from 39 to 30, was being taken so that "all of the precincts and wards in the city would be equal" according to Gillis.

Mayor McCauley signed an order submitted by Council President James Sheets rezoning to open space the 7.11 acres of land where a Howard Johnson's and Arco Station were located off the Southeast Expressway.

The City Council went on record as supporting a local toxic waste pickup program which included a collection scheduled for next spring and paid for with private, state and city funds.

The future of Quincy Junior College, whether as it currently existed or as an independent community college, appeared to still be undecided.

Marilyn Sullivan, 62, of Albion Road became the first woman chief justice of any Massachusetts court.

John J. Lydon, Jr., announced his candidacy for reelection to the Ward 3 Council seat.

Quincy legislators voted 2 to 1 against a gay rights bill which was rejected in the Massachusetts House by a vote of 88 to 65.

Reps. Michael Morrissey and Robert Cerasoli voted against the bill which would have extended state discrimination laws to protect homosexuals. Rep. Thomas Brownell voted for it.

The Quincy-South Shore Jerry Lewis Telethon Pledge Center based at the Quincy Sun raised $47,325 for the Muscular Dystrophy Association, $7,281 more than last year.

Deaths included Margaret Meta (Barbie) Ash, 95, active in veterans groups; Mary L. Morgan, 64, director of development resources for the Boston Museum of Science; Sebastian "Jim" Squatrito, retired owner of the former Jim's Barber Shop in Houghs Neck; Harold F. Forest, former teacher and baseball coach at North Quincy High School; A. Bentley Kuris, 78, Quincy attorney for 56 years; George W. Burke, 59, former math teacher in the Quincy Public Schools.

OCTOBER

An estimated 10,000 Quincy homes were plunged into darkness when Hurricane Gloria whipped Quincy with 97 m.p.h. winds. Fortunately, a predicted five to ten inches of rain never came, eliminating what would have been severe flooding problems.

Numerous trees were uprooted or snapped off or limbs and branches strewn about by the powerful winds.

At the height of the storm, more than 10,000 Mass.

Electric customers in Quincy were without power, according to Carl B. Herrmann, Mass. Electric district manager.

Crews from as far away as Ontario, Canada; New York State, Tennessee, North Carolina and New Hampshire assisted Mass. Electric in restoring power. Herrmann said.

Forecasters had feared that Hurricane Gloria could be the worst storm to hit New England since 1938.

But although Gov. Michael Dukakis proclaimed a state of emergency in Massachusetts, forecasters' worst fears failed to materialize. In addition to the storm's weakened punch, advance warning of the hurricane allowed cities such as Quincy to map out strategies.

Shelters were set up at the Atlantic, Atherton Hough, Snug Harbor, Vocational Technical, Lincoln Hancock, North Quincy High and Squantum Schools, as well as at the National Guard Armory.

"There were no major problems with looting," according to Mayor Francis McCauley. "Very few injuries were reported. A man on Quincy Shore Drive was reportedly hit by a limb but he was treated at the hospital and released," said McCauley.

McCauley commended Tony Siciliano, Civil Defense Deputy Director; Police Chief Francis Finn, Civil Air Patrol and Civil Defense workers, city employees, the Massachusetts National Guard and Sheriff Clifford Marshall's office for their help in the storm.

The hurricane left the city with a $1.2 million tab for damage to municipal property, debris cleanup and other storm-related costs, according to Principal Planner Richard Meade who was designated as disaster assessment officer.

The hurricane disrupted the lives of many, including Karen O'Toole of Quincy and Michael Bissett of Brockton who were scheduled to be married that night at St. John's Church, Quincy Center.

The ceremony ended up taking place that afternoon in the living room of the bride's parents' before 30 family members, friends and the dog, Shana. The electricity had been lost hours before.

A storm of a different kind developed in the mayoral race when Mayor McCauley and Councillor Joanne Condon were beset with 11th hour campaign developments.

As the campaign came down the homestretch, McCauley was defending personal real estate transactions and Condon was explaining alleged delinquent auto excise taxes.

McCauley said he saw nothing wrong with his conducting private real estate transactions with his administrative assistant, Arthur Foley. Condon said that, to the best of her knowledge, she didn't owe money for auto excise taxes.

The City Council voted 6 to 3 to override the mayor's veto of an earlier order to rezone the hospital site as Planned Unit Development. Voting against the override were City Councillors Richard Koch, Jr., Joseph LaRaia and Patricia Toland.

The rezoning meant that the council would have control over the $75 million replacement of a major portion of the hospital.

Instead of just applying for a building permit, the hospital would now have to submit its plans to the City Council which could issue a special PUD permit.

Mayor McCauley said he didn't think the council's action was really necessary, but if PUD hearings could be held and the council could give its approval for a special permit at the Nov. 18 meeting "that would be utopia."

For the first time in 10 years, the city's "Free Cash" account had a surplus. Free cash is money that is appropriated but not spent, less unpaid back taxes.

In a letter to Mayor McCauley, the State Department of Revenue certified a free cash surplus balance of $217,299 as of July 1, 1985.

McCauley attributed the improvement in the free cash position to the success of a city drive to collect delinquent real estate taxes. However, mayoral candidate Joanne Condon downplayed the importance of the development in light of what she said have been reductions in services.

The city was seeking the services of a traffic expert to perform a major traffic circulation analysis of three targeted areas - downtown Quincy, North Quincy, and a portion of the Southern Artery.

The search for such a person, or firm, was in concert with Mayor McCauley's announcement of the advent of a new program - "Quincy Traffic 2000."

The program was formed to address the city's evergrowing traffic headaches and provide solutions to road-related problems that will be facing the city by the year 2000.

The Quincy Chapter of the Vietnam Combat Veterans Combines Armed Forces was asking residents to join them in an MIA post card drive.

A hearing regarding a controversial homeless shelter on Foster St. in Quincy Center was continued by the License Board to Dec. 3, at the request of Atty. Matthew McDonnell, lawyer for the Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coalition.

It was announced that the MDC would buy the Granite Rail and Little Granite Rail quarries and make them part of the Blue Hills Reservation.

Councillor James Sheets, in whose ward the quarries are located, said the 21 acres, combined with 183 acres the city purchased recently from the Ruscitto estate and 65-70 acres which he hoped the MDC would acquire would be in excess of 260 acres.

"That means diminished intensity of development that can occur in that area," said Sheets.

A two-day public celebration was held in honor of John Adams' 250th birthday.

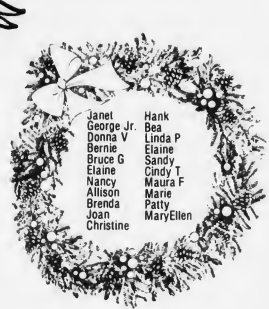

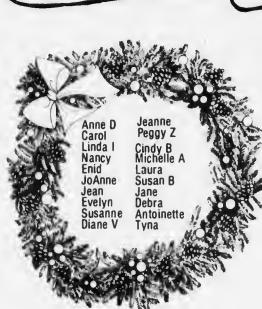

Quincy Police said they were making progress in the investigation into the death of William J. Sheffler, 29, whose body was found about 60 feet in the woods off South St., which intersects with Edinboro Rd., Quincy Point.

According to Capt. David Rowell, Chief of Detectives.

police were treating the case as a homicide. There were no suspects, he said.

The city's computer system, and consolidation of two lines into one in the collector's office, helped speed up the payment of property tax bills at City Hall.

Former Quincy resident John Magnarelli was named regional director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Special Nutrition Program.

Lottery officials announced that Quincy received more than $12.4 million from Massachusetts State Lottery last year.

Deaths during October included Susan F. Allen, 44, head administrative clerk in the city's department of public works, office of the commissioner; Anthony M. DiNicholantonio, 48, stricken while protecting his new restaurant in Brockton against Hurricane Gloria; Ignatius L. Donovan, 63, a retired manager of the former Capital Supermarket, Wollaston; Teodoro Pugliesi, 90, retired coppersmith at Bethlehem Steel Co.; Quincy; Joseph Rinaldi, 90, foreman for the city highway department which he served for 34 years before retiring; Henry J. Lamb, Sr., 73, former chief executive officer of the New England Association of Credit Executives; Saja (Sam) Lefman, 74, a native of Poland and survivor of the Holocaust; Mary "Mollie" C. (Gear) Connelly, 86, first women sales representative for John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. of Boston; Miriam Cully, 82, a cub scout den mother and longtime girl scout leader for St. John's Church; Thomas M. Maloney, 61, former president of the Maloney Scafold Corp. of Boston.

NOVEMBER

Mayor Francis McCauley rode a 64 percent vote cushion to a third term in the November election, easily turning back challenger Joanne Condon. McCauley polled 13,115 votes to Condon's 7,306, winning by nearly 2-1.

"It was a good victory," said McCauley. "I said all along that the people would respond to a positive campaign."

Condon said, "we were ready for the job, but they were not ready for us."

The three incumbents retained their seats as councillors at large.

Joseph LaRaia, a former mayor, topped the voting in that contest with 12,925; followed by 12,057 for Richard Koch and 10,776 for Patricia Ioland.

Toland edged Ronald P. Iacobucci, the lone challenger by 330 votes.

Thomas J. Nutley defeated Thomas P. Koch for the Ward 6 City Council seat vacated by Condon to run for mayor. Nutley had 2,083 votes to Koch's 1,508.

Ward 3 incumbent John J. Lydon, Jr. was reelected, defeating Howard A.W. MacKay by 275 votes. Lydon had 1,889 votes to MacKay's 1,614.

Frank C. Santoro and Margaret (Peggy) Nigro were elected to the School Committee, ousting Joan Picard and Nicholas Verenis.

Santoro had 9,577 and Nigro, 8,784. Picard's total was 8,704. Verenis garnered 8,640.

School committeewoman Mary P. Collins was reelected and topped the voting with 11,178.

Four councillors were reelected unopposed. The four and their vote totals: Michael Cheney, Ward 1, 3,049; Theodore DeCristofaro, Ward 2, 2,897; James Sheets, Ward 4, 2,443; and Stephen McGrath, Ward 5, 2,282.

Only 45.4 percent of the city's voters went to the polls on a rainy election day.

City Clerk John Gillis reported no problems with the punch card voting system which was initiated in the primary election.

Mayor McCauley turned the tables and outspent Condon by $7,128 during the time between the preliminary and final elections. In the preliminary race, Condon outspent McCauley by more than $10,000 for the final election, McCauley spent $20,327 while Condon spent $13,199.

Picard and Iacobucci requested recounts, but each called them off when they showed no appreciable difference.

The Burgin Parkway Extension, which links Route 3 with downtown Quincy, opened 10 months ahead of schedule with a host of officials on hand.

"The downtown area now has the potential to, once again, draw commerce from a wide geographical region," said Robert T. Tierney, Massachusetts Department of Public Works Commissioner.

"This vital link" between Quincy Center and three major highways will give the business and historic districts a tremendous boost."

Tierney said the $6.5 million Burgin Parkway Extension, which runs parallel to the MBTA Red Line, was part of an overall plan which included the construction of the $25 million Quincy Adams MBTA Station, a new $30 million ramp interchange at Route 3 and 128 in South Quincy and Braintree, and $3.6 million in flood control improvements developed by the MDC.

Other speakers were Martha Reardon, associate commissioner of the Mass. DPW; Mayor Francis McCauley, Cong. Brian J. Donnelly, Robert McDonagh chief engineer, Mass. DPW; Sen. Paul D. Harold and Rep. Michael Morrissey.

"Our only regret," said Harold, a long-time proponent of the project, "was the absence of former Mayor Tim Burgin, after whom the Burgin Parkway and Extension were named."

Burgin was at home after a recent hospital stay.

The old City Hall building was renamed the James R. McIntyre Government Center during dedication ceremonies attended by about 300 people who overflowed the Council Chambers.

McIntyre, a popular political figure, died after a heart attack at the age of 53 March 7, 1984.

His career in public service included serving as city councillor, mayor and state senator. He was legal counsel to the state senate at the time of his death.

A bronze marker at the door was unveiled and a granite marker on the building dedicated during the ceremonies.

"He was a craftsman in the field of government," said former Senate President Maurice A. Donahue.

"The James R. McIntyre Government Center. How singularly appropriate it is that this thriving city dedicates one of its historic buildings to a gentleman who reflected its noble past and prepared for its future of promise."

Moody's Investment Services notified the city that it would move its credit rating up two notches - from Ba to Baa - based on information presented by the mayor and his administration.

Since 1981, the city had had a Baa rating. A few other communities in Massachusetts have that rating, but none has a rating lower than that.

"The higher the rating, the lower the cost of borrowing," said Mayor McCauley. "This will certainly translate into lower borrowing costs, and will help with the city's bond issue for the police station."

Quincy City Hospital announced that 78 employees would be laid off from the 930 member hospital work force.

Officials of the union which would lose 56 of its members said they would fight the reduction.

"We are not going to sit still for the action," said Robena Haigh, chairwoman of the L.P.N. portion of the 280-member Service Employees International Union Local 285, which also includes technical and professional employees.

Hospital director Mark Murdy said the layoffs were in reaction to a decline in hospital admissions and the average length of stay of inpatients. He maintained that, even with the layoffs, the hospital would still be adequately staffed.

Gov. Michael Dukakis signed a home rule petition authorizing Quincy City Hospital to borrow up to $75 million to replace a portion of the facility.

The City Council voted to refer to its ordinance committee a series of 12 amendments relative to the $75 million replacement of a major portion of Quincy City Hospital.

Gov. Dukakis wrote to Mayor Francis McCauley to praise him for his leadership during Hurricane Gloria and to acknowledge the cooperation of many local public, private and volunteer agencies.

The city's damage assessment officer was hopeful that 100 percent of the estimated $1.3 million dollars in damage inflicted by the hurricane would be reimbursed by the federal and state governments.

The House of Representatives passed legislation introduced by Mayor McCauley, which allowed Quincy to delay for 10 years the payment of $2.4 million in tax overcharges resulting from a court case involving General Dynamics.

The Quincy Fire Department was awarded three totally encapsulated chemical suits which could be used in the event of an accident with the new 16-ton chlorine trucks in the city.

Quincy's response to a nationwide postcard and letter write-in on POW-MIAs was termed "tremendous" by area Vietnam veterans.

The North Quincy High School Red Raiders squeaked out a 7-6 decision over the Quincy High School Presidents in the 53rd Thanksgiving Game under what was called the worst weather and field conditions since the 1945 game.

North finished with a 3-7 record and Quincy finished 0-10, the first winless Quincy team ever.

More than 500 people filled the Lantana in Randolph to honor retired coordinator of athletics, Carl Leone.

Leone, who suffered a stroke two years ago, retired after serving 16 years as coordinator of athletics and devoting 35 years of service to the schools, helping hundreds of youngsters and sending many student-athletes to college.

Deaths during November included Jean (Fratus) Quintiliani, 60, crossing guard at the Willard Elementary School for 26 years; Ruth (MacAllister) Kelley, 77, secretary for the school department for 42 years; Eleanor (Balducci) Locarni, 71, co-owner and founder of the R.A. Spencer, 61, retired working foreman of the Quincy Water, Sewer and Drain Department.

DECEMBER

The $57 million replacement of a major portion of Quincy City Hospital progressed another step when the City Council voted unanimously to grant a special Planned Unit Development permit.

Construction on the 36-month project is scheduled to begin May 1, 1986 according to hospital officials.

The permit was granted with 10 amendments introduced by Councilor John J. Lydon, Jr., in whose ward the hospital is located.

The amendments refer to such matters as fencing, work hours for construction and a Building Liaison Committee.

"It's been a long issue with the City Council," said Lydon, who explained that the amendments are to protect the neighbors during reconstruction.

Lydon thanked the council, neighbors, hospital director Mark Mundy and the Board of Managers for their efforts.

"We're very pleased about the action of the City Council," said Mundy. "In a perfect world, I guess we would like to have had the permit approved without any amendments."

"However, I think it's fair to say, with the assistance of City Councilors James Sheets, John Lydon and Patricia Toland, a series of reasonable compromises were reached with representatives of the Colonial Heritage Neighborhood Association."

"The nature of the compromises is such that we will be maintaining an ongoing dialogue with members of the association, as well as other neighbors in the Cranch Hill area regarding the programs it develops."

"Our total emphasis from here on out will be to try to obtain FHA insurance which will guarantee a favorable rate of interest for the sale of the revenue bonds."

Quincy Democrat Daniel C. Raymond, 38, of Quincy, was named new Norfolk County treasurer.

Raymond, who succeeded convicted former county treasurer James Collins, promised to restore credibility to that embattled office. He also said he wants to move some county investments from Boston banks to Quincy and other Norfolk County banking institutions.

Raymond received two of the three Norfolk County Commissioners votes at a meeting in Dedham. He was nominated by George McDonald of Quincy. The nomination was seconded by James Collins of Milton, no relation to the former treasurer. Abstaining was third commissioner David Ahearn, who had nominated Westwood town treasurer John J. Cronin.

Raymond's appointment came after Collins, 47, pleaded guilty to 69 counts of larceny, forgery and state tax evasion while he was in office. Collins was sentenced to 9 to 15 years at MCI Cedar Junction at Walpole.

There was a glimmer of hope for the General Dynamics Shipyard in Quincy, but officials were cautious about the news.

John Stubierski, aide to U.S. Cong. Brian Donnelly, said there was a long chain of "ifs" about Genesis Shipbuilding of Houston seeking to buy the yard to build luxury cruise ships.

The deal was dependent on so many unlikely events, including government subsidies of $75 million for each ship, that Washington sources familiar with the deal were giving it little chance of success.

Stubierski said Donnelly had been in contact with Navy Secretary John Lehman over the past year seeking government shipbuilding contracts.

The Faxon House temporary shelter for the homeless opened its doors to 32 people, but needed $50,000 for operating capital, according to Nancy Powers, director of the shelter's sponsor, Quincy Interfaith Sheltering Coal-tion.

The city received a triple B bond rating from the investment rating firm of Standard and Poor's in New York. Mayor Francis McCauley said the rating was comparable to the city's new Baa rate set recently by Moody's Investors Services.

The recently opened Burgin Parkway Extension was receiving favorable reviews, but more strategic signs were needed on Route 3 and 128, according to a group of businessmen, city and state officials.

A breakdown in communication was responsible for incorrect personal property tax bills that were mailed out, according to Treasurer-Collector Franklin C. Jay.

Members of the North Quincy business community were concerned that traffic and parking problems would be aggravated when the Quincy Center offices of the state Division of Employment Security moved to the area.

The developers of The Ledges, a project which would include 509 luxury apartments in five buildings off Quincy Ave., withdrew without prejudice its application for planned unit development. The developers expected to resubmit the application in January.

The City Council voted to approve $550,000 in Industrial Revenue Bonds for Messina Enterprises which was developing Quincy Fair in downtown Quincy.

Councilor James Sheets completed his two year term as council president. Councilor Joanne Condon concluded eight years as the Ward 6 representative.

Quincy's Thomas Crane Public Library was assured of $40,000 in funds from the state which would aid in the restoration of the main library.

Eric J. Whittaker, 11, of Quincy, was taken to Quincy City Hospital where he underwent three hours of surgery after being pinned against a passenger platform by a passing train at the Wollaston MBTA Station. Four men were arrested during a drug raid at the Presidents City Motel which netted police an estimated $15,000 to $20,000 in heroin, several thousand dollars in cash as well as paraphernalia and records.

A cash reward was being offered for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for arson at the Staff of Life Bakery, Quincy Point, where two men died.

The Christmas spirit officially arrived in Quincy with the 34th annual Christmas Festival Parade which attracted nearly 250,000 people who lined Hancock St. from Quincy Center to North Quincy.

North Quincy's Joe Dudek, who broke every collegiate scoring record that year at Plymouth State College, appeared on page one of Sports Illustrated with the two top Heisman Trophy favorites.

Lawrence Yerdon announced that he would leave the Quincy Historical Society where he has been director for 10 years, to become head of Shaker Village, Pittsfield.

JOE DUDEK

Deaths during December included: Anthony Fabiano, 21, general manager of John's Fruit Store, Quincy; Philip A. Houten, 59, Boston lawyer and leader of several veterans organizations; John R. Bita, Sr., 67, past president of the Quincy City Workers Union; Mary Alice Jenness, 82, active in GOP politics; Mildred Starck, 80, sister of bandleader Baron Hugo, Hugo E. # Mayor Urges Council Support Of Zoning Amendment

Mayor Francis McCauley has written to members of the City Council "strongly urging" their support of a council order to increase the minimum lot area per dwelling unit in Residence B and C.

The order also increases the parking requirements. The City Council is scheduled to vote on it Thursday, Jan. 2.

"This zoning amendment order was introduced by Councillor (James) Sheets and me because of the rapid increase in building construction in our city in recent years.

"Statistics presented to you at the public hearing show that Quincy has already the highest population density of any community in the South Shore area.

"Some 65,743 vehicles

1984, an increase of 5,420 or nine percent over 1980 registrations.

"The citizens of Quincy are looking to their elected officials to take action to control growth in our city.

"I believe that the passage of Council Order 398, without the proposed amendments, is a positive step in addressing the concerns of our citizens."

Quincy Nurse To Work With Medical Team In Ecuador

A Quincy nurse heads for Ecuador Jan. 25 with the Por Crisco medical organization, experts in facial deformities.

Ann Armstrong, a senior staff nurse for the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit at Mass. General Hospital, Boston, will head a six-member team and will work in conjunction with a 27-member Craniofacial group for two weeks of surgical procedures, instructions and examination of patients in Guayaquil.

The non-profit medical group hopes to evaluate approximately 800 patients during their stay there and perform 32 operations on various facial deformities. They will work at the Alejandro Mann Children's Hospital.

Last year the Craniofacial Team evaluated over 800 patients with cranial facial deformities there.

Also accompanying the medical volunteers will be five youths from the Archdiocese of Boston. They will leave for Ecuador Feb. 1.

Those wishing to learn more about the organization's work in Ecuador can call 587-8454 or contact Por Cristo, 830 Oak St., Suite E, Brockton, 02401. Volunteers are available to visit parishes and schools through the archdiocese to present slides and information on the team's work.

Free 'T' Service For 'First Night'

Quincy residents planning to attend Boston's "First Night" can take advantage of free, late night service on the MBTA and not have to worry about drinking and driving.

All service on MBTA rapid transit, trolleys, bus and commuter rail lines will be free of charge from 10 p.m. Tuesday (New Year's Eve) to 1:45 a.m. Wednesday (New Year's Day), according to MBTA General Manager James F. O'Leary.

Four car trains will run until closing on the Red, Blue and Orange lines. Extra LRVs will also be added to all branches of the Green Line.

The expanded MBTA service is part of Gov. Michael Dukakis' ongoing effort to combat drunk driving.

"First Night is an occasion to celebrate and to take part in the many events scheduled in and around downtown Boston," said Dukakis.

"Given the festive atmosphere, if people plan to drink, they should also plan to use alternative transportation such as the T in order to arrive home safely and enjoy the new year with their loved ones."

January Blood Donor Month

The American Red Cross is appealing to Quincy and surrounding communities to join with them in supporting January—Volunteer Blood Donor Month.

Because the week between Christmas Eve and New Year's Day is a time of particular stress on the nation's blood supply, a joint proclamation was issued by Pres.

Ronald Reagan and Gov. Michael Dukakis seeking support for blood donorship within the community.

For more information call the Red Cross toll free at 1-800-442-2053 during business hours.

Reduced Fares Proposed For Special Needs Riders

Quincy residents with disabilities may soon be able to pay a reduced fare on the MBTA during the morning and evening rush hours.

The MBTA Board of Directors has voted to recommend the fare reduction for special needs riders. The proposal would permit riders with disabilities to pay 10 cents on all local bus and train services and one-half fare on Commuter Rail, express buses and zoned buses during the peak travel hours.

The revised program would bring the special needs fare policy in line with the fare policy for senior citizens. Currently, senior citizens pay 10 cents all day long while special needs riders receive the discount only during off-peak hours.

The MBTA Advisory

Board, which is made up of representatives of the 78 cities and towns within the MBTA service district, must approve the measure before it can take effect.

The proposed policy is the result of a recent series of public meetings to discuss changes in the existing reduced fare program for elderly and special needs riders. Other proposed revisions include increasing the price of the special needs/senior citizen identification card from 50 cents to $3 to cover materials and processing costs.

Current senior citizen identification cards will not be subject to expiration. However, cards issued following implementation of the revised program will be subject to renewal every five years.

Current holders of permanent special needs cards must re-enroll within one year of the revised program, after which cards must be renewed every five years.

"This revised program is an example of the MBTA's commitment to improving service for all members of the riding public," said MBTA General Manager James F. O'Leary. "Implementation of the revised fare structure will help to make public transportation more readily accessible to special needs riders."

O'Leary added that the MBTA will provide the public with information about how to obtain special needs pass applications upon approval of the program by the Advisory Board.

Central Students Provide Special Holiday Gifts

Several nursing home residents and homeless people of Quincy received special holiday gifts from students at Central Middle School.

The Central Middle School Senate had voted unanimously to once again provide canned and packaged foods for the Free Kitchen which cares for the homeless, needy and lonely of the area, and to deliver original greeting cards to a nursing home. Senate representatives who selected and delivered the cards were Christine Barrett and Jacqueline Potter.

Bringing both activities together were Mayor Christine Carroll and Deputy Mayor Bartholomew Jae.

Coordinating their industrial arts program with their teacher/advisor time, students in grade 6 worked on wooden containers—boxes, clam baskets, and standing reindeer—and filled each with toilet articles for nursing home residents.

Thomas Adams worked with students in the shop area and Patricia Drew and Jean Healy helped them select appropriate gifts. Miss Drew also designed the reindeer.

The students filled 23 cartons with canned and packaged foods.

Post Offices Closed New Year's Day

Area residents are reminded that all post offices will be closed and there will be no regular mail delivery Wednesday, Jan. 1, 1986, in observance of the New Year's Day holiday.

Express Mail and Special Delivery service will be provided on the holiday.

Postal customers are also reminded that 24-hour service, seven days a week, is available at the Self-Service Postal Center located in the lobby of the General Mail Facility, 100 Beach Street, Boston.

MORTGAGE PROTECTION

If you buy homeowners insurance does that mean if you die your mortgage loan will be paid in full?

ANSWER: You are confusing homeowners insurance with mortgage protection insurance (a form of descending term life insurance). Homeowners insurance will insure your property against almost any conceivable damage or accident that can happen in, on, around and even away from your home. But it will not pay off your mortgage upon death.

Reducing term is about the lowest cost life insurance policy you can buy because the insurance protection decreases each year with the reduction of your mortgage.

MORTGAGE PROTECTION insurance is actually a form of decreasing term insurance.

Quincy Apartment House Owners Association 211 West Squantum Street Quincy, MA 02171

Dec. 28, 1985

For years Quincy has been inviting business and industry to develop its land. Why the sudden change?

Mayor McCauley said at his Mid Term speech that "Quincy had the Welcome Mat out," and "Present us with a plan that the city can live with that's compatible with the location that your going into, and will not diminish the quality of life in our city."

Where is there any building that does not meet the city's standards?

Council President James A. Sheets said at the mid term speech last January "We know along with tremendously increased employment opportunities in Quincy comes the additional demand for housing. The additional demand for housing creates higher property values. Higher property values means increased property taxes for all of us."

Please tell me why then should they now place new restrictions on the building of affordable housing, which is so badly needed?

Will not the supplying of the demand have a far more positive effect in holding prices down?

Now under classification Apartment houses with their tenants being treated equally with the single family home, still pay a higher percent in taxes, demands far less services from the city, while historically, the single family did not pay its full share, and had tax write offs denied tenants.

The city built and, or supplied some 3500 housing units for various age groups supposedly to satisfy a never ending 'Waiting List.'

Wouldn't it make good business sense for Quincy to allow the private sector to supply this affordable housing for the working class that earns the money to pay the taxes to support this government spending?

Shouldn't the city allow the engineering firm to complete its Environmental impact traffic engineering study before making any of these major zoning changes?

Koch Club Reflects True Meaning Of Christmas

The Koch Club Christmas Charitable Committee is closing out its 30th season of activities on behalf of the needy.

They're still delivering hundreds of good used toys to Hispanic sections of Boston where their traditional celebration highlights this reenactment of the three wise men's gift-giving visit to the newborn Christ Child on Little Christmas Jan. 6.

Executive Director Richard J. Koch said it has been the most rewarding and far reaching program in the three decade history of the club's activity. "The success has been largely due to the cooperation and support provided by organizations, families and individuals who, each year, support the varied charitable endeavors of the Koch Club," he added.

Food baskets and gifts have been provided to families in Quincy while thousands of new and used toys have been forwarded to dozens of organizations in the city, South Shore and Greater Boston area.

Also, thousands of articles of used clothing have also been presented to needy persons while woolen wearing apparel was turned over to the homeless.

Koch said the organization concentrated extensively in the 80s to charitable activities because of the reduction in recreational programs due to the depletion of school age children enrollment in Quincy; approximately 20,000 in 1971 compared to 10,000 in 1985.

The Koch Club, completing its 38th year, held social and adult recreation programs in the late forties and fifties. It extensively sponsored youth recreational programs in the sixties and seventies, serving the post World War II baby boom.

The emphasis in the eighties is on charitable programs which brings to full cycle the aims of the Koch Club to provide social, recreational and charitable endeavors on behalf of the community.

The Koch Club slogan "Everyone Willing To Help, Willing To Help Everyone" has proved itself in Christmas 1985, according to Koch.

What Christmas Means To Me...

Christmas means a lot to me because I think it is a happy time of the year. A big star over the little town of Bethlehem, led the wise men to the place where Jesus lay. Christmas is a very special time to me because Jesus is my friend.

John Sill
Merrymount Gr. 5

Christmas is a time for fun and joy. A time for giving and receiving gifts and toys. Christmas is a time for loving and caring while Santa Claus is flying up high in the air.

Michael Smith
Merrymount Gr. 5

Like Christmas because the carols people sing are nice. I like to watch the Christmas specials on T.V. Christmas is a time to be happy. It is an enjoyable holiday. Decorations everywhere look nice. It is fun to decorate the Christmas tree. When there is snow on the ground it is fun to go sledding and have snowball fights. I buy gifts for people that I know.

I think that it is good the way people have different traditions in other lands for Christmas.

Nicole Hogarth
Merrymount Gr. 5

Christmas is laughter and cheer. Most of my relatives are usually here. Good old St. Nick comes down the hatch with a very big bag that he has on his back.

Melissa Johnson
Merrymount Gr. 5

When Christmas gets closer, I feel full of joy and cheer. I like the Christmas spirit. I like to go to church on Christmas eve. I also like to listen to Christmas carols. On Christmas day I like to give my love away to others.

Matthew Renitano
Merrymount Gr. 5

Christmas means telling stories around the Christmas tree. One of the stories we tell is this one. About a long time ago, there was a poor man named Joseph. He was all about the tree listening to how Jesus was born. When we have to go to bed we open one present.

Michelle Gamble
Merrymount Gr. 5

Four weeks before Christmas my family lights an Advent wreath. An Advent wreath is a wreath with four candles on it. Three are purple and one is pink. Before supper every night we say a different prayer and light a candle. Every week we light one more candle. On the third week we light the pink candle to show it is one more week 'til Christmas.

Shawn Southwick
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

Christmas means that Jesus was born, and Christmas would not be here if Jesus had not been born. I am thankful that Jesus was born.

Lynda Short
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

Fun and happiness, giving gifts and receiving them. Going sledding and skiing. Watching Santa put the presents under the tree.

Brandon Paluzzi
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 5

Christmas is my favorite holiday. I love to see the pretty lights, see all the pretty Christmas trees and get lots of gifts.

Denise Gardiner
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

Christmas is my best holiday. I get a lot of toys on Christmas day. I get to open a present on Christmas Eve.

Michael Flagg
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

Christmas is the best time in the year for me. The only thing I do not like about it is the cold weather.

Megan Marini
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

Christmas is a time of joy and happiness, a time for being good and kind, a time for songs and T.V. specials. It is a time for giving and receiving, too. Christmas is a time for miracles. One miracle was on a battlefield in a war. At midnight on Christmas Day a soldier sang a carol. Then another soldier sang. Soon after, the firing came to a halt, and everyone sang. The soldiers only sang for about a minute. Then the battle continued.

Michael Kavanaugh
Furnace Brook Gr. 5

I wish there would be no wars. I wish there would be no hunger or poverty in the world.

I wish there were no robberies or murders. I wish school was four times a week.

I wish Christmas was twice a year. I wish that I had a million dollars.

Christina Varnadore
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

Santa Clause is a plump old fellow. And when he laughs he shakes like jello.

His cheeks are red and his beard is white. And he's coming in December on the 24th night. Ho, Ho, Ho he yells and shouts. He's always happy and he never pouts.

He brings lots of toys for the good girls and boys. And when he's through setting up his stuff, He turns and he runs and he's gone in a puff. Bye he shouts to the town. See you next year when I come around.

Lori Allen

I wish that Ethiopians could come to the end of starvation.

Lainie Kenney

Christmas means a lot to me, because my grandmother and grandfather died and Christmas brings a lot of sadness to my life. Sometimes it brings a little happiness to my mind because my family and I join together and celebrate Christmas.

Heather Zahdi
Daniel Webster Gr. 3

Christmas to me is love and peace shall stay forever. It means I would rather give than get. It means to me thanks for my parents, food and a roof over my head.

Greg Colling
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 5

My favorite thing about Christmas is the saying on what Christmas is about. Some Shepherds were watching their sheep when the angel of the Lord came upon them and said "I bring you tidings of great joy, for a baby Lord Jesus Christ lays sleeping in a manger".

Here is a song straight from my heart, "Christmas chimes are ringing, it's time, it's time, Christmas morn is coming soon, very soon."

Jennifer Schultz
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 5

Cookies baking soft, and sweet, Houses lit up, a Christmas treat, Reindeer galloping to and fro, Icicles dripping into the snow, Santa bringing games and toys,

Time for laughter, time for joys, Magic moments floating around, Angels gathering high above the ground, Special moments bringing cheer, Thank goodness is finally here!

Julie McCloskey

Christmas to me means loving and giving people gifts. It's a time for sharing and caring. It's a time for joy too.

Anthony Peretti
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

I do not just like getting gifts. I like to give them too! Every year at Christmas I visit my father. I get presents for my whole family. I don't give gifts just so they will give gifts back. I give for joy.

Jocelyn Stapleton
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

Christmas is a time of year for songs and happiness all over the world.

George Corey
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

Christmas is a holiday. On Christmas we get gifts from Santa. We give gifts to other people. I like to give gifts to my mom and dad. I bought my mom a ring. I bought my dad a fan and a candy cane.

David Connors
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

I like Christmas because it is a time for joy and happiness. I like Christmas because I have a lot of fun. I like Christmas because it is time to eat, I like Christmas because we share.

Matthew Pyne
Merrymount Gr. 5

If Christmas were a shining star, It would shine and shine so bright, Guiding everybody's way; From morning until night.

If Christmas were a person; Or maybe just a child, It would care for any animal; Whether tame or wild.

So now you know if Christmas were; A child or a star, Just think of more than what it really is; No matter where you are.

Kelly Wilson
Broad Meadows Gr. 7

Christmas means joy and love. It's as pretty as a dove. To care for others is fun, But some kids don't like when it's done.

Jesus has something to say, On that very day, God is the one Who made the fun, God likes me and you, And he loves Jesus too.

On a day very long ago Some shepherds saw quite a show An angel came from the heavens above And brought them all a gift of love!

To follow a star was her request There a baby was lying at rest In a manger he quietly lay On a scratchy bed of hay.

Cows and sheep were scattered around, Though the baby made no sound, Men brought precious gifts to them While the angels sang their hymn.

Carrie DiTullo
Central Middle Gr. 7

Every year I look forward to Christmas - the dinner and mostly the presents. But this year I started thinking - are these all that matter? There are sick children, starving children, and orphans. What do they hope for? Sick children hope there will be medical knowledge in time. The starving children look forward to a food drive. Orphans pray someone will adopt them.

So when you look upon your food, presents, and your family, ask yourself: are presents the most important thing?

Renee Barsanti
Central Gr. 7

Christmas means joy and the baby Jesus. He is our most precious gift, that means a lot to me. Christmas is a very happy day because you give and share your love and caring. We have a lot of fun. Christmas to me does not just mean toys, it means a lot about Jesus. He was always right.

John Campbell
Merrymount Gr. 3

Because it is about love and caring and giving. If you don't get a present it doesn't mean it's the end of the world. To me it means a kiss and a hug. That's all I need.

Edward Cutter Jr.
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

I get a lot of toys on Christmas Eve. Christmas is my best day of the year.

MEETS SANTA — Nicholas Spiliakos, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Spiliakos of Quincy, gives his "wish list" to Santa during a holiday celebration party at the 60th-floor Observatory in Boston's John Hancock Tower, while The Sugar Plum Fairy from the 1985 production of the Boston Ballet's "Nutcracker" listens in.

If you have not any money, you can give away something that costs nothing more than a little bit of care and sharing. Know what it is? You can give away Love. Give it to people who would appreciate it. I'm sure everyone you give love to, they'll give some back. Have a Merry Christmas!

Amy Parsons
Squantum Gr. 3

This Christmas will be a very special Christmas because it will be my sister's first "real" Christmas. Last year she was too small to know what it all meant. As for me, this Christmas I got the best Christmas present ever, I got a new house.

Luke Crane
Atlantic Gr. 7

Christmas means to give, presents not just to take them. Christmas means to remember Jesus being born and Christmas means to be nice.

I think Christmas is really neat because I get to open presents from St. Nick. I like to decorate the Christmas tree with ornaments and candy canes. Always I stay up late so I can see St. Nick. I like it on Christmas day because it is fun. Christmas is a time for giving-not getting. I like to eat candy canes.

David Albrecht
Lincoln Hancock Gr. 3

To me, Christmas means giving, sharing, and many visitors at our house.

I like the suspense of opening one corner of a gift and trying to guess what it is. I also love sharing and giving gifts to other people. I think if people like giving gifts, and receiving them, they must love Christmas!

Brenda Clark
Central Middle Gr. 7

To me, Christmas is a very special time of year. It is a time of happiness and joy when we all gather.

John Fahey
Central Middle Gr. 7

Christmas is the happiest time of the year. Even without all the sweaters, pants, and extras it would still be special to me. Just thinking about Christmas gives me joy. Having my family gather and seeing all the happy faces is Christmas to me.

C - stands for Christ who began it all.

H - is for holly which makes Christmas jolly!

R - stands for reindeer who pull Santa's sleigh!

I - is for icicle which hangs down a long way!

S - stands for Santa who brings all the toys!

T - is for tinsel that's hung by the boys!

M - stands for merry which people should be!

A - is for arranging the bulbs on the tree!

S - stands for star shining with glee!

Laila DiSilvio

Christmas is celebrated because a baby was born. Christ was born so we could be here. We receive gifts because the three wise men gave Christ gifts.

I love Christmas because everyone is nice to each other and happy. In my house, we do a lot of family things. On Christmas eve, all of us go to my nana's house. All of my aunts, uncles and cousins are there. There is a lot of noise, food and fun, but what you really feel is what Christ felt when all the people came to see him in the stable—LOVE.

Tina Powers
Snug Harbor Gr. 5

That very holiday is coming up... Christmas! Christmas. Time means a whole lot to me but the getting and the giving and the time to be with your family is important but other people need lots of giving, like people who are starving. I will be thinking of more than my family on Christmas.

Jason Grotion
Central Middle Gr. 7

Presents! Christmas Trees! Jolly Santa Claus! What do these words mean to me? They're words full of joy, celebration, and cheer, but what is the real meaning of this "awesome" holiday? It's a time for sharing, giving (and maybe some receiving too!). It's a time to reunite with old friends and spend some time with friends that are new.

We share it with family and special people. So Christmas is a time for loving and caring. I know we all think, "Oh, boy, we'll get presents." But on Christmas Day when you're sitting with loved ones, think about what Christmas really means to you!

Jennifer Richmond
Central Middle Gr. 7

Christmas means to me loving, caring and giving. I like putting up the Christmas tree the best. When my cousins come over I open my presents. When I open my presents I would like to give presents to the poor.

Scott Portesi
Merrymount Gr. 5

Finally, Christmas! It's been so long since last Christmas. You know the hardest part is the waiting. It's not waiting to get your presents; it's waiting to give some to your family. I think maybe if we had it twice a year it would be better. Let's say once in the summer, and once in the winter. I guess what really counts is that it's here.

Tony Sabadini
Central Middle Gr. 7

Christmas means labeled gifts under a tree. Hopefully there is no World War III.

Christmas Eve you hear bells While all the stores make their sells. Then you get into bed and are tucked-in tight.

Your Mother kisses you and says "Good Night".

Elizabeth Noble

Christmas means a lot to me. I like to see all the presents under the tree. When I wake up I stay up, opening presents under the tree.

Face Malden Saturday

Raiders Impressive In Three Wins

By TOM SULLIVAN

North Quincy's hockey team, seeking a berth in the state tournament for the third year in a row, is off to a good start in that direction with three impressive victories over Greater Boston League foes.

Kevin Jago's 3-0 Raiders will play Malden at the Medford rink Saturday at 4 p.m., will face GBL favorite Medford at Medford Monday night at 8 p.m. and will host Brockton in their Suburban League opener Wednesday, Jan. 8, at 6:40 p.m. at the Youth Arena.

North Quincy defeated Somerville, 5-3, last week for its third straight win as Matt Furtado scored two goals and Dave Tapper, Mike Bartkus and Pat Feeney one each.

Sophomore goalie Brian Mahoney had a good night with 26 saves.

In its previous game North ran over Revere, 11-2, as Tapper had four goals.

Jay Rodriguez and Mike Haynes had two goals apiece and Greg McGlame, Furtado and Feeney one each.

Kevin Jeffers, a transfer from Madison Park High School, played an excellent game in goal.

The Raiders had opened their season with a 5-3 win over Peabody, holding the Tanners off in the third period after getting away to a 5-0 lead.

North scored three power-play goals, two by senior defenseman McGlame. Tapper, Matt Ostiguy and Haynes also scored for the Raiders.

while Dave Fasano and Furtado had two assists each.

Mahoney had another good night in goal and several of his 19 saves were outstanding.

"We have started off well, but we must play with more consistency," said Jago. "We've done well offensively and the defense has been strong. Mahoney and Jeffers have done all right in goal. Neither is another Matt Higgins, but they have done their part. By the time we open our league season against Brockton, we should have a good idea of what to expect."

Last year North had a fine 14-3-1 record and finished second in the Suburban League.
